THOMAS J. MCSHEA

Thomas J. McShea of 23 Nelson street, died suddenly Thursday, December 29. Although he had been in ill health for several years, and a patient in Veteran Administration Hospital, his passing came as a severe shock to his family and friends.

Mr. McShea was born in Lowell, January 3, 1896, son of the late Thomas and Margaret (Riley) McShea. He was educated in the Lowell schools, and during World War I and World War II, he served as a Chief Boatswain's mate in the United States Navy.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Mary J. (O'Loughlin) McShea, he leaves four half-sisters, Mrs. Fred Confield, Mrs. Adam Brown, Miss Margaret Burns and Miss Mary Burns; five half-brothers, William, Frederick, Joseph, Francis and Edward Burns all of Lowell; also several nieces and nephews.

The funeral took place from M. H. McDonough Sons Funeral Home, 14 Highland street, Lowell, Saturday morning, with a high mass of requiem sung at St. Peter's Church by Rev. John J. Cogavin. Among those attending the mass, was a delegation from the Talbot Mills, North Billerica.

The bearers were Wilfred Trudelle, Francis Roux, Charles Iversen, Acting Police Deputy Francis O'Loughlin, Robert McHugh and Roland Poirier. Burial took place in St. Patrick's Cemetery, where the funeral services were read by Rev. Robert J. Bryson.

DR. WALTER J. PENNELL

Funeral services for Dr. Walter J. Pennell of 58 Yale street, retired Navy captain and district health officer of the State Department of Public Health for the Northeastern Health District, were held Wednesday at Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia.

Dr. Pennell died suddenly Friday, December 30, after spending the day at his office. Son of Dr. Edgar L. and May B. (Goff) Pennell, he was born in 1892 in Auburn, Maine, and entered naval service after graduating from Harvard College and Harvard Medical School.

During his Navy career he saw overseas service in both World Wars, and was medical officer in charge of three naval hospitals. He also spent two years on loan from the Navy, as district health officer in the Republic of Haiti and was for another two years engaged in industrial medical work at the Submarine Base in New London.

Dr. Pennell retired from the Navy in 1947 after completing 30 years service. His last assignment was as commander of the Naval Hospital in Newport, R. I. He joined the State Department of Public Health upon his retirement from naval service.

He was a Diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine, a member of the American College of Preventive Medicine and a Fellow of the American College of Physicians.

Dr. Pennell first came to Winchester from Brookline in 1932, living at 430 Highland avenue. After residences in Norfolk, Virginia, and Newport, R. I., he returned to Winchester in 1947 and had since resided at 58 Yale street. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary E. Pennell, and two daughters.

INDIANS MEET WOBURN

Winchester High School's unbeaten hockey team goes against a "toughie" Saturday night at the Lynn Arena when it meets the real, aggressive Woburn High team, beaten only by Lynn English, at 9 o'clock.

Woburn, paced by "Joe" Castiglione of football fame, has been playing consistently good hockey and is definitely out to upset Winchester. The Indians have been both good and not so good this season, but probably will be favored in a game that can easily go either way.

STALLFORD — OLIVER

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Oliver of 10 Kendall street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Ruth, to Mr. George Robert Stallford of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

The bride is a graduate of Girls' Latin School, Simmons College and the University of Pennsylvania. She is presently at Bryn Mawr School of Social Service, Bryn Mawr College.

Mr. Stallford is an alumnus of the University of Pennsylvania and has done graduate work at Temple University. He is associated with Prentice-Hall Publishing Co.

RETIRED AFTER 31 YEARS

Frederick R. Brown, M.D., 6 Warren street, has retired from the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company after 31 years of service. Dr. Brown was made medical director of the firm January 1, 1954. Prior to that time he had served as assistant medical director and as associate medical director.

Dr. Brown retired as of December 31. He had lived in Winchester for many years on Crescent road.

Mr. Rotondi's neighbors argued that they do not want the road accepted because, if accepted, the road would "become an expressway for gravel and dog trucks." They were represented by John Christophoro, whose offices are at 80 State street, Boston.

Mr. Rotondi replied that the gravel operations have been completed and that dog trucks do not make any extraordinary noise. Mr. Rotondi also argued that he has sold land to homebuilders who cannot build on Churchill road because the private part of Sunset road has been blocked by posts placed to prevent access to Churchill road.

Mr. Christophoro countered that the lots sold on Churchill road are in the hands of Mr. Rotondi's relatives.

Mr. Rotondi said that unless he is given access to his property he may sell the land to people who may be "undesirable." He also said that he may bring a conspiracy suit against certain of his neighbors.

As the meeting opened, Mr. Rotondi asked if people at the meeting who did not have land on the road in question had a right to attend.

He was told by members of the Board that anyone with an interest in the neighborhood could attend the meeting, a public hearing.

Mr. Larrabee, an insurance broker, died in July of 1945.

For 40 years Mrs. Larrabee conducted a nurses registry in Winchester, being well known among nurses and residents of Winchester and surrounding cities and towns. In the fall of 1936 Mr. Stevens came to Winchester as a member of the English Department and has continued in that capacity ever since. He was appointed an administrative assistant to the principal in 1951.

Winchester Tanning To Continue

Settlement Of 87-Day-Old Strike At Beggs & Cobb Sends Tanners Back To Work, Fosters Optimism

Re-employment of 600 tanners at strike-bound Beggs & Cobb, Inc., began this past Tuesday. The entire force is expected to be back at work within a few weeks.

Settlement of the 87 day old strike by a union vote to accept a contract last Saturday has ushered in what G. Burton Davy, president of the company, calls a "substantial, constructive advance in our labor-management relations."

In a statement issued soon after the union vote Saturday, Mr. Davy said, "Now, for the first time in many, many months I can look on the future of our Winchester operations with optimism."

THE NEW CONTRACT CALLS FOR

installation of a standard-hour wage incentive system at the Winchester tannery. The plan, similar in principle to those widely in use throughout modern industry, is based on extensive engineering and time studies at the Winchester plant. It provides management with accurate yardsticks for measurements of productivity and earnings, and for better controls of quality.

For the worker it assures a fair day's pay for a fair day's work and provides extra compensation, for extra effort, according to a company spokesman.

Also included in the new two-year contract are wage increases and an actuarially sound, funded pension plan. A five cents per hour raise will be effective immediately upon signing of the new agreement and a further wage advance of five cents per hour will be made on January 1, 1957. The pension plan, entirely financed by the company, insures that the retired employee will receive his earned pension for so long as he may live.

During the strike, rumors persisted that the company would soon close its plant if the strike continued. The threat of closing appeared to gain ground as the company opened a tannery at Dover-Foxcroft, Maine, and transferred key technical personnel from Winchester. Mr. Davy's statement after the Saturday vote, however, asserts that the company is not going to close down at Winchester; rather the company expects to expand production here.

INDIANS ROMP TWICE

The W.H.S. basketball team won its fourth game of the season, beating Belmont 80-55, at Belmont last Friday night. Bellino again led the scoring with 23, getting 18 from the floor and 7 from the foul line. Apsey and Lynch followed with 15 each and Callahan got 11. Papoli of Belmont kept Bellino hustling with his hard fast drives and led the Belmont scoring with 17 points. Morse and Loser each hit for 10. The Belmont club was a hustling one, always taking advantage of a chance to make a fast drive.

The large crowd which was made up mostly of Belmont fans didn't affect the shooting of the Indians. They have been able to keep their shooting percentage close to 50% in all their games and have averaged 81 points on each team.

The J.V.'s won a 61-47 victory over the toughest team they have yet faced. Symmes and Bergquist led the scoring with 16 and 12 points respectively.

The Winchester players and fans were very much pleased to see former Coach Ted Bartlett in the stands at the game.

In their first Tuesday afternoon game the Sachems beat Lexington this week 81-56. Lynch, previously handicapped by a sore foot, finally showed some of his stuff, getting 18 points and doing well on rebounds. Bellino tallied 16 points with Apsey, Smith and Kneeland also hitting double figures.

For the first few minutes it looked as though the Minute Boys would give Winchester a run for its money. Martin and Hardy led the Lexington club with 12 and 9 points respectively.

The J.V.'s beat Lexington 51-44, playing what was probably their sloppiest game of the season.

The team goes to Wakefield tonight and to Stoneham on Tuesday. Both teams should give the Indians good games.

ICEMEN CLOUT REVERE, 7-0

The Winchester High School Hockey Team started the new year with a bang Monday by defeating an inferior Revere team, 7-0, at the Lynn Arena. All of the four Winchester lines were represented in the scoring column, with the third and fourth lines rotating almost the whole third period.

At 0:24 of the first period John Zirkel belted one in with help from Ron Parker. Later in the same period, the second line got into the scoring act on a goal by Joe Cussen, assisted by Jimmy Urmon at 5:52. During the last few minutes of the period the third and second lines kept the Revere team so well tied up they only could get one shot off.

At 0:21 of the second period Richie Johnson slapped his way onto the scorer's pads on a solo dash from the face-off. The fourth Winchester goal was scored by John Zirkel at 6:10, helped by a swell pass from Richie Johnson. During the period the Revere goalie made fourteen stops.

During the third period the Winchester team slacked off and only took thirteen shots. Three of these were goals. Ron Parker found the range at 1:09 assisted by John Sullivan and at this time coach Finigan retired his first and second lines for the game. Norman Farrar connected at 2:13 on a slap shot pass from Dick Scott. Then the fourth line got into action with little Dave Harkins slamming one right by the goalie and into the net. The total Revere shots added were eleven to sixty-two for the defending Winchester hockey champions.

The Winchester High School Hockey team ended the old year right last Saturday night at Lynn Arena, by defeating Marblehead in a game that wasn't as close as the score would indicate. Winchester team took fifty-four shots while Marblehead was able to get off only seventeen. The Marblehead goalie averaged eight stops per period while the Winchester goalie made only two.

The scoring started early in the first period on a goal by Ron Parker at 0:59, unassisted. Less than two minutes later, the Winchester team was caught napping as Jones passed from the right side of the net to Fitzgerald who obligingly better home the puck, in at 2:24.

Exactly three minutes and twelve seconds later Richie Johnson, slyly stick handling the whole Marblehead team, whammed one right between the post and the goalie's leg.

Marblehead scored first in the second period at 1:55 on a solo run by Jim Booma from deep in Marblehead territory, eluding the Winchester defense. He had plenty of time to get his shot away and it was right on target.

Then at 4:04 of the second period Jim Urmon and Leo Callahan combined to give Winchester their third goal, with Callahan again hitting the nets at 8:00 of the same period with help from Richie Johnson and Ron Parker.

Marblehead scored its second goal at 5:39 of the third period, Booma tallying assisted by Jones.

It should be mentioned that the Winchester second line found themselves in longer and more often than in any other game. Richie Johnson got little rest, playing on defense when he was not skating in the line.

EDITORIAL

Everyone is pleased that the strike at Beggs and Cobb tannery has been finally settled. Which side won is debatable, but surely both sides lost heavily, the plant in production income and the men in wages. Winchester's loss through Welfare money paid to strikers was gratifyingly small. More, however, was paid out in Veterans' Relief, and it is reported that Woburn's expenditure through Welfare funds was heavier than ours. Few seem to realize the stake communities have in labor disputes. When more do appreciate the stake the public has in good labor relations, public opinion will take a much more active part in maintaining them than has generally been the case. Society is so closely interknit that what hurts any segment of it has an adverse affect on all.

A SINCERE "THANK YOU"

Editor of the Star:

The Winchester Community Relief Committee wishes through the Star to express its heartfelt thanks to all who assisted in its efforts to provide cheer for the town's less fortunate residents during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

Through the kindness of the Winchester Star we were able to gladden many hearts with gifts of Food and Canned Goods, Vegetables, Coal and Oil, Shoes, Clothing, Toys and other necessary items. Also the money that was generously donated from Clubs, Societies and private individuals.

The Committee particularly appreciates the action of Private persons who took the responsibility of caring for individual families with food and wearing apparel and the assistance rendered by all of the Town's Churches, both at Thanksgiving and Christmas, and the help extended by the Winchester Branch of the Salvation Army.

Harrison Lyman Expected To Seek McDermott's State Senate Seat

By Charles Ball

Harrison F. Lyman, Jr., is expected to announce that he will seek the Republican nomination for the State Senate in the September primaries. His announcement is expected within the next two weeks. His announcement will come as a surprise to Winchesterites who have watched the meteoric rise of this fast moving young lawyer. But his announcement may come as a surprise to the incumbent Senator Frederick T. McDermott (Democrat of Medford), who will have to run the race of a scared Wyoming jackrabbit to save his seat.

The Lyman-McDermott contest, as it is now taking form, prefigures the kind of campaign Republicans will conduct in their race for state offices. The big talking issue in the campaign looks like it will be the State Crime Commission.

When extension of the Crime Commission was being debated in the General Court last summer, the Democratic bloc led by Senator John E. Powers of South Boston, delayed action on several Crime Commission bills. Although Powers' oratory was filled with phrases about a "police state," statehouse observers claim that Powers and his road company fought the Crime Commission in a drive to create issues and headlines for the Boston mayoralty campaign.

Senators Powers, McDermott and their fellow Democrats did more than make headlines—they handed Republicans a silver-plated issue which has already started to boom. Nearly everyone is against sin and nearly everyone is interested in how rackets operate. Republicans will find plenty of listeners in 1956.

The prime value of the crime issue can be seen in the kind of campaign Mr. Lyman is expected to conduct in his fight for Senator McDermott's seat. Mr. Lyman is expected to campaign in the primaries against Senator McDermott's Crime Commission votes, rather than against Republican opponents, and by the same token other Republicans will find it unnecessary to attack Mr. Lyman. Party unity is preserved, and the primaries thus produce a climate of public opinion unfavorable to Senator McDermott and Democrats in general.

Mr. Lyman may have trouble enlisting support in Medford and Arlington because Republicans there may have favorite son candidates. But if crime is made the big issue, Mr. Lyman may gather the support of Republicans throughout the area despite favorite son candidates. He is Arthur E. Whittemore's principal assistant in the celebrated

HARRISON F. LYMAN, JR.

Kelly-Derham-Cenedella inquiry of 1951. In that investigation, it was to conduct in his fight for Senator McDermott's seat. Mr. Lyman is expected to campaign in the primaries against Senator McDermott's Crime Commission votes, rather than against Republican opponents, and by the same token other Republicans will find it unnecessary to attack Mr. Lyman. Party unity is preserved, and the primaries thus produce a climate of public opinion unfavorable to Senator McDermott and Democrats in general.

Even if the crime issue does not develop as the big talking point of Republicans in 1956, GOP hopefuls after Senator McDermott's seat will be able to ride the coat tails of Governor Christian A. Herter's administration. The record under Governor Herter has been good, and it is the kind of record which may throw a few Senate seats into the Republican column.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

In spite of inclement weather a small but enthusiastic group of members attended the meeting of the Winchester Art Association in the Library Gallery on January 3rd. Mrs. Robert Williams, assisted by Mrs. Stillman Williams and Miss Sylvia Parker, served after-dinner coffee before the meeting.

Dr. Kirkwood cordially greeting every one in the New Year introduced Mrs. Whitney Blair, a graduate of the Museum School of Fine Arts in Boston in 1950, who gave an extremely interesting demonstration of the techniques of the Graphic Arts. Mrs. Blair made an attractive print using the silk screen method. The techniques of etching, lithographing, wood-engraving, linoleum block printing were all described and demonstrated. Tools and materials used were shown as well as the completed prints so the members were well instructed in the different processes.

On exhibit through January are interesting pen and ink drawings, wood and linoleum block prints by Janet Doub, who is a Winchester young woman now teaching in the University of Buffalo, N. Y. Some of Mrs. Blair's prints are also included in the fine exhibit.

LITERATURE COMMITTEE

A meeting of the Literature Committee of the Fortnightly was held Monday, January 2, at 2:30 p. m. in the Public Library when Miss Gertrude M. Hall discussed the work of the Texas writer, J. Frank Dobie.

Almost all of his fifteen books consist of collections of unique short stories, particularly old folk-tales and legends of the region, imaginative but seldom "tall" tales, and full of "a sense of wonder" and vitality. The reader is introduced to all the adventures of frontier life, experienced by plain men and cowboys, pictured with concrete details. In the same tradition, a new book is just off the press.

Miss Hall spoke at length of "The Longhorns," a tribute to these disappearing monarchs of the plains. The stories tell themselves easily with humor and spontaneity. Live pencil sketches often accompany the text.

Mr. Dobie is a professor of English and has taught at Cambridge University, England, as well as in American colleges. Delightful reminiscences of his stay there during the last war, showing the strong appeal England has for him are contained in his "A Texan in England" (1945).

To preserve so well the old tales of his native state is a notable contribution to its literature and warrants this author being rightly called "The Homer of the Southwest."

SMITH COLLEGE "BRUNCH"

Among the many successful gatherings of the festive holiday season was a "brunch" held at the home of Mrs. Prescott Wild, of 40 Everett avenue, on Wednesday, December 28th. The Winchester Smith College Club gave the "brunch" for an enthusiastic group of undergraduates who were interested in learning more about Smith College. The undergraduates present were Sara Jane Woodward, Jean Heard, Jean Peterson, Phyllis Parziale, Christina Page, Cathy deRiveria, Linda Witham, Lee Abbott, Barbara Eaton, Elizabeth Hood, Frances Swisher, Hart Birnie, Ann Munroe, Judy Lawler and Joan Peabody.

Three Winchester girls who are now attending Smith, Ann Marx, Jean Dwinell, and Helen Hertig were present as were their mothers Mrs. George Marx, Mrs. James T. Dwinell, and Mrs. Arthur T. Hertig. The present Smith girls were pined with all sorts of questions by the undergraduates, pertaining to the social life, customs, and academic routine of the college. The past graduates as well as the prospective students found it an excellent and fascinating opportunity to catch up on current Smith affairs.

Mrs. Geoffrey Newey and Miss Adelaide Homer poured and everyone present spent a most interesting morning.

"WHY SHOULD I HAVE A WILL?"

A lawyer, who is a Winchester resident, was asked this question. His answer seemed so important to me that I thought I'd pass it along to you. Here's what he said—

Did you know that . . . Unless you have a properly drawn will your wife will receive 1/3 of your estate and 2/3 will be tied-up for your children?

Unless you have a properly drawn will the court may name its own executor; you can avoid unnecessary taxes, expenses, delays and red-tape?

But . . . With a properly drawn will you can distribute your estate the way you want to; you name your own guardian and executor; you can avoid unnecessary taxes, expenses, delays and red-tape.

(P.S. Your wife should have one too.) For a properly drawn will consult your attorney. For life insurance and estate planning consult

PARKHURST ANNUAL MEETING — At 9:30 a. m. on December 22, the Parkhurst Mothers' Association held their annual meeting in the school auditorium. After coffee and refreshments were served to the mothers, the president of the Association, Mrs. Scott Parrot, conducted a brief business meeting. It was unanimously voted to change the name from The Parkhurst Mothers' Association to the Parkhurst Parents' Association.

This was followed by a Christmas entertainment. Members of the 5th and 6th grades sang several Christmas carols. The first grade then presented "Santa's Toy Shop" in which members of the class took the parts of toys that came to life. This was designed to take the place of the Christmas pageant of former years, which, although always popular, has become unsuitable because of the increasing number of pupils in the school. It was very cleverly presented and everyone agreed, a most enjoyable prelude to the Christmas vacation.

PARKHURST ANNUAL MEETING — At 9:30 a. m. on December 22, the Parkhurst Mothers' Association held their annual meeting in the school auditorium. After coffee and refreshments were served to the mothers, the president of the Association, Mrs. Scott Parrot, conducted a brief business meeting. It was unanimously voted to change the name from The Parkhurst Mothers' Association to the Parkhurst Parents' Association.

This was followed by a Christmas entertainment. Members of the 5th and 6th grades sang several Christmas carols. The first grade then presented "Santa's Toy Shop" in which members of the class took the parts of toys that came to life. This was designed to take the place of the Christmas pageant of former years, which, although always popular, has become unsuitable because of the increasing number of pupils in the school. It was very cleverly presented and everyone agreed, a most enjoyable prelude to the Christmas vacation.

The year, 1955, was the greatest sportswise Winchester ever had, and very probably as good a year athletically as any community can point to. New England Championships in Little League, Cross Country and Snipe Racing, State titles in both hockey and basketball, unbeaten season in Cross Country, Basketball, Track and Football, as well as a host of other achievements add up to quite a record for any town anywhere, or city either for that matter.

ATTA BOY, JOE!

Shot of Championship Indians at Boston Garden.

Basketball Away Fast

Commencing right after the New Year was ushered in last January Coach Jim Phillips' basketball team, by its consistent and convincing play served notice it was going to be the team to beat for the Class B honors it had won in State competition in 1954.

Winning twenty straight games, the Indians swept to the Middlesex League crown to win their berth in the State Tournament at the Garden, when the Red and Black triumphed over all opposition, winning the Class B Championship in a final round victory over Matignon High of Cambridge, 48-39.

Jim Wright, captain of the Indians' championship team, was selected to try for a position on one of the teams to participate in the 7th Annual North-South Interscholastic Basketball game played at Murray State College in Kentucky, June 18.

Big "Doug" Hawkins, former center and star on Winchester's unbeaten Class B team of 1950, was elected captain of the Amherst varsity hoop team, on which he and another Winchester boy, Stowell Symmes, played through the season, Hawkins averaging about 20 points per game, and being picked for "All District" honors.

After the high school season a team of Winchester High School boys, playing as the Winchester A.C., reached the semi-finals of the Waltham Boys' Club basketball tournament, winning the tournament's coveted Sportsmanship Trophy by their excellent deportment in the competition.

The newly formed Police Athletic League basketball league completed its first season with the Capitals and Bears tying for first half honors and the Capitals winning the second half competition. Games were played at the Washington School and brought basketball to a younger group of boys not playing the game in school. A most successful banquet at the White Spot concluded the season.

K. OF C. NEWS

CHAPLAIN'S NIGHT HELD

A very select and quality group of Winchester Council, No. 210, K. of C. members attended the most recent meeting of the Council to enjoy a Question and Answer period conducted by K. of C. Chaplain Rev. Stephen E. Burke of the Immaculate Conception Church.

Many thought-provoking and illuminating questions were thoroughly answered and explained by Father Burke. There were questions of religious nature and questions on many aspects of our present day, and those members of the Council who attended were richly rewarded.

It is expected that a Chaplain's Night will be held at least yearly in the future so worthwhile was the affair, and Father Burke has indicated that he will be more than pleased to cooperate in this program.

Questions answered by Father Burke covered church laws, and church customs, liturgy, the mass, marriage laws, fasting etc. Also covered were capital punishment and other current day items.

Concerning labor questions, Father Burke declared that "right to work" laws would be a severe set-back to the working class. He further discussed the abuses of unions and labor leaders, at the same time pointing out the abuses of employers and pressure groups.

"A good strong Union is necessary today," declared Father Burke.
Further stating, "it is the only bridge leading to peaceful settlement of differences between capital and labor. Unions can be a powerful and potent factor for good, and they have fought for living wages for years," declared the Chaplain.

Previous to the question box a regular business meeting was held and at its conclusion a special collation was served by House Committee, Chairman Dick Fiore and Bert Stevens.

Sports Night to be Held

Council Lecturer Joseph Tansey is lining up an attractive Sports Night for the next meeting on Tuesday, January 10. There will be a brief business meeting starting at 8:15 p. m. and then as Master of Ceremonies Joe will introduce a splendid roster of past and present greats in Winchester Sports History, among them being High School Athletic Director and Football Coach Henry Knowlton, Coach
Jim Phillips of basketball, Coach
Frank Finigan of hockey, Tom
Morse of cross country, Joe Bellino, Winchester Little League Manager, Joe Castiglione of Woburn High; football Coach Paul Dorrington of Woburn High; Artie Johns, former Harvard baseball captain, and Winchester Little League Manager; Jim Fitzgerald of Winchester and Tufts football fame; Dane Kelley,
Captain; Aby Winer, and Frank Melley, members of the crack championship football team of 1922; and Coach "Rufe" Bond of that team, a former all around star at Harvard.

Besides those named Harold Ber-tachi, all time great athlete of the University of Maryland, currently coaching Wentworth Institute in basketball and baseball will be present, and the Master of Ceremonies who has had a long and distinguished career in the sports world as player, coach and official promises a pleasant, fast moving evening with an added feature of a good sports movie, now being selected.

Chairman of the House Committee Dick Fiore promises a special collation following the affair.

K. of C. Annual Track Meet

uary 14th, at Boston Garden. Last the outstanding indoor track meets of the year. Many past and present college track stars will compete.

In Memoriam
The Council is saddened by the recent passing of Mrs. Ralph Penta, mother of Brother Knight Michael Penta. A large contingent of Brother Knights attended Lane's
Funeral Home to pay final respects.

THE LIBRARY: MUSIC AND FILMS
An interesting and varied program will be presented at the recorded concerts Wednesday, January 11th. The variety is present not only in the composers but in tions as we hear Symphony No. 2 ("Romantic"), by Howard Hanson opens the program. The composer himself conducts the Eastman-Rochester Symphony Orchestra.

Beethoven's Trio No. 2 in G Major ton Pops Orchestra in the concluding work: "Masquerade (Symphonic Suite, by Khachaturian).

Saturday morning the motion picture programs will be resumed in the Art Gallery. The three films to bers of the First Congregational

Saturday night, January 7th.

PARKHURST SCHOOL NEWS

VISIT TO CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

Fourth graders at the Parkhurst School visited the Children's Museum in Jamaica Plain recently to see the special exhibit on Alaska.
A movie completed the interesting program, and after lunch in the Museum the travelers returned home to Winchester.

Museum of Science

Pupils in the fifth and sixth grades, accompanied by Mrs. Laura Syssoef and Mrs. Morabito, enjoyed a field trip to the Museum of Science in Boston on December 29.
Visiting the various rooms in the Museum, the children saw a variety of interesting things—the transparent woman, a telephone device by which one can hear his own voice, scenes of life in early New England, and exhibits of marine, bird, and insect life. Of interest to many of the pupils was the talk on Atomic energy.

ment announces that it is adding to

NOONAN KINDERGARTEN GROUPS ENTERTAINED MOTHERS

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM VISIT

The children in Miss Mary Mc-Auley's kindergarten groups entertained their parents at pre-Christmas parties and programs in their classroom. The afternoon group held its party on the afternoon of December 21, while Miss McAuley's morning group welcomed the mothers to an entertainment on the morning of the 21st.

The program, consisting of songs, poems, rhythms, a Christmas story, and (of course!) the distribution of "Surprises," was a delight to everyone present. In addition to being a wonderful way of saying "Merry Christmas" the program was a fine demonstration of many of the activities enjoyed and the skills acquired by the children since the beginning of the year.

J. LESLIE DUNSTAN
MISSION UNION

Dr. J. Leslie Dunstan, Professor of Christian Missions and World Religions at Andover-Newton Theological School, Newton, Mass., will speak on Tuesday, January 10, at 2 p. m. at the meeting of the Mission Union, First Congregational Church.

With a colorful background of service in the Hawaiian Islands, which included several trips to the South Seas and the people of Micronesia, Dr. Dunstan came to his present academic post from ten years as Secretary of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association in Honolulu.

The Hawaiian Evangelical Association is a historic group which was born as the result of mission work started by missionaries of the American Board who sailed to the Hawaiian Islands, then the Sandwich Islands, in 1820. At first it was made up of the missionaries, then delegates from the Hawaiian churches were admitted and then finally in 1863 when the Hawaiian churches became able to carry on alone and the American Board withdrew, the Hawaiian Evangelical Association elected the Hawaiian Board of Missions.

From 1938 to 1944 Dr. Dunstan was Professor of Religion at the University of Hawaii. In the latter year he became Secretary of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association where he served until called to the mainland for his present teaching post on the Atlantic coast.

The author of two books and numerous articles, Dr. Dunstan served on various denominational and Ecumenical committees. He was an accredited visitor to the World Council of Churches meeting in Evanston in the summer of 1954.

Dr. Dunstan has a mixed denominational background, having been ordained first as a Presbyterian minister, and having served as an assistant pastor for several years in a Presbyterian Church in New York State. Later he became a Congregationalist and from 1933-38 he was assistant pastor of the Central Congregational Church in Honolulu, an interracial congregation founded originally for the missionaries and their families.

Born in London, Dr. Dunstan came to America at an early age and received his college education at Colby College in Maine; Boston University School of Religious Education; Columbia University (Ph.D.); Union Seminary, and graduate work at Westminster College, Cambridge University, England.

FLAG OFFICER AT CORINTHIAN

FORMER WINCHESTER BOY.
BYRON WISWELL.
REAR COMMODORE

Byron C. Wiswell, an able sailor since he was 10 years old, holds the distinction of being one of the youngest flag officers of any yacht club in the country.

At the age of 25, Wiswell, a member of a prominent North Shore yachting family, is rear commodore of the 525-member Corinthian Yacht Club in Marblehead.

May Be Elevated
When the annual election is held next month, young Wiswell, a resident of Flint street, Marblehead Neck, will likely be re-elected or elevated to a higher position.

Wiswell is one of the best known young sailors on the eastern seaboard and an account executive with Chambers & Wiswell, Inc., an advertising firm in Boston. His father, George C. Wiswell, is treasurer.

It was his dad's interest in sailing that led the younger Wiswell to become one of the leading sailors in this area. His father bought him his first boat, "Wis By," and he won his first race a year later.

Since then, Byron has accumulated numerous trophies cups, bowls and plaques for his victories on the sea. One of his most cherished is the Frederick Shepard Memorial Trophy awarded him 10 years ago for his outstanding sportsmanship and sailing ability.

Wiswell, a graduate of Tabor Academy and former student at Boston University Business School, owns the U.S. 1 Design sloop, which won seven out of 10 cups in the class three years ago.

On Committee
Besides being third-ranking officer of the Corinthian Yacht Club, the young advertising executive is also on the U.S. 1 Design Class Committee, a group that enforces the bylaws of the class and determines the precedence of races.

At one time he was the only boy holding the Massachusetts Junior Racing Championship and was called the "Peach Fuzz Bab" because of his youth.

Wiswell's trophies include the 1952 Lipton Cup, the 1946 Hingham Bay National Junior Championship, the 1951 Cleghorn Cup, the 1947 Curtis Cup, the 1952 Boston Yacht Club Trophy, and the 1952 Naves Trophy.

He also won the Corinthian midsummer series in 1946 and the season's championship and first series there in 1952.

Wiswell won widespread recognition in 1948 when he saved the 50-foot schooner "Western Way" from cracking up. The schooner, owned by the late Henry Proctor, was circling without a crew when Wiswell sped out in a launch, jumped aboard and brought it into port.

Dad On Crew
His crew on the "Goose" includes his dad, his brother-in-law, James Wetherald, Hartwell "Pop" Perry, a member of the Coast Guard, Charles Pickering, a fellow account executive, and Wiswell's pretty wife, Joan.

Mrs. Wiswell, the former Joan Davenport Wetherald, who made her debut in the 1950-51 season, has been sailing with him for more than 10 years.

Married in 1952, the couple has a seven-month-old daughter, Linda Ann. And if Mommy and Daddy have their way, tiny Linda will start learning to sail just as soon as she knows how to walk.

(Richard Connolly in the Boston Herald, December 24.)

ELMER C. NELSON
Chairman Republican State Committee

Mr. Nelson will be guest speaker at the January meeting of the Winchester Young Republican Club Tuesday, January 17, at the home of the club's political action, chairman, Blair Hawley, 25 Ledgewood road. All young voters between 21 and 35 years are cordially invited to attend.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

"The Christian Home" and "Congregationalism" are the timely subjects of two discussion groups for adults offered during a five-week period in January and February at the First Congregational Church.

The group on "Christian Home," with Mrs. Dwight L. Cart as leader, will meet in Ripley Chapel on five Thursday evenings, beginning January 12th. Mr. Mallory will also assist in the leadership of this course. This series is planned for parents (both mothers and fathers) of young children and for prospective parents. For any who may want to go somewhat more deeply into the subject, a reading list will be provided. Special help will be found in the book, "Your Home Can Be Christian" by Professor Donald Maynard of Boston University.

The group on "Congregationalism" will meet Sunday mornings at 9:30 in the Church Parlor, beginning January 8 and continuing through February 5th. This group will have the opportunity to consider briefly high points in the history of Congregationalism. The leader will be Dr. John L. Lobingier, who from his long association with Congregationalism on both the national and state conference level is ably qualified to present this subject.

No one need feel obligated to do any outside reading, but for those who want to do so, books and pamphlets will be available. All who are interested are invited to attend the first session on January 8th, when the class will discuss "Congregationalism before the landing of the Pilgrims and during the early years in Massachusetts."

NOONAN SCHOOL
MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION TEAS
The final series of annual teas for teachers of the Noonan School were held during the busy pre-Christmas time.

On December 7th, Mrs. Carleton Bolivar of 87 Hemingway street, was hostess to Mrs. Butler and the fourth grade mothers. In spite of the bitter cold day a good number of parents attended. Miss Jurgenson poured as delicious refreshments were served and the ladies enjoyed a pleasant respite from the pre-holiday rush.

Miss Giggie, third grade teacher, was entertained at the home of Mrs. Alfred Poole, 106 Middlesex street on December 8th. The Christmas table held sandwiches and cake. Poursers were Mrs. John McGann, and Mrs. Paul Vollmar.

Mrs. Poole's charming living room was the scene of several stimulating discussions. December 9th, and a crisp cold day, saw a group of second grade mothers gathered at the home of Mrs. Richard Morrow of 8 Brantwood road for a tea in honor of Miss Doherty. The table was decorated with chrysanthemums and Miss Doherty was presented with a cassage of the same lovely fall flowers.

Mrs. Bernard McQuerty and Mrs. Philip Porter poured.

The Annual Industrial Technical Survey for high school seniors will be conducted on Thursday, January 28, at the New England Mutual Hall in Boston. This survey is held each year to guide young men into the engineering and technical phases of industry. Many prominent companies will be represented on the panel of speakers including General Electric Company, Carrier Corp., Chrysler Corp., Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, Westinghouse Electric Company, Alcan Products Company. After the speakers have concluded, aptitude tests will be given to determine the ability of the students to take technical training at the professional level.

So much is being said today of the great shortage of engineering and technically trained young men that the United States is falling seriously behind Russia in the number of men being trained in these fields. This year it is anticipated that over 400 high school seniors will attend this Survey. All high school seniors are eligible to attend and tickets may be obtained by writing to the Industrial Technical School, 41 Phillips street, Boston 14, Massachusetts.

BAPTIST MEN TO DISCUSS CHRISTIANITY ISSUE OF LIFE MAGAZINE
The First Baptist Church Men's Brotherhood Bible class will devote the remaining four Sundays in January to a series of stimulating discussions based on the principal articles in the current Christianity issue of Life Magazine.

Next Sunday morning, January 8, Mr. Richard Palmer will lead the group in the discussion of "The Christian Faith through the Ages," January 15—"The Basis of Protestantism," January 22—"Challenges to Faith," January 29—"Comparative Protestantism."

A different Panel of men will be selected to present the discussions each week. You will get many interesting ideas if you will come and enter into the discussions.

All men are cordially invited and are urged to bring their friends each Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock.

Double Pronged Effort To Aid
March of Dimes Fund Campaign

March of Dimes fund raising efforts in Winchester will get a two-fold boost in coming weeks as two Winchester organizations join forces with the March of Dimes Committee.

Beginning 4 p.m. today and running through 4 p.m. tomorrow, the American Legion will cover the town in a tag day. This is the first time in 30 years the Legion has associated itself with a fund raising campaign.

The following week, on January 21 at 10 a.m., the Winchester Lions Club will present a special children's cartoon show at the Winchester Theatre. In addition to a full range of cartoons, a full-length feature movie will be shown.

Last year 1360 kiddies attended the special cartoon show. This year the March of Dimes Committee and the Lions Club hope to attract a record-breaking 2000 kiddies to the movie.

Fund raising efforts for the March of Dimes in Winchester began last Thanksgiving, when the March of Dimes Committee and the Lions Club sponsored a collection at the Winchester-Woburn football game.

March of Dimes Committee officials, in announcing the tag day and movie, said that polio has yet to be licked, despite the Salk vaccine. Treatment of thousands of the stricken demands costly equipment and services. Many of the stricken are unable to pay the costs of the medical treatment they receive. Only the March of Dimes extends to many the hope of a normal and healthy life again.

FLEW TO STRICKEN SISTER

Miss Mary Martin of 426 Main street, a teacher in the Woburn schools, left last week Wednesday by plane for Kingston, Jamaica, to be with her sister, Miss Anne Martin, who suffered a heart attack on December 28, 1955, while in Jamaica visiting her brother, the Rev. Henry Martin, S.J.

Miss Anne Martin and Mrs. Bessie Travers of 14 Park road left Winchester for Jamaica last Thanksgiving Day. Miss Martin, whose home is in Portland, Ore., was on vacation and came east to go with Mrs. Travers to Jamaica, there to visit her brother, who is a curate stationed at the Church of the Holy Cross in Half Way Tree, a section of Kingston.

Miss Martin's condition was reported to the Star Wednesday as much improved and her complete recovery is expected. Her sister, Miss Mary Martin, will remain with her indefinitely.

NEW CONVERSE MARKET TO OPEN MONDAY

The new Converse Market with entrance on Shore road will open its doors for business Monday, January 16, and patrons are reminded to use the Shore road entrance instead of the familiar entrance on Mt. Vernon street which will be temporarily closed.

Proprietor "Nick" Andon announces that work is still to be done before his big new three level super market will be ready for its "Grand Opening," the date for which is yet to be announced.

The actual work of connecting the old market with the big new quarters is yet to be done, and will be carried out while business is going on in the Shore road market. When completed the new structure will be one of the finest supermarkets hereabouts, embracing, in addition to the most modern market features, indoor parking for its patrons, with direct access to its fine new store.

INDIANS FACE LYNN ENGLISH ON ICE

Winchester will try to pull a big upset Saturday evening at the Lynn Arena by defeating the high flying Lynn English team in a Northeastern Conference hockey match. The game will start at 9 o'clock and will attract a big crowd with many coming to see if Winchester can reverse its record in the Northeastern Conference last week-end.

Lynn is generally conceded to be the class of the North Shore League and will be favored. The Indians, however, have been underdogs too often to let that bother them.

Next week Winchester plays Milton Academy at Milton Wednesday at 3, and returns to the arena next Saturday to play Peabody at 9 p.m.

TRUST COMPANY ELECTS

EUGENE B. ROTONDI

CANDIDATE FOR SELECTMAN

Voters of Winchester:

I am your first 1956 candidate seeking office to the Board of Selectmen in the coming March election.

I have lived here over 25 years, married to a former Winchester girl and we have a growing family of 13 children.

I have excellent reasons to continue our good town government!

I have the largest tract of land on this side of town, totaling 80 house lots when fully developed. As also the property consisting of three homes, homes to be built in the future will be a credit to the town. My children are being raised here and attending our schools.

It would be an honor and a privilege to myself and family to serve as a member of the Board of Selectmen.

I am a graduate of the Stoneham schools, later attending Lowell Tech at M.I.T. I then graduated from Wentworth Institute studying architectural engineering. In 1938 I graduated from Northeastern University School of Law. I have served the Town of Winchester Member 13 years, two more years still to be served. I have assisted in community and Red Cross drives, and will always be available for any program that tends to promote better government for our town. I am interested in any program that will be of benefit to our young people, our future leaders of tomorrow.

At present one of my sons is completing his third year at college, another son now attending preparatory school.

If you feel that I have the necessary qualifications, I will appreciate your vote. If elected I will do my best to discharge the duties of selectman, in an efficient and impartial manner.

I am anxious as we all are of Winchester to maintain its present reputation for a competent and able town government.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Edward Heisser of 66 Russell road, Garden City, New York, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn, to Mr. Peter Forrest Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest D. Cook of 229 Mystic Valley Parkway.

Miss Heisser, who was graduated from Garden City High School, studied for two years at Westminster College in Pennsylvania. Her last two years were at Tufts University, where she received her degree. At present, she is doing graduate work at Adelphi College and teaching in the Farmdale School System. Her sorority is Sigma Kappa.

Mr. Cook graduated from Hebron Academy, Hebron, Maine, and received his degree from Tufts University where he was a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

A summer wedding is planned.

MISS SALTER ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Salter of 3 Wedge Pond road, announce the engagement of their niece, Miss Edith E. Salter, to Mr. Milton L. Brown, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Brown of 38 Cabot street.

No immediate wedding plans have been made.

Selectmen Reject Plea
By Rotondi For Road

The Board of Selectmen had denied two petitions of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Rotondi who sought acceptance by the Town of Sunset road as far as Churchill road.

The Board's action came at a meeting in Town Hall, Monday evening, January 9. Public hearings were held on the two previous Monday evenings when the board assessed public opinion.

There was no protest at the first hearing, which considered acceptance of Sunset road as far as Laurel Hill Lane. But in the second hearing, 37 of Mr. Rotondi's neighbors spoke against acceptance of the road as far as Churchill road.

In other action the Board denied an appeal for the acceptance of Churchill road itself.

MRS. EDITH LEE TABER

Mrs. Edith Lee Taber, wife of S. Walter Taber, 9 Piedmont road, died Friday morning, January 6, at her home, following a long period of poor health. An attack of rheumatic fever which she had as a child left her with a heart ailment that had bothered her increasingly in recent years.

Mrs. Taber was the daughter of David O. and Margaret J. (Elliott) Whitman. She was born December 25, 1901, in Andover and grew up in that town, attending the Andover schools and Burdett Business College. She and Mr. Taber were married June 16, 1920, and came to Winchester shortly thereafter, building for themselves the first house to be erected on the old Symmes Estate.

She and Mr. Taber were a real husband and wife team in business. Mr. Taber represented the American Foreign Credit Underwriters Corporation of New York, an organization assisting export manufacturers all over the world. He also was a member of the New England Export Club, in the organization and development of which Mrs. Taber played a prominent part, assuming much of the detail and paper work so necessary to the club.

The importance of her effort was voiced by the club president at the Christmas party of the group, held December 14, when Mrs. Taber was feted by all present. Possessed of a brilliant mind, she was an exceptionally hard worker with a great capacity for detail work and the acceptance of responsibility.

Long a member of the Church of the Epiphany, Mrs. Taber for some years got out the church notices and was responsible for keeping the church membership list. She was also a member of the Boy Scouts Guild and had taught in the church school.

Besides her husband, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Chester F. Ladd of West Medford, a member of the staff at the Winchester Public Library; a son, Walter Whitman Taber, who is an officer with the First National Bank of Boston at the bank branch in Sao Paulo, Brazil; her mother, Mrs. S. W. Norton, and a brother, Gordon E. Whitcomb of Hingham.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany with the Rev. John W. Ellison officiating. Burial was in Puritan Lawn Cemetery, Peabody.

FOR STATE SENATE SEAT

Harrison F. Lyman, Jr., former chairman of the Winchester Board of Selectmen and present member of its Planning Board, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the Massachusetts State Senate.

The district in which Mr. Lyman will run is the Sixth Middlesex. It includes Winchester, Woburn, Arlington, and four of the six wards in Medford. It is now represented by a Democrat, Frederick T. McDermott of Medford, who defeated a Republican, Robert P. Campbell, in 1954.

Announcing his candidacy this past week, Mr. Lyman stated that although the district was lost by Republicans in 1954, he believes an aggressive campaign can win it back next fall.

His platform, Mr. Lyman said, will be four-square support of the Eisenhower and Herter administrations. He added that he will be pledged to "good government with a forward look."

Thirty-five years old, Mr. Lyman is the youngest man ever to have served as chairman of the Winchester Board of Selectmen. He was elected to a three-year term on that body in 1949. Since 1952 he has served as a member of the Winchester Planning Board.

In 1952 he helped organize the first pre-convention Eisenhower-for-President group in Massachusetts and for the past four years he has been a member of the Winchester Republican Town Committee.

DIRTY WEATHER!

Commencing during the forenoon of last Sunday Winchester has, in company with New England generally, been drenched with incessant rain, varying from a foggy drizzle to torrential downpour.

A total of 3.80 inches fell between Sunday and 8 o'clock yesterday morning, at which time the rain was continuing. No break in the weather was promised in early weather forecasts. On Sunday alone 1.46 inches fell, causing water and sewer trenches on Nelson street, Bellevue road and Washington street to settle.

Nippy weather on Sunday caused streets and sidewalks to coat with ice and kept many indoors throughout the day. Despite early sanding of streets, several minor auto accidents were recorded about town, but no serious injuries were reported. High winds accompanied the storm in its early stages, upsetting warning barriers at Wedgemore Station and cracking one of the warming gates at the crossing in the square. Facing the wind was hard work even for the most robust.

Yesterday the Aberjona was about ready to overflow its banks below the center and the town's reservoirs were full to overflowing.

Lynn Man Receives Post . . .

School Committee Appoints Niblock
Winchester High School Principal

At a special meeting of the School Committee on Sunday evening, Mr. W. Howard Niblock, principal of the Maine Central Institute since 1946, was appointed principal of the Winchester High School, effective September 1, 1956. In unanimously selecting Mr. Niblock from a list of more than thirty school administrators, representing every state in New England, the Committee expressed itself as being well pleased with the caliber of the candidates for the position. Only after thorough examination and much consideration was Mr. Niblock named to the post from which Wade L. Grindle retired on December 31.

A native of Lynn, Massachusetts, Mr. Niblock graduated from Lynn Classical High School in 1931, and he received his B.S. degree, cum laude, from Bowdoin College in 1935. He holds two degrees from Harvard University, an A.M. in Psychology from the Harvard Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, and an Ed. M. from the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

Mr. Niblock began his teaching career as director of guidance and instructor in history at the Mount Hermon School, Mount Hermon, Massachusetts, where he taught from 1936 to 1940, and again from 1941 to 1946. For the year 1940-41, he was director of guidance and testing and instructor in history at the Beaver Country Day School, Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts. Since 1946, he has been principal and instructor in psychology at the Maine Central Institute, Pittsfield, Maine. During the summer of 1954 he was instructor in Secondary School Administration at the University of Maine.

Throughout his career, Mr. Niblock has been active in professional and civic affairs. His service includes membership on the executive committee of the Maine Teachers' Association, the Maine Welfare Association, the Bowdoin Alumni Council, and the Pine Tree Council, Boy Scouts of America. He is chairman of the evaluating committee of the New England Council of Secondary School Principals, and a member of the advisory committee on education to the Maine Legislative Research Committee. In 1951 and 1953 he was a delegate to the Life Adjustment Workshop of the United States Office of Education, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Niblock's association membership includes Phi Delta Kappa (honorary educational society), the American Personnel and Guidance Association, the Maine Psychological Association, the Maine Principals' Association, the National Association of Secondary School Principals, and Kiwanis.

Track enthusiasts will be interested to learn that the newly-appointed principal, who stands 6'4 1/2", was captain of the Bowdoin track team and holder of the 16 pound American intercollegiate shot put record. As a schoolboy at Lynn Classical he held the record for the state high school broad jump.

An outstanding leader in the campus life of Bowdoin College, Mr. Niblock was president of the student council, the Bowdoin Christian Association, the Senior class, and his fraternity Zeta Psi.

Mr. Niblock is married to the former Marion Gould, a graduate of Radcliffe College (1935), and a teacher at the Beaver Country Day School and at the Northfield School. They have three sons—William H., Jr., 12, Edward G., 11, and Thomas R., 7.

The State of Maine has many attractions as any "down-easter" can testify, but the Niblocks are looking forward to a return to the familiar surroundings of Greater Boston. Though the new principal will not officially assume his duties until September, he intends to be in Winchester frequently during the spring and summer months to become acquainted with the administrative work of the school.

Dr. John McLean of Seneca road, Winchester chiropractor, has been appointed to the staff of the Massachusetts General Hospital where he will serve as an associate of Dr. John F. Kelly in the orthopedic outpatient clinic.

NORTH SHORE HOCKEY LEAGUE

Who can stop the scoring spree of Lynn English and his great first line? That's the question being asked in the North Shore League as Tippy Johnson, Ernie Carpenter and Don Spinyne continue in stride on another record-breaking season. With the season at the halfway mark Johnson has 27 points, Carpenter 25 and Spinyne 23, according to corrected figures. They top the Essex County Division, followed by Ken Hutton of Lynn Classical with 15 points and English teammate Junior Harwood with 10 points.

Woburn center Joe MacGillivray also retained his leadership in the Northeastern Conference Division with 18 points, followed by Leo Callahan, Winchester, 14; Richie Johnson 13 and Woburn's Bill Dunnigan, 12.

Tippy Johnson, Carpenter and MacGillivray have all scored 15 goals to share lead in that department. Spinyne is the leading playmaker with 16 assists. Tippy Johnson has 12 and Woburn's Jim Day has 11.

Ready "to settle for a 1-0 win," Lynn English will face its biggest test of the season when it plays Winchester in the feature game of the seven-game North Shore League program at the Lynn Arena Saturday night.

Other games on the card are Danvers, which hasn't lost since its opening game, vs Revere, which scored its first two goals of the season last Saturday; Amesbury vs Swampscott and Peabody vs Woburn in the afternoon. At night Lynn Classical plays Beverly, Saugus meets Gloucester, English faces Winchester and Marblehead plays Salem. The English-Winchester game will go on at 9 p.m.

Coach Red Foote of the record-minded English team (125 points in seven games) said, "We'll settle for a 1-0 win. We just want to win." Around the 15-team circuit, however, the feeling is that English packs too much power for last year's state champions. Foote's biggest problem is to battle overconfidence, for in many quarters his sextet is rated the best in the state.

Some of the glamour of the Winchester-English game was rubbed off when Winchester was upset by the hustling Woburn team last Saturday, before the biggest crowd in the league's history, 2000. To regain its prestige Winchester will have to rebound against the Bulldogs.

A check of the teams' scores against common opponents highlights the size of Winchester's task. English and Winchester have played four common opponents, Amesbury, Marblehead, Revere and Woburn. Winchester has outscored the four 19-9, losing only to Woburn. English has won all four with a 35-2 bulge in scoring.

English has the highest-scoring line in the state. Tippy Johnson, Ernie Carpenter and Don Spinyne have combined for 37 goals and 33 assists for 75 points. Winchester's first line of Leo Callahan, Richie Johnson and Ron Parker have accounted for 37 points on 23 goals and 14 assists, also in seven games. Goalie Ron Tanner and his replacements have allowed only four goals and Winchester's George Denton has given up 12 goals in seven games.

ATTENTION WINCHESTER LEGIONNAIRES

At the regular monthly meeting on Thursday, January 19, there will be a spaghetti dinner. The dinner is to start at 7:30 and the regular meeting is to take place at approximately 8:30. Chef Dom informs us that there will be plenty of spaghetti with all the trimmings and that all attend and help devour it. It might be wise to stay clear of any snacks until you arrive at the Post Home on that evening.

The spaghetti has been donated by the Scarpa brothers who are Winchester residents and of the Bay State Macaroni Manufacturing Co., and the members of Post 97 wish to extend their thanks to these men and it is hoped that their presence at the dinner shall be felt. See you at the dinner!

Y.P.F. CORPORATE COMMUNION AT EPIPHANY

WINCHESTER OUTCLASSED WAKEFIELD

Winchester High School's Defending Middlesex League and State Class B Championship basketball team had no trouble defeating Wakefield to its growing list of victims last Friday evening at Wakefield, winning the Middlesex League game between the two schools by the lopsided score of 80-59. It was the fifth time this season the Indians have tallied 80 points or better.

Wakefield didn't act as if it thought it could beat Winchester, the home club playing a possession type of game in an obvious effort to keep the score within respectable bounds. Despite all Wakefield's efforts to freeze the ball, Winchester led at the half, 34 to 8, and a 28 point third quarter, the Indians best of the season, put the game definitely in the saddle. Most of the 28 points came on fast breaks and drive-ins, with Mark Apsey leading the parade.

Apsey led both teams in scoring with 16 points on six floor goals and four foul baskets. Lynch, Bob Smith and Bellino hit for double figures.

The Winchester Jay Vees won the preliminary game, 69-45, with a typical fast finish. The Roberts and Royer Symmes led the second's surge. The summary:

BOY SCOUTS

Troop 9 of the George Washington School wound up the year 1955 with a gala Christmas party.

Mr. George Sjolholm, Committee Chairman, announced the results of the Christmas cards and paper sale, and awarded prizes to the leading salesmen.

Bucky Nichols received a Boy Scout wallet for selling more than 60 packages, and Johnny Swift was awarded a cooking utensil kit for his efforts in selling over 40 packages.

The high spot of the evening occurred when the Scouts came up with a basket of food including turkey and trimmings to make a happy Christmas for a needy family.

Scoutmaster Gomes stressed the importance of advancement and suggested that the boys take advantage of the holiday season by devoting part of the time to the Scouting Program.

Ed Larson handled the recreation activities with a few games and the affair was concluded with refreshments.

WOBURN STOPS WINCHESTER TANNERS 4-3 WIN SNAPS INDIANS SKELIN

There was no joy in Winchester last Saturday night just as there was no joy in Mudville on that historic occasion when "Mighty Casey" struck out. Winchester fans were, of course, bemoaning the Indians hockey loss to Woburn, 4-3 at the jam-packed Lynn Arena, breaking a skein of 23 consecutive games against high schools, exclusive of the New England tournament last year.

There was no doubt about this being the game of the year to date at the Arena. With standees where ever possible, the doors had to be closed finally with many late comers turned away. Those with seats got little good out of them, for from the opening faceoff to the final buzzer the game was so close that every one was standing anyhow.

It is too bad the Indians couldn't put on a better show for the big crowd, especially with so many of their own followers present. The local boys were sluggish and uncertain, and while they probably made no fewer actual errors than Woburn, the Tanners were quick to take advantage of the Indians' lapses while the Winchester boys seldom were able to capitalize on the openings left them by their spirited opponents.

The game was pretty much a replica of the 1954 football game. There wasn't too much choice in the teams offensively, but defensively the "Tanners" enjoyed a noticeable edge, and this advantage was the difference that meant the game.

The Winchester defense was constantly being caught up the ice and the Indians' back court men couldn't skate with the Tanners forwards. Dangerous passing in toward center ice in Winchester territory contributed to a couple of the Woburn goals when alert Tanners pounced on pucks passed nowhere near a local player.

The Winchester fans were either crushed or disgruntled, according to their appraisal of their team's effort, but it is only fair to state that apparently the Indians were trying, but defensively were just outclassed.

Leo Callahan matched the three-goal output of Woburn's Joe McGillivray, but no one could match the extra tally belted in by "Joltin' Joe" Castiglione, who, threat chat he was, played a definite second fiddle to his defense partner, Joe Upton, who was a real thorn in the flesh of the Indians all night.

Woburn went out in front, 2-0, in the first period when Day set up McGillivray twice, and the Tanners took their two-goal advantage into the second chukker.

The second period wasn't a minute along when Leo Callahan scored Winchester's first goal on an assist by Richie Johnson. The Indians, however, failed to follow up their advantage and the Tanners had another two-point lead at 6:49 when Castiglione started one from across the blue line, the puck traveling flat on the ice and under the gloved hand of goalie George Denton who elected to try to stop the shot with his hands rather than with his stick or skates.

That really did it. Callahan scored Winchester's second goal early in the third period, again on an assist by Johnson, but once again the Woburn defense proved too good and before Winchester could score again McGillivray banged home his third goal on an assist by Bill Johnson.

In an effort to salvage the game Coach Finigan yanked his goalie and sent in a sixth skater, and the maneuver paid off. With Winchester pressing around the Woburn net Callahan banged in a pass from Ron Parker, to reduce the Tanner margin to a goal.

With less than a minute remaining Winchester tried desperately for the equalizer while Woburn battled to kill the clock. The Indians had their last chance in the waning second when there was a faceoff just to the right of the Woburn net, but nothing came of it, and the game remained with Woburn as the partial game last fall.

Perhaps the best defensive effort of the game was contributed by Upton of Woburn in the second period after Callahan had reduced the Woburn lead to 2-1. Johnson and Callahan had gotten by the Woburn defense and were bearing down on Goaler Kilbride when Upton came from behind, split the Winchester pair and picked off Johnson just as little "Richie" was getting his shot away.

Had the Indians got that goal, it would have knotted the count and no knowing what might have happened. At least there would have been more pressure on the Tanners at that point. The summary:

Woburn—J. Day, c. W. Johnson, rw. McGillivray, lg. Callahan, rd. Upton, g. Carey, Spares: Dunnigan, Castiglione, DeMunco, Murphy.

Winchester—J. W. Parker, c. Johnson, rw. Callahan, lg. Sullivan, rd. Upton, g. Denton, Spares: Weaver, Cussen, Zerkle, Hertog, Kelleher, Farrer.

First Period: McGillivray (J. Day) 5:48. Second Period: Callahan (Johnson) 55 seconds, Castiglione 6:49. Third Period: Callahan (Johnson) 2:39, McGillivray (Johnson) 8:09. Callahan (Parker) 9:24.

When the Jr. Y.P.F. of the Parish of the Epiphany meets at 5:30 on Sunday, January 15, there will be a special program of recreation and entertainment. The main attraction, called "Magic," will be presented by Mr. Gerald Y. Hills.

All 7th and 8th graders are cordially invited to attend.

S.O.I. BOWLING LEAGUE

It seems only yesterday that bowling started, but seventeen weeks have sure whizzed by, this being the third contest of the second half.

Although Boston College finished at the bottom of the heap in the first half, they sure have struck their stride this half, for at present they are in a two way tie for top position with California. Determination is a prime factor in ultimate victory is to be obtained.

Team Standings:
Boston College 9-3

California	9-3
Holy Cross	8-4
Georgetown	7-5
St. Mary's	6-6
Notre Dame	4-8
Alabama	3-9
Bates	2-10

Hi Single:
Chic Vespucci, St. Mary's 133
Hi Triple:
Tony Saraco, St. Mary's 355

Top Five Bowlers:
Richard Bucci	103.3
Frank Gangi	100.6
Jeff Gaudioso	97.5
Musky Tofuri	96.4

The doodle-bug prevented me from giving a resume last week, so with the return of my mental and physical state to top shape once again, I take my pencil in hand to give you a blow-by-blow description of last week and the previous week. California was the high rail splitter two weeks ago with a 1405 pinfall. The famous state of gold and glory is captured by Richard Bucci and his fighting squadron consists of John Buttafucio, Johnny Mangano, Peter Fiore, Dom Simonetta and Rocky DiTesso.

Last week's rail splitter was Holy Cross with a 1395 pinfall. This team is captained by Jake Jacobellis, and includes M. J. Saraco, Dom Provinzano, Eddie Forgiore, Larry Penta and County Commissioner M. D. Saraco.

Everyone tries to get his average to heights to be proud of. Sometimes something unusual happens to bring back the memories of the olden days. This happened two weeks ago as I watched a great bowler whose past accomplishments are etched in the minds of many of us bowlers who are familiar with this well liked and honored person who is a credit to our own, or any community.

Each individual bowler has his own personal peculiarities or tactics he indulges in before he bowls. The bowler of which I write, cups his right hand and blows through it before taking the ball and firing it down the alley with the vigor of a person many years his junior.

He really blew them down that week for, performing anchor man for Boston College, he came up with a 314 for the evening and was the only one to bowl over 300 that night! What's unusual about that you say? The irony was that in the first string in the last three boxes he bowled a pinfall of 43 to win that string and in the second string in the last two boxes he came up with a 39 pinfall to win this string, a prime reason that his team, as I stated before, is now tied for top honors in this half. Who is he? Our friend "Musky" Tofuri.

Last week we only had two to hit over the 300 mark. The "Mighty Mouse" Tony Saraco had 313 and his brother, M. J. Saraco, 316.

Everyone gets disgusted occasionally, even Sam Bellino as he watched his team bowl. He stated that "Deadhorse" is dead weight for his team and "Hokie" is even deadlier!

"Deadhorse" retaliated by saying, "I know what I'm doing but I can't do anything about it!" Where is Hokie? Rudy Rotondi continues to drink fresh milk as he bowls a 112 string.

Where there is bowling, there is Ben Gilotti. Babe Tofuri is slipping badly as he bowls a 79 string. Joe Rega, Jr., has hypertension caused by "Musky".

Where is Hokie? Is he leaning on the port or starboard side now? Who noticed the red dahlia first? N. M. or D. G. I'd say the man smoking the El Producto cigars.

"Area" Amico has his own private rooting section in his young son. We are happy that the B. C. strike is over as many of our bowlers were affected. With the post-graduate course started at B.C. last week, it will be surprising to see how many receive their sheepskin at graduation time.

The most prominent member to return for a P.G. course is "Curly Locks" Chic Vespucci whose recent purchase of a tank car full of rubbing alcohol made the news of the week recently.

The tan His Honor "Mingy" Frongillo is sporting in deceiving for it was not received in Florida as many believed. It was from the heat of the fire at the W.D.A. I swear that the smoke is still coming from his ears.

We are happy and proud to say that the turnout at the New Year's Party was excellent and the committee should be very proud of their excellent work.

The winner of the award two weeks ago was John Buttafucio and this past week he was our meticulous accountant, Paul Lentini. See you next week.

KNOW YOUR SCHOOL TRAFFIC OFFICER

Seventh in a series of articles published by the Star to acquaint school children and their parents with the School Traffic Control Officers, in whose hands is the safety of the town's children on school days.

OFFICER T. PARKER CLARKE

T. Parker Clarke, School Traffic Officer at the busy intersection of Washington and Mt. Vernon streets, was first appointed March 17, 1952, and assigned to the Bacon, Maine and Grove streets corner. He was transferred to his present post September 8, 1954, when many pupils from the Mystic School were sent to the Lincoln School.

Born in Cambridge July 19, 1881, Officer Clarke was educated at Rindge Technical School and Northeastern University. Officer Clarke came to Winchester in 1915 as Superintendent of the Highway Department and Workmen's Compensation Agent. Later he was division manager of the Winchester Laundry Division of the New England Laundries, and then for eight years was industrial engineer for the Massachusetts General Hospital, retiring in 1950 after several years of private engineering work.

Officer Clarke has been Chief of the Auxiliary Fire Department since 1942. A sound musician, he was one of the original members and solo trombone of Ives Band of Boston, played trombone in all the Boston Theatres, and played with such well known bands as the First Corps Cadets, Walter Smith's and many others.

Officer Clarke has sung regularly with the Choir of the First Congregational Church and with the Winchester Choral Society. He makes his home at 123 Mt. Vernon street, is married to the former Christine Montgomery of Boston and they have two children, Norman, manager of the Telephone Company's Greenfield office; and Marjorie, now Mrs. Joseph Hall of Kenwin road.

TRANSFUSION BLOOD EAGERLY SOUGHT

SUPPLY OF DERIVATIVES NOW AMPLE

No synthetic substitute for whole blood has yet been found, although blood scientists yearn for such a discovery, said Oscar E. Merrow, Red Cross Blood Program chairman today, as he announced that the only appearance of the Red Cross Bloodmobile in Winchester this winter would be at the parish house of the Congregational Church on Monday, January 30.

In the meantime, Mr. Merrow stated, the need for whole blood for transfusions continues unabated in our own Winchester Hospital as it does in all the hospitals in the State and nation. However he said that it is most gratifying that there are some needs for blood that have been filled. For instance, the supply of those products of blood that result from fractionation, or processing, is adequate, even nationally. These blood products, such as plasma, serum, albumin, immune serum globulin, antihemophilic globulin, fibrinogen and thrombin, have been derived from the blood given by people who have had jaundice or malaria, whose blood could not be given safely to people needing whole blood.

Since this supply of components has satisfied present need, the Red Cross feels it would be wasteful to continue to pile up more of them and that it would be unfair to those public spirited persons who have offered their blood for this use to continue to accept it. Therefore, although Mr. Merrow was quick to point out that this situation might change at any moment and such blood be eagerly sought, just now the Red Cross will not accept blood from those who have had a history of malaria or jaundice. Nothing, he stressed, alters the great demand for whole blood for immediate transfusion use.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL DADS' CLUB GENERAL MEETING JANUARY 17, 1956

The holidays are over and your Board of Directors have been busy planning a "Get Acquainted" General Meeting which should be well rounded evening. There will be an opportunity to get to know the Dads of your children's classmates whom you hear about at dinner and often wonder what he looks like, what he does and where he lives.

The business meeting will be followed by a summary of what "Your" Club has accomplished since its inception—Believe me it's a club to be proud of.

After some home made refreshments, Coach Henry Knowlton is going to show and describe movies of last year's football games.

Don't forget Dad. The date is Tuesday, January 17, 1956, the time is 7:45 p. m. and the place, the Washington School.

MR. AND MRS. CLUB

Those members and friends of members of St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club who braved the mist and fog of Wednesday evening, January 4th, were amply rewarded for attending the monthly meeting of the club.

After Louise and Dana Kelly had conducted the business session, John Griffin introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. Edward H. Nowlan, S.J.

Father Nowlan is a graduate of Boston College. He received his degree of Doctor of Moral Theology from Weston College and his Doctorate in Experimental Psychology at Harvard University. His subject was "Religion and Personality." His talk was both educational and timely.

The consensus of opinion indicated that a return engagement would be most welcome to the club members. Refreshments were served, both daintily and abundantly, rounding out a memorable evening.

HOME AND GARDEN CLUB

The next regular meeting of the Winchester Home and Garden Club will be held January 18th, at 2:00 p. m., at the Winchester Public Library.

Marion and Marshall Symmes will give an illustrated lecture in Kodachrome on "Flowers and Gardens." The Symmes are well known for their beautiful photography and a delightful afternoon is anticipated by their many Winchester friends.

"WINTERING" OF ANIMALS URGED

Timely advice on the care of animals during the winter months was issued yesterday by Dr. Gerry B. Schnelle, Chief of Staff of the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, 180 Longwood avenue, Boston.

Said Dr. Schnelle, "Animals, like human beings, suffer as a result of extreme cold weather, and should be 'winterized,' just as we winterize our homes, our automobiles and our gardens. For instance, following a heavy snowstorm, it is dangerous to allow dogs to run free, since they are likely to stay within the confines of powdered thoroughfares, and thus risk being struck by cars. The animals should therefore receive out-door exercise, by being walked on a leash, if necessary, to allow opportunity for natural function."

Special attention should also be given the feet of dogs when they contact salted sidewalks or streets. It is well to wipe the feet thoroughly, especially the tender webbing between the toes, after the animal returns from exercise where de-frosting agents have been used.

A list of cold-weather "Don'ts" was suggested by the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital for all animal owners.

Don't allow dogs to chase automobiles.

Don't tie dogs out-doors without providing kennel or suitable shelter.

Don't permit dogs or cats to remain out-doors overnight.

Don't overload work horses.

Don't fail to blanket horses when standing longer than ten minutes in below-freezing temperature.

Don't blanket horses while in motion.

Don't give horses too cold water.

SAV YOU SAW IT IN THE STAR

NEW AUDUBON SANCTUARY

One of the finest gifts in the history of the Massachusetts Audubon Society became its eleventh wildlife sanctuary when the Society's board of directors accepted a bequest unparalleled in its scope and possibilities, Drumlum Farm in Lincoln. Willed to the Massachusetts Audubon Society by Louise Ayer Hathaway, a life member long interested in conservation education, Drumlum Farm is provided with a liberal endowment to assure maintenance of the estate and the carrying out of a far-reaching program for the training of teachers in conservation.

The property, equal to no other bequeathed to wildlife, runs along both sides of route 117, twenty miles from Boston, and consists of 177 acres of farm and woodland, orchard and gardens, ponds and ledges. The spacious main dwelling, which will serve as sanctuary headquarters, is of red brick, built in 1913, modeled after structures at Oxford University, and also reminiscent of the Gore mansion. Other buildings include three farm houses, two duplex houses, a large barn, chicken and turkey houses, and a well-equipped kennels which may be suitably adapted to house the many injured wild birds and mammals brought to the Society each year.

Horses, dairy and beef cattle, and poultry are cared for by the farm staff. A fine team of draft horses and a famous gifted horse, Jellybean, are the gifts of Mrs. Hathaway's son, now living in Wyoming. One of the ponds, a large "natural well," supports a sizeable flock of ducks and geese to which a variety of other species may be added. The vegetable and small fruit gardens, which include a nursery for bird food plants, are equipped with overhead irrigation and heated cold frames.

Drumlum Farm will be operated by methods particularly intended to demonstrate and teach the best practices in soil, water, and forest conservation, and the relation of all of these to the ecology of wildlife and of man. This property, although officially acquired by the Society the first day of 1956, will not be ready to be shown to members or the general public until the summer. At that time it is expected that the fond hopes of a friend of all nature will have shown the first signs of realization.

MRS. MARKS ON FINE ARTS COMMITTEE

Mrs. George A. Marks of 32 Foxcroft road, was appointed this week to a Ladies' Committee at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston.

The Ladies' Committee was formed Wednesday, January 11, for the first time in this institution's long history. The purpose of the Committee is to take an active part in expanding the Art Museum's role in the Greater Boston community. Its first activity will be an intensive drive for increased Museum membership beginning January 11th. Perry T. Rathbone, Director of the Museum pointed out that the number of members of the Boston Museum is incredibly smaller than that of any other similar institution in the country.

Mrs. Roger H. Halliwell of Westwood is chairman of the new Ladies' Committee, Mrs. Thomas B. Gannett of Wayland is vice-chairman and Mrs. Richard P. Chapman of Brookline is secretary. The Committee comprises a group of 25 prominent ladies from the Greater Boston communities.

The membership drive was launched Wednesday, January 11, with a meeting in the Trustees' Room of the Museum of Fine Arts. The Museum, although one of the greatest in the world in the richness and variety of its collections operates entirely from private resources without support from city, state or federal government. Its membership now numbers only 2,200 as compared to 17,000 of the Chicago Art Institute, to 12,500 at the New York Metropolitan Museum, and to 5,500 at the Cleveland Museum of Art.

Cadillac

Not Wealthy... Just Wise!

Most people think that the gentleman who owns and drives a new Cadillac must necessarily be blessed with an abundance of this world's goods.

But the truth of the matter is that a great many motorists of relatively modest means—like the happy man you see here—sit at the wheel of the "car of cars."

For wisdom and practicality lead to Cadillac—just as surely as prominence and prosperity!

Listen, for a moment, to this remarkable assembly of facts—and see if you don't agree.

The Series Sixty-Two Coupe... the beautiful and inspiring motor car pictured above... costs just a few dollars more than many cars in the "medium-price" bracket.

Cadillac's dependability is so extraordinary that the car is virtually free from all but the purely routine requirements of service.

A Cadillac stretches a gallon of gasoline over so many miles that it is actually the rival of much smaller, lighter cars in this regard.

And a Cadillac will retain its value over the years better than any other automobile in the land.

The conclusion is, we think, self-evident: Cadillac ownership is not only wonderful and thrilling—but sound and sensible as well.

Why not stop in soon for a look and a ride?

You'll discover the most beautiful Cadillac ever built... the finest-performing Cadillac of all time... and the greatest value in Cadillac history.

That's Cadillac's magical combination for 1956—and it's waiting for you now in our showroom.

ST. MARY'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY

St. Mary's Holy Name Society received Holy Communion in a body at the 7:45 Mass, Sunday, January 8. As this was the Feast of the Holy Family, many wives and children of members received Holy Communion with the society.

After Mass, coffee and doughnuts were served in St. Mary's Hall. A short business meeting followed. Father Dolphin, the Society's Spiritual Director, led the members in the recitation of the Holy Name Pledge and Secretary Al Thorne read the minutes of the preceding meeting. Treasurer John Fitzgerald made his report and Military Chairman Herb Cleary, Jr., reported on the work of his committee.

President Joe Foley spoke on the Annual Family Communion Breakfast to be held Sunday, February 12, at St. Mary's Hall. The guest speaker will be the Right Reverend Lawrence J. Riley, Secretary to Archbishop Cushing.

Program Chairman, Bill Burns introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Everett J. Conway of the Sacred Heart Parish in Roslindale.

Mr. Conway is the head of the English Department of the Roxbury Memorial High School for Boys and the author of numerous magazine articles. His subject was Cardinal Newman and the Oxford Movement. Mr. Conway knew his subject thoroughly and gave a very informative talk on this scholarly and dedicated man.

Fr. Dolphin closed the meeting with a prayer.

Miss Mary Ann Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Morgan, Sr., 10 Francis Circuit, and a freshman at Pine Manor Junior College in Wellesley, achieved an honor rating on the Dean's List for the first quarter of the current academic year. It was announced recently at a College honors assembly.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The First Congregational Church discussion group on Congregationalism will hold its second meeting Sunday morning at 9:30 in the Church Parlor. The group will consider the high points in the development of Congregationalism through the 17th, 18th and 19th Centuries.

Since the Congregational Christian Churches are looking forward to the consummation of a merger with the Evangelical and Reformed Church the present discussion of the distinctive elements of Congregationalism is most timely.

The first meeting of the study group on The Christian Home, under the able leadership of Mrs. Dwight L. Cart, was held in Ripley Chapel last night, at 7:45 p.m. The group discussed "The Objectives of a Christian Home" and the means of obtaining these objectives. Next week, the discussion will be on "Mental Health a Family Affair," steps toward mental health, including relationship of discipline to punishment, building self-confidence within the child, and teaching the enjoyment of work.

It is not too late to join these groups. All who are interested are very welcome.

Vice-President and Executive Editor of the Chicago Daily News, Mr. Walters been named national chairman of the Newspaper Committee for Brotherhood Week, it was announced this week by Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., Chairman and Chief Executive of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., who is serving as national chairman of the annual observance. Serving with Mr. Walters in this region are: Erwin D. Canham, Editor of the "Christian Science Monitor," and Forrest W. Seymour, Publisher of the "Winchester Telegram-Gazette." Sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the 1956 observance of Brotherhood Week will be held February 19-26, marking its 23rd anniversary.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The Annual Meeting of the Winchester Girl Scout Council will be held on Tuesday, January 17th, at 8 p.m. at the Public Library. This is a meeting very vital to our future. Area Development, as proposed by the National Board of Girl Scouts, will be discussed by two interpreters sent out by the Area Development Committee which has studied this new idea for three years. They will present a plan for the re-organization of local councils under the Area plan for Metropolitan Boston, giving the proposed plans for condensing the present 43 councils into either one, two, three, or four (at the very most) councils. As this proposed plan may relocate some of the present offices, staff, and mean a greater sharing of Girl Scout cabins, technical advisors, and general equipment you will be particularly interested to hear just what effect any one, or all of the four plans, will have on the present Winchester set-up; viz, would our office still be here in town, will we share our Cabin with another town, what benefits will we receive under this plan for greater use of facilities and greater co-operation with other councils. We need each and every one of our adult members to help us consider this plan. We shall welcome you at the meeting, to hear Mrs. Dana Atchley of Lexington and Mrs. Walter Everett of Watertown.

Election of officers and board members takes place at this time. Mrs. Lawrence Dallin, chairman, and her committee have prepared the slate for your consideration. We expect a large and very informative meeting. See you there!

FEAST OF LIGHTS TO BE REPEATED AT EPIPHANY

The service of the Feast of Lights, presented each year at this season in commemoration of the Epiphany, will be given again at the Church of the Epiphany on Sunday, January 15, at 7:00 p.m.

This beautiful service, under the direction of the Y.P.F., will be repeated because so many persons were prevented by the icy weather from attending last Sunday. There will be no service of Evening Prayer.

Following the Feast of Lights, there will be a showing of the film "Martin Luther" in the Parish Hall, under the auspices of the Y.P.F. The offering taken at this time will help to finance the Y.P.F.'s trip to Washington in the spring.

EDITORIAL

A critical shortage of news print makes it necessary for the Star to ask its correspondents to help us publish as many of their stories as possible by reducing them in length. This is not a request for you to discontinue bringing in your articles. We want them! But we must ask you to hold them down to essentials. We will have to edit articles and our idea of what is important may not square with yours. Also, please do not send us miscellaneous articles, covering events and activities outside Winchester, having no actual Winchester connection. WANTS TO PLAY BALL TOO!

Editor of the Star:

Tuesday evening about 8 o'clock I presented myself in the Building Commissioner's office to hear an appeal taken against a young engineer who contemplates building on Churchill road. In fact, this personable, well appearing young man owns this lot and received a permit to build last November. He was told that the hearing was not scheduled but would be at a later date.

This gentleman left the building. I missed him, but I inquired about the case and argued with Mr. Wallace who stated the hearing would be set tonight for some future date.

Would you say that this conduct was just and proper, for a Town Agency to delay such a case for a long period of time? Would the case be different if the parties concerned were members of the same clique. My answer is yes, for let me state in detail what did take place last night!

Yes, other hearings were held last night, in fact, I believe there were four. I noticed that present were a group of men, who are well known in Winchester and who all play on the same ball team, including the only two members present of the Board of Appeals.

I finally remembered that these gentlemen were here present for a hearing according to The Winchester Star, for members of the Board of Appeals to set up this hearing. I am not sure if it was a building 75 feet long by 40 feet wide of two stories in height, and that because the building would be built partly in residential property, said hearing was therefore necessary according to law.

Building such a structure, especially within an area of residential homes, is of concern to many who live there. Evidently most of them did not read about it in the Star, or forgot about it like I did, or were not stirred up by the telephone by noted agitators, several of whom are located within this area.

However, I became interested in this hearing and observed the ball team in action. First hearing, J. H. Winn & Sons, represented by Mr. Ernest Dade and his assistant vice president, Mr. Parsons, master of eloquence and speech, stated the entire facts of the case. He brought out every detail except how much tax revenue Winchester would receive. Mr. Millyan, who pressed Mr. Wallace on what the building would cost and approximately what taxes would be paid on the same, was told by Mr. Wallace that matter was not relevant. Is it not of public interest?

It was a different picture when Mr. Parsons asked Mr. Dade questions such as, "How long have you served on the Board of Selectmen? How long have you been an Assessor? How long have you been a Director of said Winchester Bank, etc?" At no time did Mr. Wallace interfere, knowing, however, the questions and answers were immaterial and not relevant to the case at hand, but who would expect a teammate to interfere?

In fact, we all know Mr. Dade served the town in various capacities and we know he did a good job! So I predict, and would wager 1000 to 1, that Winn and Co., will be allowed to build a part of this building on residential property! I am not against this project, neither am I opposed to any business that wishes to be established in Winchester. I am bitter in regard to the way certain people band together to get what they want, disregarding the other fellow unless he belongs to the team. It is an established fact that Dade applied for his permit to build December 7th or later. Mr. William Lamborghini, the young engineer I mentioned at the start of this letter applied for his permit in November.

I was notified November 22, 1955, that a building permit was issued to him and an appeal was filed. Why then wasn't this appeal heard, or why wasn't a hearing set for this appeal? Shouldn't this war veteran be allowed to build? Why are they delaying this hearing?

The only issue for the Board of Appeal to decide is whether or not Parks and Packard Co., who filed the appeal, were justified in doing so. I therefore demand that the Board of Appeal set up this hearing! Yes, Mr. Editor, let us all belong to the same ball team! Let us all band together, and I am sure we will all be happy and no one will have cause to complain.

I have been told that the acceptance of Sunset road and Churchill road has been turned down by the Selectmen, although a majority of land owners on this street wanted acceptance.

Why did the Selectmen refuse to recommend the acceptance of these two roads to the coming Town Meeting. This would be a fair way to have the case heard, so the whole Town could really get the picture! The Board of Selectmen know that by this action I am now com-

Winchester Democrats Expected To Show Added Strength In 1956

By Charles Ball

"This year is going to be the most active in the history of the Winchester Democratic Town Committee." These were the words of an official of the Committee, as he revealed a three-pronged drive Winchester Democrats will make in 1956. This forward leaping program will include:

1. Organization of a young people's group designed to enlist the energies of young men and women who seek to work actively for the election of Democrats.

2. A drive to get more people of Democratic sympathy registered as voters.

3. Enlargement of the Town Committee to include many of the new Winchester residents. An adjunct to this enlargement would be the organization of a corps of people working under the committee and active in all the committee's drives.

In his conversation with this writer this past week, the official said that a large number of Winchester's new residents are Democrats, that they are interested in the Committee's work, and that they plan to campaign hard for their candidates.

The "new residents" of whom the official spoke include impressive numbers of ex-Bostonians who have joined in the flight from the city for suburban living. These people include many who have been successful in business or the professional world and who have long enjoyed active participation in government and politics. Their numbers are expected to jolt Republicans as the trend continues. If this is true, and we have reason to think that it is, Republicans will be less and less able to count on Winchester as a "safe bet."

Even in 1954, a year in which Republicans still enjoyed the Eisenhower popularity, Democrats in Winchester polled impressive totals in races for state offices. Republican Harrison Chadwick was re-elected to his General Court seat by only 1,795 votes out of 8,103 cast. In a race for the State Senate, Frederick T. McDermott lost Winchester to his Republican opponent by only 2,530 out of 8,026.

Political wars, including shrewd observers in both parties, expect that these margins will narrow even more in 1956. Republican strength will particularly suffer if President Eisenhower declines to run for a second term.

But even if Eisenhower does run, Winchester Democrats have good reason for optimism if the Town Committee can exploit the trend of settlement by Democrats in Winchester. The program of the Town Committee which has been outlined is a program designed to galvanize that new Democratic support into action.

(b) Zoning and Street Acceptances—Forest Street Area.

Publicity before, during and after these meetings made these two at least successful.

To close point 1 of the 12/30 edition, you may have heard as I have heard several times in public talks our present and past officials emphasize the long long hours, the thankless task of public service. Putting forward the thought that is now deep-rooted in the minds of most of our citizens of the hopelessness of holding public office.

Is this propagandizing emanating from this "town hall clique" so that they can perpetuate their minority rule? I think it is.

Now to your edition of 1/6, not to criticize what you said but rather, what you did not say. Did you know and if you did, was it not newsworthy for the Star to publish some item however importantly placed concerning one of the worst, longest and hardest fought fires in the memory of your readers?

At about 12:10, Saturday afternoon, December 31st, an alarm from Box 351 called the department to the Town Dump off Swanston street, (the more esthetic people call it the Disposal area.)

Two million gallons of water and seventy-two hours later weary firefighters retired to the nation house and their homes only to be called back the following day to continue their stubborn chore. A thousand man hours in the zero cold, hauling hundreds of feet of frozen hoses in the desolation of a dump and not a line of recognition of service rendered in the protection of our homes.

Picture these men many of whom are in the call service, getting less than $350 a year and answering all alarms, whatever the length of time to serve, against the other officials and their dark outlook to future public servants.

Mr. Editor, may we see and hear more of public affairs and give proper regard to public service.

Arthur J. Lewis, Jr.
29 Forest Street
Winchester, Mass.

Editor Note: We know about the fire, and it was news worthy. Our apologies to our readers, and especially the Fire Department.

ROUGH GAME, THIS HOCKEY!

At least you can't get "Art" Johns, popular coach of last summer's World Series Little League All Star baseball team, to say "isn't, and if you saw "Art" at his home on Glen road, recovering from injuries sustained in a friendly hockey game December 30, you wouldn't blame him for holding his opinion rather closely.

As we get the story from Mrs. Johns, "Art" agreed to go playing hockey with his sons, Michael and Tommy, last December 30, as a final treat for the boys before they return to school.

The trio went down to Wedge and was quickly joined by other hockey devotees with the result that every one was busy and happy until "Art" apparently skated into a rough spot in the ice and fell heavily on his right side, fell quickly he was unable even to get up and break his fall.

He broke his right arm in two places, fractured his right cheek bone, badly loosened three teeth and sustained a concussion. In addition, his glasses were broke in the fall and the broken frame entered his right eye, inflicting a painful cut.

Nearly householders got "Art" to the hospital where he was treated by Dr. William F. Hickey, Jr. who in addition to getting the broken arm into a cast had to take several stitches in the injured eye. After his treatment "Art" won home and is convalescing there. He was in good spirits when the Star talked with him Wednesday though admitting that eating still pretty much a problem.

Meanwhile baseball is going to "Art's" game from now on. As matter of fact he has already offered his skates to Dr. Hickey!

His interest since his college years has continued in the field of social work and he has served as General Secretary of Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, Instructor in Social Case Work at Boston University and Simmons College, and as a member of several boards and committees on child welfare and social work. He is an active member of the Congregational Church and has a special interest in Forum since his son is a member this year and in another year a daughter will join the group.

UNITARIAN YOUNG PEOPLE

Last Sunday, Metcalf Union held a very successful meeting despite inclement weather. At the business meeting, future plans were discussed for the dance and also for Youth ed for the dance and also for Youth Sunday, January 29.

Each year on the last Sunday in January, the young people of Metcalf Union take over the complete church service in the Winchester Unitarian Church, including the sermon. This year the persons giving the service are as follows:

Invocation and Opening Prayer: John Trump Scripture Reading: Kenneth Brown
Homily: Mary Alice Golding
Pastoral Prayer and Offering: David Clark
Sermon: Richard Clark

The speaker was Miss "Buttons" Burbank, a former skater with the Ice Follies. She said many interesting things about the organization, practices, auditions, salaries and TV appearances of this show and some of her own experience on the ice.

The program next week will consist of a boys' panel and a girls' panel discussing "The Ideal Date." This should prove very entertaining.

HILLTOP NEWS

Tuesday evening, January 17, is the date for the showing of the motion pictures on Juvenile Delinquency at the Elks Home on Elmwood avenue. Shown through the courtesy of the District Attorney's Office, they will follow the regular Lodge meeting and commence about 9 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to see the film.

The next inter-lodge tourney is scheduled for Monday, January 16, with Winchester host to Winthrop Lodge.

Plans are rapidly nearing completion for the annual Past Exalted Ruler's Night always one of the most important dates on the Elks calendar.

The initiatory degree will be worked on a class of candidates by Past Exalted Ruler of the Lodge and the work will be followed by a collation served by the Board of Stewards. P.E.R. Carl Getchell is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

DUMP FIRE CONTROLLED

One of the worst dump fires in the town's history was finally gotten under control at the Disposal Area last Thursday after a six-day fight that had all the Fire Department's pumps in action at one time or another.

The fire started December 31, at noon and it was 4:25 last Thursday when the weary crews finally went back to quarters for good. Engine 6 was in action at the fire constantly with Engines 3 and 1 assisting at the height of the blaze. Engines 4 and 2 also saw action as did the Fire Alarm truck.

Some of the most effective pumping was done from Irving street with a line of hose laid under the railroad tracks.

"WHY SHOULD I HAVE A WILL?"

A lawyer, who is a Winchester resident, was asked this question: "His answer seemed so important to me that I thought I'd pass it along to you. Here's what he said—"

Did you know that . . . Unless you have a properly drawn will your wife will receive 1/3 of your estate and 2/3 will be tied-up for your children?

Unless you have a properly drawn will the court may name its own guardian for your children and its own administrator for your estate?

Unless you have a properly drawn will your estate may well be subjected to unnecessary taxes, expenses, delays and red-tape?

But . . . With a properly drawn will you can distribute your estate the way you want to; you name your own guardian and executor; you can avoid unnecessary taxes, expenses, delays and red-tape.

(P.S. Your wife should have one too.) For a properly drawn will consult your attorney. For life insurance and estate planning consult

POLIO VICTIMS GET PREVIEW

Two tiny Massachusetts polio victims get a preview on the January 6 March of Dimes antique car caravan to kick off national fund drive from Wellesley Hills, Mass., with a coast-to-coast tour through 19 states. "Drive" is 3-year-old Richard Morley of Lynn. Waving is Kevin Robinson, age 6, of Nahant. Their car is 1908 De Dion Bouton.

"KING ARTHUR'S MAGIC SWORD"

All who saw "The Colonial Drummer Boy" last year will be happy to know that the Central Mothers' Association has arranged again for a non-profit performance of "live theatre" for Winchester children. This time the players will be the Mae Desmond Children's Theatre; the place will be the Junior High School auditorium; and the date, Saturday, February 25, with two performances at 10:00 a. m. and 2:00 p. m. to accommodate as many children as possible.

If you've ever wondered what happened to the Magic Sword, Excalibur, when King Arthur had it thrown into the Mysterious Lake, be sure to get your ticket for "King Arthur's Magic Sword."

This delightful new play tells of Garth, the wild Saxon warrior, who comes to England as a conqueror and learns that love and liberty are mightier than any sword, even a magic one!

A host of fascinating characters contribute to the excitement: Princess Anne, King Arthur's daughter; old Sir Basil, the last living Knight of the Round Table; the Widow Lawrence and her son; the Hermit of the Forest; and, of course, the white-cloaked Phantom Knight of England whose identity is a mystery and who conceives a daring plan to save the people from the Saxons.

In charge of this event is Mrs. Robert G. Millican and working with her are: Mrs. Ganson Taggart on publicity and mothers from each school; Mrs. Robert Foley, Washington School; Mrs. James Gustin, Wyman School; Mrs. John Parrish, Noonan School; Mrs. Fred Rozelle, Mystic School; Mrs. Rowland Moody, Lincoln School; and Mrs. Theodore Burleigh, Parkhurst School.

Get your typewriter ribbons, carbon paper, copy paper and bond typewriting paper at the Winchester Star. Star Building.

COACH HENRY KNOWLTON
MEN'S CLUB SPEAKER

The large attendance and interest in the first two meetings of the First Congregational Church Men's Club indicate that when the admired and popular Henry T. Knowlton speaks at the next meeting, January 18, in Chidley Hall at 6:30 p. m., the turnout should be a record one. "Winchester Sports" with motion pictures—will be Mr. Knowlton's general subject but he will be talking more specifically about how sports can help young people most effectively and what they can do to develop this phase of the school program.

Mr. Knowlton, Director of Physical Education and Athletics at the High School, is a native of Winchester and graduated from the High School in 1928. After graduation from Springfield College he spent a few years as coach at the New Hampton and Plymouth High Schools before coming to Winchester.

His considerable success as an athlete in undergraduate years (Captain of football at both WHS and Springfield) has been largely overshadowed by his outstanding ability as a coach.

Under his supervision Winchester teams are well known for their many championships but even more for the principles of sportsmanship and fair play which Mr. Knowlton has inspired in them. The fact that his greatest contribution to our town has been as a leader, adviser and friend to the many youths he's worked with is demonstrated by the "Knowlton Day" festivities at Manchester Field in 1954 when so many of these "youths" turned around and publicly expressed their great appreciation.

This evening should be a very interesting one and any man who wishes to attend should make his reservation with Mr. T. Parker Clarke (Winchester 6-1500) no later than January 15th.

EPIPHANY WOMEN'S GROUPS TO HAVE JOINT MEETING

Circles 3, 4, 6, and 9 of the Church Service League of the Parish of the Epiphany will hold a joint meeting at the home of Mr. Howard P. Richardson, 28 Everett avenue, on Thursday, January 19, at 10 a. m.

COLLEGE CLUB

The Evening Study Groups held their annual dinner meeting on Monday night at the Church of the Epiphany. In spite of inclement weather there was an excellent attendance.

After a most enjoyable dinner, Mr. Woodford Wilcox, co-chairman of the Evening Study Groups, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Philip Woodward, Director of the Education Office, Region One, Federal Civil Defense Administration. Mrs. Woodward's subject was "Survival City," a story in vivid detail of last year's atomic bomb explosion which she witnessed as state representative at Yucca Flats, Nevada. The purpose of the "shot" was to evaluate the damage to various units in the test "city" and plan methods by which and educational programs through which the Civil Defense Administration might act in minimizing damage to any area in case of atomic attack.

Mrs. Woodward concluded by saying the Civil Defense Administration is accused by many of war-mongering whenever it attempts to interest people and communities in planning for self-preservation. It is for one's self-assurance that he should be vitally interested in Civil Defense.

Mr. Wilcox then dismissed the Study Groups to various sections of the church that they might discuss the details of their individual programs.

PRESS FASHION SHOW

The first fashion show of its kind in the history of Massachusetts will be staged for delegates to the seventh annual conference of the New England Weekly Press Association to be held at the Sheraton Plaza on January 20 and 21.

More than 25 Bay State firms have cooperated with the Massachusetts Department of Commerce to portray dramatically to the visiting editors the progress being made by the state's fashion industry.

Built around a theme of "Made in Massachusetts," the show will feature fashions and complete ensembles designed and "made in Massachusetts," which represent the modern trends of the Bay State fashion industry, one of the oldest in the nation and the fourth ranking in the country.

Over 300 weekly newspaper editors and feature editors, more than 80 of them women, will be told the story of new creations, design, and adaptation of old and new materials in the ready to wear line of clothing production.

AUXILIARY POLICE

The Winchester Auxiliary Police enjoyed one of the most unusual meetings last Thursday night at the Range, from 8 o'clock to shortly after 10. The uniqueness of the evening was brought about by the presence of a tape recorder; and the men on the force wish to thank publicly Stan Mullen for his kindness and consideration in allowing them to so freely use his machine and his time.

For many in the group it was the first time that the flexibility of a recorder had been described and demonstrated. And don't the strangest things show up on a tape after it has been running through the machine unbeknown to those in the area! After the laugh session the force turned serious; and Sgt. "Connie" Bowler very ably interviewed every man present in relation to his civilian job and his Auxiliary interest. These interviews admirably displayed the distinct advantage of being able to call on this type of machine for training purposes and for use in every day Police work.

Later in the evening George Hendricks, Chief of the Auxiliary Police, discussed the Budget, which had earlier been presented to the Town Government for March Town Meeting consideration.

Also, Sgt. Bowler discussed the current status of his development of a First Aid class, open to all persons in town, which is expected to begin in the near future.

Any man in Winchester who is Draft-exempt may make application to join the Auxiliary Police; and will be made welcome at any of the weekly meetings, which start at 8 p. m. every Thursday at the Police Range on Park street.

All men on the force who expect to be in town during early February are hereby given notice that the Annual Elections will be held on February at the regular Monthly Business Meeting.

LAW FOR THE LAY WOMAN

Miss Mary Fiddler will be the speaker at the next meeting of the College Club Morning Study Group, Law for the Lay Woman. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lewis L. Wadsworth, Jr., 54 Wedgemere avenue on Wednesday morning, January 18, at 9:45.

Miss Fiddler, a member of the legal staff of the Employers' Liability Assurance Corporation, Ltd., is a past president of the Massachusetts Women Lawyers' Association and is on the Council of the New England Law Institute. Her subject will be Liability Insurance.

The study group must be limited to its present size.

RUDOLPH ELIE TO SPEAK

On Tuesday evening, January 24th, the newly organized Winchester Young Adult Group will have the pleasure to present Mr. Rudolph Elie, Jr.

Mr. Elie is especially well known in the Boston area through his present position as music critic and columnist for the Boston Herald. Although a native of Arlington, Massachusetts, his career in journalism has taken him into many parts of the world. During World War II he acted as war correspondent in the Pacific area for The Boston Herald and later returned to cover the atom bomb tests at Bikini. Messieurs Elie and Dahl (The Herald cartoonist) made an extensive tour of Europe together in 1950 and 1951. Then in 1952 Mr. Elie accompanied the Boston Symphony Orchestra on their first European tour as music critic and journalist. His work has also extended into writing "The Moving Eye" in the editorial section of The Boston Herald as well as articles and short stories for many of the popular magazines. Mr. Elie is now president of the Boston Press Club.

The Winchester Interdenominational Young Adult Group is fortunate in having such a well-versed speaker for its second meeting. Although his organization is sponsoring Mr. Elie, adults and high schoolers are cordially invited to share a worthwhile and entertaining evening with us. The meeting will be held in the Social Hall of the Church of the Epiphany at 3 p. m. Mr. Elie's intriguing title is "How To Be Funny Though Sad." Save January 24th and take advantage of this fine opportunity in Winchester.

Defense By Decontamination

By R. Douglas Ramsdell

Defense by decontamination, the subject of this week's column, applies to us, the citizens of Winchester, only after an enemy attack.

What is decontamination? For the purposes of this column and for general public information, decontamination, in discussing atom and hydrogen bombs means getting rid of dangerous radio-activity fallout materials are particles of matter. Actually, they are finely divided dust, so small, usually, that they are invisible. Apart from their radioactivity, they behave like dust and can be removed like any other dust. This dust gives off damaging radiation. It may cling to your hair, skin, and outer garments. Some may even penetrate through your clothes. The sooner you can get rid of it—decontaminate—the safer you will be. There is no clothing especially designed to protect against radiation. However, any clothing which keeps fallout from settling directly on your body provides some protection. If you should be caught in fallout in the open, the more of your body that is protected by clothing the better.

How do we decontaminate? We can decontaminate in several ways. We said before that decontamination means getting rid of the radio-active particles. So here are some basic ways of getting rid of them.

Washing: Scrubbing with soap and water, preferably under a shower will remove radioactive dust from the body. Washing will also remove it from most clothing, but the contaminated water must be disposed of. Containers of food such as cans or bottles—of not opened or punctured—can be decontaminated by washing them thoroughly. Level smooth surfaces can be decontaminated by washing and larger surfaces can be decontaminated by flushing with a hose, if sufficient water is available.

As an example of the use of water in decontamination, during the last tests in the Pacific a U. S. Naval vessel equipped with sprinklers ran through fallout from the bomb without damage to anyone aboard.

Cleaning: A vacuum cleaner can very well be used to pick up contaminated dust. This would result in concentrating the contamination in the cleaner container, which should be then disposed of.

Burying: It may be necessary to bury clothing, furnishings, and other items if facilities are not available for washing. This would be particularly true of materials which had been subject to a heavy concentration of radioactivity.

Other Means: Large areas contaminated by fallout may be decontaminated by turning over the earth or other large scale operations. This would probably not be done until sometime after the bomb burst and in the meantime our civil defense officials would probably declare much areas out of bounds. In any event that would be a matter for the civil defense authorities to handle.

When to decontaminate: If we think we have been exposed to radiation, we should decontaminate by washing and changing clothes as quickly as possible.

Civil defense official will tell us over the civil defense radio system when it is advisable and safe to begin general decontamination outside our cover or shelter.

As a foot note to this series on radio activity I think it would be well to add that knowledge is power, so learning about fallout, and knowing what means we can use to protect against it is our best defense. Civil defense will supply the knowledge and training. You must do the rest.

As FCIA Administrator Val Peterson said recently, "Civil Defense will succeed in this country only when every agency in Government, every industry and every individual projects its daily routine and thinking to include the possibility of an atomic attack."

Mr. and Mrs. John Corcoran of 9 Wildwood street have recently returned from a trip to New York, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Goulding. Ray is a member of the famous comic team Bob and Ray well known to radio and TV audiences. The other member of the team, Bob Elliott, formerly attended Winchester High School.

Coach Tom Morse and his W. H. S. New England Championship Cross Country Team.

SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS OF 1955 PART 4

NEW ENGLAND CROWNS IN CROSS COUNTRY AND LITTLE LEAGUE PACED GREAT YEAR

Swimming Trophies Won
On February 26, at Curtis Hall Pool, Jamaica Plain, Ann Neville of Forest street won the 100 yard butterfly championship for girls in the meet conducted by the Boston Park Recreation Department, Red Cross and NEAAU. This year wasn't a good one for swimming in Winchester, the polo scare, hurricanes and trouble with the water at Leonard Field pool holding activity to a minimum.

Brenda Cunningham and Allan McDougall won the Thomas P. McGowan Memorial Trophies given by the Park Department for swimming, and the Red Cross Trophies awarded those doing the most for swimming in the season went to Brenda McGowan and Robert Carroll.

Records Fell In Track
Spring sports competition, while not as spectacular or successful as that of the winter, was very satisfactory. The high school track team, coached by Cross Country Coach Tom Morse, was unbeaten in dual meet competition, but lacked the balance to win in the big inter-school and state meets.

Baseball Records
The high school baseball team, coached by Henry Knowlton, had a 10 and 6 record, including a split with Woburn, but won no titles. The same is true of the Junior League baseball team, again handled by Frankie Provinzano. These youngsters played a lot of grand baseball, winning 18 out of 21 games and being defeated only by Everett, State champion and National tourney participant.

Rowe Ghirardini established a new high hurdles mark of 16.9s in the Middlesex meet, May 18, and George Bodman equalled the school 100 yard dash record when he did 10.4s in the Melrose meet May 6. The record of 10 2/5 was established way back in 1913, and has been equalled several times.

Bodman was unofficially caught in 10.3s in his heat in the State meet, but he did not win the heat, so his mark does not count. Ghirardini also was under his 16.9s in the State meet, but he also did not win the heat in which he was clocked so this time has to be unofficial and no good record-wise.

Winchester won its first World's Series game from Hamtramck, Mich., 8-5, and the local boys in this game established themselves as solid contenders for the National crown. They still looked like winners through the early innings of their semi-final game with Morristown, Pa., but a home run in the extra-inning 8th finally spelled defeat for the town's darlings, 3-0. An umpire's decision prevented Winchester from winning the game in regulation innings, but Winchester took its defeat like sportsmen, and the kids got a great welcome home, being met at the airport and escorted into town by fire apparatus and a cavalcade of police and private automobiles, carrying citizens of all walks in life.

skipper to win this title more than twice. On the way he won both the Eastern Yacht Club and Corinthian Yacht Club titles.

The veteran Jim Newman won the Snipe Fleet Championship of the Winchester Boat Club, repeating his '54 victory with his boat, "Sinbad." Henry Allen of Quassapaog, Conn., won the Winchester Boat Club's 6th Annual Challenge Regatta.

Vets Over Sons In Softball
The Veterans of Foreign Wars beat the Sons of Italy in the final playoff for the Town Soft Ball Championship, with the other team in the playoffs the Royal Spa and the Fitzgerald Contracting club. St. Mary's Girls Softball Team had a successful season and had a 7-7 tie game with the championship St. James Team of Arlington to their credit.

Agnes Bixler of Winchester, paired with Sue Counihan of Cambridge to win the doubles for girls 15 and under in the Mystic Valley Tennis Center Championship at Packer Courts. The Winchester New England Tennis League team had a good season, and two Winchester boys, David Moore and Chris Wadsworth participated with the New England Tennis League All Star Team against an All Star Canadian Team.

Bobby Morris caught the biggest fish, an 11 1/4 in. bass in the annual Kiwanis Club summer Fish Derby at Wedge Pond.

N. E. Harrier Crown To Winchester
Fall's outstanding contribution to Winchester's sports success was made by the high school Cross Country Team. Coached again by Tom Morse, the Indian harriers had a perfect season, winning all their dual meets, and then with the chips actually down, winning in successive weeks the Pilgrim Division of the Middlesex Cross Country League, the Middlesex League Championship, the Massachusetts State Meet Class C Championship, and the New England Interscholastic Championship, the latter a very exclusive invitation event. "Ozzie" Osborne, Winchester's individual star, won the State Class C individual title and finished third in the New England.

Incidentally a former Winchester High track star, Ron Swonger, was elected captain of the Tufts Harriers for 1956.

Short Schedule Hurt Indians

Winchester's football team had no chance to figure in the Class B Championship because of an abbreviated schedule.

Because of the polio epidemic the School Committee curtailed practice until the postponed opening of school September 19, making it necessary for Winchester to cancel its first two games with Concord and Class B Watertown.

When the Stoneham game was permanently rained out Winchester was left with only a six game schedule. It won all its games, climaxing with two great exhibitions against unbeaten Wakefield and a Northeastern Conference Champion Woburn, the Wakefield game being one of the most thrilling contests of recent years, if not of all time Winchester history.

The Indians however, could not catch Gloucester, which played a normal schedule and finished in the runner-up position in the final class B ratings. Winchester's new seats on the east side of the gridiron on Manchester Field were erected this fall and used for the first time in the Reading game. A fine new press-box tops the seats and a successful public address system functioned at all the home games.

This fall also saw the re-activating of the Middlesex League, in which Winchester will play next year with Concord, Lexington, Belmont, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield and Melrose.

Outstanding throughout the season, Winchester's Captain and Brilliant left halfback, Joe Bellino, bowed out of schoolboy football competition by making every all scholastic team picked by Greater Boston papers and radio sportscasters, an unprecedented feat for a Winchester player.

Alison Hersey, Mt. Holyoke '59, was selected for the position of right wing on the Northeast Hockey Association First Team, playing in the U. S. Field Hockey Association National Tournament at Wilkes College, Chambersburg, Pa., over the Thanksgiving recess. In ice hockey the big local news is "Wimpy" Burnett's selection for this year's United States Olympic Team.

And remember—this easy handling dream is actually among the biggest, huskiest cars built!

Now for the final test—head for the open road and some landmarks you can challenge. Wipe out a hill. Straighten a curve. Smooth a stretch of rough road that's bothered you for years.

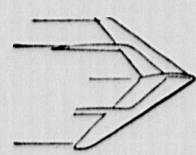

Now see why they're calling this the greatest "go" on wheels? More than that—it's the greatest buy on wheels! And that too, is easy to prove.

A look at the price tag—a check on our deal—and nothing will stop it from being yours!

*An extra-cost option.

ARE WE DOWN HEARTED?
Winchester Little Leaguers leave plane in Boston after World Series at Williamsport, Pennsylvania.

New High For Little League
Little League Baseball in Winchester hit a new high when the local all star team, handled by Artie Johns and Gordon Peckham went to the World Series in Williamsport, after a great local season.

The Dodgers outclassed the field in the intra-Winchester season, winning both halves of the league competition. Then the All Star team came up with a real story book effort, winning first the District III and Greater Boston Championships, and then beating Portland, Me., 3-1, and East Hartford, Conn., 4-3, to represent New England in the World Series at Williamsport.

Lost World Series Heartbreaker!

March Of Dimes Shifts Into High In Effort To Reach $10,000 Goal

The March of Dimes in Winchester has shifted into high gear and appears destined to attain its goal of $10,000.

On Saturday, January 21, at 10 a.m., 2,000 children are expected to view a special kiddies show at the Winchester Theatre. Tickets have been on sale at the Theatre and in business places in the Centre for two weeks. Lions Club officials who are presenting the show, report that sales of tickets are running better than expected.

A door-to-door campaign by the Mothers' March of Dimes will blanket Winchester on Sunday, January 22, from 2 to 4 p.m. Mrs. Lawrence Lunt, chairman of the March, expects to have about 100 mothers working in the campaign. Volunteers are still needed and may enlist by calling WI 6-2345-R.

Last year the Mothers' March of Dimes netted in excess of $5,000. "It is the most productive of all our campaigns," Art Johns, chairman of the Winchester March of Dimes commented this past week.

A tag day conducted by the American Legion and its Auxiliary last weekend collected $169.50 despite bad weather.

At a "beans for polio" luncheon held Tuesday afternoon in the Masonic Hall, ladies of the Winchester Grange Home Community Service Committee served 150 guests and collected $129. This money will be credited to Winchester's efforts by the Massachusetts State Grange Home Community Service Committee. This first "beans for polio" luncheon by the Winchester Grange was under the direction of Mrs. Jane F. Dewar. About 15 ladies worked to make it a success.

In addition to these efforts, Mr. Johns' committee has placed 100 coin cans in business houses throughout town. They were placed on counters on December 31, 1955, and will be collected on January 31. Last year, more than $300 was collected through these cans.

The effort to raise funds for the fight against polio is being conducted by five Winchester organizations, which have integrated their efforts through Mr. Johns' March of Dimes Committee. In addition to the committee, participants are the Winchester Lions Club and the March of Dimes chairman, Gerald J. Connors; the Mothers' March of Dimes, headed by Mrs. Lunt; and the American Legion Post and Auxiliary.

The campaign is being waged with the idea that polio has yet to be licked despite the Salk Vaccine. Thousands of present and future victims need treatment and care which they cannot afford. Only the March of Dimes helps many of the unfortunate, campaign officials say.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Marge Thoms of 20 Maxwell road was surprised by an impromptu Come-As-You-Are morning coffee at her home on Tuesday in celebration of her birthday. As surprised as Marge was one guest who answered the phone invitation in her husband's bath robe, and was obliged to appear in that costume!

Marge bore up bravely under the rendition of "Happy Birthday" in several different keys while she tried to finish a telephone conversation and dry her hair at the same time.

Children and dogs completed the assemblage at the Thoms fete. Miss Betsy was especially pleased that her mother had had a "real party with ladies."

OPEN MEETING

The Town Report Format Committee, created by special vote at the Annual Representative Town Meeting held on March 24th, 1955, will hold an open meeting on Thursday, January 26th, at 8:00 p. m. in the General Committee Room of the Town Hall. This group has been commissioned to "consider the advisability of changing the format of the town report and its content and any other matters in relation thereto that may help make the report of more value to the town."

WITH OUR BEST WISHES, "WIMP!"

BURNETT FETED

Wellington "Wimp" Burnett, Olympic Hockey player, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Burnett of 36 Wildwood street, was given a surprise testimonial by a group of 50 friends and well wishers last Sunday afternoon at Randall's.

Earlier in the afternoon "Wimp" had played for the Olympic Hockey team against Harvard, Boston College and Northeastern at the Arena in Boston. He came out to Winchester unsuspecting and was lured to Randall's for a cup of coffee, arriving to find many of his particular pals included in the group waiting to extend congratulations upon his making the Olympic Team and best wishes for his success with the sextet at the Olympic games in Italy.

Taken completely by surprise and a bit overwhelmed, "Wimp" showed his emotion momentarily when he acknowledged the receipt of a gift from his friends, presented with appropriate remarks by Tom Drohan. "Wimp's" characteristic response left no doubt of his appreciation.

Guests with him were his parents, his brother, Grant; his sister, Jean; and his friend, Miss Meredith Demers of Hartford, Conn. Toasts were proposed by "Wimp's" former Boston College Coach, "Snooks" Kelley, by his former high school and B. C. teammate, "Whip" Saltmarsh; Selectman William C. Cusack, Rep. Harrison Chadwick and Mr. Arthur Burnett.

W. HOWARD NIBLOCK
NEW HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

Last week's Star reported the appointment of W. Howard Niblock as principal of the Winchester High School, to become effective September 1, 1956. Mr. Niblock will complete his duties as principal of the Maine Central Institute for the school year, 1955-56 before coming to Winchester.

Maine Central Institute, an old Maine academy of the type once common throughout New England, serves as the public high school for Pittsfield and several surrounding communities. In addition, it is a residential school for boarding pupils.

The newly-appointed principal is forty-two years old, a graduate of Bowdoin College and the holder of two advanced degrees from Harvard University. Last June he was honored by Nason College with an honorary L.H.D. degree in recognition of his outstanding contributions to secondary education in Maine.

The Niblocks and their three sons will take up residence in Winchester during the summer. They will continue to make their summer home at Lake Sebasticook in Newport during the period when Mr. Niblock is serving on the faculty at the Summer Session of the University of Maine.

BIG BASKETBALL TREAT!

On Friday evening, January 20th, the splendidly equipped new gymnasium of the local high school will be the setting for the first home game of the current basketball season, when the defending Class B champions will meet Lexington High Varsity and Junior Varsity basketball teams in what should be an exciting contest for first place in the Middlesex League standing.

Already, by virtue of decisive victories over every team they have met, this year's team shapes up as one of the best ever to represent the school.

They are experienced, well-coached, and intelligent. They have both ability and confidence. They have height and speed, and they can shoot.

A colorful, winning team, a beautiful new gymnasium, and two good games between rivals for the league championship should combine to fill the eleven or twelve hundred seats available to the public for this first appearance of the local team.

Reserve adult seats will be made available for all home games and may be purchased at the door or ordered by phone in advance. Senior tickets will also be available to those who prefer to have the same seat held for them throughout the season. With only 4 home night games on the schedule, these reserved seats will be in demand. And don't overlook the afternoon games if your working schedule permits you to be present. Afternoon games will begin at 3:15 p.m. The Junior Varsity games at night will start at about 7 p.m., with the varsity games beginning about 8 p.m. Those who have reserved seats may be sure that their seats will be available at whatever time they arrive. How about filling the new gym on the 27th?

In addition to serving as treasurer for many various civic enterprises and drives Mr. Priest served the town as town accountant for 29 years, from March 6, 1922 to April 30, 1951.

During the years Mr. Priest was treasurer of the Savings Bank the Bank's Assets grew from $1,930,513.92 in 1917 to $16,115,836.14 at the present time. Its deposits, which $1,786,301.53 have increased to $14,327,010.56, and its mortgages, from $819,910.00 to $8,515,152.01. His resignation is to take effect at the end of this month.

His successor Mr. Hatch, joined the bank March 15, 1920, and was promoted to assistant treasurer April 27, 1927. He was made a incorporator in 1943 and a trustee in 1954.

(Snow) Hatch, his father having been well known as a cabinetmaker and his grandfather, Ira Hatch, a venter sawyer in the old Cutter mahogany mill in the North End, having gone to the Civil War from this town. His mother's people, the Snows, were old time residents of the West Side hill district.

Mr. Hatch, himself, commenced his schooling at the old Washington School on Cross street, then went on to the Prince School on Church street and the Wadleigh Grammar School. He was graduated from the high school in the class of 1917, and from high school he entered the employ of the Winchester Trust Company, remaining there until he joined the Savings Bank three years later.

During World War I Mr. Hatch was a member of the SATC at the local college. He is a charter member of Winchester Post 97, the American Legion and a past noble grand of Waterfield Lodge of Odd Fellows.

Following service on the town Finance Committee, Mr. Hatch was made permanent clerk of this committee in 1943, succeeding the late Joseph W. Butler. He has been treasurer of the Winchester Hospital since March 1944, is treasurer of the Home Frontiers, and chairman and treasurer of the Trustees of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church. In high school he played varsity baseball and was known then as he was later in the Legion and independent ranks as a fine fielding first baseman.

Mr. Hatch is married and makes his home on Meadowcroft road. He has two sons, George W. of Melrose, associated with the New England Trust Company; and Staff Sgt. Donald Hatch, USAF, based in England; also a daughter, Mrs. Donald L. Wrisley of Winchester.

The new assistant treasurer, Miss Ralph, grew up in Winchester and was graduated from Winchester High School in 1922, captaining the girls basketball team in her senior year. Before joining the Savings Bank in July of 1925 she was employed in the Parker & Lane coal office in the National Bank Building.

K. OF C. SPORTS NIGHT

Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus, held its annual Sports Night Tuesday evening, January 10, at the Council rooms with a large attendance and an excellent program arranged by Lecturer Joe Tansey. Grand Knight Vincent Erhard welcomed the guests who included many prominent in Winchester's sports history.

Heading the roster were Winchester High School's Athletic Director Henry Knowlton and Rufus H. Bond, former Everett High and Harvard University athletic star, who pioneered in bringing out-landing coaching to the Mystic Valley and whose Winchester High School football team of 1922 is considered by many as perhaps the best in the school's history.

A gifted speaker with a ready wit, "Aule" attributed his success as a coach to playing, under the great strategist, Percy Haughton of Harvard, and Cleo O'Donnell, outstanding coach of Everett and for many years varsity coach at Holy Cross. The Bond references to his days at Winchester High and the boys whom he coached at that time were much enjoyed.

Coach Knowlton told his audience there is no short cut to athletic success. He praised the spirit of his 1955 squad for holding voluntary practice sessions last fall, while regular practice was forbidden because of polio, and paid tribute to the adult support Winchester has always accorded its teams.

Other Winchester coaches present and speaking were Basketball Coach Jim Phillips, Hockey Coach Frank Finigan, Cross Country Coach Tom Stone and Baseball Coach Frank Provinzano. Several amusing sports anecdotes were recounted by Harold Bertheley, teacher coach at Wentworth Institute of Technology and former star at University of Maryland.

Former Winchester High sports stars who spoke were "Big Jim" Fitzgerald, Tufts all around star who nabs the Tufts record for field goals with a 55 yard effort; Dana Kelly, present school committee member and Harvard football letter winner who captained the great 1922 grid team at high school; Joe Quigley, member of the Police Department and head of the Police Athletic League in Winchester; "Nick" Fitzgerald, former chairman of the Board of Selectmen and Tufts baseball star; and "Ted" O'Rourke, Winchester's gift to Holy Cross, who has been a successful Little League manager for several years.

"Ted" had a double role to fill, in speaking for himself and for "Art" Johns, former Harvard baseball captain and Little League World Series coach, and for Little League President Ken Hall, both absent because of doctor's orders. Enthusiastically greeted when introduced were Captain Joe Bellino, Bob Haggerty and Frank Dattilo, outstanding players on the year's unbeaten Winchester football team.

S.O.I. BOWLING LEAGUE

January 12, 1956, a wet dreary and cold night and we were there to witness contest No. 4 of the second half!

California now is sole owner of top position as B. C. faltered this week.

There seems to be a certain degree of relief and composure this week among the bowlers which will be explained later.

Team Standings:
California 13-3
Holy Cross 10-6
Georgetown 10-6
Boston College 9-7
St. Mary's 8-8
Notre Dame 5-11
Alabama 5-11
Bates 4-12

Hi Single: John Buttafucio, California 137
Hi Triple: Tony Saraco, St. Mary's 355
Top Six Bowlers:
Tony Saraco 103.3
Richard Bucci 101.2
Frank Gangi 97.1
Jeff Gaudioso 96.8
John Buttafucio 95.3
Max LaCubba 95.2

The tensions that existed because of the strike is over, and with a bang the 1000 circle was broken wide open when no less than eleven hit this figure.

This is the largest number to do it this year. Richard Bucci led the pack with 334, and John Buttafucio with 328, also broke the 300 single with 137, formerly held by "Curly Locks" Vespucci for almost the entire season.

Larry Penta, 311; Jeff Gaudioso, 310; Tony Saraco, 308; Johnny Mangano, 309; Max LaCubba, 305; Joe Berrati, 304; Andrew Diapella, 301; "Corridor" Fiore, 301; and chucking from the starboard side, with an even 300, "Procopio."

Once again for the third week in succession California led the pin-falls with a mighty 1469. Averaging almost 100 for each individual bowler is superb bowling anywhere.

Once again their names appear for a round of applause. Led by their Captain, Richard Bucci, and supported by John Buttafucio, Johnny Mangano, Peter Fiore, Dom Simonetta and Rocky DiTesso.

For the benefit of all this the overall average of all of the bowlers was 91.9 which is something to be proud of. Ben Gilotti bowled a 100.1 string, Ralph Turo, a 99 string; Sammy Bellino, who said that "Deadhorse" was dead weight for his team, bowled a mighty 229, the lowest score of the night! "Curly Locks" Chic" had the distinction of being the lowest man on his team with 259.

Only seven bowlers have had the privilege of bowling every bowling night and Pete Fiore is one of the seven.

The B. & M. Railroad had a representative present as "Zeobub" Luongo was roving the alleys. If you are looking for a form bowler, just watch "Dom" Provinzano! If you like comedy and rock and roll, just watch Jeff Gaudioso. If you are looking for the China Wall, just watch M. D. Saraco, or Sir Winston Frongillo. It's power that you want, watch John Buttafucio. It's daintiness, just watch "Procopio!"

The award this week went to a spanking new father, Arco Amico. We wish to extend our deepest sympathy to the family of our friend, Edmund Amico, whose untimely death came as severe shock to all of us.

Please boys do not let us forget the March of Dimes and let's dig a little deeper this year.

See you next week.
Master Sargent

LINCOLN SCHOOL DADS' CLUB
On Wednesday night January 11, the Dads' Club arranged for a get-together of the children and their Dads in the Lincoln School Auditorium.

Featured were the movies of the 1955 football games which were shown by Coach Henry Knowlton who gave his commentaries on the different games.

Also enjoyed by the folks who attended was the presentation to Joe Bellino of the award as the most valuable player on the team. This was donated by Mr. Penta of the Star Lumber Company and was presented to Joe by Coach Knowlton.

After cokes were enjoyed, three cartoons were shown by Bob Merenda and up a very entertaining evening.

At present a Valentine Cabaret Dance is being planned by the Activities Committee of the Dads' Club. This dance will be on Friday, February 10 at the Lincoln School Auditorium. Make a note of this date and look forward to a very pleasant and enjoyable evening.

FRESHMEN WIN TWO; LOSE ONE

A fast skating, smart playing Winchester High School freshman hockey team buzzed the Walpole hockey team with a barrage of shots, driving six of them home for a 6-2 win over their opponents from the south of Boston. Winchester skated in Walpole territory most of the time demonstrating their control of the puck in spite of strong attempts to surge forward on the part of their opposite numbers.

Mirak and Mury, spelled by Ulfelder, did a good job on defense breaking up the threatening Walpole rushes. The first line for Winchester, consisting of Powers at center and Dauphinais and Curtis on the wings showed remarkable pass work and were very alert in refusing to pass up opportunities through off-side penalties. Stevie Powers, leading scorer for Winchester and one of the leading scorers in the League, sunk three shots in the Walpole cage. Dauphinais scored twice and Curtis once. Curtis was credited with two assists and Dauphinais, Powers and Mirak with one each. The ability of Capt. Johnny Curtis to set up plays is becoming one of the features of the freshman hockey team. Coach Harry Hadwick is very pleased at this development of good team play.

Although the scrappy second line with Martell at center and Weir and Mitchell on the wings did not score, they gave an excellent account of themselves as they kept the game moving at a fast clip while they were on the ice. Tierney and Houghton in the nets gave up a goal apiece, but were playing capable hockey nonetheless.

Prior to the Walpole game, Winchester beat an experienced Arlington team in an unofficial return match to the tune of 3-2. In this game, Powers scored twice and Curtis once. Winchester's worst defeat this season came to them from the hands of the Lexington team two weeks ago. Winchester was having an off day and Lexington was out to capitalize on every opportunity, which they did to the extent of a 3-0 victory.

MELROSE OVERWHELMED

Winchester rebounded from its fifty point scoring at Reading to overwhelm Melrose, 102-40, in a Middlesex basketball game at Melrose Monday afternoon. Due to a mixup in the seats for the new gym the game had to be transferred to Melrose and played on Monday.

Both teams were short handed due to illness, but Winchester showed no signs of handicap as it built up a big lead at the half. Melrose used a zone, but couldn't penetrate the Winchester defense and was forced to depend on long shots from outside that weren't dropping.

Coach Phillips used three teams in an effort to keep the score down, but a shooting average of 5 percent caused the figures to soar.

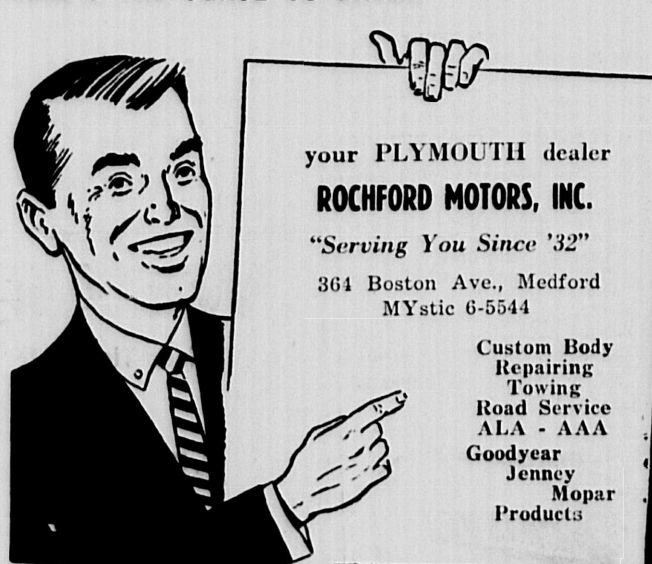

The Winchester Jay Vees won the preliminary game, 80-56. The summary:

ONE FOR WINCHESTER!

PUCKSTERS PLAY PEABODY

Hats for all occasions at Miss Ekman's, 15 Church street. Also Tweed hats made.

After two straight reverses in league play Winchester will try to get back in the winning column tomorrow night at the Lynn Arena where the Indians meet Peabody in a North Shore League game, commencing at 9:30.

The 9:30 billing is in accordance with an announcement from Raymond N. Funchion, league president, the starting time for all games now being: 1st game, 2:45 p. m.; 2nd game, 3:45 p. m.; 3rd, 4:45; 4th, 6:15; 5th, 7:15; 6th, 8:30; and 7th, 9:30 p. m.

As of January 14, Lynn English, with a perfect record, is leading the Essex County Division of the League, with Woburn the North-east Conference leader. Defeats by Woburn and Lynn English dropped Winchester from a top tie with Woburn and the Indians are now in second place in the Conference.

Woburn has four of the first ten leading scorers in the conference with Winchester right behind with three. McGilvary of Woburn leads with 20 points, followed by Leo Callahan and Rich Johnson of Winchester, with 14 and 13 respectively. Winchester's next league game is with Danvers January 28, at 5 o'clock.

EDITORIALS

It is unfortunate that the Police were unable to pick up the boys who were fooling with the railroad signal lights near Swanton street last Sunday, unfortunate not so much because the youngsters escaped well deserved punishment as because the seriousness of their mischief could not be explained to them.

Railroad signals are in the last analysis maintained to protect the life and limbs of those who ride the rails, passengers and railroad employees. Anything that might cause the signals to get out of order could result in a collision or derailment that might bring injury or death to innocent persons depending on the railroad to get them safely to their destination.

The Police found last Sunday that the boys had strung a wire from the signals across the tracks. It isn't likely that this was done with any idea of harming anyone but the potentialities of such mischief are staggering. Parents and teachers can well bring home to their youngsters the importance of railroad signals and the reasons they should be left severely alone. The railroad is not likely to be lenient with anyone caught tampering with the devices on which they lavish such care and money to ensure their correct operation.

James Keller in the Boston Post this week states that in the last Presidential election 40,000,000 qualified persons failed to vote, adding that this neglect is even more widespread and serious in primary elections.

Winchester has an election coming up in March, and the importance of every one who has the right to do so voting in that election cannot be over-emphasized. Municipal elections are the wellspring of all government and the city or town that takes its civic responsibilities seriously can be depended upon to do its duty in National affairs.

The right to vote is a heritage that many enslaved people of the world would rejoice to have. Here it is much too often treated with indifference, or even contempt. Winchester has another chance to prove its civic awareness at the town election in March. It isn't too early to be planning now to vote.

Police Chief Charles J. Harrold is very proud of the fact that no boy or girl of the 500 who have received licenses to drive automobiles through the Winchester High School Driver Education course has, at least as of January 19, been found guilty of a traffic violation. "Bill" Branley and his driver education associates have done a great job!

Senator McDermott Says Finances
May Prevent His Re-election Bid

By Charles Ball

"The State Senate is a rich man's club and I doubt if my financial condition will permit me to run again."

These were the words of State Senator Frederick T. McDermott (Democrat of Medford) as he expressed doubts about seeking re-election when asked about his political plans this past week.

He added, however, that he has yet made no final decision about not seeking re-election. Senator McDermott was elected to the post in 1954 when he defeated Republican Robert P. Campbell.

In his conversation with this reporter, the Senator indicated that the costs of a campaign and the expenses of his office could not be supported by the $4,800 he receives each year from the Commonwealth. "I like the job, I like the people I've met, but I can't afford it," he said.

Senator McDermott has devoted a large share of his energies in the Senate to the development of recreational facilities in the area north of Boston. He has introduced bills which would create a sports center in the area. Also among his accomplishments is a survey now being made by the MDC which is aimed at beautifying the shore line of the Mystic River.

Senator McDermott has been praised by Republicans for his vote in favor of Governor Christian A. Herter's $150 million highway bond bill in the last session. On the other hand, he has been criticized by Republicans for his six votes against the State Crime Commission.

If he should not seek re-election—and political observers doubt that he will try again—a major campaign issue which Republican hopefuls were preparing for their fight against him will vanish. That issue is his record on the Crime Commission roll calls.

The absence of that issue would mean that Eugene C. Farnum and Harrison F. Lyman, Jr., Republican candidates, would have to fall back to other issues—the Herter record, for example. Their campaign would lose much of its appeal, much of the drama which would have made the race an exciting one to people not usually interested in the State Senate.

If Senator McDermott does not run, it will also mean that the Democratic candidacy is wide open for people in Winchester, Woburn, Arlington and Medford. Woburn and Medford could find vote-getting favorite son candidates. And an opportunity could exist for a fast-rising hopeful from Winchester.

The race promises to be a close one, provided Democrats find a man who can pull votes outside his native town.

Editor of the Star:

The Boston Chapter of the Massachusetts Association for Retarded Children wishes to express its thanks to your newspaper for the magnificent support your news and editorial columns gave in our recently concluded fund drive.

Volunteers are bringing in final reports which indicate we will announce a highly successful drive in the very near future. This will enable us to provide in much greater measure a more concentrated and professionally approved program for retarded children than ever before.

In view of the generosity of your readers and your own support which helped arouse great sympathy for retarded children, we wish to notify you that our street and house to house collections have been concluded. Should any readers be approached by solicitors purporting to appeal on behalf of retarded children, we suggest that they request credentials from the solicitor, and that they make inquiries before making a donation. INJURED AS CAR
CRASHED TREE

At 8:30 yesterday morning a radio call for assistance sent Officer Alfred Poole of the police to investigate an accident reported on Grove street.

He found that a Chevrolet sedan, being driven west on Grove street by Lucy Gabriel, 27, of 12 Kirk street, had skidded on the curve near the home of Mr. Christopher Cox and struck a tree on the left side of the road.

The car was damaged about the left front and side, and Miss Gabriel complained of injuries to her legs. She was taken to the Winchester Hospital in the police ambulance by Officer Roland Roy and Fire-fighter Hubert O'Donnell. Her injuries proved not as serious as was at first feared.

Josephine Capone of 51 Spruce street, who was a passenger in the Chevrolet, accompanied Miss Gabriel to the hospital. She complained of having been shaken up. The car was towed to a Woburn garage.

S.P.C.A. URGES ALL TO REMEMBER THE BIRDS

Dr. Eric H. Hansen, President of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, 180 Longwood avenue, Boston, yesterday appealed to bird-lovers everywhere to help their feathered friends survive extreme cold weather by putting out food for them. During the bitter cold days, particularly when the ground is covered with snow and ice, it is highly desirable that grain, bread crumbs, corn meal, etc., be spread where birds can reach them thus eliminating the possibility of suffering which might result through lack of their natural diet.

"The most satisfactory method of putting out food for them," stated the Society head, "is to place it on a large board with a molding around the edge. In this way it is not scattered or lost."

"We cannot urge too strongly," concluded Dr. Hansen, "that everyone remember the birds, so that when spring arrives, these attractive creatures will be with us once again with their beauty and song."

EUGENIA PARKER RETIRES

Eugenia Parker of Denmark, Me., formerly of Winchester, has retired from active camp-life after 25 years as owner and director of Blazing Trail. During those years many Winchester girls have enjoyed the unique experiences and opportunities for real camp-life. Miss Parker is a Maine Guide and each summer took the entire camp into the wilds of Chesuncook and Alagash Region of Maine.

Now, after a quarter century, she is handing the reins over to the Boston Y.W.C.A. This fine organization will continue to operate this as a camp for girls on a much larger scale.

Miss Parker comes from a family prominent in Winchester for many years. Her parents were Harrison and Fannie (Fletcher) "Grandma" Parker, and their home, "Red Roof," was located at 408 Main street, on the site of the present home of Dr. A. L. Maietta.

Winchester 6-1021SPACE IN THE HOME GROUNDS

In planning for seeds and plants for the coming year, the home owners should consider their individual needs and possibilities. Space available is one factor that is most important in such consideration. There are a number of possibilities from a horticultural standpoint and analysis of the program depends primarily on space. We have large grounds with plenty of front, ample room at the sides and a large backyard. At the other extreme some have very limited space between the house and sidewalk, very little room at the sides and little or no backyard.

In practically all cases, the first consideration is beautification of the home grounds. That means shrubs, flowers, trees and a lawn. Primarily, if one can have nothing else, a healthy, green lawn should be the goal. With limited space wherein most of the area is on the front, simple corner plantings and foundation plantings to frame the house and set off the lawn are possible. Flowers are used in such foreground between and at the base of clumps of shrubs. They are placed irregularly and informally to add variety and color to the planting. Evergreens of the smaller species, deciduous shrubs that are easily kept in bounds, and smaller trees fit in this picture.

With increased space, including some backyard area, larger trees may be placed in the background if they can be placed at least thirty feet from the corners of the house. If room is allowable in the backyard or side yard, regular beds of flowers for cutting and private showing come first by way of horticultural planting. Secondly, with still a little more space available would perhaps come vegetables in the home garden. Vegetables for the home ground in like fashion should be chosen for their adaptability. Tomatoes are the most flexible; by staking them efficient use of smaller-sized plots is at its maximum. Greens, snapbeans, carrots, beets, cabbage, lettuce and radishes are others. Sweet corn and squash take up too much room for most gardens.

Small fruits constitute the practical approach to the desire to raise fruit. Tree fruits are the least appropriate of all the horticultural crops. Strawberries are the most flexible, followed by raspberries and then grapes. Blueberries are practical for low areas and acid soil. The pH must be kept around 5.0, which means different handling from the other fruits or vegetables.

Some practical thinking and planning ahead will increase the satisfaction and effectiveness of the home gardener. Too many fail to analyze and realize their limitations.

WINCHESTER EDGED MILTON

Winchester High's hockey team scored three goals each in the second and third periods to beat Milton Academy Monday afternoon at Milton, 6-4. The private school team, coached by George Owen, former Harvard all-around athlete, led at the end of the first period, 1-0, and the team were deadlocked going into the final check.

Owen characterized the game as "great" and Winchester's coach Frank Finigan was especially pleased with the work of his second line, John Zirkel, Joe Cussen and Norm Farrar. The Indians showed a nice passing game and their scores were all the result of well set up patterns.

Skating on the best ice of the year, a hard and fast surface, the local boys did not tire at all, even though 12 minute periods were played. The summary:

Winchester: Boyle, 4; rd. McElhinney, 1; Sullivan, 14.

MRS. FRANCES C. FISH

Mrs. Frances Curtis Fish of 25 Cambridge street, widow of Fred Ober Fish and for many years a resident of Winchester, died Sunday, January 15, at the Danforth House in Lynnfield after a long illness.

Mrs. Fish was born July 25, 1874, in Cardiff, Wales, the daughter of Alvah Marston, and Frances (Millay) Curtis. Her father was a sea captain, sailing out of Bath, Me., and she was born while he and his wife were on a voyage, their ship putting in to Cardiff especially for the event. As a girl Mrs. Fish accompanied her parents on many voyages around the world and she had made four trips around the Horn in square rigged sailing ships.

Mrs. Fish spent her early life in Maine, attending St. Catherine's School in Augusta and graduating from Smith College in the class of 1895. She and Mr. Fish, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Bowdoin, were married in Bowdoinham, Me., October 19, 1899, and for a short time after their marriage lived in Washington, D. C., where Mr. Fish was a chief examiner in the United States Patent Office.

When Mr. Fish came to Boston to enter a law office and his wife lived for a year in Brookline before coming to Winchester in 1903. Except for three years commencing in 1918, when they lived in Cambridge, they lived at 25 Cambridge street until Mr. Fish's death, May 5, 1942.

She was a member and active in the Florence Crittenton League, a member and past secretary of the Fortnightly Women's Club, member of the Women's Republican Club, Smith Club, Women's College Club of Boston and of the Church of the Epiphany.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany with the rector, Rev. John W. Ellison, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

JOSEPH CLINTON EASTMAN

Joseph Clinton Eastman, retired railroad worker and employee of the Monsanto Chemical Company, died early Sunday morning, January 15, at the home of his niece, Mrs. Paul E. Ward, 28 Stone avenue, following a long illness.

Mr. Eastman was the son of Charles J. and Harriette (Robie) Eastman. He was born October 4, 1881, in Manchester, N. H., and grew up there, working on a farm as a boy and young man.

Later for 15 years Mr. Eastman was foreman for the Boston and Maine Railroad, living in North Woburn. In 1926 he went to work for Monsanto in Everett, continuing with that firm until his retirement in 1946. He was a member of the North Woburn Congregational Church.

Mr. Eastman made his home with his niece in Winchester for the past three years and had been in poor health during much of that time. His wife, Mrs. Charlotte Eastman, died four years ago, and he leaves no immediate family.

Funeral services were held at the Tripp Memorial Home for Funerals in Woburn on Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. Walter Lee Bailey, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated. Burial was in the family lot in Pine Grove Cemetery, Manchester, N. H.

of Winchester, Executive Officer of the ship.

The Salem, newest of the Heavy Cruiser class, is one of the most modern ships in the United States Navy. In the Charlestown Navy Yard, the Brownies, led by Mrs. A. Raymond Boudreau, were privileged to look into most every nook and cranny of this trim vessel. Escorted by the Commander, Father of one of the Brownies, the girls were additionally thrilled by the presence of an armed Marine Guard in full dress uniform.

Brownies swarmed all over the ship in an orderly fashion, taking in the various places where the Navy men worked and lived when at sea.

The climax of the tour came when the girls were taken to the Officers' Ward Room. These girls making the trip included: Carol Boudreau, Leslie Dalrymple, Barbara Howard, Susan Jolly, Julie Knight, Maureen Luby, Ann Maiocco, Laurie McLean, Lois Mozzicato, Pamela Shibley, Karen Smith, Patricia Stewart and Dorothy Ware.

THE LIBRARY; DOCUMENTARY FILM, MUSIC

"And Now Miguel" a documentary film of the Southwest, will be featured at Family Night and the Children's Hour programs this week. Joseph Krungold produced this motion picture on a commission from the Information Service of the State Department to show the people of the Near East how many Americans live simply with strong family ties and on small family enterprises.

Taos, New Mexico, is the locale of the picture. It follows the raising year. In all seasons of the year, there are the sheep that are the main concern of the family. And now Miguel gets ready to take the sheep to the mountains just as generations of his family had done before.

Thomas Y. Crowell Company commissioned Krungold to transfer his story of Miguel to a book. After many months of intense work, he finished his classic story, which won for him the Newbury Medal for a distinguished contribution to American literature for children.

TAX COMMITTEE HEARS CHADWICK BILL

Legislation carrying forward capital losses five years in conformance with federal practice was filed this year by Winchester's State Representative, Harrison Chadwick, who presented his arguments for the bill before the Committee on Taxation at the State House last week.

"No one enjoys being taxed," said Rep. Chadwick, "but taxes are necessary and it is basic that they be imposed with utmost justice and equity."

The Winchester legislator reminded the committee that under present state law capital gains and capital losses can be balanced against each other, but if gains exceed losses, the gains are taxed whereas no relief is provided for the taxpayer with losses in excess of gains.

This, Rep. Chadwick contends, is not only inequitable but leads to bad investment and business practices. Investors and trustees who have holdings that should be cleared out, even at a loss, from time to time hesitate to do so because they cannot offset their losses with an equal amount of gains.

The proposed Chadwick bill special allow an investor to take his loss at the time it is deemed most advisable to dispose of his holdings and then gives him a five-year period in which to match the losses with gains.

According to Rep. Chadwick, "This is not only justice to the taxpayer, but also tends to encourage good investment and business operations."

MINERAL COLLECTION EXHIBITED AT THE LIBRARY

Specimens of a fascinating and engrossing study and hobby are on exhibit this month at the Library. The mineral collection was started by Henry Dietz as a result of a special interest he developed for the subject while at summer camp and especially under the direction of the nature councillor whose main interest was in minerals. While at camp, Henry received high honors in his mineral study by identifying correctly thirty-six rocks. Some of the specimens on exhibition are actually from Winchester, but mostly they are gifts to Henry from his camp instructor.

The whole study of minerals is fascinating to Henry, but his very special interest is quartz crystals. When he goes out hunting specimens, he is equipped with a hammer, prospector's pick, a couple of coal shovels, labels and a bag in which to carry them.

In relation to his hobby, Henry has suggested two books which he has been especially helpful in him. "Field Book of Common Rocks and Minerals," by Loomis, is an excellent source although not especially for beginners. An easier book for novices is the "Pentons' 'Rocks and Their Stories'."

The collection may be seen at any time Monday through Saturday from 10:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. in the exhibition case in the Children's Library.

Stenographers must be able to type 50 words per minute and take dictation at 80 words per minute. Typists must have a typing speed of 50 words per minute. SOIL MANAGEMENT FACTORS IN THE HOME GROUNDS

Home owners will wish to organize their thinking during the winter months. One factor that affects the success and satisfaction of home grounds operations is soil management. The basic factors underlying growing of horticultural crops are the organic matter supply, the relative acidity and the chemical fertility of the soil. The thinking is often extreme, with some believing that organic matter alone is needed. On the other hand, there are those who try to cure all evils by dosage with chemical fertilizer.

The balance for plant health and growth depends on proper attention to all three factors. Soil bacteria carry the key to soil fertility. They are the organisms that cause the decomposition of vegetative or animal material into humus, thus improving the texture of the soil and putting such material into the chemical for that the plant can use. It should be kept in mind that plant food elements in the form taken up by the plant from organic matter are the same as when they are taken from chemical fertilizer. These soil bacteria need organic matter for favorable conditions in which to work and they need a soil of the proper mild acidity, although not one that is neutral or alkaline. Phosphate in the fertilizer also helps furnish congenial conditions under which the bacteria will work. These bacteria use up nitrogen and where green material is plowed under or worked into the soil it is often necessary to compensate it with chemical nitrogen until the action is underway and nitrogen is liberated from the organic matter.

Ground limestone should be used generally to correct acidity since it is valuable from the standpoint of the physical make-up of the soil. For a quick effect to correct only, hydrated lime may be used. It is used in about half the amounts of ground limestone needed for the same situation.

Manure, compost, peatmoss and green manuring plants are a rest of organic matter. Chemical fertilizer is recommended in combination with all of these. The fertilizer would be reduced in proportion to the amount of manure used but as a rule some of the chemical formulation is always used. Normal dosage of fertilizer is used where the organic matter incorporated into the soil contains only small amounts of plant food. Common fertilizer formulations are 5-10-5, 5-8-7, 5-10-10, 7-7-7, 3-16-16, etc. The first figure indicates percentage of nitrogen, the second of phosphorous and the third of potash.

TO ENTER XAVIER

Edward J. "Jocko" Serieka, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Serieka of 3 Middlesex street, former football star at Winchester High School, leaves Sunday to enter Xavier University at Cincinnati, Ohio. He will commence classes after the mid-year examination period.

"Jocko" graduated from high school in 1953, closing a brilliant football career that established him as one of Winchester's great all time backs. He was also a good outfielder and hard hitter in baseball and a defense man on the hockey team.

From high school he went to Mississippi State University, and made the varsity football team as a freshman. The South had little appeal for big "Jocko" and he did not return for his sophomore year at Mississippi.

We enter the coming year with enthusiasm and lively anticipation of excellent prospects. Our sincere thanks for the fine work of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Lawrence Dalin, Chairman; Mrs. William Beal, Mrs. Robert Finn, Mrs. Phillip G. Porter, Jr., and Mrs. Clarence Roberts.

BADMINTON CLUB NEWS

According to the latest reports, mid-February will be the starting date for what remains of the Badminton season in Winchester.

Authorities advise that the Junior High School gym and facilities will be completed and accepted around that time, and Club members, through the Governing Committee, will be notified of the exact date.

In the meantime, Massachusetts Badminton Association League play has been resumed and, even though there has been little opportunity for practice, Winchester entered a team which played its first match against Hood Rubber at Watertown last Thursday and Framingham at Framingham on Tuesday.

The results at Watertown were good with Winchester emerging the victor in nine of the ten matches played. However, at Framingham the picture was somewhat different since Winchester took only three of the ten matches played.

WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The next meeting of the Winchester Historical Society will be held on Saturday afternoon, February 4, in the Art Room of the Winchester Library.

Miss Dorothy Skeels of Quincy will give a Kodachrome talk entitled "A Harbor Rambler visits Historic Italy." She has some excellent color slides taken during boat trips on Boston Harbor and some of the islands. Most of her pictures were taken while on tour of Italy, where she visited many historic and famous sites and beautiful spots.

INDIANS WIN FIRST GAME IN NEW GYM

BELMONT VICTIM, 66-47

Winchester High finally got to play in its fine new gymnasium Tuesday afternoon and the Indians made the dedication a happy one by dunking Belmont in a Middlesex League basketball game, 66-47.

The first half of play was on the rough side, with Winchester holding only a 13-9 advantage at the quarter and leading at the half, 25-18. An eight point advantage in the third quarter kept the local fans happy and there was not doubt of the outcome as play went along toward the final gun.

Joe Bellino and Bob Smith were the only players to hit double figures, tallying 16 points. Winchester won the preliminary game between the second teams. The summary:

"HI YA PAL! I'M JIM PIERSALL

Famous Red Sox centerfielder greets a youthful admirer, Benny Bacon, at Converse Market. Grocery Manager Joe Nowell of Converse is at the right.

BASEBALL STAR AT CONVERSE

"Jim" Piersall, one of the best center fielders playing baseball today, visited Converse Market, Monday afternoon under the auspices of Coffee-Time Syrup and Coffee-Time Sparkling Soda.

The news that the great ball hawk of the Red Sox was coming to Winchester attracted a big crowd to the market, including many youngsters eager to see in person the player about whom they have heard so much on radio and TV.

A great lover of kiddies, Jim had a field day with the youngsters, talking to them, autographing pictures for them, and even, as opportunity presented, playing a bit of catch with them. Every one liked the personable Sox outfielder, who made a fine impression on children and adults alike.

Winners of the grand drawing of the major league glove and ball were respectively Benny Bacon of 41 Wildwood street and Frank Giacalone of 47 Oak street.

McGINNIS HEADS B & M

A recent special meeting held at the general offices in Boston, the Board of Directors of the Boston and Maine Railroad elected Patrick B. McGinnis, president of the road.

Herbert Alpert, a Director, Vice President and General Counsel of the Boston and Maine Railroad, clarified the legality of the proceedings with the following statement to the Board before the election:

"You will recall that in the original proxy contest involving this railroad in which our Management gained victory last April we informed the stockholders that 'We as directors intend, if successful on April 13, 1955, to elect as President of the Boston and Maine Railroad Patrick B. McGinnis.' In view of the fact that it was contemplated that Mr. McGinnis would act as President of the Boston and Maine Railroad as well as President of the New Haven, it was set forth that his authority to act in the Boston and Maine would require the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission under Section 20a (12) of the Interstate Commerce Act.

"Thereafter, on October 20, 1955, just three months ago to the day, the stockholders of the Boston and Maine overwhelmingly elected Mr. McGinnis a Director of this Company and it was stated in the proxy statement of the special meeting that 'Because of his position with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, the candidacy of Mr. McGinnis as President and a Director is subject to prior approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission.' Consequently, Mr. McGinnis has not entered upon his duties as a Director of this Company.

"Section 20a (12) of the Interstate Commerce Act provides 'It shall be unlawful for any person to hold the position of officer or director of more than one carrier unless such holding shall have been authorized by order of the Commission.' The application of Mr. McGinnis for dual presidency of both the New Haven and the Boston and Maine was withdrawn on January 12, 1956.

On January 18, 1956 Mr. McGinnis announced his intention to resign as President and Director of the New Haven Railroad at a special meeting of the New Haven directors on January 20, 1956.

"Today, January 20, 1956, said meeting of the directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad was duly held; Mr. McGinnis' resignation as President and Director was submitted and accepted.

"I now advise the Directors of the Boston and Maine Railroad, as General Counsel, that in my opinion there is not now any prohibition existing under Section 20a (12) of the Interstate Commerce Act or any other regulation of which I have knowledge against Mr. McGinnis assuming his duties as a duly elected Director and Officer of the Boston and Maine Railroad. I therefore advise you that Mr. McGinnis is now a duly elected and qualified Director of the Boston and Maine Railroad."

HOSPITAL EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

It was voted at the Board Meeting of the Directors of the Winchester Hospital, January 17th, "that this Board records its sincere appreciation of the notification of the proposed grant from the Ford Foundation; that in the judgment of this Board there is a need for funds for improvement and extension of hospital services to the community which the Hospital serves; that the Executive Committee and the Officers of the Hospital be and they, hereby, are authorized and directed to explore possible uses for the grant funds."

A committee was then appointed to study uses of the grant ($55,000) and to submit recommendations to the Executive Committee on February 21st. The approved uses are to be included in the Request Form to be sent to the Ford Foundation Hospital Program by March 15th. The Foundation contemplates that half of each grant will be paid immediately upon the Foundation's determination of eligibility and the balance within eighteen months.

The committee consists of Mr. Thomas M. Hennessey, chairman, Mrs. Arthur T. Herbig, Mrs. Henry K. Spencer, Miss Ruby Willis and Mr. Gilman Wallace. They are to consult with the Chiefs of the Departments of the Medical and Surgical Staff of the Hospital; Dr. Milton J. Quinn, Dr. George A. Marks, Dr. Alexander P. Aitken, Dr. Dominic Runci, Dr. Donald K. Lewis, Dr. Sanford H. Moses, Dr. Wilfred L. McKenzie, Dr. Richard J. Clark, Dr. Charles N. Curtis and Dr. L. Alexander Vance.

PROSPECTIVE HAMILTON STUDENTS ENTERTAINED

Under the sponsorship of the Eastern New England Alumni Association of Hamilton College, a meeting of twenty-two prospective candidates for the class of 1960 and their fathers, from the Boston and Worcester areas, was recently held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. George A. Marks of Winchester. Dr. Marks is the chairman of the Alumni Council of the college. Norris Hoyt of Arlington, President of the Eastern New England Alumni Association, and William Wilson, Assistant Secretary of Admissions at Hamilton College, addressed the group. A meal of the college was shown. Supper was served by wives of Hamilton Alumni.

CIVIL DEFENSE

FORWARD STEP FOR CIVIL DEFENSE

On February 1, Winchester Civil Defense will take its first step forward in meeting the growing need for wardens and an organized school committee for organized evacuation procedures.

The meeting, which will be held in the Art Room at the Public Library at 8:00 p.m. on February 1st, will consist of the entire Civil Defense Staff representatives from all the branches of Civil Defense and most important of all the representative groups from all the schools in Winchester.

Under discussion at the meeting, which will be conducted by Mr. Theodore J. Boecker, Director of Civil Defense, will be the latest plans for evacuation of Winchester, which is the only solution to survival. The method of operation, and use of the Convoys sets to aid communication in the event of an emergency will also be discussed in detail.

Other topics under discussion will be:

1. The latest information on Atom and Hydrogen Bombs available.
2. An up to date discussion on "Sage"—Our advanced warning system.
3. The plan to be used in organizing our wardens in the various school districts.
4. A thorough discussion of our present defense set up in Winchester.

Mr. Boecker further stated that after this initial group meeting there would be other individual meetings at the various schools to stress the importance of each group's particular part in the evacuation system in Winchester. He also said that there would be opportunities for qualified and interested members of these various school committees to fill certain posts on our Civil Defense staff.

Next week in this column we shall discuss some of the plans that have been set into motion by this coming meeting and others like it.

THE FORTNIGHTLY

A regular meeting of The Fortnightly was held in the First Baptist Church on Monday, January 23 at 2 p.m., Mrs. Hiram Moody, president, in the chair. It was announced that proceeds from the auction held at the last meeting amounted to $45.60. Notice was given of the next Literature Committee meeting, February 6, when Mrs. Frank S. Evans will be the speaker and Mrs. Barnard will review a current book. Members were reminded of the food sale at the next regular meeting, January 13.

After the flower collection was taken, Mrs. Moody introduced "The Three Arts Trio" who presented an unusual and enjoyable program. Playing upon two Celtic harps (such as were used by ancient bards) were Gladys and Kenneth Cushman of the faculty of the Boston University College of Music.

Beside rendering many lovely selections in duo, including the hauntingly beautiful Irish "Lamentation," a medley of Stephen Foster's songs, Brahms' "Cradle Song" and several Gaelic and Scotch airs, they delicately accompanied Miss Meroy Marston Morse as she deftly and quickly sketched in chalk, scenes illustrating the subject of the poem or song.

Interesting comments by Mrs. Cushman preceded each musical number. He read Masefield's "Sea Fever" (and other poems) and sang "Annie Laurie," "Home on the Range" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" while Miss Morse at her easel drew a picture which captured the mood. The final poem was Joyce Kilmer's "The House with Nobody in It."

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH SCHOOL

Rev. Wesley A. Mallery, Associate Minister of the First Congregational Church, and Mrs. Jean Hadidian, Director of Religious Education, will speak on "We Agreed to Teach—What?" at a staff meeting of the Church School on Tuesday, January 31, at 7:30 p.m. in the Church Parlor. Dessert and coffee will precede the program, and following the discussion department meetings will be held to make plans for the coming semester. All teachers of the Church School from Nursery through Junior High are most cordially invited to be present. Dr. Lobingier will lead the discussion on Congregationalism at the First Congregational Church Sunday morning in the Church Parlor at 9:30. The group will think together about "How the Congregational Church is organized for fellowship and service." Everyone is welcome to come and participate in this discussion.

The fourth meeting of the discussion group on "The Christian Home" will meet next Thursday evening in Ripley Chapel. Mr. Mallery will lead the group in thinking about specific parental problems such as children and delinquency, and helping children to overcome prejudice. All interested persons are welcome to join the group.

MRS. McDONALD SPEAKS TO MELROSE DAR ON MCCARRAN-WALTER ACT

On Friday evening, January 20, Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald of 10 Hill street, was the speaker at the January meeting of Old State House Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, in Melrose. The meeting, a combination session of the afternoon and evening groups of the Chapter, was especially well attended.

Mrs. McDonald explained and discussed the McCarran-Walter Act of 1952, which is now the set-up under which all matters pertaining to immigration procedures are controlled.

While the speaker's interpretation of Public Law 414, passed by the 2nd session of the 82nd Congress, and vetoed by President Truman, (to be passed later over his veto), was concise and very easy to understand, it had to be, at best, sketchy.

Consequently, Mrs. McDonald stressed those sections of the bill which have posed problems for immigrants who have been members of her Evening School, problems with which she herself has had to deal. In this connection she cited the changes that have come about since the Consuls in the Immigration offices abroad have been given the tasks of investigating prospective candidates for entrance to this country. She spoke of the closing of Ellis Island and the Security regulations now in force, also of the changes in the requirements for passing the test for U. S. Citizenship.

Mrs. McDonald's talk was in no way pedantic. Rather, it was illustrated at many points by stories of the human interest side of her work in the educational field to which she has made, to quote Mrs. Reuben Hilt, chairman of the Melrose Evening, such a valuable contribution.

Delicious refreshments were served during the social hour which followed the speaking, and during that hour the speaker of the evening thoroughly enjoyed meeting, and talking with, many members of the highly intelligent group who comprise this patriotic unit in Melrose.

ST. MARY'S MOTHERS' CLUB

The January meeting of the Mothers' Club opened at 8:15 p.m. with a prayer by Father Manion. Fr. Manion then introduced Mrs. Margaret Stevens, Chairlady of the Nominating Committee who in turn introduced the committee by name and grade. Mrs. Stevens then submitted the slate of Officers nominated for the coming year. It was voted that the following officers be accepted:

President—Mrs. Ann Dreano.
Vice-president—Mrs. Kay Fortiere.
Treasurer—Mrs. Madelyn Hickey.
Secretary—Mrs. Christine McDonald.
Publicity Chairman—Mrs. Charles E. Rooney.

Mrs. James Logan made a motion that these officers be accepted. The motion was seconded by Mrs. Marie Ryan, and was voted and passed. Mrs. Ann Dreano, our newly elected President then took over the meeting.

Our club newspaper was distributed to all in attendance, giving the minutes of our last meeting.

The attendance for the evening was 95, and the 7th grade Mothers with 17 attending had the largest attendance.

The February meeting will be held on February 8, due to Ash Wednesday falling on the 15th.

The refreshments for tonight were served by the 7th Grade Mothers, under the Co-Chairmanship of Mrs. Lon Finn and Mrs. Ann Hession.

Mrs. Henry Fernald was called upon and she read a "thank-you" letter from Sister Mary Vincent for the Christmas gift of food given to the Nuns by the Pantry Shelf. A check for $150 was paid to S. S. Pierce for the gift.

Mrs. Dashbach was then called upon and stated there was a balance of $8.45 in the treasury.

Mrs. Ann Hession, Co-Chairman for the evening then introduced our guest speaker, Mrs. Cecelia McHugh who gave a very interesting talk and showed slides on the life of Rose Ferron.

A motion was made and seconded that the meeting be adjourned at 8:45 p.m.

EDITORIAL

Chatting recently with one of the town's successful business men, a progressive and far-seeing individual, the Star was told that the advent of a town manager for Winchester is only a question of time. This prophecy was not made because the business man believes that the town manager form of government is necessary to give the community a good administration of its affairs, but because the time required of town officers in the more important municipal brackets is making it increasingly difficult to get really qualified men to seek town office. This is especially true of the office of Selectman, where hearings and lengthy agenda keep incumbents closely concerned with town business many days and nights each month. The Star has never been too enthusiastic about having a town manager. It has felt that much of Winchester's enviable civic stature has resulted from the outstanding men and women who have served in town office and dedicated themselves to the proper administration of the town's business. There are still many high type men and women living in town. It is the Star's belief that the town will lose something fine when we substitute paid community service for that which they can give. A town manager may be inevitable, but let us continue to run our own affairs ourselves as long as possible.

LET'S ALLOW OUR TEEN-AGERS TO WORK

Editor of the Star:

An outstanding article entitled "Let's Allow Teen-Agers to Work," written by the Honorable William G. Long, judge of the Superior Court of Seattle, Washington, was published in the October issue of The American Magazine and condensed for publication in the "Readers' Digest" in the January number. It seems to the writer a wise and practical way of dealing with the problem of "juvenile delinquency." An old man said recently, "When I was a boy, seventy years ago, living on a farm, I never heard of juvenile delinquency, for the reason boys had to work. The cows and horses had to be cared for, there was planting, hoeing and harvesting of crops, the woodshed behind the kitchen stove must be filled with dry, hard wood, and water brought from the well—there were chores without end, whole-some work—no time for juvenile delinquency."

The writer has been granted permission to reprint in your local newspaper "all or portions of the material found in Judge William G. Long's article. Excerpts from Judge Long's article follow:

"In 22 years as a judge, I have heard 50,000 cases involving boys and girls picked up for everything from playing hooky to murder. To my sorrow, many more boys and girls—78 percent more—are being brought in today than when I first took office. I have had a chance every day to study the factors which cause so many of them to get into difficulties, and I think I have discovered one reason behind their behavior that may also contain an antidote.

"I have yet to see a really serious offender whose trouble was not caused to a large extent by idleness. On the other hand, I have seen many whose lives were salvaged through plain, old-fashioned work. It is my considered judgment, therefore, that most young people who get into tangles with the law today do so because they have nothing else to do. Labor-saving devices in the home have made family 'chores' for youngsters largely a thing of the past. And antiquated so-called 'child labor' laws make it difficult, if not impossible, for the average youngster under 18 to take a useful job. Thus, many adolescents, particularly those who are not in school, are forced into idleness.

"Our child-labor laws were originally enacted to prevent the exploitation of children in sweatshops, factories and mines, and to protect their morals. In times past, unspeakable evil was committed upon childhood, and in certain areas this continues even today. It is still desirable that laws protect young workers.

"But times have changed. Technical progress has made many unwholesome child-labor practices unprofitable. The rising level of the civic conscience has created new and effective protective measures outside the law. Our laws have now gone past the point of common sense.

"For example, a husky mechanically inclined 16-year-old boy was arrested for 'borrowing' an automobile—not to take a joy ride in it, but to dismantle it so that he could find out how it worked. While he was on probation he tried his best to get a job as a mechanic's helper, but was blocked by the law requiring him to be 18 before he could work as such. So he falsified his age, got the job, and is now one of the most successful mechanics in his community. Why should the law make it necessary for a kid to lie in order to get an honest job?

"I do not advocate abolition of any law really necessary to protect child welfare. But necessary protective measures need not be so restrictive that they drive youngsters into idleness, mischief and eventually crime. The irony of it is that the very qualities that would contribute to their success as good citizens—energy, love of adventure, ingenuity and capacity for leadership—make adolescents the most effective and dangerous criminals.

"Some very fine people believe that youngsters can just 'play' themselves into happy and constructive citizenship; and so they go all out for more playfields, more camps, more recreational facilities.

These things, of course, have real value—up to a point. But I worry when we rely too much on the efficacy of play alone. We must not overlook the virtue of old-fashioned toil during the habit-forming period of life.

"I recall three boys who were at loose ends in our community and were giving all of us officials a pretty bad time. We found a God-fearing, hard-working farmer and his wife who took them in and, with love and understanding, worked and guided these wild kids through high school and on through college to distinguished citizenship.

"Another youngster, committed to a vocational school, came back later to thank me. 'Judge, I learned the printing trade, have joined the union, have my own car without stealing it, and am going to be married next month.'

"Having grown up where and when productive work was looked upon with favor, I resent the current philosophy which seems to classify all jobs for kids as potentially dangerous rather than beneficial.

"Under our Washington State law, no girl under 16 or boy under 14 can work without a permit from a Superior Court judge, even in a business owned and operated by the youngster's own parents. Most work by youngsters under 16 must be performed between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m. Many other states have comparable restrictions. Yet those same kids can go to night baseball games, sit in late movies, attend dances, or squalor at horror scenes on television far beyond the curfew hour for any productive work. This puts a premium on idleness.

"I'm glad to say there appears to be a nation-wide concern over this matter. The New Jersey State Grange recently resolved: 'Many of the causes of juvenile delinquency can be traced to the inability of a child to find employment between the time he leaves school at the age of 16 and the age of 18, when he is permitted to enter industry.'

"There should be agencies and committees specifically designed to find and develop job opportunities for youngsters who want to work. It is through work, rather than play alone, that young people can avoid the physical and moral flabbiness which comes from idleness, and toughen their spiritual muscles sufficiently to carry the responsibilities of adult citizenship."

POLIO VACCINE PROGRAM

Editor of the Star:

The Winchester Board of Health has received the following letter from the District Health Officer which will help to answer some of the questions regarding the inoculations for polio this year.

"January 23, 1956
"To the Board of Health and Health Departments:

"As you know, Massachusetts has approved the Polio Vaccine as safe and effective under present requirements of manufacture. In order that you may make preliminary plans for the administration of polio vaccine in your community I would like to bring to your attention tentative proposed plans:

"1. The Polio Foundation will provide vaccine for the second injection to those children who received their first injection last Spring. This injection must be given in the schools, according to specifications of the Polio Foundation.

"2. Eligible groups presently entitled to receive the vaccine include all children under 15 years of age and pregnant women. Legislation to appropriate additional funds sufficient to cover the cost of vaccine for all eligible persons has been introduced. It is quite probable that such additional funds will be provided. This will mean that by pooling available funds from the National Foundation, Federal and State sources, we will be able to provide free vaccine to all children under 15 years of age and pregnant women. Eligibility for pregnant women will terminate with the birth of the child. The school census may be used to determine eligibility of school children. Thus it is anticipated that all vaccine will be furnished free and no means test can be used in its distribution to these eligible groups.

"3. Vaccine will be available to private physicians for administration to private patients in the prior group if children if signed consent slips are presented to the local public health agency. No charge for vaccine is permissible, but a charge for administration will be made if justified.

"Vaccine will be allocated to the respective local health agencies based on the number of signed consent slips and not on the number of eligible children in the community. Only sufficient vaccine for the first dose will be received in the first allotment. Vaccine for the second dose will be distributed approximately one month after the first allotment. The recommended dosage is two injections approximately one month apart.

"It is anticipated that present estimated production figures will provide sufficient vaccine for administration to all priority groups before the next poliovirus season. Organization for the administration of polio vaccine clinics will be the responsibility of the local health department. The method and manner of administration and distribution may be arrived at after discussion with local physicians, school authorities, health and welfare agents, or other interested parties at discretion dictates.

"Very truly yours,
Frederick A. Dunham, M.D.
District Health Officer"

Parents of school children will be polled as to whether they desire their children to be vaccinated by clinic or by private physician. Parents of preschool children can notify their own physicians.

The material will probably not be available until March 1st, which will still give sufficient time for the second inoculation.

H. L. Benson, M.D.
Chairman, Board of Health

ATTENTION, LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS!

Editor of the Star:

Every year the League of Women Voters sends out questionnaires to every candidate seeking public office.

As a rule all candidates return these forms answered. Whether this information, later printed in the Star, is worth while or not is open to debate. I do not believe that the voters of this Town can fully determine, with justice to themselves that this method of information is the best method in voting for a candidate.

I am firmly convinced that the only method whereby the Voters can vote with sound reasoning for the candidates to appear in a body on a platform where they can be seen.

A public notified to attend and listen to these candidates and then vote for the best qualified man or woman.

How many times has it been said, by many citizens of the town, "I never heard of them or saw them; what does he or she do anyway?" Or, sure I know him; he, or she, is a big wheel in town!" Or, you will hear a certain candidate, referred to as follows, "How can he, or she, miss? Don't you realize, they belong to the ball team, or the machine?"

People interested in the government of our Town, will attend to these various candidates. I am sure by this system, voters can more fully determine the qualifications, experience, characteristic and interest the various candidates have.

Years ago the League of Women Voters sponsored such a system. I hope that they again consider such a step!

In this way, dear Editor, the voters of Winchester will be given an opportunity to view their candidates, and when they go to the polls, they will know their candidate, and will not be voting for a name that sounds good.

It is of concern to everyone who lives in Winchester, that the best available man, or woman, be elected, to carry out the best form of town government.

From a conscientious citizen,
Eugene Beard Rotondi
224 Forest street

Ed. Note: Instead of enabling the electorate to choose without fail the candidate best fitted for the office in question, the procedure advocated by Mr. Rotondi and sponsored by the League for several years under handicapped badly a thoroughly equipped candidate not accustomed to appearing in public or addressing an audience from a platform!

A SOLUTION TO THE PARKING PROBLEM

Editor of the Star:

During these cold and sometimes miserable days I have daily visited the center of town, occasionally discussing problems with Mr. and Mrs. Clifton.

I have observed the construction of the High School, anticipating the day when I can relax and enjoy the Winchester High School basketball team in action in our new Gym. However, at this writing I am told Friday, January 27, will be the opening night. Patience at last rewarded.

I also inspect the various parts of the overpass construction, and note the wonderful progress they are making. This project, called the Chinese Wall by Mr. Hewis, will be not so bad as people would like to picture it. Traffic will move faster, and engines will not be impeded, and people will be safer. Money spent for the welfare and safety of people is well spent!

We now come to our ever-increasing parking problem. The question, Mr. Citizen, one morning was no other than the Chief of Police, Charles Harrold, connoisseur of people and problems, and that is why will now venture forth and state how the parking could be solved.

It is a well established fact that people will not patronize places of business unless they can reasonably and safely park their cars, for this is a machine age. People as a rule will not walk great distances when it is more comfortable and easier to drive to their destination.

We have many places of business in Winchester, stores that can supply the needs and wants for everyone.

I therefore set my sights on the Skillings Estate, a valuable piece of property purchased by the Town to build a building, presumably a new Town Hall, said property bought at a reasonable figure. The grading and leveling off process is nearly completed, the same job would have cost the Town a small fortune if they had undertaken the job themselves.

I am sure large interests are interested in this property. It is certain that beautiful low songs, and promises of magic carpets have been made by brilliant men to the proper members of the Ball Team.

Let us assume a big chain store buys this property. Would we later then condemn the properties in the rear of the Police Station at a tremendous cost to the taxpayers for more parking space to suit the needs of the Public or this Store? It could happen!

Dr. Charles P. Donahue
13 CHURCH STREET
WINCHESTER, MASS.
Winchester 6-1021

Would it not be better then to convert this Skillings property into a large parking space, and rest assured, this could be a proper solution. Would it be better to cover over the waterway at Manchester field, at a cost of $200,000.00? Yes, this would be a good idea, if we could get the Ford Foundation interested.

I sincerely believe, therefore, that converting the Skillings Estate into a large parking area, will solve the all day parking problems of the storekeeper and his help, the employees of the Town Hall and visitors, the parking of vehicles on Sunday for those who have difficulty finding a spot, so as they can attend their respective churches, and finally this parking lot will be a good spot for our Town Meeting nights, or any function where a crowd gathers.

This is merely a suggestion, however, to the members of the Ball Team. I have just retired the side! What will be their strategy in the next inning?

Umpire now announcing, home pitcher, Planning Board! "Play Ball."

Respectfully submitted

TIME IS A FACTOR IN GARDENING

Last week we wrote about space and the problem of adapting it to the planning program for the home grounds. Of relative importance is the time that is available. It should be pointed out that it does not pay in satisfaction or returns to try to overdo and to accomplish to much. A small home grounds planting of shrubs, trees, flowers and lawn that is well cared for is a source of pleasure. A large planted area only partly cared for may well develop into a source of drudgery. From the standpoint of time the gardener should always be in a position to stay ahead of weeds, insects and the many other problems of the home gardener. Once one gets behind, it takes much more work in protection.

From the standpoint of time, the home gardening operation can be well classified. Assuming that the space is ample, there are a number of different approaches to the job at hand. There is the part-time operator who expects to devote all his spare time to the job and may actually consider it in the light of a secondary source of employment. In this case the gardener usually turns to growing food for the table and very likely food to sell. As a matter of fact, several part-time farmers gradually develop into full-time operators. Small fruits and vegetables are part of the program.

There are the families who devote part of their time to gardening as a recreation and a hobby. Sometimes it is the man of the house who carries on the work. With others both the man and the woman work in the home grounds. In many cases, the housewife carries all except the heaviest chores alone. Flowers, in addition to the regular shrub plantings, are most likely to receive emphasis by this class of gardeners.

By far the most gardening is done by those who feel it a definite requisite of good living to keep the home grounds beautiful. The practice is particularly general in the Middlesex County area and those who do not have some interest in planting of ornamentals for the best effect are the rare exception. In this case, again we would say that the plantings as simple as possible and within reasonable limits of the time necessary to take good care of them.

BAPTISTS TO DISCUSS CHALLENGES TO FAITH

The provocative and timely topic, "Challenges to Faith" will be the subject for a discussion by the First Baptist Church Men's Brotherhood Bible Class on Sunday, January 29, beginning at 9:45 o'clock. Panel members will be Mr. Fred Parks, Mr. John Dawson, and Mr. Stanley Kinsley.

Last Sunday the Class and its guests, the women and young adults of the Church, turned out in force to hear the Rev. John W. Ellison of the Church of the Epiphany describe his biblical research. The highly interesting talk dealt with the methods and problems involved in "Comparing Ancient Manuscripts of the New Testament."

FRANKLIN'S 250TH BIRTHDAY
HONORS AN AMERICAN GENIUS

January 17 marks the 250th birthday of the patriot, statesman, scientist, inventor, businessman, musician and humanitarian who referred to himself simply as B. Franklin, printer.

Benjamin Franklin's unbelievably varied gifts to America and the world will be internationally acclaimed this month by scores of organizations with a Franklin tradition, the National Geographic Society says. "His talents ranged far beyond the role he played abroad as champion of the American colonies before and during the Revolutionary War."

From a Horatio Alger start as a poor boy in Boston, he won business success in Philadelphia and retired affluent at 42. Thereafter he plunged into life-long interests with but a single regret: "I wish the good Lord had seen fit to make each day just twice as long as it is. Perhaps then I could really accomplish something."

Accomplishments Piled Up
The world soon took note of his inventions. Though not a physician, he invented medical instruments still in use today. He introduced bifocal spectacles. He developed a device for showing circulation of the blood and launched studies into the contagious nature of cold and influenza and the cause of lead poisoning. Inoculation for small pox was among his projects. He was appointed by the Court of France to investigate hypnotism.

It was Ben Franklin who introduced mineral fertilizers to the American colonies. He brought in Swiss barley, rye, Scotch kale and turnips, terming farming "the most honorable of all employments, the most useful in itself and rendering man the most independent."

Meanwhile, his observations on the Gulf Stream, weather forecasting, whirlwinds, storms, trade winds and waterspouts were far ahead of his time. Watching early balloon flights in France, Franklin speculated on man's eventual mastery of the air.

His papers on the theory of the earth, magnetism and density, drew keen attention from cosmologists in science. In 1752, with his famous kite and key, he proved that lightning was electricity. He invented the lightning rod and introduced many electrical terms.

Invented Harmonica
While scientists noted his experiments, famous musicians esteemed him as a musician. He invented a type of harmonica, using musical glasses, and could play as well the harp, guitar and violin. A music publisher in Philadelphia, he composed many popular lyrics.

Most famed in publishing circles for Poor Richard's Almanac, Frank is credited with publishing the first novel printed in America, and as the first publisher to illustrate a news story. In Philadelphia he founded fire and insurance companies, hospitals, the University of Pennsylvania; and he developed the renowned Franklin stove.

Near his life's end, a letter from George Washington bespoke his stature: "If to be venerated for benevolence, if to be admired for talents, if to be esteemed for patriotism, if to be beloved for philanthropy, can gratify the human mind, you must have the pleasing consolation to know that you have not lived in vain."

70 MILLION INSURED

The Cambridge social security office says that over 70 million people are now insured under the Federal social security program. Therefore, it is important that the Social Security Administration be notified when a worker dies; retires between ages 65 and 72; and when he reaches age 72 regardless of retirement. A person does not need to retire after age 72 to collect social security payments, but he does have to file an application for these benefits. That is true also for both retirement benefits and survivor benefits. Payments do not start automatically. If a person delays more than 12 months after he could have been entitled to payments, he will lose some monthly payments that might have been received. The district social security office servicing the Winchester area is located at 2 Trowbridge street, Cambridge 38, Mass., Telephone UNiversity 4-3900.

HOME AND GARDEN CLUB

On Wednesday afternoon, January 18, the Winchester Home and Garden Club held its meeting in the Art Room of the Library with Mrs. John Chipman, the President, conducting the meeting.

Mrs. Edward McDevitt, Jr., the Program Chairman, introduced Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Symmes whose illustrated lecture, "Flowers and Gardens," proved to be the perfect antidote for mid-winter blues.

Mr. and Mrs. Symmes have traveled extensively in this country and abroad, photographing the beautiful and the unusual in gardens and scenery.

Starting the lecture with views of two beautiful Winchester gardens, those of Mr. and Mrs. Wills and Professor and Mrs. Sorokin, the Symmes showed in great variety many of the outstanding gardens of the eastern coastal states, from New England to Florida. Of unusual interest were the formal colonial gardens of Williamsburg, the beautiful and exotic Cypress Gardens located just outside of Charleston, and the many tropical gardens found in Florida.

The second half of the lecture highlighted the beauty spots of Europe. In beautiful kodachrome color were shown the gardens of Paris and Versailles in France, and many breathtaking views of Switzerland and Italy.

Traveling North from Switzerland, the Symmes captured on film many beautiful spots in the northern countries, and finally, crossing the Channel, the charm of the English gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Symmes' beautiful photography and interesting commentary carried the audience on a tour of the summer gardens of our own and other countries, making it, indeed, an unforgettable afternoon.

Town Report Format Group May File Significant Recommendations

By Charles Ball

What are the town's objectives in publishing an annual town report? A look at the document printed and distributed last year leads one to believe that it was published only to meet the legal requirement that an annual report be published. No effort was made to present the material in the report in an interesting, informative, and exciting manner. At best, the report was read only by people interested in finding out how the town valued their neighbor's property.

Revision of the town report is now being considered by the Town Report Format Committee, a special body operating under mandate from the March 1955 Town Meeting. What this committee will recommend has not yet been announced, but the committee could recommend changes which would make the report an important document in the governing of Winchester.

An annual town report, it seems to me, should have several objectives beyond the legal requirement that it be published. Those objectives might well include the following:

1. A town report should adequately inform its readers about the character and quantity of services town government supplies its citizens. Such an objective demands that the town report present the story of municipal services in an interesting and illustrative manner, complete with illustrative material and descriptions of the jobs done by key town departments.

2. The report should excite an interest in town government among the citizenry. An attractive report would have the effect of inviting citizen participation in town meeting and in races for elective town offices. Such an interest is essential to the success of a form of government which demands as much of its citizens as the New England town does.

3. The report should inspire a feeling of accomplishment among town employees who have performed the tasks described in the book. Town employees, after all, are human beings who face more than routine problems in the course of their work. Decisions they make which improve the quality of services or which benefit the town must be acknowledged somewhere. The town report is the best place for such recognition. Such recognition does not mean listing names, but the subtler device of picturing town employees at work with actual equipment in actual job situations.

4. Finally, the report should describe the broad-term policy problems which the town faces. These are problems which go beyond a single year and which must be discussed if Town Meeting members are expected to make intelligent decisions.

If a town accepts these objectives as goals in publishing an annual report, the report would be illustrated with photographs, charts and art work. Service descriptions must be well-written and carefully edited. Statistical material must be presented in an interesting manner.

Should Winchester decide it wants that kind of town report, a committee of three should be appointed to manage the publication of the document. Such a committee would include the Town Accountant, the executive clerk of the Board of Selectmen, and a citizen familiar with both government and the publishing business. The latter would be the chairman of the committee. His responsibilities would include writing, editing, and make-up. He would also serve as contact man with the printer.

Such a revision of the town report would not cost taxpayers any more than the present document.

The upcoming Town Meeting may be asked to authorize revision. If Meeting members approve revision a substantial contribution will be made to the goals of citizen participation, an informed public, and the recognition of public service.

YOUTH GROUP NOTES

Sunday, the Unitarian Jr.-Hi Youth Group held its regular meeting, commencing with a worship service conducted by Steve Blair. Mr. Erwin (Hutch) Hutchings spoke on stamp collecting, illustrating his talk with stamps from his collection.

Cookies and cokes were served, and after the refreshments, the committees held meetings to discuss their plans.

On Friday, February third, at the Wallex Roller Derby in Waltham, there will be an inter-denominational roller skating party.

WINCHESTER MAN JUDGE AT DOG SHOW

A number of Winchester dogs will be exhibited at the 20th Annual Sanctioned Obedience Dog Show to be held at Mechanics Bldg. on Sunday, January 29th, by New England Dog Training Club.

Trophies and ribbons will be awarded to each winner of 10 classes of obedience trained dogs. Special awards will be given to junior handlers, children under 16. Show judges will include Mr. J. George Gange of 1 Edgehill road, who owns Nicholas, of Ganges, U.S., a standard white poodle and one of the top obedience dogs in the country.

Dog lovers are learning that it is a joy to own a well-behaved pet who remains "at heel" or who can be left in a "sit-stay" or "down stay" position while its owner goes about his or her business.

One can teach his dog to obey certain commands at home, but the advantage of attending "doggie" school is to have one's dog obey in the presence of other dogs, which proves that the association of other dogs is very necessary.

It is a pleasure for the writer to take the family's wire-haired terrier out in public because he is so frequently praised for being so well mannered, the result of attending "doggie" school.

Among the Winchester members of the N. E. Dog Training Club entering dogs in the show January 29, are Mrs. Alice MacLellan, who will show her poodle, "Jock," and her daughter, Bonnie, who will show her poodle, "Jet."

Ormond M. Hessler, formerly of Winchester, has been appointed Hood District Manager of Dallas District Headquarters for Hood Rubber Company, a Division of the B. F. Goodrich Company, Water-

Texas. He now resides in Dallas, Texas with his wife, Constance and two children, Peter 8 and Terry Elizabeth 6. His former residence was at 29 Lorena road.

JUNIOR CYO TO CONDUCT DANCE

While their older brothers and sisters are enjoying themselves at the Roller Skating Party, the members of the Junior CYO of the Immaculate Conception Parish will be making merry at a Mid-Winter Dance to be held in the School Hall on Friday evening, January 27, from 7 to 10 p. m. This Dance is being conducted by the members of the 7th and 8th Grade Religion Classes with the 7th Grade Boys in charge this week, James Flaherty and Lawrence Donlin in charge of Tickets; Ernest Ciofo and Manuel Pereira, Refreshments; Terrence Collins and Gerald Lucey, Clean-Up Committee; and Daniel Graham and Kenneth Forte, Checking.

The Dance will be highlighted by many give-away prizes and the holder of the lucky ticket will receive a Door Prize. Members of the Immaculate Conception Parish are invited to 7th and 8th graders of neighboring parishes to join them for an evening of fun. Parents of these children are always welcome during the evening.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 1 How to Save on Your Income Tax

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants and the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

The eve of April 15 will see a mad scramble in many households to put together the necessary facts and figures for the federal income tax returns due on that date. (April 15 falls on a Sunday this year, making April 16 the deadline.)

The last minute rush produces not only long lines at Internal Revenue Service offices, but also many careless mistakes by taxpayers.

Most of the errors are very simple. For example, about one million returns are filed every year with signatures missing. (This includes joint returns with only one signature and individual returns with no signature at all.)

Little slips in arithmetic last year resulted in overpayments by taxpayers of $18,000,000. Taxpayers got back these overpayments eventually, after the government discovered the mistakes, but the taxpayer cannot rely on the government to save him from all his errors.

The mistakes of arithmetic favoring the taxpayer were even larger—perhaps not entirely by coincidence. All returns are checked, and when an underpayment is discovered the government not only collects the difference, but also charges interest.

Opportunities Overlooked
Apart from obvious mistakes, many taxpayers overlook opportunities to claim exemptions and deductions, and other ways to reduce their tax.

In order to help you avoid such pitfalls, this newspaper is publishing a series of articles prepared with the help of the national and state organizations of certified public accountants. These articles—if you save them and use them along with the official instructions that come with your tax forms—may save you money.

Your first step is to consider whether you should file at all, and then what kind of a return to file. For income tax purposes you are not required to file a return if your gross income in 1955 was less than $600, or if you are 65 or older and had less than $1,200 gross income. But if you had income from self-employment of $400 or more, the return must be filed for social security tax purposes.

Don't forget that tax on salary or wages may have been withheld during the year by your employer, even if your income was less than $600, and the only way to get it back is to file a tax return.

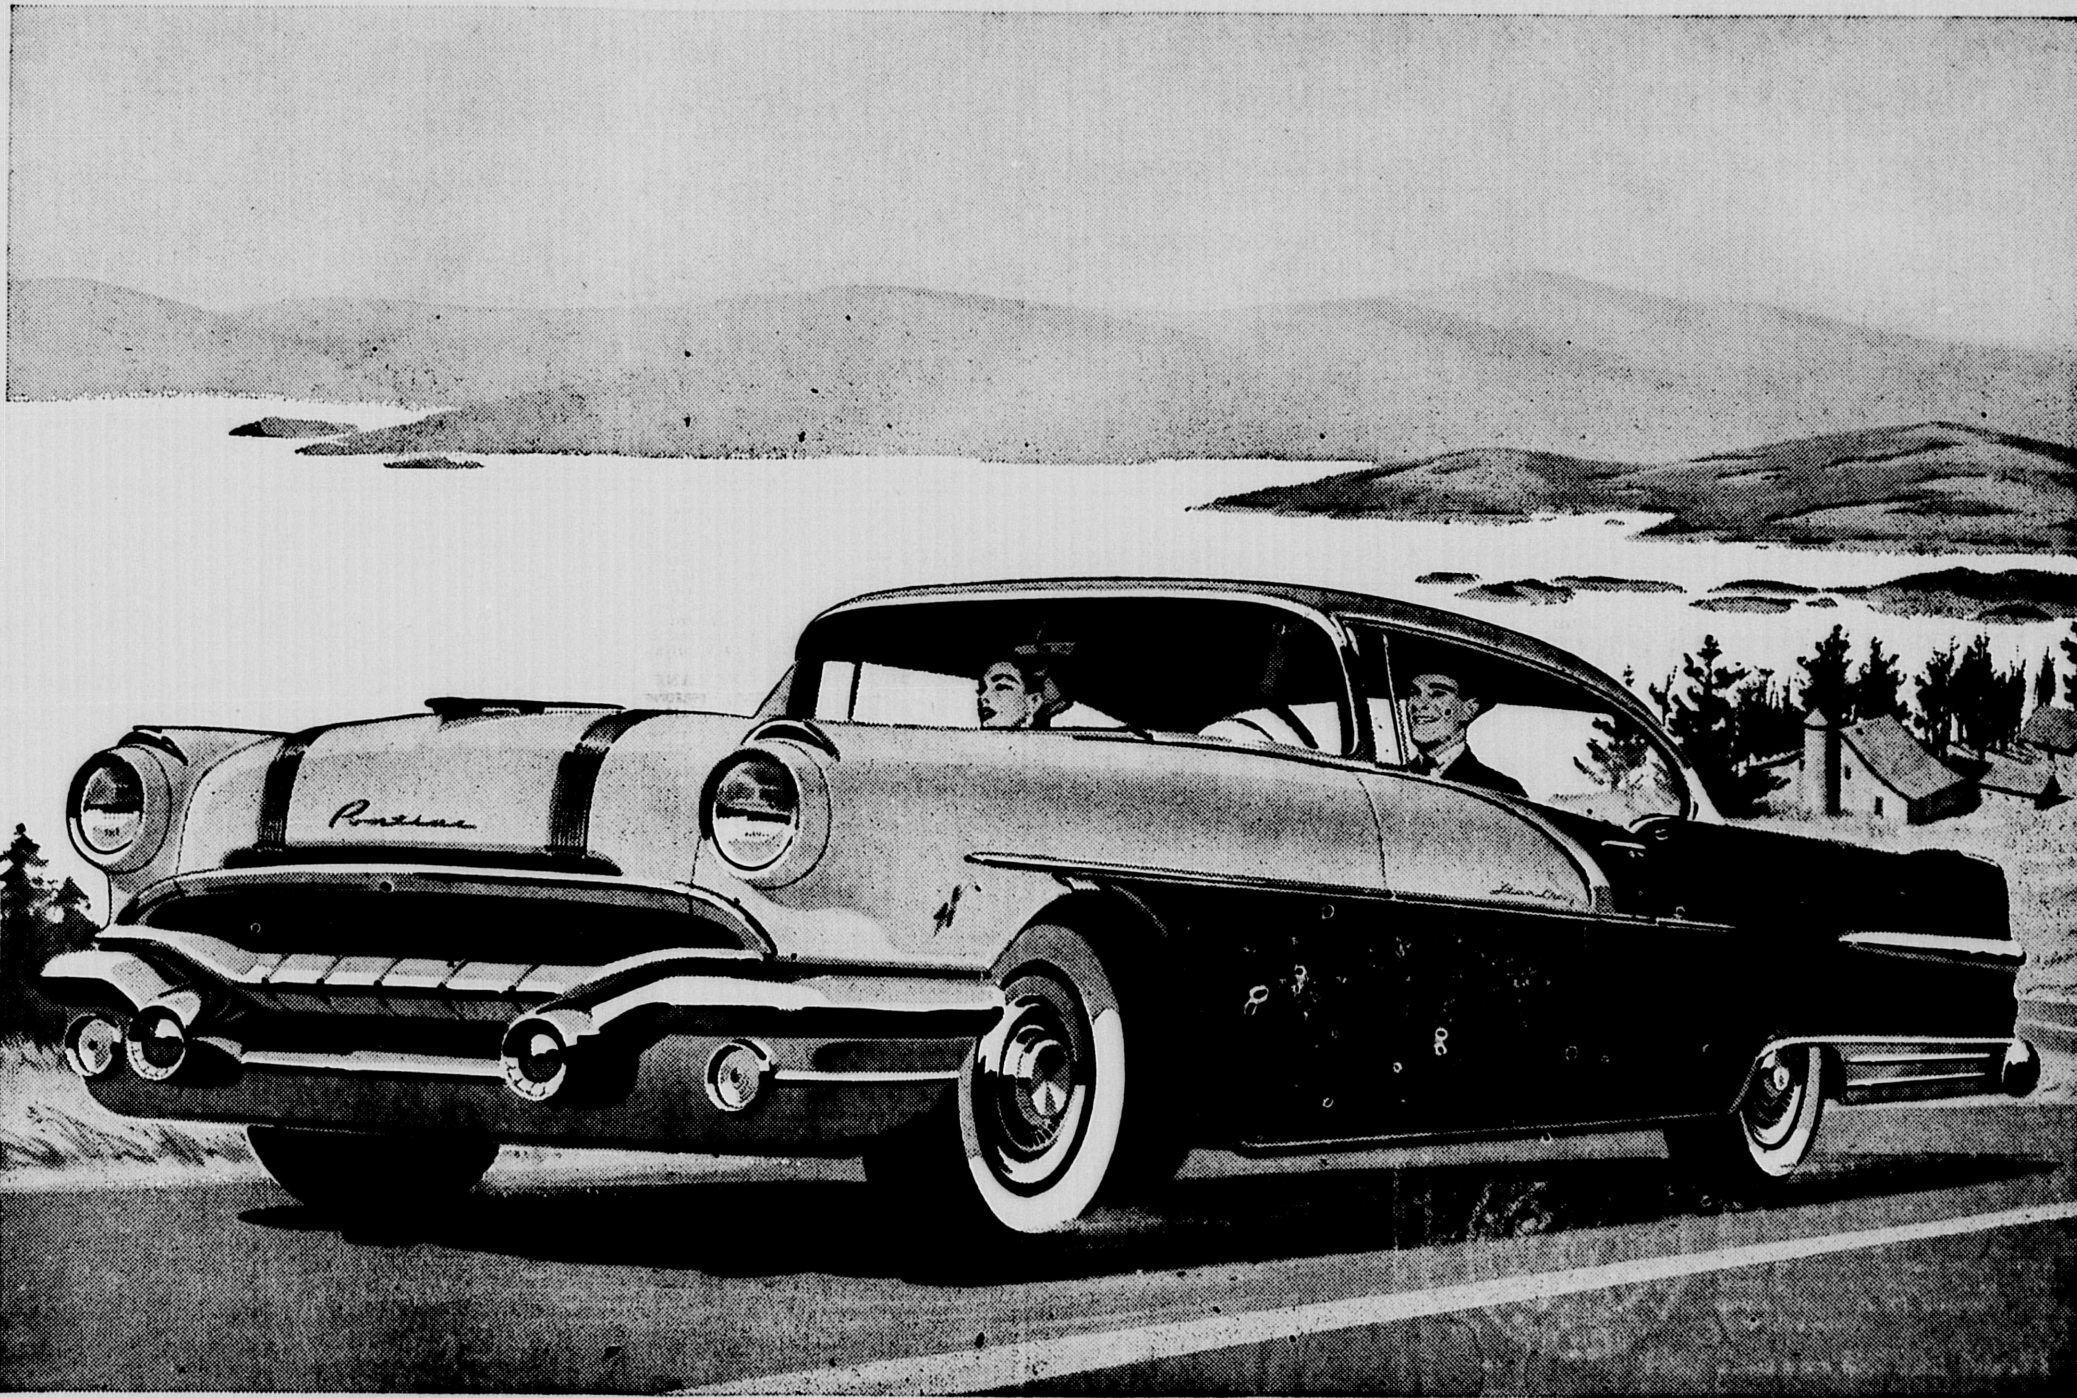

Advantage of Joint Returns
A common mistake is the filing of a separate return by a wife who had a small income. If the wife files a separate return, she is not permitted to file another return jointly with her husband, nor is her husband allowed to claim an exemption for the wife on his separate return.

Most married couples will save money by filing a joint return, as this "splits" their income to put them in the same bracket as though each of them had received half the total income.

There are unusual cases, however, such as those involving capital losses, in which separate returns might result in a saving. If this is a possibility, it is best to figure both jointly and separately before deciding which way to file.

The instructions that come with your tax forms give further information. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service, which urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you need outside assistance.

CRACK-DOWN ON TRUCKERS BEGUN BY POLICE-SELECTMEN

Winchester Police and Selectmen have joined forces in a drive to crack-down on gravel truckers who have been speeding through town at odd hours of the night.

Sunday night, several trucks were stopped and warned to slow down. Three police officers and Selectman William C. Cusack waged an all-out campaign late in the night.

This action follows complaints by residents of the town who have been disturbed by heavy trucking. Word is being passed around among truckers that Winchester wants its laws obeyed.

Gravel truckers against whom the action is being directed work on a load basis, and hurry to tally high load records in an effort to earn higher pay, according to one police officer.

WINCHESTER, 2; DANVERS, 2

Winchester High's injury-riddled hockey team played a hepped-up Danvers sextet to a 2-2 stalemate in a North Shore League game at Lynn Arena last Saturday night. The Indians were without Richie Johnson, whose cut leg prevented his even dressing for the game and Johnny Zirkel, who was forced out in the first minute of play with a back injury. When Leo Callahan was disabled in the final period with a mouth injury all chances for a Winchester victory went by the board.

For all they were held to a tie, the Indians kept the pressure on Danvers for much of the game and it took some superlative goal tending by All League Goalie Urbanski. Danvers was trying hard to win the game, too, for its coach, Ray Funchion, who was unable to be present because of a heart condition. Joe Cussen, playing center in place of Johnson, turned in his best performance in two years, three times in the first period bringing the puck in, only to be stopped by Urbanski's great saves.

Cussen finally tallied at 3:52 of the first period on a pass from Callahan. McCarthy of Danvers knotting the count at 2:39 of the second period on a sole effort.

Urbanski soloed in at 3:51 of the second chukkah to put Winchester in the lead, but Hilton pulled Danvers up even again in the final period, sinking a pass from Dowdell while the Indians had a man in the penalty-box.

Winchester, continuing to improve, played its pass patterns well, but were against goal tending that was really outstanding.

The summary:
Winchester: Danvers: Doyle, c. 2; Urbanski, rd. 2; Manning, rd. 2; McCarthy, rd. 2; Callahan, rd. 2; Cussen, c. 2; Urmason, rd. 2; Zirkel, rd. 2; Danvers spares: Farrar, Scott, LePage.

Winchester High School plays Salem in a North Shore League hockey game at the Lynn Arena Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

INDIANS OUTCLASSED WAKEFIELD

With the second team playing about half the game, Winchester High outclassed Wakefield High, 100 to 46 in a Middlesex League basketball engagement at Winchester Tuesday afternoon.

The Indians were real sharpshooters against hapless Wakefield, making good on 52 percent of their shots. Coach Phillips tried hard to keep the score under the 100 mark, but his Jay Vees were hot, and the scoring pace didn't diminish too much as the seconds took over.

Winchester just hit 100 in the final second of play. The Indians led at the quarter 16-10 and had a 47-29 lead at the half. It was all Winchester over the last two periods with the Indians tucking away 53 points while allowing Wakefield but 17.

Five Winchester boys hit double figures with Apsey's 15 points tops. Moker scored 20 of Wakefield's 46 points.

The game was the second this year in which Winchester scored 100 points. It was the 13th straight wins for the Indians this year and the 41st successive victory over a three year period. Symmes with 15 points led the seconds to a 97-40 victory over the Wakefield reserves. The summary:

FRESHMEN TOPPLE MEDFORD IN LAST 20 SECONDS

Winchester High-freshmen, playing their sixth game in the Suburban Junior Hockey League, beat the Medford freshman by a single tally in the last twenty seconds of the contest. Starting slowly, as the Indian skaters have done in all except the Melrose and Walpole games, they brought home 36 bacon in a swirling, victorious climax just in the nick of time. The first period ended in a scoreless tie with Winchester slightly outskating the Medford boys.

In the second period, with the opponents outskating the local pucksters, Medford drove in the first goal of the game. Shortly afterwards, Johnny Carter, energy-packed center on the "B" line, stick handled through the Medford forwards and defense and unassisted whammed in a hard shot.

Beginning with the third period, both teams put on speed and the spectators were brought to their feet several times. Although most of the play was in the Medford zone, the opponents got a break-away and scored with only five minutes remaining. At this point, Winchester's "A" line settled down to the best hockey of the season. On a neat pass from Captain John Curtis to Dave Dauphinais, the latter drove in a swift shot for the tying goal with three minutes left in the game. After the face-off in the middle zone, Winchester was constantly in control of the puck, when at 10 seconds before the final ring, Curtis received a pass from Steve Powers and clicked it into an open hole in the opponent's net to win the game.

Lineup: goal, Tierney; defense, Mirak, Murphy, Uffelder; forwards, Dauphinais, Powers, Curtis, Wier, Carter, Mitchell, Dewar, Graham, Martell.

S.O.I. BOWLING LEAGUE

Time waits for no man as but eight weeks are left of this year's bowling season. It's hard to believe that time can vanish so quickly.

Both top teams, California and Georgetown, battled to a stalemate as both came up with a three to one score.

Team Standings:
California 17-7
Georgetown 17-7
Boston College 14-10
St. Mary's 11-13
Holy Cross 11-13
Notre Dame 10-14
Alabama 10-14
Bates 6-18

Hi Single:
Richard Bucci, California 150

Hi Triple:
Richard Bucci California 366

Top Six Bowlers:
Tony Saraca 103.2
Richard Bucci 102.2
Frank Gangi 97.8
Jeff Gaudioso 96.9
John Buttafueco 95.6
A. P. Tofuri 95.3

Occasionally a has-been shows temporary greatness and this very situation happened, when upon leaving his plumbing tools at home to lighten the burden, he led the 300 circle with 351, "Deadhorse" Chelaf!

Others to bowl in this category were A. P. Tofuri, 318; Jeff Gaudioso, 313; Joe Berati, 306; Nick

Molea, 302; and John Buttafueco, 305.

As predicted by your reporter the dark horse in this half is giving no mercy as they again led total pin-falls with 1436. Their Captain is the "kangaroo kid," Jeff Gaudioso, whose picture above shows the torture he sustains when a ball doesn't follow the straight and narrow. His Team-mates are Nick "I didn't say nothing" Molea, Joe Berati, Richard Riga St., Leroy Penta, president of the Star Lumber Co.,
and the Havana kid, Pete Lonigro.

There never was such a tremendous battle for top honors in the average department, as is being staged this year. The contestants are very cunning and accurate bowlers as you can readily see from the above averages. Tony Saraca and Richard Bucci, be who he may, the ultimate winner both should be very proud of their grand showing this year.

It is not my wish to cause any misunderstandings in an families or write any derogatory remarks to humiliate any one individual. My prime object is to cause one's face to crack a smile not to get my head cracked, or to have my wavy hair pulled from its roots.

So with this thought in mind readers let me continue. First let me issue a retraction that Pete Lonigro will not, is not, and has no intentions of going to Cuba as was quoted last week. Because of a recent injury he sustained it has been decided that he will head quicker in this New England climate to which he is acclimated. There will be a Mardi-Gras on his front lawn this spring.

It has been rumored that a petition to have "Toker" stop bowling is being passed around and a fund is being raised to have him submitted to a psycho-analysis test. His mind is really leaving him when nine witnesses stated he had bowled two boxes, he insisted he bowled only one.

Peter Fiore could win any talking contest anywhere. Nick Molea was on time. How did you like that canary yellow sweater that Mulligan Fiore was sporting that

Why don't they leave Jake alone when he bowls? Why is it that Dan Gattenieri and Squire Vespucci have to go into a conference fifteen of twenty times every bowling night? Ben Gillotti again came to the rescue as he bowled a fine 102 to salvage one point for his team as they edged California 499-498 in the last string of the night.

Above the cacophony of this madhouse a voice penetrated your innermost soul. Locating its positions, its owner was Tony Saraca who as usual was instructing Joe Dilorio how to bowl!

Joe being the sport that he is, listened and waited until Tony Saraca bowled then lo and behold, Tony missed an easy spare and Joe let him have both barrels in no uncertain words.

Some say that Tony showed a change in color. Every one tries their best I'd say and everyone tries to knock down as many pins as possible.

We close another column and the winner of the award was Dominic Suppa.

See you next week!

OLDEST NEWSPAPER PRINTED IN WINCHESTER
Serving the Community 75 Years

GAVE BLOOD

New givers of precious blood to the number of twenty-five appeared at the Red Cross Blood Center here last Monday to add their valuable aid to that of the many Winchester people who have donated blood time and time again whenever the Bloodmobile has been here. To many of these new donors it was a new experience, it being their first donation, while others had been giving in the past in other places where they had been living or where they had been working.

All in all 106 pints of blood were "loaned" to the Red Cross Blood Bank to be distributed where needed. Since all of this blood was of the kind that may be used for direct transfusion the total so available for Winchester people is just as great as in the past when some of the larger number of total pints collected could be used only for breaking into fractions.

Right in the forefront of the many people who worked together to bring this Blood Day to the attention of the whole town were the new students in the freshman art class in the high school. The posters used in the stores and offices throughout the town were made in this class of Miss Pauline Goodrich, it being the first lettering task done by these students.

Notable among the blood givers were many more people from Precinct 6, who came after being earnestly solicited by a group of eight men and women there headed by Mrs. Leslie J. Nadeau of Middlesex street. Nearly all these donors were new givers.

Topping the list of organizations whose members appeared in numbers to add their valuable blood were the Knights of Columbus and the Calidene Company, both of which groups have frequently headed the list in the past. Just as steadily aiding the Red Cross Blood Program were the many members of the Epiphany Church, William Parkman Lodge of Masons and the Mystic Valley Lodge of Masons, who their blood to the useful and needed total. Some eight or nine other organizations were represented by lesser numbers.

NEW THEATRE PROJECT MEETING

A new Winchester community theater was discussed and tentatively planned last Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff, by a group which came to find out and remained to voice enthusiasm for the projected venture.

Although many had been under the impression, from the notice which appeared in last week's Star, that this was an entirely new idea, it turned out to be quite otherwise. This is something toward which Carlene Samoiloff has been working for several years; and now, with the new High School auditorium available, action is about to take place of theory. The gathering was impressed and heartened by the evident thoroughness with which Mrs. Samoiloff has gone into the matter. A definite program for financial backing has been arranged, and a comprehensive plan has been worked out for handling such items as scenery, rehearsal space, direction, locale, and production schedule.

Primary emphasis this spring will be on a Children's Production, and there has already been a brisk enrollment of children in a proposed twelve-week course which will work toward that end. At the same time, it is hoped that the venture will also include adult activity—a fully realized Community Theatre—right from the start.

With these promising goals ahead, a second meeting has been set for Wednesday evening, February 8, at the Studio home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff, driveway entrance on Mason street, opposite No. 24 Mason street, and it is emphasized that this is a Community organization, and that everyone who is, or feels that he might be, interested is urged to come, and contribute his or her ideas or suggestions.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL PANEL

On Monday evening, January 30, an interested group of parents and friends gathered in the auditorium of the George Washington School to hear six well-known Winchester residents discuss how to foster better behavior patterns in our children with a view to better citizenship. The moderator, Mr. John Tucker of the school department, had an effective means of limiting each panelist's speech to five minutes and allowing 1 minute for summing up. He introduced the first speaker, Mrs. Neil Borden, who because of her work on the Winchester Scholarship Foundation elected to speak on scholarships as the reward for good behavior pattern. She then presented Mr. Robert Mulford, executive director of the Mass. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, who discussed the need for discipline as a positive element in building good behavior. The next panelist was a lawyer Mr. Harrison Lyman, Jr., who spoke of parental pressure.

Mr. Lyman introduced Mrs. Dwight L. Cart who spoke of the experiences children face and the psychological stoppers which may result from lack of preparation for new experiences. She presented Dr. Harold J. Wheeler who is a local pediatrician and he spoke of the psychosomatic aspects of the behavior problem using everyday problems as illustrations. Rev. Stephen E. Burke of the Immaculate Conception Church discussed religion as the stabilizing force in adjustment to the realities of life and summed up the panel as a team of workers each helping our children to develop good moral attitudes in the world which they are facing.

During the lively question period which followed the panel, questions were directed both to the panel as a whole and to individual members. Mr. Tucker being asked to speak briefly on the guidance program at the Winchester High School. Both the panel and the question period were most thought-provoking, and the town-wide attendance showed great interest in programs of this type. The program arrangements were under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Cann, program chairman of the Washington School Mothers' Association, ably assisted by Miss Leonore Rich, school principal, and Mrs. Charles Crede, association president.

WINCHESTER BABE RUTH LEAGUE

After a successful first season, plans are now being made by the officers of the Winchester Babe Ruth League for this year, with tryouts to take place April 15th to April 30th, and all Winchester boys 13, 14, and 15 years old are eligible.

CONVERSE MARKET TO OPEN FLOWER SHOP, GREETING CARD AREA

Converse Market will open a flower shop and greeting card area in its old quarters, company officials announced this past week.

The new shops will occupy the street entrance of the quarters on Mount Vernon street.

A formal opening of the supermarket will be held in about two weeks. The store was informally opened for business two weeks ago. The parking area will be opened at the time of the formal opening.

Part of the Converse expansion program includes indoor parking on the second floor, above the supermarket. Entrance to the parking area will be gained from Winchester place, a road beside the Police Station. A neon sign indicating the entrance was raised this past Tuesday.

This is the third expansion project in Converse Market's history. The second project was the opening of the basement of the Mt. Vernon street quarters.

NOW THAT'S WHAT I CALL GOOD PUBLIC RELATIONS!

Ralph H. Bonnell of Winchester, Republican National Committeeman and local Ford distributor, was the featured speaker at a recent luncheon of the Publicity Club of Boston at the Hotel Vendome in that city.

Mr. Bonnell spoke on Public Relations in Politics and emphasized the thought that everyone should vote, or keep forever quiet as to criticism. He stressed the point that regardless of partisanship men and women eligible to vote should register and cast their ballots. He cited instances of towns where less than 5,000 persons voted out of a population of 30,000.

Besides Mr. Bonnell, George Noone, Technical Director for the United States Army Corps of Engineers, showed a film entitled "Operation Noah," depicting the devastation wrought by the floods of last fall in New England.

Mr. Bonnell is an honorary member of the Publicity Club of Boston, which numbers 150 bona fide publicists in its membership.

By Agnes Car
To some folks, he was "just another dog"
But not to us, who watched him grow more dear
Each day; more like an understanding friend
His eyes so bright, his bark an echo clear,
To stranger he was watch dog, guarding home,
To us a member of the family,
Who understood each word was said to him
Whose food and rest were planned so carefully.

To others he was "just another dog"
To us, beloved friend who shared our day,
Whose tail had language that we understood
Whose dancing feet were music on our way
Those little feet, forever now are still,
But in our hearts he lives and all ways will.

FELLISLAND COUNCIL B.S.A. MEETS AT WHITE SPOT

The Thirty-first Annual Meeting of Fellisland Council, Boy Scouts of America, was held at the White Spot in Woburn with two hundred members and guests present.

Mayor William Shaughnessy of Woburn brought the greetings of the City to the group. One of the highlights of the evenings was the presentation of the Silver Beaver Award to Mr. P. Joseph Corrigan of Medford. This award is for outstanding service to youth in the Community. Mr. Corrigan's experience in Scouting started over ten years ago as Committee Chairman, Troop 24 Medford from March 1946 to date, Committee Chairman, Pack No. 24, Medford, from December 1953 to date, Member Council Executive Board, January 1947 to date and Council President 1950-51-52.

Mr. Corrigan has served in nearly every capacity at St. Francis of Assisi Parish, Medford for nearly twenty years. He has filled the role of Athletic Director for C.Y.O. basketball, baseball, swimming, track and golf teams since the beginning of the C.Y.O. movement in the Boston Archdiocese in 1938. Last year Mr. Corrigan received the St. George Award for his outstanding contribution to Scouting for Catholics in the Archdiocese of Boston. He is one of the examiners of the Ad Altare Dei award board. He has assisted Monsignor Carroll in Archdiocesan C.Y.O. planning for many years. He has assisted Monsignor Poley at St. Francis of Assisi Parish in the planning and operation of a one month vacation school for children since 1949.

His whole record of service is such that no one part can be selected from the other. His life is devoted to working for the interest of children.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. Alan Tucker, Deputy Regional Scout Executive, his message was signposts for Youth.

President Gowling presented his message to the groups with this challenge "We may look back to 1955, but it serves no purpose, for like business, the job we did stands, whether we did it or not. But now we face 1956 with strong resolutions to do a better job than ever has been done before. We must plan our program with the utmost care, give it our best and most deliberate thought. Accidental or spasmodic effort may win, but the steadily flowing and constantly growing success comes only to the man who does his job systematically and with energy. No thrill is ever quite equal to that which comes from doing a job particularly well. The Nation honors the Boy Scouts. It is proper that we do so, for we cannot rededicate ourselves too often to the spiritual ideals of scouting."

I am hoping that each of you will bring in to scouting, one new man, who will give our program increased momentum to grow, if they give of their ability and time the same which interest you yourself have given.

Scouting is the spirit of mutual service. Mutual service between boy and boy in patrol or troop, mutual service between boy and man, the Scout Master, Troop Committee Man and others. Mutual service between boys and all adults, as expressed in the oath to help others at all times. Mutual service between man and man, to advance the purpose of scouting. Mutual service between man and boy and the boy.

In a word, The Boy Scouts of America believes in and practices cooperation. I then propose, that we all resolve to do the jobs for which we have volunteered, to the very best of our ability, that we may develop mutual service in Fellisland Council to its highest degree.

EVACUATION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN DISCUSSED

Last Wednesday at the meeting between the parents committees and the Civil Defense staff the main topic of discussion was the problem of evacuation of our school children in an orderly and pre-planned manner.

Evacuation is not a choice but a fact. You can live only if you and your civil defense staff, and your parents organization work together and not in opposite directions.

There was some discussion between some of the parents and our CID staff as to the method that we proposed for an orderly evacuation. In order to make the evacuation successful, of our school children, it appears that each parent must realize that he will not be able to take his own child out of the danger area.

Each child will be taken from his class room by his teacher and guided in an orderly fashion, keeping panic to a minimum, to the waiting transportation corps autos, which will be waiting at the front door of the school, ready to take the children out of a disaster area.

We of civil defense feel that evacuation is entirely necessary, and quite feasible, otherwise we would not even consider it for the town of Winchester. We feel this way because we, as is everybody else are fully aware of the disaster that can be brought upon us by the dropping of one enemy H-bomb on Boston.

Val Peterson, National Civilian Defense Administrator, said, "That to stay in Winchester in the event of an attack on Boston is to die." Therefore, we as the citizens of Winchester must realize our duty and do everything within our power to protect the lives of our loved ones.

Civil Defense workers are not recruited, but are taken from the ranks of volunteers—Do we have any Volunteers? An accurate answer would be yes, we have some. But they are few in number and cannot adequately do the job that is necessary for an orderly evacuation of Winchester.

Don't be a die hard and remain in Winchester in the event of an attack—call Civil Defense now so that we may have the volunteers that are necessary to save their lives as well as yours.

SPECIAL MEETING FOR YOUNG VOTERS

The first meeting this year of the enthusiastic Winchester Young Republicans Club will be held next Monday, February 6th, at 7:45 p. m. This long anticipated meeting will be held at the home of the Political Action Chairman, Blair Hawley. The address is 25 Ledge-wood road.
The guest speaker will be Mr. Elmer Nelson. Mr. Nelson is the Massachusetts State Committee Chairman. In this capacity he is in direct contact with the present politics in our state as well as the total Republican Party outlook for this very important year.
This meeting, as are all other meetings, is not a closed gathering. The present membership of the Club is nearing one hundred. Its present success is directly due to the efforts of the officers and members. All voters of our town are most cordially invited to attend this next meeting, to ask questions, to learn of the program and policy of the Club, to meet other young people of their age (21 years-35 years) and to perhaps take a more active part in their Republican Party.

HOSPITAL FRIENDS

On Thursday evening, February 16th, the Friends of the Winchester Hospital will hold their winter meeting, with Dr. George A. Marks as a guest speaker. The topic is "There a Doctor in the House?" Dr. Marks is on the active staff of the Massachusetts General Hospital, and is Chief of Surgery at the Winchester Hospital. He is a graduate of Harvard Medical School, and received his surgical training at the Massachusetts General Hospital. During World War II he served with the army in the Pacific area, and at one time was Surgical Consultant for New Guinea. At a later period he was Chief of Surgery of the Murphy General Hospital in Waltham.
The meeting will be held in the Parish Hall of the Church of the Epiphany; coffee will be served at 8:00 p. m. Members of the Friends, guests, and all others interested in the hospital are cordially invited to come.

REAR END COLLISION

Early Saturday morning shortly after midnight Officer William T. Hargerty signaled the opening of a Dodge sedan, Joseph Lombardi of 58 Union street, Brighton, to stop as he approached the intersection of High street.
Lombardi's car was proceeding south on Cambridge street and was followed by a Ford sedan, driven by Paul K. Morris of 39 Sherwood street, Roslindale. As Lombardi's car came to a stop in the intersection of Cambridge Church and High streets, it was in collision with the Ford. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

Rotondi "Smitten Down" At Appeal Hearing On Lamborghini's Permit

By Charles Ball

"I feel like an antelope just smitten down by a tiger." These were the words of Eugene B. Rotondi after he heard the arguments of three lawyers who were marshalled against him at a Board of Appeal hearing in the Building Commissioner's office Tuesday evening, February 7.

At issue was an appeal against the granting of a building permit to William J. Lamborghini of Wakefield who has purchased a house lot from Mr. and Mrs. Rotondi on Churchill road.

Neighbors in the area brought the appeal because, according to arguments heard at the hearing, they are no access road to the property. According to arguments expressed through their lawyers, law requires that an access road exist before house construction can begin in a subdivision.

Mr. Rotondi's neighbors further argued that according to a contract in force between Mr. Rotondi and the Planning Board, no land can be sold for house construction until certain public utilities have been laid in the area. They said that Mr. Rotondi should not have sold the land to Mr. Lamborghini until the public utilities had been installed.

The lawyers engaged by Mr. Rotondi's neighbors concluded that the granting of a building permit by the Town to Mr. Lamborghini would multiply the breach of contract in Mr. Rotondi's alleged failure to comply with his agreement with the Planning Board.

Speaking for the Planning Board was Harrison F. Lyman, Jr., secretary for that body. He too said that a building permit should not be granted because the contract approved the so-called "conditional approval agreement" between the Planning Board and Mr. Rotondi.

At the same time, Mr. Lyman explained why the Planning Board had approved the layout of Mr. Rotondi's subdivision in the first place. According to Mr. Lyman, the Board approved the layout because it had been advised by Town Counsel Vincent P. Clarke that approval did not depend upon a court order barring use of the road.

This was the first time that the Planning Board's position has been explained.

Mr. Rotondi said that Mr. Lamborghini should be allowed to build. "He is a fine boy who will be a credit to the community," Mr. Rotondi said.

After hearing arguments, the Board took the appeal under advisement.

About 35 people attended the meeting.

Committee Calls Hearing To Assess Public Views On Rubbish Disposal

Winchester's public will be able to air its views on rubbish and waste disposal at a public hearing to be held Wednesday evening, February 15, at 7:45 in Town Hall.

The Town Engineer and Waste Committee has called the meeting to assess public opinion before reporting to the upcoming Town Meeting.

The growth of Winchester's disposal area makes some kind of action by the Town imperative, according to Lawrence T. Smith, chairman of the committee.

The alternatives to enlarging the present disposal area, according to Mr. Smith, are these:

1. Construction of an incinerator by the Town.
2. Construction of an incinerator by Winchester and some other community.
3. Controlled burning at the present disposal area.
4. An appeal to the General Court to place the disposal of rubbish and waste in the metropolitan Boston area under jurisdiction of the Metropolitan District Commission. Such an alternative would require passage of new legislation by the General Court.

Anticipating a large gathering, Mr. Smith's committee will hold the meeting in Town Hall.

Serving with Mr. Smith on the committee are: Gordon S. Bird, Michael D. Saraco, Robert P. Wild and Clarence A. Roberts, secretary.

RED CROSS CHAIRMAN ANNOUNCED

Precinct chairman for five of the six Winchester precincts were announced today by Stanley W. Osgood, residential chairman for the 1956 Red Cross fun campaign. Each precinct chairman will correlate his own group of captains and solicitors, the volunteer workers who will do the door-to-door campaigning that will cover every home in town. This careful over-all coverage is the result of intensive organizational planning done in the local office and by the various campaign chairmen under the direction of Royce Randlett, Fund Chairman.

Precinct chairmen who will marshal the 1956 volunteer workers, backbone and mainstay of the drive, are:

- Prec. 1 Mrs. John Mucera, 141 Forest street.
- Prec. 2 Wade L. Grindle, 20 Mason street.
- Prec. 3 Rushton Harwood, 30 Ledgewood road.
- Prec. 4A Mrs. Margaret E. Harrigan, 107 Arlington street.

- Prec. 5A George H. Gowdy, 4 Lantern lane.
- Prec. 5B Aram T. Mouradian, 50 Woodside road.

Prec. 6 Announced later.

The campaign is extremely fortunate this year in again having the services of Carl G. Richmond, 4 Grove street, who will serve as campaign treasurer. Colonel Richmond's services in the same capacity last year contributed largely to the ease with which the detailed financial organization was conducted.

METHODIST PASTOR BEGINS NINTH YEAR

This coming Sunday begins the ninth year of the ministry of Rev. John Snook, Jr., at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

The pastor was appointed the first Sunday of February in 1948, although, as many will recall, due to the heavy snow storms many churches had no service that particular Sunday.

As Rev. Snook continues his ministry he expresses his most sincere appreciation to the members and friends of the church and community for the high privilege accorded him and for the wonderful fellowship evidenced.

On behalf of his wife, Phyllis A. and his children, he will take time out this Sunday morning to express his indebtedness to the many friends of the church and community as he preaches on the subject, "In Appreciation."

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

The annual World Day of Prayer will be held on Friday, February 17 at 2:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, with seven churches participating, and the New Hope Baptist Church in charge. The theme is "One Flock, One Shepherd."

The service for 1956 has come from Cook Christian Training School for Indians in Phoenix, Arizona. This is the seventh year of the observance in the United States.

Services begin on the Tonga Island just west of the International Date Line, where Queen Salote leads her subjects in prayer. The purpose of the day is to unite all Christians in a bond of prayer and to make an offering for Christian Missions at home and abroad.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR EDWARD J. O'BRIEN

The funeral of Edward J. O'Brien of 11 Buel place, Woburn, a native of Winchester and former Winchester High School custodian, who died Tuesday, January 31, after a long illness, was held last week Thursday morning from the Lynch-Candillon Funeral Home in Woburn. Requiem high mass was celebrated at St. Charles Church, Woburn, and burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. O'Brien was the son of Bartholomew and Mary Jane (Colin) O'Brien. He was born December 23, 1887, in Winchester, in the family homestead at the corner of Salem and Main streets.

After completing his education in the Winchester schools, Mr. O'Brien went to work for Newman the Florist, whose greenhouses were then located on Central st.

Later he was for over 20 years custodian at the corner of Central st. and Main st. as it was then called, of the old high school building, now the Junior High School.

During his high school days Mr. O'Brien played on the high school basketball team and was also well known in baseball circles as a pitcher for one of the then Winchester nines. He was, however, best known as a basketball player, following his high school career as a member of the old Company G National Guard Team of Woburn that played its games in the Tribble Cordage Building at the corner of Montvale and Prospect st.

While custodian of the high school Mr. O'Brien, familiarly known as "Rouse," played a lot of basketball with the boys of the school, often scrimmaging against the varsity players and being many times referred to as one of the best coaches they had. A withered arm proved no handicap to him in his play against the boys who had good reason to respect his all around ability on the court in the days when bodily contact was not always a foul.

For the past 25 years Mr. O'Brien had lived in Woburn and until his retirement three years ago had been a sheet-metal worker in the North End of Boston in Wakefield.

He leaves three daughters, Mrs. Mary Russell, Miss Dorothy and Miss Margaret O'Brien, all of Winchester; two sons, James of Lowell and Richard O'Brien of Cambridge; a sister, Mrs. Margaret Craven of Woburn; a brother, George O'Brien of Seattle, Washington; and a granddaughter.

THEODORE ELLIOTT FOR SELECTMAN

To the Voters of Winchester:

As a candidate for election as Selectman, it will be my objective, if elected, to maintain Winchester at the same high level of interest and service to the community of Winchester as a member of the School Committee.

I am 35 years old, married and have two children.

After my graduation from Northeastern University Law School, Class of 1948, and admission to the Bar, I have been actively engaged in the practice of law with offices in Winchester and Boston.

I am a World War II Veteran and received a commission while on active duty in France. Since my discharge from the Service, I have been a member of the 9th Infantry Division Reserve and presently I hold the rank of Captain in the Judge Advocate General Corps.

Civil Defense Frogmen From Winchester In Vain Search For Lowell Girl's Body

Three frogmen from Winchester's Civil Defense unit spent six hours in the icy waters of the Concord River trying to recover the body of a five-year-old girl last Sunday, but their efforts were unsuccessful.

The Winchester divers were called to Lowell as police sought to recover the body of five-year-old Marie Meador, who had vanished beneath the ice at 1:45 p.m. Saturday afternoon, February 4. The body of Mrs. Doris Meador, who also vanished beneath the ice as she tried to save her daughter, was recovered two hours after the double tragedy.

Efforts to recover the body of the girl were unsuccessful Saturday afternoon and evening, and Winchester's Civil Defense unit was called Saturday night. At 6 a.m. Sunday morning, the three frogmen entered the ice-bound Concord River clad only in sponge rubber suits.

The Winchester frogmen were Luis Azuola, George Appleton, and Thomas Avallan. Directing their operations was Civil Defense head Theodore Boecker.

Using underwater air tanks, the frogmen searched in the Concord River throughout the morning. They remained under water twenty minutes at a time, and warmed themselves between two large bonfires between dives. Their hands were numb with cold, and they reluctantly left the water only after a firm command by Mr. Boecker.

After the Winchester unit left the river, another group from Leominster continued the search. By Monday afternoon, divers discontinued their operations and notified firefighters from Lowell resorted to grappling.

The area combed by the frogmen extended for a half mile in swift current. They examined debris beneath a Boston & Maine rail bridge, and searched beneath slabs of ice. Throughout their search, the frogmen were linked by ropes to boats anchored in the river.

Louis Azuola, 23, who lives with his wife, the former Mary Jane Miller, at 2 Girard road, first began diving while serving in Europe with the U. S. Air Force. He dives nearly once a week throughout the year in salt and fresh water. He joined the Winchester Civil Defense team last year. He is a student of business administration at Boston College.

Thomas Avallan, 22, is also a Boston College student. He hails from Caracas, Venezuela, where he first learned how to dive.

George Appleton, 24, picked up diving in Bermuda, where his family home is located. He was graduated from Harvard College in 1953 and is now studying chemical engineering at Northeastern. He lives at 9 Governor's avenue with his wife, the former Natalie Peterson of Boston.

About eight Civil Defense, police and fire department units in the north shore area responded to the Lowell Department's call for aid.

The men from Winchester returned to their homes about 4 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

One handicap encountered by the frogmen was an inadequate supply of compressed air. Mr. Boecker spent several hours Saturday evening, and early Sunday morning trying to find a pump with which to fill the air tanks. He finally found a supply at the sportsman's show in Boston.

to provide wholesome, non-profit competition for our teen-agers in the most important years of their development. In 1955 Massachusetts had 31 leagues, this year the number will be nearer 65.

Plans are now being made by the officers of our Winchester League to hold the spring meeting of the Massachusetts Babe Ruth League here on Sunday afternoon, February 19th. Further information will appear in the next issue. Mr. Stanley P. Ziomek, Recreation Commissioner for Amherst, Mass., is State Director for this year.

To provide this desirable program for our Winchester 13, 14 and 15 year old boys, requires considerable planning. Our Park Department have given wonderful cooperation, the financial support of our team and league sponsors, including many individuals is making all this possible. All Winchester people interested in our teen-agers and this program can mail contributions to Rod S. Thomson, Treasurer, 25 Fells road.

STRIPER STUDY

Welcome to Cape fisherman—and to the thousands of others who flock to the Cape in season—is the news that the Massachusetts Fisheries and Game Board, which administers the affairs of the State Division of Fisheries and Game, has approved continuance of the striped bass project for another three years.

The striper project is designed to determine how this sport fishery, which is an important warm weather sport, can be managed to insure its future.

It is a joint program of the State Division of Fisheries and Division of Marine Fisheries and already has been under way for three years. Some 15,000 fishermen have been interviewed in that period, to determine interest in strippers, where the most fishing is done and other data essential to the study.

Financed under the Federal-aid Dingell-Johnson act with funds received from a Federal excise tax on fishing tackle, the results of the study are of interest to any angler who longs to land the "big one."

BRAINTREE GAME AT NIGHT FEBRUARY 21ST

The basketball game with Braintree, originally scheduled for the afternoon of February 21st, will be played at night, since the game comes during the February vacation. This change will delight those who have ordered season tickets and other adults who could not attend an afternoon game. Tickets for this game can be purchased in advance on the night of February 10th when Melrose plays at Winchester or can be reserved by phone order at the high school office, Winchester 6-4300.

Braintree has come up with its usual fine team and promises to give the local five the hardest competition they have met this season. Perennially a tournament entry, Braintree is a real threat to Winchester's unbeaten record. Those who have watched Winchester defeat all comers by comparatively one-sided scores will have an opportunity to see just how good Winchester is when they meet a real challenger.

Following is the list of remaining home games this season:
Friday, February 10, Melrose at Winchester at 7:00 p. m.
Saturday, February 11, Kennett at Winchester at 7:30 p. m. (one game)
Friday, February 17, Concord at Winchester at 7:00 p. m.

YALE AMHERST CHAIRMAN

Stephen L. Yale, an Amherst College Junior from Cambridge, formerly of Winchester, has been named Arrangement Chairman for the 25th annual Embassy being held February 9-10.

The Embassy, designed to give all Amherst undergraduates a chance to discuss religious matters with informed religious leaders and laymen is being coordinated with similar activities at two of Amherst's neighboring institutions.

Smith College the University of Massachusetts, and Amherst have scheduled a number of talks by Canon Bryan Breen of Birmingham Cathedral, England, a prominent evangelist. The religious discussions at Amherst will be tied in with Canon Green's general theme, "Religion and the Modern Mind."

Seventeen other noted church leaders have been invited to conduct the five-day program and will lead evening discussion groups in each fraternity and dormitory.

Yale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius P. Yale of 100 Memorial drive in Cambridge, and a graduate of Winchester High School. He is a member of the Theta Delta Chi social fraternity at Amherst, also.

WINCHESTER, 70; READING, 47

Winchester won its return game with Reading in the Middlesex League series Tuesday afternoon, 70-47, in the high school gymnasium. The local seconds won the preliminary game, 80-63.

Winchester controlled the boards at both ends of the court and gradually pulled away from a stubborn Reading team that tried as in its first game to keep the score down by holding the ball. The first quarter was close, but Winchester had the edge in the second quarter used an all court press to build up a 28-15 lead at the half.

Reading's zone was very ineffective the second half and when the visitors did come out into a man-to-man defense it was too late. Joe Bellino led both teams in scoring with 26 points, shooting 11 out of 15 for an average of 73 percent.

McGillicuddy, Reading's star forward, proved a fine performer, leading his team with 17 points. Some great guarding by Mike Callahan limited him to only two baskets in the first half, and it wasn't until the final quarter that he commenced to drop them in. The summary:

FROSH WON THRILLER

Winchester's freshman basketball team won a real thriller in the Reading freshmen Monday afternoon in the local gymnasium, 34-32. It was Winchester's 11th straight win.

Baskets by Dave Schumacher and Dougie Thomson in the last two minutes of play pulled the paposes up to a 32-29 tie as the final gun barked. Neither team could score in a regular three minute overtime and a sudden death period began.

After a tense two minutes Horton of Reading missed a hook and Slater Martin grabbed off the rebound. Taking the ball up court, the Winchester boys passed the ball around until Thomson fed Kiley a pass and "Hank" sank the winning basket from 25 feet out. The summary:

BADMINTON GETS UNDERWAY

The Badminton season in Winchester finally started last night in the Junior High School Gym with a fine turnout of enthusiastic members of the Badminton Club.

The newly renovated gym added to the enjoyment of the game and compensated somewhat for the late start this year.

The Governing Council of the Winchester Badminton Club extends an invitation to new residents of the town to come out and try the game—they are guests of the club the first night.

And to all residents of Winchester who find the winter inactivity monotonous and dull, this is a healthy and fine exercise.

The schedule for Badminton is every Tuesday and Thursday evenings in the Junior High School Gym from 7:30 p. m. to 11:00 p. m. All that is needed are gym shoes or sneakers, racquets can be rented. Winchester played another match at Needham on Tuesday with Needham the victor, six to two. The scores:

INDIANS ICE SALEM

Quick goals by Callahan and Cussen in the first period were enough to give Winchester a North Shore League hockey win over Salem High last Saturday at the Lynn Arena. The Indians went on to win, 5-1, with the first and second lines used only sparingly. The first line skated only a minute during the whole last quarter.

Despite Winchester's two goals, Salem made a game of it in the first period and until after its 18 second goal at the beginning of the second stanza. After that tally it was all Winchester, the Indians looking very sharp after their game with Exeter and scrimmages with Swampscott and B. C. High.

Only one good goaltending by Salem's Carron kept the local score in bounds, the Salem goalier having 30 saves to Boyle's 12.

S. O. I. BOWLING LEAGUE SHOTS

S.O.I. BOWLING LEAGUE

We just went by the three quarter pole and we are entering the last quarter of the season. As was predicted by your reporter Georgetown is now perched on top as California starts to flounder around.

Team Standings:
Georgetown	20-8
California	19-9
Boston College	11-17
Notre Dame	13-15
St. Mary's	12-16
Holy Cross	12-16
Alabama	11-17
Bates	8-20
Hi-Single:
Richard Bucci, California	150
Hi-Triple:
Joe Berardi Georgetown	384
Top Five Bowlers:
Joe Berardi	103.1
Richard Bucci	102.
Frank Gangi	98.4
Jeff Gaudioso	96.9
A. P. Tofuri	96.4

Richard Bucci whose picture appears elsewhere held the high triple with 366 and his single with 150 it was short lived as a new-comer in our ranks this year, Joe Berardi, broke it wide open with a 384 pinfall this evening. He is also one of the main reasons why Georgetown today sits on the top of the heap.

Berardi also led the 300 circle this week with his brilliant bowling and runners-up in this department are "Musky" Tofuri, 336; "Choppers" Gangi, 332; Joe Riga, 310; Tony Saracco, 308; and Nicky Molea, with a perfect 300.

Georgetown also had the distinct honor of taking the high team single with 506 twice and also the high triple with 1,509 which is some red hot bowling.

Although they only took three points with their splendid bowling they should have taken four, because, not realizing it, one of their star bowlers left right after he finished bowling for the night.

Lo and behold "Mighty Mouse" Tony Saracco of St. Mary's whom they were bowling, put on a one man last ditch stand to tie the score 497 all which called for a two box roll off. In the roll off Georgetown was forced to take 15 dummy score for their missing man and were forced to relinquish 1 point because of this situation.

This team that is displaying this tremendous drive at the head of the stretch is captained as you all know by the "kangaroo kid" Jeff Gaudioso and the young vibrant mares are Nick Molea, Joe Berardi, Richard Riga, Leroy Penta, who just returned from a goodwill tour of Canada; and Peter Lonigro whose recent injury forced him to cancel his long dreamed-of jaunt to the warm sands of Havana.

The high string of the night was bowled by Joe Berardi, 147, and the low of the night was "Whom," the famous back pocket bowler, Sam Bellino with a 66.

The afternoon sestas have been very helpful for M. D. Saracco as he came up with a 115 string this evening and even "Rocky" DiTesso "rocked and rolled" a 95 string. We are sorry to say that "Hokie" is still suffering from amnesia for he still insists he bowled one box the previous week, when he bowled two. Naturally he didn't bowl and will not bowl until this veil of forgetfulness has passed away. We want to publicly thank those who have contributed to defray his expenses.

Where was the "El Producto Boy" who is now a freshman team player? And who was the bowler on Georgetown's team that left his team stranded in their hour of need? Where did he go? Why must he be kept incognito? The winner of this week's award went to one of the few eligible bachelors, Tony Penta! See you next week.

WINCHESTER, 36; MELROSE, 31TRACK AT MELROSE

Winchester's informal indoor track team traveled to Melrose recently, to duel the Red Raiders on their outdoor board track.

The local runners training in school corridors and around the gym had very little conditioning for the meet.

Bob Kugler won the opening event, the 45 yard hurdles, and Winchester's star sprinter George Bodman posted the best time run on the Melrose track this year as he won the 50 in 5.7's. Herb Gardner won the 300 in 39.3.

The 600 proved to be a real battle between Harry Ekstrom and Danton of Melrose with Harry taking top honors by a fine closing sprint on the gun lap. The 1000 saw Ozzie Osborne leading the pack for most of the race but a real power finish by Roy Smith gave the first spot to the Melrose runner.

Paul Franson ran a beautifully paced mile to win his event handily. The field events resulted in a win in the high jump by default as Melrose had no entries. Kanel and Alley of Melrose took first and second in the shot with Frank Dattilo, third.

As the last event came up the score was tied and the result hung on the relay. Bill Mock led off and managed to stay nearly even with Melrose's best runner Tom Jackson. Ken Brown opened up a slight lead on the second leg which Ozzie Osborne improved on, and Herb Gardner sewed up the victory as he sprinted to the tape for the victory.

WINCHESTER IN STATE MEET

Saturday, January 28, Winchester competed in the State Track Meet at the Boston Garden taking fourth place in the field of 24 schools with 119.14 points.

The Indians placed in every event expect the hurdles, dash, and relay. Winchester had a winner in only one event, as Bill Mock was part of a seven-way tie for first place in the high jump at 5'6". The Indians got a tough break in the dash when favored George Bodman's knee, injured during the football season, gave way in the semi-finals forcing him out. This loss also hurt the relay team as George's speed was a strong factor.

Herb Gardner won his heat in the 300 and placed 5th in the finals to pick up a point. Frank Dattilo took third in the shot with a toss of 43' 5 1/2". Two pleasant surprises came with the performances of Ken Brown in the 1000 and Harry Ekstrom in the 600.

Ken ran in the second heat and after a rather rocky start fought out of the pack and took over the lead and finished with a rush in the time of 2:33 which was good for 4th place. Steve Paranya, the winner was clocked in 2:28.5.

Harry Ekstrom was placed in the second heat with Gilmore of Drury and Quinn of Jamaica Plain, two fine runners with a wealth of running experience.

These two men jumped off to an early lead and Harry was left the ruck. He had trouble with the corners on the first laps but gradually began to move up and in a fine sprint to the tape tied Herhly of Concord for fourth place. The time of the heat established a new record.

Paul Franson added the last points for the Red and Black as he took 4th in the mile in the heat that also found a record breaking performance as Don Luisi of Rockland clocked a 4:27.5.

The relay team placed second in their heat which was won by Concord. The local team, without Bodman, managed to clock a 2:40, which was only 5/10 of a second away from the time of the 3rd place team. The Winchester runners were Mock, Brown, Ekstrom, and Gardner.

INDIANS SCALPED STONEHAM

Winchester High's crack basketball team rolled over Stoneham last Friday night at Stoneham, winning the Middlesex League game between the two schools, 98-17.

Coach Phillips tried hard to keep the score respectable, using his seconds much of the time. The varsity while it was in there looked good, working as a unit and showing improved speed, something that had been missing in the last few games.

Bellino led both teams in a scoring with 23 points, 10 floor goals and three foul baskets. Callahan and Smith each had 16.

With Bergquist hitting for 18 points, the Winchester second beat the Stoneham seconds by 10 points, 52-42. The varsity summary follows:

INDIANS EDGED EXETER

With only six seconds remaining in a hotly contested and well played game, Joe Cussen took a pass from Callahan to score the goal that gave Winchester a 4-3 hockey victory over Exeter Academy on the Exeter rink Wednesday, February 1.

The win was Winchester's second over Exeter in consecutive years and was especially sweet because the Academy boys outshot the Indians 55-18. Only some effective goal tending by Boyle in the Winchester nets held Exeter in check, especially in the third period when the Indians tired badly.

The game was the first of the year in which the local boys played 15 minute periods, and after what would have been a normal game for high school competition the Indians were sub-par physically.

Winchester had a man in the penalty box at 9:32 of the opening period when Thurston scored the game's opening goal for Exeter on a pass from Rient. Callahan evened the count at 1:13 of the second period on a pass-out by Zirkel, only to have Cook side one from the blue line to keep Exeter in front.

Skating and passing well, Winchester had several sorties into Exeter territory broken up in the second period by the well-placed Exeter defense. Finally at 11:24 Callahan slapped in a back-hander and less than two minutes later took a pass from Zirkel down close and went in alone to put Winchester ahead, 3-2.

With less than a minute remaining Exeter again caught Winchester short-handed and Thurston poked in the equalizer on a pass from Campbell.

The Academy boys had all the better of the final period, making repeated sorties deep into Winchester territory, only to miss what looked like easy scoring chances or have Boyle turn their shots aside.

The clock showed only six minutes left when Winchester worked another pretty pivot play, with Callahan passing to Cussen for the big tally.

Winchester was very well received by the Exonians and enjoyed a swim in the Academy pool after the game. Dinner at a local restaurant wound up a great day. The summary:

BASKETBALL AVERAGES TELL STORY

Averages for the first ten games this season show conclusively why Winchester is considered by many experts not only one of the best basketball teams in Greater Boston but among the very best schoolboy teams in the State.

Winchester scored an amazing 791 points in its first ten games, or slightly more than 79 points a game. The Indians have made good on 46 percent of their field goal attempts and have sunk 61 percent of their free tries, equally outstanding performances. Individual scoring records follow:

THE FORTNIGHTLY

LITERATURE COMMITTEE

A meeting of the Literature Committee of the Fortnightly was held at the Public Library Monday, February 6, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Frank S. Evans gave a very comprehensive account of the life and books of the controversial William Faulkner. Until "A Fable" appeared, his reputation was based on his morbid sagas of the South, stories with themes of decadence and degeneracy, earning him the title of "our greatest literary sadist." This intense interest in all the worst aspects of life and abnormality cause revulsion, horror, and extremes of emotion in the reader. His peculiarities of style, avoidance of names, obscure and involved sentences often of great length, also baffle and alienate many readers. His work emphasizing futility and despair is quite at variance with the words of his speech, accepting the Nobel Prize in 1950, that "it is a writer's duty . . . to help man endure by lifting his heart." Mrs. Evans read a review explaining the symbolism in "A Fable" and its pattern which parallels the life of Jesus. Mr. Faulkner's place in American letters is yet to be determined.

Miss Gertrude A. Kimball reviewed Taylor Caldwell's latest novel, "Tender Victory," which tells of a young minister's problems in an industrial town. She gave a brief account of Miss Caldwell's life.

Mrs. Blanche S. Barnard commented on "A Family of Two Worlds" by the popular author, Ann Bridge. This is a loving tribute to the memory of her American mother, a descendant of a Southern branch of the notable Day family. The dramatic events of her mother's life on both sides of the Atlantic afford an authentic picture of wealthy living in the nineteenth century. Pleasing family portraits illustrated the text and add to this tender, delightful, and exceptionally satisfactory biography.

THREE WINCHESTER STORES SERVE AS CASE STUDY IN MAINTAIN REFRESHER COURSE

Three Winchester stores were under the microscope of a group studying problems of retail store lay-out last Friday afternoon, February 3.

Converse Market, McCormack's Apothecary, and the Winchester Star were toured by a group of 16 students and 16 teachers concerned with the profitable arrangement of retail counters and shelves. The tour was part of a refresher course in store engineering given by Maintain Store Engineering Service, Inc., of Woburn, to representatives of five store fixture companies.

The stores visited by the group have recently modernized their interiors with equipment from Maintain. The remodeling jobs engineered by Maintain for these stores were designed (1) to draw in more new customers and keep them coming, (2) to build more sales through self-service, and (3) to cut down work, overhead, and costs.

Engineering based on these principles has been pioneered by Maintain and is rapidly becoming the accepted "last word" in retail store lay-out.

The refresher course given by Maintain last weekend extended from February 3 through February 5. In addition to tours through stores, those attending the course participated in discussion groups, heard talks, and exchanged views in informal sessions.

EDITORIALS

There seems to be a great deal of interest in getting Winchester's admittedly fine high school Class B basketball team to ask to play in Class A of the coming State Tournament.

Why? The reason most often heard is that the State basketball authorities believe Winchester is the best schoolboy team in the state and as such want the Indians to represent Massachusetts in the New England tournament. The winner of the Class A title in the State meet is automatically chosen for this honor.

If this is the real reason and the authorities do not simply want to see how Winchester will do against the bigger teams, with a view perhaps of moving the Indians up into the A bracket permanently, why can they not have the Class A winner play the Class B winner in a post-tourney game at the Garden.

Why should Winchester abandon its chances for another Class B championship for the outside chance of winning the A crown. Many good judges of basketball including coaches of A teams against which Winchester has scrimmaged, believe the Indians can go against the biggest high school teams and do well.

That is very possible, but it is also pure conjecture. It could just as easily turn out that Winchester, after an entire season of B competition, might not do as well as it is believed against a good Class A team on its first night of championship competition. And if the Indians should lose their first round A match, they will be out of the tournament, shorn of both A and B honors. Nothing has been proven except the old saw that it is risky to go out of your class.

It is the Star's opinion, admittedly not expert, that the possibility of winning, or doing well in the A Division of the tournament isn't worth the risk Winchester will run of losing the opportunity to be the first B team to win its division title three years in a row.

If the Indians petition to play in Class A in the tournament, they will be the first team to do so. This sporting chance will make a definite appeal to the boys themselves and to the long-shot type of fan, who will be the first to forget all about Winchester's fine season's record if it loses in the first round of the A Division play.

Winchester, on what it has shown to date, will be heavily favored to win the B title for the third successive year and Winchester is a B team.

The Star doesn't know enough about schoolboy basketball to take a definite position on Winchester's playing A ball in the State tournament. It would, of course, be great to win that A crown, and perhaps the outside chance of doing so is worth the gamble. If Winchester wants to take that gamble, well and good, but it should do so with the clear understanding of what it is laying on the line. A loss in Class A doesn't mean the Indians still are not the best of the Class B teams. The trouble is, no one will know it!

Sunday, February 12, is Lincoln's Birthday. On that day 147 years ago was born the man, who probably more than any other, is responsible for our being the great nation that we are.

What were the attributes of this great man? Faith, courage, both physical and moral; honesty in public and private life, industry, a thirst for knowledge, tolerance, the capacity to sympathize with the stricken and rejoice with the glad, and finally, that humbleness of spirit which is the hall mark of the truly great.

How many of these attributes do we find, or even ask for, in our present day leaders. What, or whom, would any nation possessing them have to fear.

How would Lincoln face up to present day living? Would he condone expediency for right, would he sacrifice conviction to pressure? Would he accept the restriction of law for others, but not for himself? Would he subscribe to the theory that government hand-outs should replace personal industry and thrift?

How would Lincoln react to the automobile? Would he drop his coin in the traffic meter if he were going to be away from his car for only a few minutes and no policeman was in sight; would he try to fix a "ticket," or the loss of his license for violation of the motor vehicle laws?

How would he explain the law to his children? Would he encourage them, by his own example, to believe it is smart to break the law, or some laws, as long as you are not caught, and would he appeal to his friends in high places to get his youngster off when they were not so fortunate?

We all know what he would have done! He was "Honest Abe!"

He feared no man because he wore the armor of personal integrity and brotherly love. Truth was his buckler and righteousness his sword! How would Abraham Lincoln, were he alive today, appraise the nation he gave his life to preserve? The virtues that made him great are no less virtues now, no less fundamental to the public weal.

We can all ponder Abraham Lincoln to our profit. As we pause to think of the "Great Emancipator" on his natal day we might ask ourselves whether we still set any great store by the things he thought essential!

Well, the votes are all in and the Russians have spread-eagled the winter sports field at the Olympic Games in Italy, even beating the Canadian and United States hockey teams on the way to their impressive victory. A big factor in the Russian success has apparently been the superb condition of the Soviet athletes. We wonder if the Russian youngsters ride in automobiles to the practice sessions of their school teams, as we saw our own high school boys arriving for football practice last fall. Sturdy legs and endurance are not built on the seats of automobiles, and one schoolboy coach of our acquaintance expressed the fervent wish that no boy or girl could have a license to drive until 18 years old. By that time, he said, they will be, for the most part, out of high school and will have formed much better walking habits than they now do when so many high school kids have their own cars at 16.

LIKES THEATRE PROJECT

Editor of the Star:

I am very pleased to know that a Theatre Project such as the one outlined by Mrs. Samoiloff is about to become a reality here in Winchester. I believe directed theatre experiences would be most valuable to my children because it would not only be fun, but would help them to gain poise while giving them a healthful outlet for self-expression. Then, too, they would learn a lot from group cooperation and effort while realizing that, in such a group, they are individually important. Imagine the satisfaction they could derive from helping to plan and work on a production, watch it develop and see it become a success—which, I think, it most certainly can be.

I am enthusiastic about the idea and feel this type of project has a place in Winchester.

GOOD-BYE OLD WADLEIGH

When Principal Raymond Dickman led his young charges into the beautiful and newly-renovated junior high school building last week, he wrote fits to the long career of the Wadleigh as a schoolhouse. Built more than fifty years ago, the Wadleigh School served the town well. After the junior high school on Main street was completed in 1932, the Wadleigh was abandoned, apparently for good. Within a few years, however, the increased enrollment of the high school forced the reopening of the Wadleigh as a freshman building.

Last fall the junior high moved into Wadleigh temporarily, until its facilities were completed. For four months the seventh and eighth graders and their teachers cheerfully accepted the discomforts of the old schoolhouse, but no tears were shed when they left the school for the last time.

One seventh grader, Terry Collins, was moved to indite a poem, appropriately entitled, "Old Wadleigh." Her classmates and teachers enjoyed it, and here it is.

OLD WADLEIGH

The Wadleigh is a fine old school; The children learn the Golden Rule; When it rains it's a swimming pool For that's the Wadleigh—good old school.

My grandfather knew it as it was then; Now the teachers look at it and grin; When you walk down the hall it grumbles and groans; You'd better watch out or you'll break some bones.

The walls are crinkled, crumbled and cracked; So, brother, watch out or you'll get whacked. For that's the Wadleigh, the good old school.

Now we are leaving the good old place, And going to one with a brand-new face; Are we glad? you can bet; In the new school we won't worry or fret. For it's the best one around here yet!

COUNTY SALES EXCEED BILLION

Retail sales in 1954 of 9,923 stores in Middlesex County totaled $1,109,006,000.00, according to preliminary 1954 Census of Business figures announced by the Bureau of Census, Department of Commerce. This was an increase of 44.2 percent over sales in 1948 of 9,740 stores at $768,902,000.00. Stores with payroll in 1954 numbered 6,756, had 48,917 employees in November 1954, reported payroll of $129,503,000.00 and accounted for sales of $1,044,778,000.00. INDIANS IN EXHIBITION MATCH

The Winchester High School hockey team has been invited to participate in a special exhibition game against Norwood High School. The time is 7:30 p.m., next Monday, February 13, at the Lynn Arena.

Norwood is currently in first place in the Bay State League. This will give Winchester fans a chance to watch their club against the top competition from another league. This will be the first game of a special two game program.

REPUBLICAN CONTROL IN BALANCE YGOPERS TOLD BY NELSON

If Republicans lose control of Massachusetts state government in 1956, it may be 100 years before they regain control, Elmer Nelson, GOP state chairman told a Young Republican Club meeting in Winchester Monday evening, February 6.

Speaking before 50 young Republicans gathered at the home of Blair Hawley at 25 Ledgebrook road, Mr. Nelson said that—if Democrats win control of the state senate and house, they will redistrict the state in such a way as to make a GOP return to control impossible.

"And Democrats have to pick up only three senate seats to affect their redistricting plan," Mr. Nelson said.

The session following the 1956 election will be required by law to redistrict the state. This is the first time in 100 years Democrats have come close to holding control in a year in which redistricting is required.

The dangerous area for Republicans is Middlesex County where Democrats have been gathering strength in recent years. An active and viril effort is required of town GOP committees in the county if Republicans want to count on continued control of state government.

Blair Hawley has been assigned the full time job of building town committees for the state GOP committee. His first target area is Middlesex County.

In outlining a plan of attack, Mr. Nelson said that Republicans must reach the independent voter and draw him into GOP organizations. Inactive Republicans must also be organized. Finally, the basis of GOP membership must be extended to include people who are not interested in politics, according to Mr. Nelson.

The speaker also pointed out that organizations such as the Winchester Young Republican Club must be built to open an avenue to politics for young voters interested in government.

NOONAN SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION FASHION SHOW

The evening of February 6th, was notable outside mostly for a snow and sleet storm which made driving difficult, but inside, the stage of the Noonan School Auditorium; due to the magic of Mrs. Hattie Brown, custodian was a bright sunny patio, an entrancing setting for the "Fashions with a Future" Show by Mrs. Ruth Pope from the House of Fashion, 38 Church street.

After a brief business meeting presided over by Mrs. Paul Avakian, Mrs. Douglas Martell introduced Mrs. Pope.

Mrs. Edward Brown, Mrs. John Kinton, and Mrs. William Thomas modeled both dressy and casual outfits as Mrs. Pope made apt comments on the style, fabric, and accessories of each costume.

Background music was supplied by Mrs. Bernard McGuerty at the piano.

Delicious and different refreshments were served by members of the social committee under the able guidance of Mrs. Pasquale Colella. To end the pleasant evening, the attendance prize, the lovely floral centerpiece, was won by Mrs. Emilio DelRossi.

UNITARIAN YOUNG PEOPLE

This Sunday the Unitarian Church will play host to the All-Faith Youth Week Rally conducted by all the young people's groups in Winchester. As part of the program a thirty-minute film will be shown. This meeting starts at 7:00 p. m. but Metcalf Union members should be there early to take care of last minute details.

A Special Notice: The date for the "Real George Dances" to be held at the Unitarian Church, has been changed again, and it will take place on Monday, February 20, 1956.

Also, next Wednesday, February 15th, the first of the early morning Lenten Services will be held at our church at 7:45 a. m. These meetings will continue every Wednesday for the six weeks of Lent.

Niles Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nelson of Water street, was at home last week for his mid-year vacation at University of Maine. Niles, a graduate of Winchester High School, is on the Dean's list and played on the Maine freshman eleven last fall.

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC HAVEN FOR PARAKEET

Sometimes a pet parakeet makes a break for freedom, soars skyward through an open window, meets up with a lot of low-brow starlings, and finally finds that the earth-bound abodes of human beings aren't so bad after all.

This doesn't happen often, especially in a city. But a parakeet that landed unannounced on the headquarters of a bird-conscious National Geographic Society brought direct evidence recently that it does happen.

Magazine indexers on the building's top floor spotted a bird—yellow head, chartreuse breast, blue tail—flapping its wings on an outside rail. One woman stepped forth and wheeled it onto her hand.

From that moment on, the ladies of the index department discovered that a lonely parakeet has some winsome ways of influencing people—"kissing" for instance. They also learned that the owner of a banded bird can be more elusive than a lost parakeet.

The retrieved parakeet, a young male, was banded with the designation 54-52 50M315. National Geographic staffers thus thought they would have no trouble locating the owner. They telephoned the zoo, pet shops and radio stations, placed advertisements in newspapers—to no avail.

Meantime, the nameless parakeet—at first a little aloof—warmed up to its hosts. It flew about the room, alighting on lamps and bookcases. Atop the head of the woman who rescued it, the winged foundling ate crackers. Crumbs flicked in all directions.

Sometimes it hopped on her finger. Held near her face, it gently pecked her lips.

The parakeet wasn't above teasing its new friends, or so it seemed to Miss Dorothy Corson, who first saw the bird. "It made a game out of entering a cage improvised for it," she said. "We tried to coax it in on a stick but it would fit off as it approached the cage door."

Once inside, however, it became entranced by its own image, preening and prancing before two mirrors. On a perch it struck a clown-like pose with one claw clamped behind its head.

One of the Society's naturalists speculated that the bird escaped from a pet shop and soon "fell among" starlings. While consorting with these avian racials, it learned to tweet like a starling, as parakeets often do when associating with other species. At the Geographic it seldom squawked in true parakeet fashion, let alone "talk" like some of the better bred parakeets—just tweet! tweet! chirp! chirp! chirp!

The only birds officially housed at the National Geographic Society headquarters are flamboyantly hued stuffed specimens on display in Explorers Hall. The much-alive parakeet was never considered for such an honor although its colors rivaled some of the exhibits. The magazine indexers finally decided to give it to a bird fancier in Winchester, Va.

The parakeet incident caused a monetary flutter of excitement on the top floor of the National Geographic building, but it brought no such disruption of operations as occurred two years ago. At that time a pair of pigeons found their way through a ventilator into a map making machine which helps prepare the Society's 10 million maps a year. The machine was chipped off until twin nestlings were hatched.

"When a bird comes to see us, the only thing we can do is to treat it courteously," said Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, then president of the Society.

That dictum still holds true—for parakeets as well as pigeons.

A HANDFUL OF PEBBLES

One night long ago, three horsemen were traveling across a desert. As they were crossing a dry river-bed, out of the darkness a voice called "Halt!" They obeyed. The voice told them to dismount, pick up a handful of pebbles, and remount. Then the voice said, "You have done as I commanded. Tomorrow at sunrise you will be both glad and sorry." Mystified, the horsemen rode on their way.

When the sun rose, they reached into their pockets and found that a miracle had happened. The pebbles had been transformed into diamonds, rubies and other precious jewels. They remembered what the voice had said and understood why they felt both glad and sorry—glad that they had taken some, and sorry they hadn't taken more.

Geographic Oddities and Briefs
Iceland's capital, Reykjavik, is 1,700 miles closer to the North Pole than is New York City, says the National Geographic Society. Yet Reykjavik has an average January temperature only one degree lower than that of the United States metropolis, thanks to the warming influence of the Gulf Stream. If Rockefeller Plaza were moved to Reykjavik, its skating rink would still require artificial freezing.

The greatest of Tibetan celebrations, the New Year Festival, falls not on January 1, but usually in February or March, says the National Geographic Society. Thousands of red-robed monks stream into Lhasa, the holy city, for the occasion. The sound of prayers, drums and cymbals echoes night and day. Residents don their new silks and brocades. Officials, nobles, peasants and tradesmen pray, dance and sing.

Ancient Egyptians, whose embalming secrets have long been lost, are thought to have used honey as a principal ingredient in their embalming fluid.

Mouselike short-tailed shrews, abundant in the eastern United States, eat two to three times their own weight in a day. With blind ferocity, they often attack larger and more powerful mice. With foresight to winter they store away living snails and occasional disabled beetles, the National Geographic Society says.

English monarchs with an eye to masts for the Royal Navy, customarily reserved rights to certain types and sizes of trees in their charters to the American colonies, the National Geographic Society says.

Fishermen along the coast of Brazil go to sea on peacock-log rafts called jaguadas, says the National Geographic Society. Centerboard, sail and steering gear complete the craft's primitive design.

Winnipeg, capital of Manitoba, claims Canada's largest bonspiel, or curling meet. In the sport of curling, players slide heavy stones across an ice-flooded arena, somewhat after the manner of bowling. Team members with brooms frantically sweep ice in the stone's path, thus affecting its speed and direction.

The easiest way to file is to use the simple Form 1040A. It's a card the size of a check, which anyone can fill out if he is able to write his name and address and a few other simple facts. You just send it in with your withholding slips and the government takes care of the rest. If you owe more tax than was withheld you will get a bill for the difference. If more was withheld than you owe, you will get a refund check.

The tax rules permit you to use the card form to report gross income consisted only of wages, dividends or interest totaling less than $5,000, and if you did not have more than $100 of gross income apart from that listed on your W-2 withholding slips.

Step, Look, Listen
Before deciding to use the card Form 1040A, you should consider these facts:

1. Your tax will be figured from a table which allows you a deduction of about 10% of your income instead of itemized deductions for contributions, taxes, interest, medical and dental expenses, etc.

2. There is no provision in this form for filing as the "head of a household," as a "surviving spouse," or for claiming special credits for dividends and retirement income.

If you are sure that these two points won't cost you any tax savings, and your income is within the limits for filing a Form 1040A, you might as well use this simple card form.

If you decide to use the regular Form 1040, you still have the choice of itemizing your deductions or using a standard deduction which generally amounts to about 10% of your income.

You are likely to save by itemizing your deductions if you:

1. Own real estate.

2. Had unusual medical expense.

3. Had deductible child-care expense.

4. Suffered losses from fire, storm, accident, or theft.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 2
Save Money with the Right Form

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants and the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

The government provides two forms for individual income tax returns. If you choose the wrong one, you may automatically cut yourself off from many possible tax savings.

The easiest way to file is to use the simple Form 1040A. It's a card the size of a check, which anyone can fill out if he is able to write his name and address and a few other simple facts. You just send it in with your withholding slips and the government takes care of the rest. If you owe more tax than was withheld you will get a bill for the difference. If more was withheld than you owe, you will get a refund check.

The tax rules permit you to use the card form to report gross income consisted only of wages, dividends or interest totaling less than $5,000, and if you did not have more than $100 of gross income apart from that listed on your W-2 withholding slips.

Step, Look, Listen
Before deciding to use the card Form 1040A, you should consider these facts:

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

The February meeting of the Winchester Art Association was held on Tuesday evening, February 7th, in the Library Gallery. After dinner coffee was served by Mrs. Richard Frazier assisted by Mrs. Herman Shane and Mrs. Samuel Kirkwood.

A record number of members came to see the well-known artist, Mr. Stanley Woodward, demonstrate a marine painting and to see his beautiful pictures on exhibit. Mr. Woodward, who studied at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and also in Pennsylvania has received many awards. He is a writer and an etcher but is best known as a marine painter and a teacher in Rockport, where he now resides. The audience was held in wrapt attention while the artist used masterful strokes to block in his painting. Amusing and informing comments accompanied the work and kept the interest at high level. As a finale, Mr. Woodward closed by reading an original poem which revealed his deep love and appreciation of the majesty and beauty of the sea.

The exhibition, which continues through February, contains magnificent marine paintings in oils and water colors and also New England farm scenes and charming houses.

WINCHESTER YOUTH RALLY

The Winchester Youth Council will hold its rally Sunday evening, February 12, at 7:00 o'clock at the Unitarian Church. All youth from the Protestant churches will participate.

Representatives from the separate church youth groups will have specific parts in the program. The main feature of the evening will be a very informative film entitled, "In the Face of Jeopardy." This film is credited by many people and should be an interesting topic for all.

Refreshments, fellowship, and inspiration will compose the program, providing an enjoyable evening for all who plan to attend. Members of the Youth Council are in charge of the rally under the leadership of its president, Judy Fowler, and advisor Miss Edith M. Smith.

TOASTMISTRESS CLUB

Members of the Winchester Toastmistress Club attended a meeting, on February 7, of Council 5 of the Northeast Region of the International Toastmistress Clubs, at Hotel Statler, Miss Orrie Grant of 6 Rangeley Ridge, Winchester, Council Chairman, presided at the meeting; and Mrs. Margaret Cannon, International Secretary, and Miss Mary Kerber, Regional Supervisor, both of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, were speakers on the program. One of the interesting features of the evening was a Workshop with Miss Hilda G. Hope, of 37 Glen Green, Winchester, as moderator. The theme of the Workshop, "Planning a Convention," was particularly timely since the International Toastmistress Clubs convention will be held in Boston during July, this year, at the Hotel Statler. Mrs. Lila Baker spoke in detail of all the plans which have been made so far toward the convention.

The next regular meeting of the Winchester Toastmistress Club, February 14, will be held at the home of the Vice-President, Mrs. Anne Pyne, 5 Blaisdell Road, Medford. The program will be devoted to the preliminary speech contest in which all members who have been in the organization for a period of six months, or more, are eligible to participate. The speakers who will try out this week are Mrs. Bernice Lankhorst, 132 Forest street, Medford; Mrs. Florence Thurston, 53 Wellington road, Medford; Miss Mae McDonough, 5 Sagamore street, Dorchester; Mrs. Beatrice Elliott, 54 Mystic street, Medford; and Miss Madeline Farmer, 81 Forest street, Winchester. A tape recording will be made of all the speeches, which will then be played back and evaluations made.

MRS. RUSSELL CHAIRMAN

Mrs. Harlow Russell of Norwood street is program chairman for the discussion at the open meeting of the North Suburban District Meeting of the Episcopal Church at St. James Church, Cambridge, on Tuesday evening, February 14.

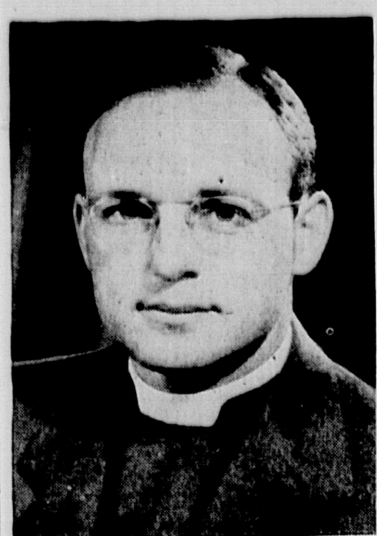

Supper, with reservations, will be served at 6:30 and the meeting will follow at 8. Rev. Thomas Fletchering with prayer and Rev. John W. Ellison, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, will give the meditations.

The discussion subject will be "The Parish Family" which will be summarized by Mr. Ellison and Miss Ina Greer, social worker for the Diocese. All Epiphany women are invited to attend.

HANDY TO INSTRUCT AT NORTHEASTERN

Gardner W. Handy, assistant principal and teacher of seventh grade mathematics in the Winchester Junior High School, will conduct a course in the teaching of elementary arithmetic in the graduate division of the College of Education at Northeastern University this semester. Meetings are held on Saturdays from 11 to 1.

During the course special emphasis will be placed on a meaningful approach to the content, methods and materials in teaching arithmetic in the first six grades. Mr. Handy's students will develop programs directly related to their own classroom instruction as a practical basis for critical analysis and discussion.

REV. JOHN ROBERTSON

FORUM SPEAKER

Rev. John Prescott Robertson, speaker at the Senior Forum on Sunday, February 12, comes as a very close friend of Forum since he served as its Director during the years that he was Assistant Minister of the First Congregational Church. He has chosen as his topic, "Truth in an Era of Deception." Mr. Robertson left Winchester to take the pastorate of the Brainree Congregational Church which has shown great expansion under his leadership. He has continued his interest in the high school age group and has been on the staff of various church summer conferences for youth.

The chaplain will be Doug Barnard, assisted by Bradley Ross. The deacons will be Bill Mock and Bob Ware; and ushering will be Bill Emerson and Lin Handford.

Forum's activity is now largely centered on the annual International Week-end which takes place on February 25 and 26, plans for which are progressing rapidly under the chairmanship of Carol Ashenden and Dick Thompson, with the very valuable assistance of Mrs. Hazen H. Ayer Advisor.

Forum members will join the young people of the other Protestant Churches of Winchester in a meeting this Sunday at 7:00 o'clock at the Unitarian Church. The Interchurch Youth Council has planned a program of recreation, refreshments, a film, and a worship service. Forum's representatives on this Council are Judy Fowler and Bob Kugler, and Forum's part in the worship service will be the reading of the scripture by Barbara Eaton.

Special Lenten services are again planned by the Interchurch Youth Council on each Wednesday morning, 7:45 to allow plenty of time to get to school. This year they will be held at the Meyer Chapel of the Unitarian Church and the first service will be on Ash Wednesday morning, February 15, with Mr. Charles Johnson, Youth Director of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, as speaker.

Mrs. William Cusack to present her theme on UNICEF at First Baptist Philaena on February 14th at 8:00 p. m. Men and women will find her subject one of great interest. Refreshments and Social hour will conclude this Scholarship event which benefits students within the First Baptist Church.

W.D.N. ANNUAL MEETING

A large group of members and guests of the Winchester District Nursing Association attended the annual meeting on January 26th, at the home of Mrs. Frank C. d'El-seaux of Sheffield road. After a social hour of coffee and cookies served by Mrs. George L. Connor and her committee the business meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. Clarence S. Luit-wieler, Jr. The Secretary, Mrs. George B. Redding gave her annual report which incorporated the reports of the many activities of the various committees of the Association. As she so beautifully expressed it the Winchester District Nursing Association is "rich in friends and good will." The annual report of the Treasurer, Miss Helen Munroe was then read and accepted. Miss Munroe, who is retiring from the board was presented with a beautiful Paul Revere Bowl in appreciation of her nine years of service. The trustees account of investments was then given.

Mrs. Wiklund gave her annual report which is always eagerly awaited and which never fails to astonish us with the amount and the scope of the work done by the nurses. This past year has been one of change with the move to the attractive new quarters and the addition of the School Nursing program to the district work.

Mrs. Thomas Walsh chairman of the Nominating Committee read the slate for the coming year which was accepted as read.

The business meeting then adjourned and Mrs. Rowland V. Patrick introduced the speaker for the afternoon, Dr. Robert L. Berg. Dr. Berg, a Winchester resident, is former Executive Secretary of the Committee on Medical Research of the Massachusetts General Hospital. His subject was "Foundation Support for Medical Research.

Dr. Berg was a very fine and entertaining speaker and we learned things about the work and problems of Foundation Research which are not generally known by the average layman. He gave the qualities needed by a really good researcher. Before the war research was generally under the direction of the department heads of medical schools with occasionally Private Foundation grants. During the war government agencies took over a great part of the control of research because of special needs such as finding substitutes, etc. This awakened public interest in research and government research is now 20 to 50 times greater than before the war. Dr. Berg then spoke of public subscription agencies such as drives for research in Polio, Cancer, Heart, etc. The public response to these is fine but the researcher is apt to be hemmed in as he must stay in a designated field. Also sometimes undue pressure is put on the researcher for immediate results from industrialists, philanthropists, etc., and too much publicity is given before work is thoroughly completed.

The meeting adjourned after Dr. Berg answered some questions from the floor.

The 1956 slate is as follows:

Board of Directors
President, Mrs. Clarence S. Luitwieler, Jr.
Vice President, Mrs. George L. Connor

New Look In Town Report Expected
If Meeting Acts On Suggestions

Winchester residents will be reading a Town Report next year which will be revised and improved, if the recommendations of a committee now at work are accepted by the March Town Meeting.

The Town Report Format Committee, headed by Blair Hawley of 25 Ledgewood road, is expected to recommend important revisions in its report to the upcoming Town Meeting.

"Ideally, the Town Report should combine the best features of a 'Reader's Digest' and a 'Corporation Annual Report,'" Mr. Hawley told the Winchester Star.

"At the same time it should preserve the historical and reference value of the document and continue to reflect the proud tradition of dignified conservatism which characterizes the rich and unique heritage of Winchester," Mr. Hawley said.

He indicated that he expects the committee will recommend the introduction of charts, graphs, photographs, and maps to supplement the printed text of the report. Condensation and consolidation together with careful editing will no doubt be urged by the committee. And the committee is expected to recommend that complicated statistical data be presented in comprehensible form.

As far as the job of publishing the report is concerned, the committee is expected to recommend that the Selectmen appoint a committee containing three to seven members. The committee tends to favor a number close to five, Mr. Hawley said.

Among the objectives which a town report should have, Mr. Hawley said the following should be kept in mind:

1. It should meet the legal requirement that certain sections be published.
2. The report should be of maximum historical and referential usefulness and it should stimulate in the citizenry an interest in town government.
3. The report should be an exposition of current procedures and should discuss current problems of government and the administration of certain projects.
4. The report should be of three dimensions, with continuity and depth. It should picture trends and look to future developments in town government.
5. It should inspire among town employees a sense of accomplishment.

In its study of the question of revision of the town report, the committee studied previous work of similar committees, examined reports from other towns, conducted a cost study, and held an open meeting to assess public opinion.

Attending that open meeting, held Thursday, January 26, in Town Hall were Miss Mary French, Norman Noonan, Arthur Hewis, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ball, in addition to members of the committee.

Serving on the committee with Mr. Hawley are Leslie J. Scott, Robert B. Kittredge, Henry E. Mofette, and Miss Helen Glover.

BAY STATE HISTORICAL LEAGUE

On January 28th, the Brookline Historical Society entertained 38 Societies and 254 members of the Bay State State Historical League at the Edward Devotion School.

This public school was named for Edward Devotion (a French Huguenot), whose attractive "summer home" has belonged to the Town of Brookline since 1898 and has been headquarters for the Historical Society since 1903. It stands facing Harvard street, and enclosed with a wooden fence to separate it from the school.

The house is fully furnished for the caretakers, but the Historical Society reserves four rooms (three on the first floor and a bedroom on the second) for their exhibits. In one room is a very large brick fireplace with two ovens, and along the hearth were many antique and clever utensils and gadgets. Nearby was a cabinet of old Devotion china and glass, and on the walls hung family portraits. Much of the furniture was sent from near Norwich, Conn., by Devotion descendants, and the rest is of the same period.

The Tercentenary Marker reads: "Edward Devotion House built by him and occupied by him since 1685. He served for Muddy River (which became Town of Brookline in 1705) as perambulator, constable, fence-viewer and tythingman. House owned in succession by his sons John and Edward until 1744."

Dr. A. Warren Stearns of Billerica presided at the two o'clock meeting in the school hall. He told of the well-attended and successful meeting at the school hall in 1955, the place of the Historical Society in the town.

A resolution was sent to the Trustees of the "Wayds Inn" urging them to rebuild that historical landmark.

Dr. Harold Bowditch welcomed the League, as Vice President of the Brookline Society. He introduced Bertram K. Little, who introduced his friend, Bruce Lancaster, the famous novelist and historian, whose subject was: "On the 19th of April in '75." He gave interesting facts and little-known details of the march of the British to Lexington and Concord, of the assembling of the Colonial Militia and the battles that took place there with their far-reaching consequences.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by a caterer in the school cafeteria.

The Winchester Historical Society was represented by the Misses Clara Russell and Louise Bancroft.

ROTARY ASSEMBLY

The Winchester Rotary Club was held on January 25th and 26th, to Mr. Frederick W. Bliss, District Governor of District 288, of which the Winchester Club is a part. An assembly was held Wednesday evening, at the Winchester Country Club. Following a social hour and dinner, Governor Bliss was introduced to the 25 committee chairmen by President John A. Rutherford. Each of the chairmen gave a report as to their activities and the various projects accomplished. It was brought to the attention of the governor that during the year 1955 the club had purchased equipment for an FM Radio Broadcasting Station for the high school, sponsored a Little League team, provided two scholarships to Winchester High School graduates, participated in the bringing of a foreign student to Winchester, furnished a recreation room at the Army Camp in the Falls, built an additional cabin at the Winnie Farm, and contributed to the Connecticut floor relief, Winchester Hospital, the Homefronters, the Boy Scouts, and to CARE.

President Rutherford explained to Governor Bliss that most of these projects, which amounted to approximately $5,000.00, were brought about and carried out under the president for 1954-55, Dr. Sanford Moses. The work that the club was able to do was made possible by the wonderful cooperation of the town of Winchester in supporting the concert by the Mariners in the fall of 1954 and the Annual Auction in the spring of 1955.

President Rutherford outlined to the governor the many projects under way at the present time or to be accomplished in the spring. The report on these projects will be made next year.

The money raising project this year is the sponsoring of a joint concert by the Mystic Glee Club and the Lexington Choral Society.

There will be 140 voices from two of the finest choral groups in this country. The tentative date is March 18 or 25, exact details to be announced shortly. The second project is the Annual Rotary Auction in the first of May. This is the time that the whole town goes to work. We not only have wonderful donations from the residents, but they are down there in person to discover treasures to take home.

The Assembly was closed by the governor asking questions and receiving answers to show that Winchester Rotary upholds the standards set up by Rotary International. Governor Bliss assured the club that its rating was among the highest.

As guest speaker at the regular luncheon meeting January 26th, Bliss explained the indoctrination that each district governor nominee goes through in preparation for his term of office. They all met last year at Lake Placid, New York for eight days of educational and informational gatherings. With men from all over the world it provided a very interesting exchange of ideas, and many lasting personal contacts were made. To overcome the language barrier, ear phones were used for translation of the various speeches at the United Nations. The majority of the nominees went from Lake Placid to Chicago where Rotary held its 50th International Convention covering a five day period.

Governor Bliss then told the Winchester Club that Rotary International is an association of Rotary Clubs which numbers 9,000 around the world, represented in 93 countries and with a total membership of 430,000 members. He continued by saying that all the Rotary Clubs are based on the Four Avenues of Service, being that of Club Service, Community Service, Vocational Service and International Service, each being important unto itself with no one being more important than the other.

Governor Bliss concluded with the following facts, that a Rotary man must be a man of many parts: a leader in industry, a leader in the community, a leader in church activities, dependable in morals and manners, abiding by the Four Avenues of Service and the Four Way Test, and giving full service to the youth of his community.

AMERICANS ON THE MOVE!

More Americans moved during 1955 than ever before in the history of the United States. Never before have so many families moved in any twelve month period.

The long-distance or Interstate moves form a substantial part of the over-all picture. Figures just released show that for the tenth consecutive year Allied Van Lines leads the entire nation in organized moving with an all-time sales record of $42 Million dollars in 1955.

One hundred ten thousand families were moved in Allied service last year. These families had 480 million pounds of household goods. The value of the goods entrusted to Allied Van Lines last year was approximately 450 million dollars. In addition to domestic service Allied Van Lines has extended its international service to Canada, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Alaska.

The Allied agency serving this area is the Arlington Storage Warehouse whose managers have long been identified with Allied Van operations. Arlington Storage is this year celebrating its 50th anniversary.

A. F. OBSERVER PROGRAM

M/Sgt. Alexander N. Raftopoulos, the local Air Force recruiter, announced to the Winchester Star this week that applicants are being accepted for the U.S. Air Force Observer Program. An applicant who qualifies can expect to be assigned to a class within about 60 days.

Sgt. Raftopoulos explained that "Through the U.S. Air Force Observer Program young men are trained to become flying officers skilled primarily in navigation. Graduates of this Program possess the knowledge to continue on to further training in bombardment, radar operation, electronic countermeasures, or aircraft performance engineering. Aircraft Observers become rated crew members of bombardment, transport, reconnaissance, or interceptor types of aircraft."

As told to the Star the Observer Program consists of 12 weeks of Pre-Flight. This course consists of an intensive officer training program, orientation and physical conditioning. The second part of the course is 40 weeks in duration and is called Primary-Basic this course consists of navigation, and covers the fundamentals and techniques common to all Aircraft Observer duties which enable the graduate to go on to an advanced training school and learn an additional aeronautical skill. Academic subjects include strictly navigational ground training courses in addition to approximately 247 hours of electronics. The cadet also receives 135 hours of navigation training and 30 hours of radar training in the air aboard the Air Force's Consolidate Vultee T-29, the "Flying Classroom."

When the Observer Cadet graduates he is commissioned a second lieutenant and is awarded the silver wings of an Aircraft Observer. As an added remark regarding the Observer Program Sgt. Raftopoulos told the Star that a second lieutenant pay on flying status is $438.58 a month if he is single and if married it is $455.08.

Any High School graduate or young man with higher learning who is between the ages of 19-26½ is urged to see Sgt. Raftopoulos at once so that they may apply for this wonderful opportunity to not only serve their country but to also increase their own knowledge and aptitudes.

Sgt. Raftopoulos can be contacted at his office at 49 High Street, Medford, Massachusetts from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m., Monday through Fridays, or if any young men desire to phone the telephone number is MYSTIC 6-5109.

BLAIR HAWLEY

HEADS DRIVE TO BUILD STRONG REPUBLICAN TOWN AND CITY COMMITTEES

A broad-gauged drive to build a strong Republican organization in Massachusetts is being spearheaded by Blair Hawley of 25 Ledgebrook road.

Mr. Hawley has been appointed assistant to Elmer Nelson, chairman of the Massachusetts GOP State Committee. His new duties will revolve around trying to build strong city and town committees throughout the Commonwealth. This is a full-time assignment.

The plan of attack being used by Mr. Hawley and local committees includes throwing town committee meetings open to the public and inviting interested and qualified Republicans and independents. An interesting agenda is planned, and refreshments are usually included.

Middlesex County is the first area Mr. Hawley has on his list. A growing Democratic vote in the country has alarmed GOP leaders, who hope Mr. Hawley's efforts will help reverse the trend. Already leaders in several towns have called opened meetings at which Mr. Hawley has appeared. The first goal of these meetings is to build committee membership to thirty-five people. GOP leaders say they like to have wide representation on these committees.

Mr. Hawley is also a member of the Winchester Town Committee and director of Republican Precinct Organization. He is also chairman of the Membership Committee of the Greater Boston Young Republican Club and Special Gifts chairman on the Finance Drive. He is chairman of the Political Action Committee of the Winchester Young Republican Club, and a delegate to the Massachusetts Council of YRC's and member of its Organization Committee.

Candidates must be not less than 16½ and not yet 21 years of age. The competitive examination will be held on March 12, 1956, and the young men interested should write for applications forms to Congressman Edith Nourse Rogers at 15 Kearney Square, Lowell.

ALL WINCHESTER FASHION SHOW

Friday, March 2, is the date of the All-Winchester Fashion Show planned by the Florence Crittenton Ways and Means Committee ably headed by Mrs. Vera McKenzie, chairman.

This event, sponsored by the merchants of Winchester, will take place at Chidley Hall of the Congregational Church at 1:15 p.m. Dessert and coffee will be served before the fashion show.

The merchants who are displaying the latest spring fashions are: Child Land Teen Shop, House of Fashion, Loralane, B. F. Tilley Co., Peck and Peck, Silver Slipper and Town and Country.

In a setting of spring flowers, the beautiful Rogers models will wear the newest spring clothes from these Winchester shops. Miss Julie Dane, Fashion Director of the Rogers models, will be the commentator.

Following the professional models, a group of Winchester teenage girls will model clothes for their age group. This feature will take place after 2:30 p.m. so that High School and Junior High School girls will be able to attend.

After try-outs, in which more than 50 girls competed, Miss Dane chose as models: Brenda Cowles, Anne Smith, Mary Mortensen, Susan Fisher, Charlotte Siders, Suzanne Simpson, teen-age.

EPISCOPAL YOUNG PEOPLE WORK FOR WASHINGTON TRIP

Do you need someone to shovel your driveway, babysit, wash your car, or repair anything from tubes to radios? The members of the Young People's Fellowship are working hard to earn enough money to finance a trip to Washington, D. C., planned for sometime this spring. Y.P.F.-ers hope to come nearer the $800 goal by doing such odd jobs as painting, electrical repairs, or even cleaning out cellars. If you need a Y.P.F. handyman, please call Christina Page, Winchester 6-2596.

ARE YOU A CHRISTIAN?

(Ed. Note: The following was written by one of our Winchester service boys in the Far East. In deference to his wishes only his initials are used.)

Here is a question which seldom arises in our daily contact with other people in the United States. One of the main reasons why this question is never asked is because the false assumption exists in America that most people do "believe" in God and that His Son, Jesus Christ, did come into this sinful world and was nailed to the Cross on Calvary's Hill. The Bible tells us that in order to get to heaven we must "believe." "Believe on the name of the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." In Webster's Dictionary we find one of the meanings for "believe" stated as follows, "to accept as true." This is the misconception that is all to prevalent among many church-going people today. All they are doing by going to church is affirming the fact that they "believe" the Bible, that there is a God, there is a Savior, and that there is a heaven and a hell. This intellectual acceptance is not going to get anyone to heaven.

In the forty-eight states today there are two dynamic forces moving toward each other with increasing speed and considerable power. These forces are juvenile delinquency and a religious re-birth. Teen-age crime has been on the upswing since the end of World War II and it continues to grow worse in spite of this so-called "religious revival" which has been gaining momentum since 1950. Dr. Billy Graham, Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, Dr. Norman V. Peale and others have been instrumental in making many of the peoples of our country more religious conscious than ever before. With this religious awareness one might suppose that crime would realize a steady decline; this is not the case. Five percent of all the countries teen-agers in our so-called "Christian Nation" today are juvenile delinquents. When these two forces meet, one piloted by the treacherous hand of Satan and the other guided by the gifted hand of God, our Nation will either fall by the wayside as other inwardly degenerate and morally unstable countries have in the past or, with the help of our Creator, rise above the evil forces which are presently deeply embedded in our present society. There is going to be a time when these two forces will meet and the citizens of the United States of America will have to make a decision, either to follow and die with Satan or follow the straight and narrow path and live in our Bountiful Benefactor's Kingdom.

Are you a Christian? One of the greatest influences that is helping to make Christianity popular are the numerous church-goers that fill the pews of Christian churches on Sunday and sit in Satan's pew the rest of the week. If an individual goes to church and really "believes" in God and is "converted" to Christ this person will not be as the ordinary man that is so very prevalent in our various walks of life. An individual that has thrown away his home-made cross and should have the Cross that Jesus Christ bore will be noticeably different from those around him. "The Christian commitment means that we accept the fact that we have assumed definite obligations, that we have set our feet in a definite path of conduct and purpose, that we have entered into a new relationship with God, all of which work to make us different people." (1) If there is no difference in the pattern of life between a Christian and that of a non-believer, why be a Christian at all? Christ demands a change! It is these people that are not living their faith that will cause the greatest deterioration in any society. The Bible speaks very clearly concerning people who profess on Sunday to be Christian, but whose everyday actions and words do not coincide with their profession: "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." "I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot; I would that thou wert cold or hot. So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spew (spit) thee out of my mouth." These are not my words, nor are they the words of a theologian, they are God's Words!

(1) From book "Monday Through Friday is Not Enough" by Dr. Meek.

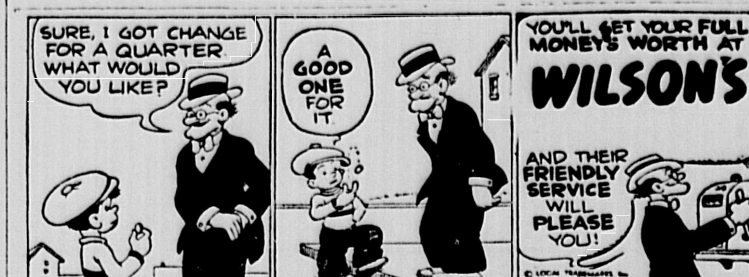

Our Nations fight against crime and sin in vain without God. Satan is strong and the only way he is going to be beaten is by Christian soldiers. Men and women, boys and girls who are willing to be a "peculiar people" for Christ's sake. Only by those people who are in their hearts, words, and deeds "converted" to Christ will our country be able to defeat the enemy. As I write this article I earnestly pray that you who read this might search your hearts and souls, and ask yourself: "Am I Christian in God's eyes?" If there is a bit of doubt in your mind you may reasonably conclude that a reconstruction job is needed and only God can do it. God's Will must be embodied and self-willed disposed of, i.e. self must be nailed to the cross. Rededicate your life today friend and you will be a pillar in our countries Christian building program tomorrow. "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me." Here is the challenge which the Lord gave us, are you willing to put the things of the Lord first and those of the world second?

WHAT SHOULD BE SPENT ON THE HOME GROUNDS

The funds available for devotion to the garden play a very important part in the plans for the beautification of the home grounds. Primarily, the first consideration is again beautification of the grounds as a complement to the dwelling. This is almost a "must" in the minds of most folks, since the house itself is only about half of the over-all picture. Simple arrangement of shrubs, trees and flowers to soften the lines of the house, and to bring out its size and height in proper proportion, along with a green, healthy lawn, add greatly to the appearance and value of the property. Framing the entire picture by further use of plantings is next in importance. From there the individual can elaborate just as much as he wishes to, according to his taste, the money he wishes to spend and the time and space limitations as mentioned in previous articles.

Equipment is the most costly factor, and it has a bearing on the ambition of the gardener. To care for trees and shrubs or simple flower beds, hand tools will fill the bill. As the size of the operation increases, efficient and satisfactory operation will demand some power tools. Garden tractors, power lawnmowers, estate sprayers all fill a need in the large grounds or for the person who expands into part-time farming. The need for more power naturally increases with the size of the operation.

There are a great many gardeners who garden for the pleasure. To them it may be a source of recreation, just as golf, swimming and so forth are to others. It is a source of very useful exercise. There are those with the proverbial "green thumb" who like to see plants grow, to try out new ideas, new plants and new varieties. For these, the financial aspect is flexible. For the most part, however, it is justifiable to put a little extra emphasis on equipment, enough to eliminate as much of the drudgery as possible and to enable performing of the tasks quickly and conveniently.

To the person who is gardening for a hobby, we would like to point out the advisability of limiting the projects. There is much more fun and pleasure in doing a few things well and keeping ahead of each problem than in trying to do everything at once. It is quickly lost if one attempts to overdo.

WINNERS AT WINTON CIRCUS

WINCHESTER TEACHERS AIDED UNIVERSITY CONFERENCE

Several members of the Winchester school department were active participants recently at meetings of the conference of the Boston University chapter of Pi Lambda Theta, the National Honor Society for Women in Education. The conference was designed to provide practical and specific suggestions for those who are teaching in the elementary grades. All consultants, leaders of sectional groups, and panelists were members of Pi Lambda Theta.

Seven Winchester educators shared in the presentations at several grade levels. Miss Clara Corcoran, teacher of Grade I at the Noonan School, was a panelist for the first grade meeting; while Miss Mabel Lowry, principal of the Wyndham School, and Miss Lillian Salice, teacher of Grade III at the Mystic School, were active in the meeting for the third grade.

Miss Marian Phipps, reading consultant for the city schools, acted as consultant for the fifth grade group. The leader of the sixth grade panel discussion was Miss Leonor Rich, principal of the George Washington School. Among the six panelists assisting her were Miss Phyllis Roberts, teacher of Grade VI at the Washington School, and Dr. Marie B. Fagerland, Grade VI at the Lincoln School.

Although the primary aim of the conference was to help beginning teachers, there were many teachers of long experience among the four hundred educators who attended the meetings. All were endeavoring to find answers to the problems involved in the improvement of teaching practices.

ROTONDI WILL ASK TOWN MEETING TO ACCEPT ROADS REJECTED BY BOARD

Eugene B. Rotondi of 224 Forest Street will continue his fight for acceptance of Churchill road and a portion of Sunset road at the March Town Meeting, the Winchester Star learned this past week.

Contained in the warrant for the March Town Meeting are two articles by Mr. Rotondi (and others) which call for acceptance by Town Meeting of Churchill road and that portion of Sunset road which is now a private way.

Petitions by Mr. Rotondi for the acceptance of these roads addressed to the Board of Selectmen were recently rejected after Mr. Rotondi's neighbors protested acceptance.

Despite the two articles calling for acceptance, Mr. Rotondi will not get his roads from the March Town Meeting, according to Vincent P. Clarke, Town Council.

According to Mr. Clarke, the Meeting is powerless to accept the roads because the Board of Selectmen has not approved their layout. The Meeting can accept roads only if approved by the Board of Selectmen.

The approval of layout by the Board of Selectmen is not the same thing as acceptance of a road. A Board is empowered to approve layout but at the same time may reject an acceptance petition. In Mr. Rotondi's case, the Board has rejected both layout and the petition for acceptance.

Mr. Rotondi will make another bid for opening the Churchill road and Sunset road on February 14, when he is expected to appear before the Middlesex County Commissioners.

ANDREW (ROY) TITILIAH, JR.
FOR SELECTMAN

Voters of Winchester:
The office of Selectman has in the past been filled by local business men, farmers, doctors, lawyers, etc. In other words, by men from all walks of life. Proof that this system was and is sound can be noted all about us, and is reflected in the excellent Town we enjoy today.

The very fact that various backgrounds and training bring a wide experience to any problem almost guarantees a sound solution. The prime purpose of the Board of Selectmen is to administer the affairs of the Town, and to make decisions and recommendations. These decisions may have a deep influence far into the future. The ability to think, and reach sound decisions is basic.

Winchester is very fortunate in being well staffed in all its departments. One need only visit some of our neighboring communities to appreciate our Fire, Police, and Highway departments. This has been true for many years. The same holds for the administrative, such as the legal, accounting and fiscal departments, as well as the boards and commissions which operate so efficiently.

This healthy state of affairs allows the Board of Selectmen to concentrate on the vital decisions that must be made in the next few years.

Traditionally, a local business man has been on the Board. Such a person knows the Town well, can be contacted at any time when the other members of the Board are following their usual vocations. Surely that person has a vital interest in the future of the Town.

My practical business experience and deep regard for Winchester make me feel confident that I can serve in the tradition you expect.

Respectfully,
Andrew (Roy) Titiliah, Jr.

SCHOLARSHIP DRIVE APRIL 8

The tenth anniversary of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation will be marked this year with a town-wide visit to each home in the six school districts on Sunday, April 8. Many organizations in Winchester have already gotten behind the prospective drive, and many civic minded individuals are working enthusiastically for this campaign which is practically unique in its kind. The Scholarship Foundation in this town gives all the townspeople an opportunity to build scholarships for their high-school boys and girls who need the Foundation's help in order to manage a college education, or some specialized field of higher education. This is one drive which is distinctly "all Winchester," to help Winchester young people.

Last year, seventeen scholarships were given—an average of $350 per scholarship, depending on the college chosen by the student, and the need. As more and more high school graduates hope to reach college and are willing to work toward that goal, these young people look to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation for the extra "push" which means the Mother's Association and the men and women in Winchester—does help.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Gowdy are general chairmen of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation Drive, with the following committee: publicity, Mrs. George E. Connor; special gifts, Mrs. N. Gardner Bradley, Mrs. Everett Stone, Mrs. Paul Levetto; chairman of school districts, Lincoln, Mrs. Austin Nann; Mystic, Mrs. Clifton Keane; Noonan, Mrs. Lawrence Dunbar; Parkhurst, Mrs. John McLean, Mrs. Quentin Roberts; Washington, Mrs. Herbert Thompson; Wyman, Mrs. Claude Callahan.

Plans for the New Theatre Project, geared toward the formation of a Community Theatre, are making headway. A Sponsor Group has been established and rallied as Founders and Sponsors. Enthusiasm is growing. Roland Carter is acting treasurer. Miss Grace Wills and Miss Corinne Meade—both so well known in fields of Community Service and Play Production and Literary Taste—are sharing their advice and judgment.

A Work Shop Group for Adults who wish this Spring or next fall to do some informal acting is being organized. This is meant to enlist the enthusiasm, cooperation, and participation of all who have acted or who would like to act and to uncover—perhaps dormant to Winchester talent.

The Children's Project in the form of a course in Theatre participation, planned for a May Production, was started Thursday.

LEAGUE LUNCHEON POSTPONED

The Winchester League of Women Voters announces the postponement of its Legislative Luncheon to Friday, March 16. Dr. Nils Wessell, President of Tufts University, will speak.

SALK VACCINE PROGRAM

At the regular meeting of the Staff of the Winchester Hospital on Tuesday, February 14, 1956, Dr. Harry L. Benson, Chairman of the Winchester Board of Health outlined the policies which will be followed in this town this year regarding the inoculations for poliomyelitis. These policies are in keeping with the directives published by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, Division of Communicable Diseases and by Dr. Samuel B. Kirkwood, Commissioner of Public Health.

1. The second doses for the children in last year's first and second grades are being furnished by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Only those children who received first doses last spring are eligible to receive these second doses which will probably be in the last week of February or early in March, the exact dates to be announced later. This vaccine must be administered in school clinics without charge to the recipient. A CHILD WHO HAS RECEIVED A SECOND DOSE FROM A PRIVATE PHYSICIAN WILL NOT BE ELIGIBLE TO RECEIVE ANOTHER DOSE IN THIS PROGRAM.

2. There is no vaccine available this spring for adults, nor for children fifteen years of age or older.

3. The interval between first and second doses should be four weeks or more.

4. All children will receive their first doses before any is available for second doses.

5. No vaccine will be available for booster doses (third doses) until after July 1, 1956.

6. No charge must be made for vaccine obtained from Boards of Health, but physicians are at liberty to charge for the administration.

7. Requests for vaccine for pregnant women should come to the Board of Health from physicians and hospitals. The names of the women desiring vaccination should appear on a letterhead of the physician or hospital. Vaccine for these women will be delivered with that for children under fifteen years.

8. All vaccine in Winchester will be given to patients by their private physicians except (a) those second and third grade children who are eligible to receive it in the school program and (b) those children whose parents wish them to receive it at the Board of Health clinic may do so.

9. For patients living outside of Winchester, desiring a Winchester physician to administer the vaccine, the material must be obtained by the physician from the Board of Health of the community in which the patient resides.

10. There will be no more vaccine sold through drug stores until this program is completed early in the summer. Until then physicians can obtain vaccine only by turning in signed parental request forms to their Boards of Health.

These parental request forms are available at the various Boards of Health offices or at the offices of private physicians.

CLIFFORD W. BIRCH

Clifford W. Birch of 40 Central street died suddenly Friday, February 10 at the Winchester Hospital, following a heart attack, at the age of 63.

Born in Somerville, September 20, 1892, Mr. Birch was the son of Albert and Louise Birch. He lived in Belmont from 1895 to 1924 and at the time of his death was president of Birch Brothers, Inc., an internationally known firm designing and building textile finishing machinery, established by his father in 1883.

Mr. Birch is well remembered as a football player while at Belmont High School and Browne and Nichols. He graduated in 1915 from Harvard where he was a member of the Pi Eta Society and the lacrosse team. During World War I he served as a lieutenant in the 301st Field Artillery in France and Germany.

Before coming to Winchester 9 years ago, Mr. Birch was for some years a resident of Arlington, serving there as a town meeting member. He wrote the book for several entertainments put on by the Men's Club of the Arlington Orthodox Congregational Church as well as taking leading parts in the productions.

Until recently he maintained a summer home in Barnstable. He was a member of the Winchester Country Club, the Bass River Rod and Gun Club, the Middlesex Harvard Club and the Pi Eta Club of Harvard.

Mr. Birch is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lillian (Perkins) Birch; by a son, Clifford W. Birch, Jr., of Lexington; a daughter, Mrs. Albert Manning of Dedham; six grandchildren and by two brothers, Harold W., and Stanley W. Birch, both of Belmont.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Unitarian Church with the minister, Rev. Robert A. Storer, officiating. Burial was in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Arlington.

TOWN INCINERATOR GROUP HEARS ARGUMENTS AT MEETING

About 125 Winchester residents appeared at an open meeting of the Town Incinerator and Waste Committee held in Town Hall Wednesday evening, February 15.

Those speaking at the meeting expressed concern about expanding the area of the present disposal area and about creating a new dump site in Winchester.

Arthur Hewes argued that controlled burning or the construction of an incinerator is necessary. He defended the collection of rubbish by the Town under such arrangements.

Albert Parker suggested that the installation of automatic garbage disposal units in every house in the town would solve much of the problem. If sewer mains in Winchester can handle the extra burden.

Another speaker argued that if the construction of an incinerator is the only alternative, Winchester could best profit by joining with other communities in such action. He argued that the problem has become universal in the metropolitan area and that incineration should be made a function of the Metropolitan District Commission. He said that a change in existing law would have to be made before such a project could be affected.

BASKETBALL ATTRACTION

Middlesex League Basketball Night will be held this year in Winchester and should prove a good attraction for local hoop fans.

A banquet will be served the League All Star team, all league teams and their coaches, managers and officials in the high school cafeteria, commencing at 5 p.m.

At 7 o'clock a team composed of all star players selected from the other Middlesex League teams will play Winchester's championship group, who recently clinched the league crown and are State Tournament bound.

Between the halves of the game the Middlesex League Championship Trophy will be presented as well as the League Good Sportsmanship Award. There will also be a foul shooting contest in which two men from each school in the league will compete.

An attraction such as this will tax the gymnasium and it would be well to get your tickets in advance. They may be procured at any of the remaining home games before the All Star contest.

LAY READERS COMMISSIONED

Milton L. Brown, Jr., of 38 Cabot street and Donald Sheehan of Stoughton were commissioned as Lay Readers in the Diocese of Massachusetts to serve under the direction of the Rev. John W. RECTOR SUPERVISES BOOK PUBLICATION

At a meeting of the Department of Christian Education of the National Council of Churches of Christ, being held in Cincinnati this week, the publication of a Concordance to the Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible was announced by Mr. William R. McCulley, president of Thomas Nelson & Sons, Publishers. The Concordance is being prepared by the Remington Rand Univac computer under the supervision of the Rev. John W. Ellison, rector of the Church of the Epiphany.

A concordance is a dictionary-like arrangement of the occurrence of all words in the work being concorded, together with a brief context in which the word occurs, and the location of that occurrence. It is used to locate any desired passage or to study the use and meaning of any word.

For example, if a person wanted to know where the phrase "wings of the morning" occurs in the Bible, he would look in the concordance under word "wings" or under the word "morning"; all the occurrences of those words would be found there, including one having the entire phrase, showing its location as Psalm 139 verse 9.

The last major concordance was published two generations ago by the Rev. James Strong, having taken him thirty years to prepare. It was an enormous concordance, and included the location but not the context of all the occurrences of the 47 most common English words.

The new concordance being prepared now will not list the occurrence of 132 common words, such as simple pronouns, the articles, prepositions, and such verbs as be, come, go, say and can.

Nearly three years ago, while studying at Harvard Divinity School, the Rev. Mr. Ellison worked out the theory by which the computer is able to write the concordance. It took him approximately a day and a half and the complete theory was typed on a page and a half of ordinary paper.

Translating the theory into instructions for the computer to follow was turned over to the Remington Rand Corporation by the publishers, Thomas Nelson & Sons. From time to time Mr. Ellison met with mathematicians at Remington Rand to see that they were correctly interpreting his rules.

The group of fifteen typists was used to prepare two complete copies of the Bible on magnetic tape. One copy was typed directly onto the magnetic tape; the other was typed onto punched cards. The punched cards were then converted by machine to magnetic tape.

The computer compared the two tape copies of the Bible, and printed out all locations in which the two copies did not agree, and in this way the errors by the typists were found. After these were corrected, a professional proofreader corrected the entire copy, making as well as errors in the corrections themselves.

These new corrections were made and another complete proof-reading was done locating nine errors which still remained. Finally, after about ten months, two complete correct copies were ready.

The computer will note the location of every word of the Bible, building up a context based on the presence or absence of punctuation marks.

After this has been completed, which will take about 300 hours, the second process will eliminate all occurrences of the 132 small words. The remainder will then be sorted and alphabetized.

A final process by the computer will arrange the material for electric typewriters controlled by the computer. Over a period of three months the typewriters will type about 3,000 pages in the form in which the concordance will be printed.

Except for mathematical tables this is the first book to be produced by use of electronic computers, and therefore will be a landmark in publishing history.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Senior Girl Scout Troop 44 of Winchester participated in an all-Senior overnight at Cedar Hill, Waltham. Approximately 82 girls were there from Belmont, Pinehurst, Lynnfield, Center, Raynham Center and Cambridge.

Our girls occupied the beautiful, newly finished cabin, Hartbridge. In spite of bad weather, a temporary stove which needed coaxing, a temporary table which rocked, the girls had a hilarious time both outdoors and inside. Sledding, hauling water, jack contests, cooking, eating and gabfests occupied their time with their own troop. In the evening all the troops gathered together in the Great Hall for a game-song fest where rivalry was keen but all in great good fun.

Girls staying overnight were Cynthia Ahlfors, Natalie Bellows, Judy Cairncross, Andrea Chapin, Gail Collins, Dianne Curtis, Ellen Glowacki, Arlys Harrington, Carol Monsen, Susan Pond, Robert Rich, Judy Wadleigh, Jean March and Nancy Switzer joined the group on Saturday morning. The leader was Mrs. Stanley Cairncross.

The Annual Girl Scout and Brownie Roller Skating Party will take place at the Bal-A-Roller Roller Skating Rink in Medford. Troop leaders are arranging transportation for their own girls. All adult members are also invited to attend. The time is 9:30 to 12 noon on February 21.

Fate plays many tricks on us when we least expect it. This week it played a trump card as our good friend, Sir "Winston Mings" Frongillo was painfully hurt at the W.T.D.A. in the line of duty. In a person-to-person interview he stated that two fingers on his right hand were broken. Naturally this terminates his bowling for the remainder of this season. His hand is braced at present with a 4x8 splint to support the weight.

Upon leaving him the writer went to the W.T.D.A. to inspect the damage to the once powerful tractor. Upon close examination, it will need a new caterpillar track and numerous other parts have to be replaced, the damage being caused as "Winston" pulled his hand out. We would say that the damage to his hand is insignificant in comparison to the tractor.

Last year the steel door of the garage fell on his head and had to be replaced. The previous year he pulled a Houdini act out of the flaming garage. This man has more lives than Capt. Rickenbacker. Careful, "Winston," you only have six lives left!

Occasionally you get a chuckle when you notice something unusual. Our young venerable, Skitchy Penta, was coming "Curly Locks" Chic Vespucci's seven hairs which run way down from the port side over the hull and way down on the starboard side. They had been blown out of position by someone breathing too hard four feet away. The perfume that engulfed the alleys this evening was caused by a visitor, Jack Pantalea who was smoking his Channel No. 5 pipe. Believe it or not, California beat St. Mary's the first string by 100 pins and St. Mary's took the worst beating it has ever experienced, for they only managed to come up with a pinfall of 1295 for the night.

The winner of this week's award went to Mel Fiore.

Body of Lowell Girl Still Lost In Icy Waters of Concord River

The body of a five-year-old Lowell girl, object of a two week search in the waters of the Concord River, has not yet been recovered, Lowell police reported to the Winchester Star this past week.

The five-year-old Meader girl and her mother, Mrs. Doris Meader, vanished beneath the ice at Lowell Saturday afternoon, February 4.

Early in the search, three Winchester Civil Defense frogmen spent six hours in the icy waters of the Concord, looking for Marie Meader.

Lowell police, who have continued the search, reported that they fear the girl's body may be tangled in debris below a Boston & Maine Railroad bridge.

In expressing his appreciation for Winchester's help to Theodore Boecker, director of the Winchester Civil Defense Unit, John J. Murray, temporary superintendent of police, wrote:

"The members of this department wish to express their sincere thanks to you for the wonderful assistance you gave us at the scene of the double drowning last Saturday."

"Your help was invaluable. It is a wonderful feeling to know that we have such good friends upon whom we can rely in cases of emergency."

"If ever we can serve you, please call on us."

The Winchester Civil Defense frogmen who helped in the search were Luis Atuel, George Appleton, and Thomas Avallan. Mr. Boecker directed their efforts.

HAWLEY-LYMAN APPEAR BEFORE MIDDLESEX COUNTY REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATIONS

PRO SYSTEM CHAIRMEN FOR WINCHESTER NAMED

Efforts by the State Republican Committee to build strong Middlesex County support began to reach fever pitch this past week as Blair Hawley of 25 Ledgebrook road, assistant to the chairman of the Massachusetts State GOP Committee, appeared before a raft of local town committees.

These visits by Mr. Hawley to dinner parties, club meetings, and business sessions, were designed to stimulate registration drives and to initiate precinct organization campaigns.

During the week, he appeared at Watertown, Hopkinton, Bedford, Medford and Arlington.

He was the chief speaker at a meeting of the Medford City Committee Wednesday night, where he explained how Republicans can widen the basis of their participation.

Also appearing at a meeting of the Arlington Women's Republican Club Wednesday night was Harrison F. Lyman, Jr., secretary of Winchester's Planning Board and a candidate for the State Senate.

This upsurge of Republican activity in Middlesex County stems from a realization by Republicans that Middlesex is the pivotal county in the Commonwealth. Loss of any more General Court seats by Republicans would mean Democratic control of state government and a Democratic gerrymander, according to Elmer Nelson, state chairman of the GOP.

The attack being launched by Republicans centers around the so-called PRO system—Precinct Republican Organization. Under this system, one GOP worker in each block makes a series of calls on neighbors. The worker leaves information about Republican candidates and programs, about registration, baby sitters, and transportation to the polls. People interested in the party are enlisted during these calls.

The program, according to Mr. Hawley, is designed to attract the independent voter to the Republican fold, and to get maximum participation in elections by Republicans.

In Winchester, according to GOP Town Committee Chairman Harrison Chadwick, the precinct chairmen who will organize PRO throughout the town are:

Mrs. Christina Thompson of 15 Garfield avenue, Precinct 1; Mrs. Eleanor Stoneman of 247 Washington street, Precinct 2; Mrs. Florence Goodhue of 13 Herick street, Precinct 3; Mrs. Mildred Pride of 37 Foxcroft road, Precinct 4; Mrs. Margaret McCreary of 4 Curtis street, Precinct 5; Mrs. Mildred Jordan of 967 Main street, Precinct 6.

In charge of finance under PRO is Mrs. Cynthia Reynolds of 58 Swan road.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON SPEAKER

The Rev. Merlin W. Ennis who will speak at the postponed meeting of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League at 2:30 on Friday, February 24th, has himself lived for many years in Africa.

He and Mrs. Ennis were assigned to the Elende Mission Station in Portuguese West Africa. While there they had opportunity to study the language, culture and customs of the people. Being missionaries they were particularly interested to know of the religious beliefs and superstitions of those they were to serve—also the ethical and moral principles upon which their culture was based.

As a result of their years of study and living among these people the Rev. Mr. Ennis should be able to give an interesting account of "Courtship and Marriage in Africa." The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Don S. Greer, 372 Highland avenue.

The President Mrs. Paul Dunn will preside and Mrs. Abbott and the tea committee will serve refreshments.

FORD AWARD TO BONNELL MOTORS

Bonnell Motors, Inc., Winchester, Mass., has been awarded the Ford Division's "Four Letter Award" for its outstanding business record during 1955. It is announced today by R. F. Leonard, Boston district sales manager.

The local dealership is one of a select group of dealerships throughout the nation to receive the award. The Ford Division's policy is to make the award to dealers with outstanding performance on the basis of sound facilities, efficient management, competitive spirit and modern facilities. Mr. Leonard pointed out. The four letters, "F.M.S.P." stand for financial, management, spirit and facilities.

DIAL "M" FOR MURDER

A play by Frederick Knott, produced by the Parish Players of the First Congregational Church, February 9, 10 and 11, under the direction of Harlan F. Grant.

The cast: Jacqueline Hall Sibley, Max Halliday, John Kenneth Paden, Jr., Tony Wendice, Eugene M. Pollard, Captain Lesgate, Robert F. Blaise, Inspector Husband, George E. Connor, Thompson, Robert H. Sibley.

The action of the play takes place in the living room of the Wendice's apartment in London. The time is the present.

"Dial 'M' for Murder," the tight little mystery by Frederick Knott, is a hefty chunk of melodrama for an amateur group. As the entire action takes place in one room, its considerable plot development must necessarily evolve from lots of talk.

The dark machinations of a London husband to get his wife "bumped off," and then, failing that, to twist the evidence so that it looks as if she wilfully murdered the man who tried to murder her, are matters of wicked rationalization rather than physical activity. The thrills come in following a succession of dawns in people's minds.

When the present reviewer, not too well disposed toward murder mysteries, admits that the Players on occasion produced authentic thrills, it constitutes high praise. It was fun to see such skilled veterans as Gene Pollard and Jay Sibley, in the roles of innocent (?) wife and scheming husband, tilt with each other in a series of dramatic exchanges, culminating in a veritable kiss of Judas at the end of Act 2, Scene 1.

"Dial 'M' for Murder," a play by Frederick Knott, produced by the Parish Players of the First Congregational Church, February 9, 10 and 11, under the direction of Harlan F. Grant.

As his wife, Jay Sibley was superb. One shivered in apprehension at her truly startling scream, and suffered with her through agonies of doubt and terror and the rigors of police examination. (I missed Grace Kelly in the movie version, but doubt if she could have improved on Mrs. Sibley's interpretation).

Bob Blake did a really rascally job in the part of Lesgate (a new departure for him). We admired his moustache, and had to admit that from time to time he achieved a sinister aspect—surely an acting triumph of sorts. The scene of the attempted strangling and consequent struggle was deftly done. (I am still wondering how the scissors trick was managed!)

If George Connor missed gesture, glance, or intonation in his portrayal of the brusque and business-like inspector, this critic failed to note it. From his first entrance, one felt the cards were stacked against the unfortunate suspect, and it was just a matter of time before Nemesis caught up with him. Another, and new, addition to George's gallery of portraits. And if, as the program states, this was John Paden's first stage venture, he did the part of the correspondent, Mr. Halliday, with commendable composure, and charm, helping to make Margot's intonation the more understandable. (A more gentlemanly interloper would, in fact, be hard to find!)

In a part that differed from an off-stage noise by one entrance and three monosyllables, Bob Sibley was completely adequate.

First off, one is grateful to the Players for their lavish expenditure of time and effort in order to entertain us, but on second thought one knows that after all it's not work, in the usual sense. They're just having fun! Then it is our gratitude turns to envy, envy of the cooperative spirit, the associations, the comradeship they enjoy, and, last but not least, of that heart-warming thrill that comes over the footlights when the audience, through laughter and applause, demonstrates its pleasure.

WINCHESTER HOMEMAKERS NAMED

Winchester's Betty Crocker "Homemakers of Tomorrow" have been named.

Two young women in this city, through competitive examination, have earned the honor of representing their high schools in statewide judging for $1,500 and $500 scholarships, it was announced this week by General Mills, sponsor of the appreciation program. A quarter million young women throughout the nation participated.

The local school winners are Martha Newhall of Marycliff Academy and Louise Ruma of Winchester High School.

Each demonstrated her home-making knowledge and aptitude by receiving the highest score for her school in a written examination which was given on graduating senior girls in 19,222 of the nation's public, private and parochial high schools. Her test paper will be entered in competition with 172 school winners in this state.

The girl selected state Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $1,500 scholarship and a trip in April with her school advisor to Washington, colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Philadelphia where the national winner will be selected from the state winners. The scholarship of the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be increased to $5,000.

Each state runner-up will receive a $500 scholarship.

"The purpose of this program, now in its second year, is to encourage young women to think seriously and realistically about the responsibility of the home and family as a career," said Harry A. Bullis, chairman of the board of General Mills.

"Our corporation has a social responsibility over and above the sale of products and services—an obligation to help create happy homes."

THE FORTNIGHTLY

The Fortnightly met Monday, Feb. 13, at the First Baptist Church social hall. Dessert and coffee were served and a food sale was conducted by the Ways and Means Committee, Mrs. William E. Priest, chairman, for the benefit of club philanthropies. Presiding at the meeting was the president, Mrs. Hiram Moody.

Mrs. Priest reminded members that late styles in costume jewelry for spring will be on display and sale at the March 20 meeting.

Mrs. Warren C. Whitman, chairman of Legislation, called attention to current hearings at the State House on several bills being proposed, one to allow the selling of liquor on Sundays and legal holidays; other bills of like nature need an opposition of disapproval.

Under the guidance of Mr. Marshall W. Symmes, commentator, with Marion Symmes operating the projector, the audience was taken on a travel tour of Switzerland via kodachrome pictures snapped in the summer of '55.

After a calm crossing on the huge "Queen Elizabeth," France (Paris and the countryside) was visited, also Nice, Cannes, and Monte Carlo.

Thence, to Switzerland, where cities and villages (all immaculately clean), with historic spots, chalets, churches and gardens were viewed. From lake steamers and the electric trains, the magnificent mountain scenery around Maggiore, Thun, and Interlaken was seen, the snowy grandeur of the stark Matterhorn and the splendor of the Jungfrau range, Mt. Pilatus, and the Rigi with views from the top.

TROOP 1 - BOY SCOUTS NEED YOU!

Troop 1, the oldest troop in Winchester of the Boy Scouts of America is to be reactivated after a short period of inactivity.

This troop has had its charter since 1923 and until the past year was top-ranking in scouting activities but due to the lack of leadership, the troop is practically disbanded. Now in order to preserve the charter, leaders are needed to reorganize the troop.

There will be a meeting at the American Legion Home at 34 Vine street, on Thursday, February 23, at 8:30 p. m. Make this meeting a must!

Winchester Legion, Post No. 97, is sponsoring the troop but you don't have to be a Legionnaire to become a leader. It is not necessary that you live in Winchester to be a leader. If you have the interest, desire and will to give a helping hand, you are the one we are looking for.

This is a fine opportunity to enjoy yourselves while working with the younger set. They need you! See you at the meeting!

High Realty Taxes In Boston Area Retard Industrial Boom, Neal Says

By Charles Ball

At a citizens' seminar held at Boston College Tuesday afternoon, both speakers and auditors were convinced that high property taxes have inhibited industrial expansion in the metropolitan Boston area.

Dr. Alfred C. Neal, first vice-president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, said "Greater Boston's governmental structure and finances are for the most part a repellent rather than an attraction to new industry."

He said that Boston's property taxes are 3 1/2 times as high as the average of 12 American cities of similar population. He estimated that Boston "has missed the boat on more than $400,000,000 in business construction—enough to build 27 Hancock Buildings—since 1947."

He pointed out that a state-wide sales tax, exempting food and rent, is necessary to shift the burden from property holders to other sectors of the economy. Such a tax would be redistributed to local governments on a population basis.

"Leaders in both parties have told me that it would be political suicide to sponsor such a program," he said. "I say that the alternative to such tax reform is economic suicide. Boston and Massachusetts will have to choose between political suicide for politicians or economic suicide for Boston and the larger cities."

Drawing back from Dr. Neal's remarks about the economically retarding nature of realty taxes in Boston, one is appalled by the generally high levels of property taxes throughout the Metropolitan Boston area and Massachusetts. In 1955, there were 25 Massachusetts municipalities with tax rates of $70 or more. In the Winchester area, rates are in middle brackets, but assessments are relatively high and tax rates are expected to go even higher. There is talk in Town Hall corridors of a five dollar increase in Winchester's rate, for example.

Not only are rates in some municipalities high, but there is a wide variation in rates between communities. The net effect of this disparity is that industry locates in communities with low rates, with little regard to the coherent and orderly development of the whole metropolitan community. Land best suited for industrial location is passed up for land in another community where rates are lower, but where the land is perhaps not as well suited for industrial use.

The inescapable conclusion one can draw is that, as Dr. Neal pointed out, a tax must be imposed on retail sales if the burden on property is to be lowered. A legislative Fiscal Survey Commission last year recommended such a tax to aid both localities and the Commonwealth. Certainly nothing will come of this session of the General Court, because a political year is upon us. But next year, taxpayer groups and good government organizations have a big job cut out for them. That job is selling the General Court on the idea of a sales tax. Only with such a tax can Massachusetts hope to share in the business expansion which is going on throughout the country.

Appearing with Dr. Neal at the seminar were John I. Taylor, treasurer of the Boston Globe; William J. Bird, managing director of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce; Edward A. Weeks, moderator, ment of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

MANY KINDS OF CHRISTIANS

The young service man, with the initials "R.R.F.", has a lot to learn about his fellow Christians! For example: all of us do not subscribe to the Evangelical dogma that Christ was the only Son of God, yet we include many of the most Christian Gentlemen in the Land.

Christians include all who strive to follow the great teachings of Jesus, the son of a humble carpenter. Did he not show that, by our daily good deeds, by our continuous effort to live in a way pleasing to God, by our living the Lord's Prayer rather than just saying it, all these things are the heart of Christian Worship? We know how beautifully these ideas are expressed in the Beatitudes!

If parents set the example of right-living as outlined above, we would have no delinquency problem.

We who have a reasonable Faith, based on the Fatherhood of God, think we have a better chance for right-living than our neighbors do, who have a confused religious creed. Thinking men and women can not believe many of the hand-me-down dogmas demanded by Evangelical churches. A creed only half believed in; a way of thinking where we find it necessary to make mental reservations, is always a sorry business. Such half-belief has no drive and living force. It lets us down at the moments in life when we need most the comfort of deep faith.

The young writer must learn to meet the other fellows ideas with tolerance. He must understand that, while many want a formalized church and a clergy to intercede with God; yet, there are many who wish no dictation by their fellow man, and no intercession by a third party.

We of this latter group, approach God as he is a loving Father, in very fact. Thru prayer and humility we find comfort in His loving understanding of our many foolish and selfish misdeeds. We confess directly to God. We gain new strength to fight for the right. Church attendance, ritual, creeds are only other means to this end.

Ed. Note:—The above is in reply to the article "Are You a Christian?" published February 10. We print it because its author, who also chooses to remain anonymous, feels it is only fair to present "the other side." This will, however, close the debate!

FIF'S 81ST QUARTERLY DIVIDEND

Financial Industrial Fund Shareholders will receive approximately $370,000 on March 15, 1956, when FIF's 81st consecutive quarterly dividend will be distributed to the fund more than 25,000 shareholders, Palmer, Pollack and Company, 84 State street, Boston, its New England distributor, announced today.

Lionel L. Pollack of Winchester is a partner in the firm.

The dividend of three cents per share will be paid to shareholders of record on February 25, 1956. Consecutive quarterly dividends have been distributed to shareholders since the fund commenced business in late 1935. In 1955 quarterly dividends distributed to shareholders amounted to $1,252,655 at the rate of 12 cents per share, plus a special fiscal year-end capital gain distribution of $1,822,652 at the rate of 17 cents per share.

For the year ending December 31, 1955, total net assets of Financial Industrial Fund, Inc., were $47,655,144, an increase of 51.5 per cent over the net asset figure of $31,444,833 on December 31, 1954. The increase for all 151 member companies of the National Association of Investment Companies, including both closed-end and open-end companies, in 1955 over 1954 was 24 per cent.

The number of FIF shareholders on December 31, 1955, was 35 per cent greater than on December 31, 1954, as compared to a 19 per cent increase in this period for all investment companies.

In January of 1956 an all-time record was established when sales for the month totaled over $4,000,000. A new record was established in January, also, for the total number of new investments and investment plans sold during the month.

The January total was 1,278 as compared to 774 in January, 1955.

Financial Industrial Fund, Inc., a mutual investment fund, is distributed in 31 states, the District of Columbia, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii and the Island of Guam. Home offices of the Fund are located at Denver.

A HANDFUL OF PEBBLES

One night long ago, three horsemen were traveling across a desert. As they were crossing a dry river-bed, out of the darkness a voice called "Halt!" They obeyed. The voice told them to dismount, pick up a handful of pebbles, and remount. Then the voice said, "You have done as I commanded. Tomorrow at sunrise you will be both glad and sorry." Mystified, the horsemen rode on their way.

When the sun rose, they reached into their pockets and found that a miracle had happened. The pebbles had been transformed into diamonds, rubies and other precious jewels. They remembered what the voice had said and understood why they felt both glad and sorry—glad that they had taken some, and sorry they hadn't taken more.

Greater intelligence and wisdom can be gained through scientific understanding of God, divine Mind, will be brought out at Christian Science Services Sunday.
The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mind" will include the following selection from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (128:4-11):
"The term Science properly understood, refers only to the laws of God and to His government of the universe, inclusive of man. From this it follows that business men and cultured scholars have found that Christian Science enhances their endurance and mental powers, enlarges their perception of character, gives them gentleness and comprehensiveness and an ability to exceed their ordinary capacity."
Also emphasizing the divine source of wisdom, is the Golden Text from the King James Version of the Bible (Proverbs 2:6):
"The Lord giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding."

MYSTIC SCHOOL PANEL

On Thursday, February 9th, parents and friends of the Mystic Chapter of the Winchester Mothers' Association met at the Mystic Auditorium to hear an interesting panel discussion on the topic "Developing Responsibility in Children."

Dr. Robert H. Anderson, Director of Elementary School Apprentice Teaching and Lecturer in Education at the Graduate School of Education was moderator and introduced the five Mystic Fathers who were members of the panel. He opened the discussion with the question, "How much responsibility do parents want their children to have in reference to home chores?"

Nicholas J. Grant, Professor of Metallurgy at Mass. Institute of Technology, suggested that it was necessary for the parent to believe in the assignment and to see that it was carried through. Dr. Grant spoke of the merit point system that had proven successful in the Grant household.

Allowances, was the next topic for the panel. Dr. Anderson stated that parents should help the child to bridge the gap between earning and spending at an early age. Harry Arlanson, Professor of Physical Education and Football Coach at Tufts University, expressed his belief that household chores should be a cooperative part of the home rather than a remunerative part.

Richard A. Sawyer, in sales with the Boston Woven Hose and Rubber Co., pointed out the advantage a summer camp could play to develop self reliance in a child.

Dr. Joseph J. Lynch, Jr., practicing Psychiatrist, emphasized the importance of the emotional development of the child. He felt that the child should be taught to face reality in step with his growth. Dr. Lynch stated that the child is anxious to please and that parents should guard against making too many demands before he is ready for them.

Dr. Donald E. McLean, practicing Pediatrician, traced the physical development of the child and the "help" that comes with each stage. He pointed out that each child has an individual time table and needs encouragement as he grows in order to develop responsibility.

During the question period that followed the panel, questions were directed both to the panel and to individual members.

Previous to the panel Mr. Herbert J. Philpott had lead the band in several numbers.

Mrs. Nicholas Grant, President of the Mystic Chapter introduced Mr. and Mrs. George Gowdy, Chairmen of the Winchester Scholarship Fund Drive. Mrs. Gowdy spoke briefly of some of the work of the Foundation and the Scholarship Drive which opens April 8th.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Grant credited the panel to Mrs. Wayne Davis, Vice-President of the Mystic Mothers. Refreshments were attractively arranged in Mrs. Laughner's First Grade Room by Mrs. Wiggins and her committee.

DEPT. OF PUBLIC UTILITIES CONSIDERS FARE INCREASE FOR EASTERN MASS. STREET R.R.

The State Department of Public Utilities has under advisement a proposed fare hike for the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., the Winchester Star learned this past week.

Eastern Mass., which is a bus company serving Winchester and surrounding communities, seeks the fare increase because of increased costs of operation, according to a company spokesman.

The company is asking a three cent per fare increase on bulk tokens and a five cent hike on single fare purchases. "Unless these fares are granted, the company will go into the red," a company spokesman said.

State Senator Frederick T. McDermott (Democrat of Medford), who represents Winchester in the upper house of the General Court, appeared at a hearing of the Department of Public Utilities ten days ago and opposed the fare increase.

Representative Harrison Chadwick (Republican of Winchester), said that he feels certain the Department of Public Utilities will reach a final decision which is fair both to the company's investors and to patrons of the bus line.

An intensive Fellowship Visitation Program will be launched Saturday, February 19, continuing through Monday, February 20, at the First Baptist Church, under the leadership of Dr. Cecil W. Pride, Chairman of the Diaconate Board. To clearly present to the people their responsibilities and opportunities in this Fellowship effort, Dr. Howard T. Dr. Joslyn will bring real help and inspiration at this meeting to thirty-five picked Callers before they start their Christian service throughout the Parish, in an effort to increase Church attendance and secure commitments to Church membership.

Following Dessert and Coffee Monday evening, February 20, at seven o'clock, the Callers will venture forth, taking their inspiration into the homes assigned them. A cordial invitation is extended to the community to share Dr. Joslyn's message Sunday morning with the members and friends of First Baptist Church.

SPONSOR OF WELCOME WAGON

Many a newcomer to Winchester has had her approach to a knowledge of the town smoothed appreciably by the Welcome Wagon representative.

She it is who calls on newly arrived housewives, answers their questions about churches, schools, where to get what, and most important from our angle, gives them a complimentary copy of the Winchester Star.

The Welcome Wagon representative makes a real effort to visit all new comers to Winchester, but it is hard to keep track of all arrivals, especially those who rent houses. She, and we know the newcomers, would appreciate residents of any neighborhood in which there are newly arrived families, giving her a ring at Winchester 6-3431 so that she can get in touch with them and be of help if possible.

You will be helping her and your new neighbors if you do!

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

On February 8, 1956, at the George Washington School, Cub Scouts, Pack 9, of Winchester, celebrated the forty-sixth anniversary of scouting and the fifth year of cub activities at the school with a giant blue and gold banquet. In attendance were the Cub Scouts and their parents to the number of almost two hundred. The menu centered around ham and beans and was prepared and served by the den mothers under the direction of Mrs. George Sjolund.

Guests included Chaplin Cassidy of the United States Navy and Winchester who delivered the invocation, Mr. Charles Bund, President of the George Washington School Dads' Club, and Mr. William Wickwire from Scout Headquarters.

The formal meeting following dinner included the induction of 3 new Bobcats, David Rowe, Stephen Fahey and Frankie McFarland and the graduation ceremony of Bobby Foley who advanced from cubbing into Troop 9 of the Boy Scouts. At the completion of the meeting, each Cub Scout received a loot bag containing a variety of surprise items ranging from an Indian head-dress to pilot wings.

LOOK OUT FOR KIDDIES!

Registrar King, Chairman of the Massachusetts Highway Safety Committee, urges all motorists to be extra alert during vacation week.

The Registrar says, "Prevent injuries this week. Slow down for children at play."

WINCHESTER UNITARIAN PLAYERS TO PRESENT "FAMILY PORTRAIT"

For their annual spring production, to be presented March 16th and 17th, the Winchester Unitarian Players will offer something out of the common run in amateur productions. This will be "Family Portrait," a depiction of an ordinary family which acts and speaks as we do today. However, this is no ordinary family. This is the family of Jesus of Nazareth, and the theme of the play is built around His words, "A prophet is not without honor, but in his own country, and among his own kin, and in his own house." "Family Portrait" is a dignified and beautiful treatment of a period encompassing the last three years of the life of Jesus. It centers not upon Jesus, but upon His brothers, and upon Mary, His mother, who alone in His family retains her faith in Him. The virtues of humility and tolerance are brought into sharp focus, and we learn that the bigotry we know today hasn't changed very much in two thousand years.

"Family Portrait" was originally produced in New York, and through her performance in it Judith Anderson gained much of her present stature as one of the leading actresses of the world. This first production contained other names well known in the entertainment world, such as Margaret Webster and Tom Ewell. New York critics were overwhelmed in their praise of "Family Portrait," and we quote from the Herald-Tribune: "An honest and straightforward simplicity and tenderness of feeling," and the Times said: "fresh and poignant significance." The people of Winchester and its environs will be treated to a rare portrait of the life from which Jesus came.

Rev. Robert A. Storer, who has been studying this play for some years, will direct this production, and the large cast contains a number of notables who have entertained us in the past. The subject matter of the book is such as to be enjoyable, interesting, and thought-provoking to all patrons. As previously mentioned, performances will be presented on March 16th and 17th, in Metcalf Hall of the Unitarian Church. Reservations may be secured by calling the Misses Mary and Catherine Spaulding, Winchester 6-0567-J.

ELECTED TREASURER

William H. Johnston, a junior at Harvard College from Winchester, has been elected Treasurer of the Kirkland House Committee for 1956-57. Johnston will take over the secretarial duties involved in serving over 370 fellow house residents in coordinating intramural athletics, planning discussion groups, dances and other social affairs in the House. Kirkland is one of seven undergraduate residences in the House Plan and is designed to give the College a feeling of community living, and an opportunity for informal student-teacher relationships with faculty members who are resident tutors. Johnston is a graduate of Winchester High School.

ST. MARY'S HOLY NAME

The annual Family Communion Breakfast was held Sunday, February 12. Three hundred members and their families attended mass at 7:45 a.m. and received Holy Communion in a body. The Mass was celebrated by Rev. Martin J. P. Dolphin, the Society's Spiritual Director.

After Mass a catered breakfast was served in St. Mary's Hall, followed by singing of old favorites, led by Herb Cleary at the piano. President Joe Foley welcomed the gathering and Chairman Bill Burns introduced our guest speakers. The recently appointed Monsignor, Thomas C. Garrahan of Marycliff Academy, the oldest active priest in the diocese, gave a short talk and as usual won the hearts of everyone.

The Very Rev. Msgr. Lawrence J. Riley, secretary to Archbishop Cushing, gave a stirring talk on Communism. He showed that the Church through the years has preached the evils of Communism and by its stand has become Communism's number one enemy. The Society thanks Fr. McCall for all that he has done at St. Mary's and extends best wishes to him on his new assignment. Fr. Dolphin closed the speaking program with prayer.

JUNIOR MRS. GUILD

The Junior Mrs. Guild of the First Congregational Church will meet February 21st at 7:45 p.m. in the Ladies Parlor. Dr. Paul Meyers will speak to the group on "How to Read Your Bible." For this interesting evening, the Business & Professional Women's Guild will be our guests. The hostesses of the evening will be Mrs. David Choate, Jr., Mrs. Richard Schroeder, Mrs. Charles H. Clogston, and Mrs. Charles Crede.

We have a new line of gift wrappings and ribbons. Winchester Star. Star Building.

SOME POINTERS IN PRIMARY TREES & SHRUBS

By Max G. Fultz
(Middlesex County Agricultural Agent)

Probably one of the most universal urges among home owners is the urge to prune or to cut the various trees and shrubs in the planting. In too many cases such desire is satisfied without enough thinking about the objective or results that follow. Pruning is one of the essentials in the operation and should certainly not be neglected when it is necessary. It should be done with full knowledge of plant growth and response and of the flowering habits of the particular species involved.

Trees are pruned enough to induce the proper shape and to allow proper leaf functioning. In the home grounds their purpose is shade and thinning out and corrective measures are not practiced in anything like the degree to which they are carried with commercial fruit trees for example. In shade trees, elimination of poor crotches, maintaining a good lead, gradual removal of some of the weaker wood are the only requisites. Dead wood, of course, should be taken out. Height is controlled by cutting back strong side limbs. Even heading back over the whole tree will merely set up a dense layer of growth that will shade out completely the remainder of the tree.

Flowering shrubs may be harmed more than helped if they are not understood. Spring flowering shrubs should have most of the pruning done after flowering. It is amazing how many shrubs flower sparsely because so many of the flower buds were cut off during the dormant season. Dead wood and aged canes that need replacing with younger shoots may be removed during the off season. This is a good system for most shrubs of this type. The gradual process of replacing old growth with new will keep the plant within bounds and vigorous at the same time.

Many fall flowering shrubs produce flowers on current season's growth. Such plants may be pruned in fall or spring. Two-year shoots in such shrubs as hydrangea or buddleia are taken out and one-year shoots pruned within a few eyes of the ground. In others dead wood only is removed with some shaping as needed. Although hedges are pruned in regular lines, it is very important to keep the top narrower than the bottom. This insures sunlight and air exposure to all portions of the hedge and keeps vigorous growth coming in completely to the base.

Travel books, photograph books, engagement books, 1 year and 5 year diaries and address books on sale at the Winchester Star. Star Building.

A language that is whistled, not spoken, flourishes in the Canary Islands, says the National Geographic Society. On hilly Gomera, people must communicate across long distances, and whistling carries better than shouting. By a series of higher and lower tones, pauses, intonations and stresses, a whistler can convey most of the information necessary for day-to-day existence.

PANEL AT I. C. SODALITY
The last meeting of the Immaculate Conception Ladies' Sodality until after the Lenten season, was held Wednesday, February 8, at 7:45 p. m. After Benediction the members and their guests retired to the Parish Hall where the inspiring and most informative Panel Discussion was held on the subject "Vocation and Parents' Role in their Fulfillment."
Speaking for the laymen, Moderator, Mr. Charles E. Kirby, founder and 1st President of the Serra Club of Boston, pointed out that Webster's definition of "vocation" was a calling, an occupation or profession, "therefore each one of us have assumed a way of life, and our primary aim is to make a success of that life. The Religious are a group of individuals set aside to help us in that fulfillment."
Rev. Father Jerome Does, C.P., of Brighton represented the Priesthood. Fr. Jerome spent 7 years in China. He told how the religious priest binds himself by vows of Poverty, Chastity and Obedience. His life is one of constantly striving for perfection. He prays for his own soul that he may more safely sanctify other souls.
In his talk on the Religious Brotherhood, Brother Hubert C.F.X., of the Malden Catholic High School explained that Xaverian Brothers were strictly a teaching order. He discussed the difference between the vocation of a priest and a brother, and settled many popular mis-conceptions about the Brothers' life.
Mother Larose, R.C.E. of Marycliffe Academy spoke for the Religious Sisterhood. This keen-witted nun held the audience spellbound as she explained how a girl desiring to be a nun, must be well-balanced, have a sense of humor and be capable of great love. Girls attracted to the sisterhood realize, she must dedicate her life to God. She is not shirking motherhood or life's responsibilities; rather a true religious is "self-less," not selfish. If your girl feels this urge, said Mother Larose, Pray for her and then let her consult someone who can best advise her to do so.
The Rev. Martin J. Dolphin of Winchester, Deanery Director of Vocations discussed the Diocesan Priests. The need is great for the secular diocesan priest, in order to keep up with Archbishop Cushing's expanding program.
Fr. Dolphin very fittingly summed up his remarks with the words of Bishop Landivieux of Dijon, France. "There are vocations which manifest themselves; they must be fostered. There are vocations which are not conscious of themselves; they must be awakened. There are many vocations which are in fear of being lost; they must be strengthened. There are vocations which are paralyzed by poverty; they must be helped financially."
After each panelist had given his address, there followed a question box, to which each panelist skillfully replied. A light collation was served, and as the evening drew to a close, one could feel the nearness of God through those who have dedicated their lives to Him.

ROTONDI
I have been interested in the parental backgrounds mentioned by some of our town candidates. All I can offer the citizens of the town is my family coat-of-arms as shown above.
Your candidate for Selectman is very happy and proud to be an American, and to have as exemplified by my family crest, this record of achievement and honor first bestowed on a Rotondi in 1337.
My purpose in reproducing this coat-of-arms is to show that being of Ethnic background, though considered by some to be inferior, is in reality being equal to all people who originally came from Europe.
I am sure the fine people of Winchester, when they go to the polls, will vote for the candidate they consider best qualified, and will not be prejudiced by any one's ancestral background.
I earnestly and with humility ask your support at the polls on March 5.

VOTERS OF WINCHESTER
BADLY HURT IN AUTO CRASH
Kevin D. McElhinney, high school senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. McElhinney of 18 Salem street, was badly injured Monday afternoon at 5:15 when the Ford sedan he was driving north on Woodside road between the two Winter Ponds got out of control and crashed into a tree, crushing into a heavy wooden fence.
Officers Thomas Parsons and Andrew Crawford were dispatched to the scene and were told by McElhinney that as his car approached the curve in the road his foot slipped from the brake to the accelerator pedal, causing the machine to veer sharply to the left and cross the sidewalk, finally crashing into the fence.
A 4x4 wooden plank from the fence rammed through the windshield of the Ford and out the rear window, striking young McElhinney in the side of the neck.
Riding with McElhinney was Louis C. Evangelista of 334 Main street. Both boys were taken to the Winchester Hospital by Philip H. Gallagher of 34 Cabot street, and Patrolman Robert Elliott of the police department, who was off duty and riding with Mr. Gallagher in the latter's car.
The boys were attended by Dr. George A. Marks. Evangelista was X-rayed for a possible hip injury and discharged. Marks said sustained severe face, neck and chest injuries, the full extent of which was not immediately known. He was held at the hospital. The car was wrecked and was towed to Haggerty's Garage.
"Safety Tip: Dusk is dangerous, warns the Triple-A. Reduce your driving speed when you turn on your headlights; be sure to dim your lights for approaching vehicles—and dim your lights when following another car, too."

WINCHESTER DADS' CLUB
If you weren't at the Lincoln School Valentine's Cabaret Dance last Friday night you really missed something. It was real fun. Between smooth and snappy dance numbers, the large turnout of couples relaxed and chatted at tables arranged in Cabaret style around the dance floor. Red and white streamers from a large crystal ball in the center of the hall completed the striking effect.
Singing by individual and group talent was enjoyed by all with "Buck" Buchanan as a very able master of ceremonies. Several Dads in "long-john" underwear clowning through an amusing stage skit depicting sports through the ages. Thanks to friendly local merchants, prizes were made available to the lucky ticket holders who were in order. Dave Gray, Charlie Doucette, Frank Giacalone, and Bob Sands.
Delicious refreshments were had by all and, to those who so sympathetically searched for Dave Gray's missing prize cannot hand, let it be known that it was found around the corner of the hall, and was given to the winner of said winners car. Who done it?
P.S.: Start planning now, for our Bean and Ham Supper, combined with a record hop Saturday, April 14th, at 6:30 p. m.

VOTERS OF WINCHESTER

I have been interested in the parental backgrounds mentioned by some of our town candidates. All I can offer the citizens of the town is my family coat-of-arms as shown above.
Your candidate for Selectman is very happy and proud to be an American, and to have as exemplified by my family crest, this record of achievement and honor first bestowed on a Rotondi in 1337.
My purpose in reproducing this coat-of-arms is to show that being of Ethnic background, though considered by some to be inferior, is in reality being equal to all people who originally came from Europe.
I am sure the fine people of Winchester, when they go to the polls, will vote for the candidate they consider best qualified, and will not be prejudiced by any one's ancestral background.
I earnestly and with humility ask your support at the polls on March 5.
Eugene B. Rotondi

BADLY HURT IN AUTO CRASH
Kevin D. McElhinney, high school senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. McElhinney of 18 Salem street, was badly injured Monday afternoon at 5:15 when the Ford sedan he was driving north on Woodside road between the two Winter Ponds got out of control and crashed into a tree, crushing into a heavy wooden fence.
Officers Thomas Parsons and Andrew Crawford were dispatched to the scene and were told by McElhinney that as his car approached the curve in the road his foot slipped from the brake to the accelerator pedal, causing the machine to veer sharply to the left and cross the sidewalk, finally crashing into the fence.
A 4x4 wooden plank from the fence rammed through the windshield of the Ford and out the rear window, striking young McElhinney in the side of the neck.
Riding with McElhinney was Louis C. Evangelista of 334 Main street. Both boys were taken to the Winchester Hospital by Philip H. Gallagher of 34 Cabot street, and Patrolman Robert Elliott of the police department, who was off duty and riding with Mr. Gallagher in the latter's car.
The boys were attended by Dr. George A. Marks. Evangelista was X-rayed for a possible hip injury and discharged. Marks said sustained severe face, neck and chest injuries, the full extent of which was not immediately known. He was held at the hospital. The car was wrecked and was towed to Haggerty's Garage.
"Safety Tip: Dusk is dangerous, warns the Triple-A. Reduce your driving speed when you turn on your headlights; be sure to dim your lights for approaching vehicles—and dim your lights when following another car, too."

WINCHESTER DADS' CLUB
If you weren't at the Lincoln School Valentine's Cabaret Dance last Friday night you really missed something. It was real fun. Between smooth and snappy dance numbers, the large turnout of couples relaxed and chatted at tables arranged in Cabaret style around the dance floor. Red and white streamers from a large crystal ball in the center of the hall completed the striking effect.
Singing by individual and group talent was enjoyed by all with "Buck" Buchanan as a very able master of ceremonies. Several Dads in "long-john" underwear clowning through an amusing stage skit depicting sports through the ages. Thanks to friendly local merchants, prizes were made available to the lucky ticket holders who were in order. Dave Gray, Charlie Doucette, Frank Giacalone, and Bob Sands.
Delicious refreshments were had by all and, to those who so sympathetically searched for Dave Gray's missing prize cannot hand, let it be known that it was found around the corner of the hall, and was given to the winner of said winners car. Who done it?
P.S.: Start planning now, for our Bean and Ham Supper, combined with a record hop Saturday, April 14th, at 6:30 p. m.

LATIN AMERICA'S "PATO"—BASKETBALL ON HORSEBACK

For 65 years basketball has fascinated North Americans, but the invention of a "pato" league in Argentina introduces a new twist. The Argentines play their basketball on horses.

Originated by the Indians and enthusiastically adopted by the hard-riding gauchos of the pampas, the game of pato has been called the roughest of them all, says the National Geographic Society.

Pato means duck in Spanish. The name is an apt one, for the original "ball" was a dead duck sewn into a leather bag. The duck's head was allowed to stick out, and two other handles were attached.

Wild Mele

Pato's object is to throw the duck into a basketlike net at each end of a polo-sized field about 230 yards long and 90 yards wide. The catch is that each player holding the ball must "offer" it at all times, holding the pato at arm's length so that opposing players can grasp it.

With hard riders and swift, sure ponies this can lead to what a sports writer has described as "a combination of lacrosse, ice hockey, polo, dueling and going over Niagara Falls with nothing but water wings."

The dead duck has long since been replaced by an official ball with six leather handles. Safety rules are rigidly enforced. But the game remains enough action to excite the most lapsed spectator.

The pato is free much of the time. The referee ends any tugging match between players within half a minute if neither has relinquished his hold or been pulled from the saddle. The scramble for the free ball is fast and furious.

Ponies are trained to seek the pato and to block out other riders.

The player must, of course, retrieve the ball from the saddle and usually at a fast clip. This is probably the most dangerous part of the game. With eight riders, four to a side, all vying for the pato, anything can happen.

Penalties are more severe than in most sports. The throw allows one free goal and a free throw at the basket. The player who is given deliberate obstruction such as crossing in front of a charging rider. Failure to offer the ball brings a free throw from the referee to the leader of the opposing team. Coming to a dead stop over a grounded pato also means loss of the ball to the other side.

Headlong Charge

The match players lined up on their respective goal lines. The pato is thrown by the referee into the middle of the field, whereupon all riders begin a headlong dash.

The goals are nets resembling airfield wind socks, mounted on padded poles some 20 feet high. As in polo, players are given goal ratings, but there are no ten-goal men.

The highest-rated rider in league competition is a nine-goal man, who is rated a phenomenal player.

The game is now confined to Argentina. But several other South American countries have expressed interest, as have fans in the United States, and plans are being made for international competition.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

Both lacrosse and a fore-runner game known as tokonhon (stick ball), or shinny, flourished among American Indians long before the coming of the white man, the National Geographic Society points out in a new book on Indians of both North and South America.

Djakarta, capital of Indonesia, is bursting at the seams with more than 2½ million people, says the National Geographic Society. It is previously short of housing. Most homes are shared by at least 2 families.

The island of Mauritius in the Indian Ocean was the home of the extinct dodo bird, says the National Geographic Society. Although the island is British, it was named for a Dutch prince. The majority of the people are Hindu and Moslem, but they speak a French patois.

GREENLAND: A LOST WORLD BENEATH A MANTLE OF ICE

Enough ice covers Greenland to envelop the entire world in a frozen sheath 17 feet thick.

Cut into jumbo ice cubes, it would give every man on earth a two-ton chunk once every minute for a year.

If it melted all at once, the world's oceans would rise by 24 feet—perhaps higher as Greenland itself lifted from release of weight.

Such are the almost inconceivable dimensions of the Greenland ice dome—647,800 cubic miles of ice. Paul-Emile Victor, French polar explorer writing in the current National Geographic Magazine, calls it a "recording machine of times and climates past."

From 1948 until 1953, and scheduled again in 1957, French expeditions to Greenland have explored and surveyed the icy face of the largest island on earth.

Totally unknown plains, plateaus, valleys and mountain chains were discovered buried two miles deep. Map makers blazed 10,000 miles of new exploration. Climatologists recorded conditions that affect the weather of the entire North Atlantic and the lands around it.

With weasels (World War II snow vehicles), a cable hoist, and air drops, the Victor expeditions managed to get more than 100 tons of equipment and supplies onto the perpetually frozen roof of Greenland.

They fought moving glacial snow and ice, slush, hummocks and crevasses, warm foehn winds and midsummer blizzards with gusts of 120 miles per hour and temperatures of 40° below zero.

Eventually their Central Icecap Station was built. For two successive winters, parties of eight men dug in and lived through some of the world's wildest weather.

Buried in snow, like prisoners in cells, they were not only to make readings, sometimes at 85° below.

For the first time, the depth of much of the icecap was measured. Bedrock in places was found to be below sea level. Reports were that Victor had found Greenland to be not one but three islands, but he himself writes, "We are hardly able to say this."

"What we found is that glaciers (of the central part of the icecap) have carved out canyons 20 to 30 miles wide and 300 to 1,200 feet below the level of the sea level."

Victor observes that Greenland's own ice is the chief reason why it has all not melted away long ago, as did the great ice desert that once covered much of northern Europe, Asia, and America. In Greenland the cold of past millenniums has accumulated; the icecap lives today on the cold of past ages.

NEXT SUNDAY AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Members and friends of First Baptist will start the second Sunday in Lent seated around the friendly breakfast table in the Social Hall, at nine fifteen o'clock. The cooking abilities of the men of the Brotherhood Bible Class, who sponsor these Family Breakfasts, is wide-open, and we know they will live up to their reputation.

The Church at Study at nine forty-five o'clock include classes for every member of the family, from Nursery to Adult Classes for men and women. An extended session for Nursery, Kindergarten, Junior and Primary Departments of the Church School follows all parents to attend the Sanctuary Service at eleven o'clock. Rev. Edwin H. Tuller, Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts Baptist Convention, a resident of Winchester and a member of First Baptist Church, will bring the Message. At this service, everyone, including the children of the Church School, will be privileged to make their "America For Christ" offering, which helps in the support of our home missionary program and Christian Education.

A cordial invitation is extended to newcomers to Winchester who are seeking a Church home to share these services.

JAMES H. COON FOR PARK COMMISSIONER

Voters of Winchester:
As a candidate for Park Commissioner at the Town Election on March 5, I wish to present for your consideration something of my background and my reasons for again serving in this office.

I was born in Watertown and graduated from Harvard with the degree of A.B. in 1913, and was identified in various managerial capacities with Chamberlain and Co., Inc., Boston, for 40 years until my retirement July 1, 1953.

Previous to my moving to Winchester in 1933, I have been a member of the Watertown School Committee. In 1939 I was appointed by the Moderator to the Town Recreation Committee.

After serving for several years as town meeting member from Precinct 3, my interest in the Park Department was stimulated by the participation of my eight children in the Park Department's various activities and I was elected to the Board in 1948, being re-elected in 1952. I served until July 1, 1953, when I resigned anticipating a change of residence to Washington State. However, as my plans there did not materialize, I returned to Winchester in September 1953 and was elected to fill a vacancy in the Town meeting members of Precinct 3.

Being retired from active business, I have the necessary time to perform the duties that the office of Park Commissioner demands. That plus my past experience as a member of the Park Board, qualifies me, I think, for your consideration.

Edmund Coffey of 56 Thomas street, Medford, who died Thursday, February 16, in a Medford nursing home at the age of 81, was known to many in Winchester through his marriage to a Winchester girl, the former Mary Hunt, who died in 1954.

A native of Ireland, Mr. Coffey lived for 50 years in Medford and was until his retirement for many years in the employ of the Medford Water Department.

He leaves three nephews, Dennis Collins, superintendent of mails at the Winchester Postoffice, Thomas Collins of Woburn and Frank Collins of Somerville; also a niece, Mrs. Thomas Carroll of Winchester.

MRS. NATALIE T. HARLOW

Mrs. Natalie Thumim Harlow, wife of James Bradford Harlow, of 3 Lakeview terrace, died very suddenly Friday, February 17, at noon while in Boston. Her death, attributed to a cerebral hemorrhage, was entirely unexpected and came as a severe shock to her family and the many friends she had made among residents of the town in all walks of life.

Mrs. Harlow was the daughter of Col. Nathan, and the late Laura (Barnaby) Thumim. She was born April 28, 1906, in Somerville, but came as a child to Winchester and as a girl first lived at 63 Mystic Valley Parkway and later on Oxford street. She attended the Winchester schools and entered high school with the class of 1924, leaving to complete her education at the Walnut Hill School and the Lee School in Boston.

She and Mr. Harlow were married May 28, 1927, and for ten years made their home in Elizabeth, N. J. Returning to town, they lived on Cabot street until last July when they moved to Lakeview terrace to occupy the former home of Ernest Dudley Chase.

Mrs. Harlow was a member of, and very active in the Friends of the Winchester Hospital. She served as a nurse's aid during World War II, and was a member of the First Congregational Church, being identified with many of the women's activities there.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Harlow leaves two sons, James B. Jr., of Rosemont, Pa., and William Barnaby Harlow, a senior at Deerfield Academy; two grandchildren, John Bradford Harlow and Leigh Holmes Harlow; her father, living in Arlington; and a sister, Mrs. Raymond Guy of Lexington, Ky.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the First Congregational Church. The minister, Dr. Dwight L. Cart, officiated.

HOME BADLY BURNED

A two-family house in the west side hill district of the town was badly damaged by a two-alarm fire late Wednesday afternoon, damage being estimated at in the vicinity of $8,000.

The occupants of the house, Mrs. Dorothy Robinson and her sons, Wayne, 16, and Bruce, 9, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ford (Clara Horn) and their daughters, Rose, 5, and Clara, 3; succeeded in getting out of the house safely, but the Robinsons, who occupy the second floor apartment, had to leave by way of the roof and a large tree nearby. Bruce Robinson had returned home after a hernia operation the day of the fire and his exciting experience put him back in the care of his physician Thursday.

The fire apparently started in the heater-room of the house, hot ashes being believed by fire authorities to be the most likely cause. In spite of the families being in the house the fire got a good start before neighbors discovered it and phoned the Central Fire Station.

Box 144 was put on at headquarters at 5:10 p. m. and Chief James E. Callahan ordered a second alarm. Mr. Francis E. Nute of Providence, Rhode Island, who was in the house when he and his men found the front of the house alive with flames.

The fire ate its way up from the basement, badly gutting the rooms of the first floor apartment at the front of the house and working up through the partitions at the front to the roof of the dwelling. Heavy smoke from the tar-paper underlay made the work of the firemen doubly difficult.

On the second floor a front bedroom and a small bedroom at the Dunster lane, telephone Winchester 6-8739. Contributions will be called for if this number is called.

The Robinsons and Fords had only the clothes they were after the fire. The Fords were taken to the home of relatives in town and the Robinsons found haven with neighbors.

Residents of the district raised $227 Wednesday evening for the stricken families, and any others who may want to help are asked to send contributions of money, clothing, food, etc., to Charles Irwin, 21 Dunster lane, telephone Winchester 6-8739. Contributions will be called for if this number is called.

MISS MARY E. LeDUC

Miss Mary Elizabeth LeDuc of 205 Mystic Valley Parkway, retired chief clerk of the office of the Collector of Taxes at the Town Hall, died Sunday evening, February 19, after a long illness. She entered the Winchester Hospital about a year ago for an operation and never returned home, undergoing several operations during her long hospitalization.

Miss LeDuc was the daughter of the late George D., and Margaret E. (Sheridan) LeDuc. She was born October 23, 1901, in Winchester and was educated in the public schools, graduating from Winchester High School in the class of 1920. Illness forced her to leave Boston University after completing her freshman year.

After several years at home Miss LeDuc entered the employ of the then Richardson's Market on Mt. Vernon street as a book-keeper, remaining there until she joined the staff of the late Nathaniel M. Nichols, then Winchester's Collector of Taxes.

For the past 14 years Miss LeDuc remained in the Collector's office, serving under Mr. Nichols and the present Collector, Donald Heath. She had risen to the position of chief clerk at the time of her illness, finally retiring because of her health September 1, 1955.

Miss LeDuc leaves two sisters, Miss Winifred A. LeDuc of Winchester, with whom she made her home, and Mrs. Margaret Gormley of Woburn; also a brother, George F. LeDuc of this town.

S.O.I. BOWLING LEAGUE

With the finish line in sight and with only five furlongs to go California tightened the race with Georgetown to a neck and neck duel down the stretch. California blasted out four points as Georgetown was able to salvage only three.

Team Standings:
California	27 - 9
Georgetown	27 - 9
Boston College	22 - 14
Notre Dame	18 - 18
St. Mary's	14 - 22
Holy Cross	13 - 23
Alabama	13 - 23
Bates	10 - 26
Hi Single:
Richard Bucci, California	150
Hi Triple:
Joe Berardi, Georgetown	384
Top Six Bowlers:
Tony Saraco	102.9

Richard Bucci	101.6
Choppers Gangi	99.4
Jeff Gaudioso	95.9
A. P. Tofuri	95.9
John Buttafucio	93.3

We had a fairly good amount of 300 Bowlers this week. The parade was led by "Mighty Mouse" Tony Saraco with 330; followed by A. P. Tofuri, 331; Choppers Gangi, 330; John Buttafucio, 316; Johnny Mangano, 308; Deadhorse Chetalo, 306 and Jeff Gaudioso, 300.

California led the pinfall parade this week with 1435. They are putting all their power in one concentrated effort to win top honors this second half. This team consists of "Rocky" DiTesso, Dom Simonetta, John Buttafucio, Johnny Mangano, Pete Fiore and their very capable leader, Captain Richard Bucci.

As your reporter entered the alleys this evening it seemed that he had entered a Miami Bowl-adrome. The shirts and their colors reminded one of spring-time. The only drawback was the one worn by "Hokie" as he nonchalantly shuffled from alley to alley like a beggar on the streets of Paris looking for a handout and a lot of sympathy.

It isn't too hard to say that this one-time great bowler was low man last week with a 239 and it was the reason why he was shuffling around. It doesn't seem possible these days for anyone to work at B.C. and get down to the alleys by six o'clock and practice till quarter of seven when the bowling starts.

How do you do it my friend, who will only visit Havana through a travel folder? What old time bowler persists on keeping his pipe in his mouth as he bowls? We are happy to announce that the 4x8 splint supporting "Sir Winston's" broken fingers has been removed and the injury is supported with a steel girder. Who is Carolina? It's hard to believe but here are some of the low scores of the night. Dom Suppa, 233; M. D. Saraco, 231; Rudy Rotondi, 237; Ralph Tauro, 239 and Sammy Bellino, 248.

See you next week!

FROSH UNDEFEATED FOR SEASON

The Winchester Freshmen made a perfect season's record of 14 straight victories with a 50-33 win over Concord freshmen Friday at Winchester. The Freshmen had the game in the bag all the way with leads of 15-8 at the quarter, 30-19 at the half, and 42-30 going into the final period.

Doug Thomson kept up his pace to lead the Sachems with 15, making 10 in the second half. Hank Kiley was right behind Doug with 10 points. For Concord, Anderson was high scorer of the game with 19, the eighth grade lost another tough one 38-31.

The Freshmen have one of Winchester's best first-year teams with outstanding record in all departments of play. One of the big factors in this great team is the support from the high school students. At some of the out-of-town games the fans were about equal from each school. The boys on the squad should be especially proud of their cheerleaders.

For the season Doug Thomson was high scorer with 193 points and Captain Dave Schumacher was 23 behind with 170. The only other player to top 100 was Slater Martin with 104.

The totals and averages follow:

Player	Games	Points	Average
Hank Kiley	14	85	6.1
Tim Reynolds	13	33	2.5
Slater Martin	14	104	7.4
Terry Mulford	15	41	2.7
Bill Wilson	8	14	1.8
Dave Schumacher	11	170	15.5
Ned Blackwood	12	41	3.4
Dave Littleton	12	3	0.2
Doug Thomson	14	193	13.8
Bob Thompson	7	18	2.6
John Horn	12	28	2.3

WINCHESTER SET BACK BRAINTREE

Winchester High cleared what many believed might prove a big hurdle in its path to an undefeated season when the Indians won over a good Braintree High team, 70-63, Tuesday evening before a capacity crowd in the new gymnasium.

In winning its 48th consecutive victory Winchester wasn't over-impressed. The Indians had a 40-25 lead at half time, and perhaps this 15 point bulge caused the boys to take the second half for granted. Sloppy play with some particularly careless passing permitted the dogged, never-say-die Braintree boys to whittle down the Winchester lead, and though there never was too much doubt of the outcome, the seven point victory was not one of the Indians best efforts.

In their defense it can be stated that Bobby Smith, generally among the top scorers for Winchester, was limited to one brief appearance and considerably handicapped by a badly cut finger sustained in the Kennett game.

Callahan, who replaced him, did a great job and led the team with 18 points. Both he and Kneeland went out on fouls in the second half and with a couple more regulars on the ragged edge with fouls the Winchester game of necessity had to be on the cautious side.

Braintree proved a good club and in Zanght, Adams, MacKenzie and Carmichael had four boys to match Winchester's top four in scoring. The Winchester seconds remained undefeated by winning the preliminary game easily from the Braintree seconds, 63-32.

WINCHESTER PETITIONS FOR "A" TOURNEY BERTH

After Tuesday evening's seven point win over Braintree High School, considered one of the best of the Class B basketball teams, Winchester's defending Class B champions, with a winning streak of 48 straight, voted unanimously to petition the State Interscholastic Basketball Tournament authorities to compete this year against the Class A teams in the State Title series at the Boston Garden.

The Winchester players have been leaning strongly toward a Class A try this year, ever since the Boston sportswriters dug up the enabling rule in the tournament regulations, and when the question was put to the team after the game by Coach Jim Phillips, every player voted to go after the big ones.

Coach Phillips explained carefully to the players the risk involved in going out of their class, but the boys felt they had won the "B" title two years in a row and wanted new worlds to conquer. As one explained it, if we are going to lose, we would rather lose to an "A" team than to a "B" team. The players themselves, however, aren't figuring on losing!

Coach Phillips told the Star the decision was made by the boys themselves and the Athletic Department of the school. Other school authorities were not involved.

Most of those closely acquainted with schoolboy basketball seem to feel that Winchester, which has spread-eagled its position throughout the season, including Class A Arlington, and has defeated "A" opposition in scrimmage sessions, can compete successfully with the strongest teams Class A can produce.

It has also been reported that the State schoolboy basketball authorities have wanted Winchester in the A competition because they believe a winning Winchester team in A will be the strongest possible State representative in the New England.

This, of course, remains to be seen! Meanwhile, local fans, previously divided on the question of risk-taking, are now in for a shot at the A Diadem, will now close ranks and get solidly behind the Indians as they take the warpath toward the class A hostiles. Catapult scalps, you Aberjona Redskins!

Meanwhile Winchester must now compete in the Class A playoff for tournament berths with Arlington, Brockton, Cambridge Latin, Dorchester, Duxbury, Everett, Lawrence, Lawrence Central, Lynn Classical, Lynn English, Medford, Roxbury Memorial, New Bedford, North Quincy, Salem, Somerville, Archbishop Williams of Braintree and Beverly. The playoffs take place the latter part of next week at the Brandeis Court. Eight teams will be chosen for the tournament.

MYSTIC SCHOOL NEWS

February, a month of special days, was the theme of a delightful assembly program presented by the third graders in Miss Lillian Salice's class on February 14. Besides entertaining their schoolmates and parents at a regular assembly, the youngsters took their program to the good ladies at the Home for the Aged in Winchester.

The program opened with a poem entitled "February's Hall of Fame," which recounted some of the reasons for the richly deserved fame of this month. There followed another poem called "Our Valentines."

Next on the program was the play, "Her Royal Valentine" in three scenes. The concluding number was a dance, "The Virginia Reel," in which the entire class participated. Charles DuToit was the announcer, and the stage managers were Dana Chase and Kevin Wiggins.

Other members of the cast included:

Janis Carucci	Wayne DeStefano
Paul Ussell	Dorothy Nelson
Nancy Chase	Joseph Lynch
Robert Howard	Jeffrey Strout
Thomas	Maria Canuto
Margery Hicker	Stephen Carpenter
Kenneth Donnell	Arthur Stafford
Bria Hutterlaub	Edward Calvin

Social Studies Program

Fifth graders in Mrs. Eileen Hartwell's class have been studying the accounts of the brave explorers of early American history. When they finished their study, the youngsters took a vote to decide who was the most exciting explorer. Instead of selecting Cortez, the conqueror of the Aztecs, or Pizarro, the master of the Incas, the group chose the intrepid Francisco Coronado who failed in his search for the Seven Golden Cities.

Following their selection of Coronado, the pupils spent a good deal of time searching for additional facts of interest about him. Then they assembled all of their information and wrote an original play called "Coronado and the Seven Golden Cities." Hours of preparation and rehearsal were rewarded by a splendid performance on February 16.

Members of the cast were as follows:

Robert Emmons	Donna Colclough
Stephen Wardwell	Russell Hart
Cecilia Richmond	Jonathan Shiley
James Menucci	John Brotherton
Janie Proffitt	Margot Hall
Gail Somerby	Jane Farson
Jeff Grant	Kate Robinson

Bruce Carpenter	Diane Kelly
Barbara Sansone	Ruth Heekley
Marie Scalesse	Susan Farley
Susan Bryant	Edward Bennett
Richard Clarke	Jackie Kohl
Gary Poor	Linda Nelson

The announcers for the assembly were Judy Morrison, Mary Ann Johnson, Caroline Griffiths, Marjorie DeYoung, and David Eaton. Stage Managers were Richard Cronin and Richard Rowe.

WON VALUABLE PLAYER AWARD

Paul McManus, a freshman at Holy Cross, has been named the winner of the Most Valuable Player Award of the Collegians, a team of ex-high school stars, who finished their season last Thursday night with a 53-40 victory over Leicester Junior College.

McManus is the son of Dr. Philip J. McManus of Winchester. He attended St. John's High School, in Danvers, where he led the 1955 team in scoring with a 17.2 average.

His big nights came against Fordham freshmen and Nichols Junior College when he scored 37 and 35 points respectively. He ended the season for the Collegians with an 18 point average.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

The sandy island of Old Nantucket was the setting selected by Mrs. Edith Phelan's fifth grade class at the Washington School as the theme for their assembly program on February 16. Lucretia Coffin Mott, played by Roberta Marinelli, was a real character in the island's history, and she was the center around which the play was constructed. Richard Hanson played the part of her father, a sea captain in the China trade who is reunited with his Quaker family and island friends after two years at sea. Ruth Ann Hutchinson was cast in the role of Mrs. Coffin, the lady who kept the family together during the long absence of the men folks.

The preparation of this interesting dramatization involved several areas of class work. The dialogue was written by the class as a part of its language study. A spectacular mural of the harbor made an effective background for the drama. The choral singing about ships and island life one hundred and fifty years ago helped to recall the spirit of New England's whaling days.

Other characters in the cast were as follows:

Sally	Catherine Crue
Betty	Hope Barker
David Coleman	Richard Cronin
Sailor	Leonard Timpane

Hussey	George Rotond

ON COMMITTEE MEETING STORY

Editor of the Star:

Your report of the recent public hearing of the Town Incinerator and Dump Committee was unfortunately lacking in pertinent information, and erroneous in statements attributed to me. The impression gained by the public as a result of this report and subsequent statements that will be made, could prove not only embarrassing but detrimental to the subject under investigation.

Every courtesy was extended to those present by the Committee in an effort to bring about the controversial subject in detail.

The newspaper account should have reported the fine talk by a resident of town and authority on Sanitary Engineering, Mr. Rolf Eliasson of M.I.T. Mr. Eliasson spoke of the surveys in Needham and Wellesley and of his experiences in New York and elsewhere. Cautioning the townspeople not to base their opinion on sites and emotions because of locality or emotionalism but to look forward to longer range planning and with all ways serious thought to the tax cost.

Mr. Donovan, Mr. Lynch, and Mr. Russo, all of Precinct 6, expressed strong opposition to selection of a site in their precinct. Mr. Russo, a town meeting member, stating that twelve of his neighbors had asked that he forward their similar opinions.

Mr. Eddy, a member of the previous Town Dump Committee in (1944), also registered opposition to the Cross Street-East street location.

As for the error in your report of the Hewis part of the proceedings, may I make this observation as to what I did propose and suggest.

I refreshed the committee's mind that in proposing the erection of an incinerator I was only repeating an original proposal in 1944.

The present system of "sanitary fill dumping" to my mind had been far from satisfactory, and reporting the cost of operation of the town dump in 1944—Labor $2,200, Other Expenses $495, and in 1955 $8,000 for Labor and Other Expenses $2,300. In addition to this increase there were expenditures of over $30,000 for land taking, equipment (truck, garage, and bulldozer), and road building. It is apparent that this is much too costly a procedure to continue.

I concluded my remarks by presenting this statement:

"I recommend to this committee, that they request the town meeting to vote to continue the investigation for another year, and ask for an appropriation of $2,500 to be spent to engage competent Sanitary Engineering and Planning advice. That if the committee did not present this in the form of a motion at Town Meeting, then I would."

Mr. Harding doubted that this amount was sufficient and to a question from the chairman, Mr. Eliasson replied that he felt it was quite large enough for the required service.

In your story it appears that I favor control burning. This is not true.

To a question put to me by the chairman, Mr. Smith, to state my position on the subject—Rubbish Collection and Controlled Burning, I replied:

"I favor the collection of rubbish by the town or Contracted by the Town, that it did not necessarily lead to dirt or rubbishy towns like Longmeadow and others. That, even if the committee recommended controlled burning, it should recommend controlled collection."

As for controlled burning, I reminded those present of children that were burned while a system of burning had been used previously, here in Winchester. I would not be in favor of burning (controlled or otherwise) anywhere in town except in an incinerator."

I certainly appreciate your consideration in correcting this misunderstanding and remain,

Sincerely,
Arthur J. Hewis, Jr.

(Editor's Note: Our reporter was delayed by another meeting and arrived late. We regret that we were unable to be present for the entire meeting.)

DESERVE ADMIRATION

Editor of the Star:

The boys of the High School basketball team deserve the admiration of their town for making a recent decision to attempt the coming Class A tournament at the almost certain price of relinquishing their fourth Class B championship.

All of us—in our homes, classrooms and Sunday schools—are proud of our young people learn to face difficult decisions with courage and conviction. What our basketball players have done suggests they put a greater value on the spirit of competition than upon the sometimes hollow satisfaction of winning.

A challenge accepted is a victory in itself.

I am reminded of the High School's hockey team of a year ago, which was in danger of not being permitted to play in the State Tournament because it competed independently and was considered to be inferior to more established schools. Friends interceded with the tournament committee, and the boys responded by winning the State championship—a thrill not many of us will forget.

The outmoded notion that bigger schools somehow produce better or more spirited athletes did not appear to influence the Winchester hockey performance.

The writer has consulted several Class A basketball coaches, two or three of whose teams have scrimmaged Winchester this winter. They share two common opinions: That, playing its best game, Winchester is capable of winning the A tournament; 2. That the team will have an even chance against any of its prospective rivals.

Isn't that all Winchester has ever asked for its high school athletes—an even chance? That, win or lose, the boys play with credit to themselves and their school?

Finance Committee Recommends Pay Hikes For Teachers; $48.00 Tax Rate Expected

Winchester's property tax rate may jump from $43.60 to $48 if recommendations of the Finance Committee are approved by the March Town Meeting. If Departmental requests denied by the Finance Committee are granted by Town Meeting, the tax rate will reach $50, according to Finance Committee estimates.

The increase is necessary to support expenditure requests contained in the Finance Committee Report distributed throughout the Town this past week with the Annual Meeting Warrant.

In expenditure terms, the Finance Committee's estimate for departmental appropriations for 1956 totals $2,579,691.48—compared to $2,425,920.01 last year.

The total amount which will have to be collected from taxes on property in 1956 if the Finance Committee recommendations are accepted will be $2,189,685.60—compared to $1,945,364.42 last year.

The biggest single factor responsible for the increases recommended in the Finance Committee Report is a general upward scaling of salary schedules.

Schools
The Finance Committee has recommended a $300 across-the-board increase in teachers' salaries. The School Committee had requested $450. The Finance Committee and the School Committee justified the increase requests as necessary if Winchester wants to attract good teachers.

If approved, the School Department budget will be $1,078,458.96. The initial request entered by the School Department was about $100,000 higher than the $978,458.96 recommended by the Finance Committee. The Finance Committee also recommended that an independent committee be established to probe the problem of teachers' salaries, differentials between men and women, and the number and amount of step-rates.

Higher Salaries
Other Town employees are in for a 7 per cent pay increase, if the recommendations of the Finance Committee are accepted. The Personnel Board had requested a 9 per cent increase. The Finance Committee said in its report that it does not believe the Town can afford the full 9 per cent increase this year.

The 7 per cent increase will require appropriations of $52,000. A 9 per cent increase would require $67,000 for 1956.

If granted, these increases would be in effect from April 1 through December 31, 1956, and not for a full year.

Water Department
Article 29 in the Warrant requests a bond issue of approximately $125,000 for the Water Department. In addition, the Department is asking a departmental appropriation of $175,114.11—compared to $115,000 last year.

In its report, the Finance Committee said "The substantial increase in the Water Department Budget . . . results from the recommendations made by the engineering expert consulted this past year."

"The Winchester Water system needs an extensive over-haul. Total estimated expenditures of from $650,000 to $750,000 will be required."

"The cleaning of the mains in the west side of Town, the introduction of an additional pump in the system, connection of the north and south systems, the laying of mains in the Forest street and Highland avenue area, and the laying of a main from Church street to Ardley road, are scheduled for 1956 and should be approved."

Debt Service
The impact of borrowing for the Senior and Junior High Schools will be felt in 1956. Interest charges have risen from $39,695 to $47,610. The Town must repay $167,000 of its debt in 1956, compared to a $117,000 repayment in 1955.

FROM DR. CLARK

Mrs. Sophie Bowman
45 Church street
Dear Mrs. Bowman:

Thanks for your fine work in taking over as the Chairman of the Heart Fund Drive in Winchester and also appreciation to the numerous other workers who are co-operating in this most wide-spread effort.

As Director of the Cardiac Work Classification Unit in Boston, which is doing an increasing amount in evaluating persons with heart disease for work in industry and in placing them in gainful employment, I have had an opportunity of seeing "heart dollars" and have meant, not only to individuals but to communities where persons have been removed from relief rolls and made self-supporting and self-respecting.

As a member of the Rehabilitation Committee of the American Heart Association, I have also had an unusual opportunity to see what the Heart Fund is making possible on a national level. Research supported by this fund has led to the cure of numerous congenital heart conditions, to the surgical relief of many young persons with rheumatic heart disease who would have otherwise been disabled as invalids, and to the prevention of complications.

Our largest problem today is the question of why so many persons develop coronary disease, often at a young age, and what can be done to prevent this. President Eisenhower's recent illness has brought this much to the fore in American thinking. Research in this field is being pushed vigorously on a world-wide basis by the American Heart Association and there are reasons to hope that the number one disability of modern man may soon be much better understood and controlled. Your efforts and those of others over the country, for this one purpose alone, should prove most rewarding, for few are the families not afflicted sooner or later by coronary heart disease.

All success is yours,
Sincerely yours,
Richard J. Clark, M.D.

Warrant Articles Span Problems From Parking To Pay Increases

The Warrant distributed to residents of Winchester this past week contains 44 articles which range in subject matter from parking facilities to pay raises for Town employees.

Article 19 calls for $25,000 for "constructing, improving, and embellishing" a parking lot on the Skillings lot opposite Town Hall. Despite endorsement of this article by the Finance Committee, certain members of the Planning Board have indicated that they may oppose the project until a study of the best use of the lot is filed. Some Planning Board members argue that perhaps the land could best be used as a commercial, tax paying property.

Passage of Article 25 would transfer from the School Department to the Park Commissioners, the care of school playgrounds, vacant grounds, and Manchester Field.

Articles 6 and 7 request blanket 10 per cent pay increases for all Town employees, excluding school teachers. Although unfavorable action is recommended, the Finance Committee Reports recommends a 7 per cent increase for all Town employees and an across-the-board $300 increase for school teachers.

The acceptance of nine roads is requested in Article 16. Unfavorable action is recommended only in the case of Grant road.

Articles 17 and 18 come on petition of Eugene B. Rotondi and others, and ask acceptance of parts of Sunset and Churchill roads. Town Counsel Vincent P. Clarke has filed an opinion which says that the securing of plans, drawings and estimates, and estimates for these streets has not been approved.

Unfavorable action is recommended on Article 24, which seeks establishment of a Building Committee which would study "ways and means of providing adequate space and facilities for School Department Administrative Offices, authorized by the Planning Board, and the securing of plans, drawings and estimates, and estimates for same, raise and appropriate money therefore, and take any action in relation thereto."

Favorable action is recommended for Article 32, which would establish a building committee with an appropriation of $4,500 to study, plan and make estimates on an addition of the public library.

Article 34, if passed, would authorize the Board of Health to burn combustible material at the disposal area off Swanton street and in the former disposal area south of Swanton street.

Article 35 would hear and act on the report of the Incinerator and Waste Committee, which has probed burning and incineration of rubbish.

Articles 36 and 37 concern the reports of the Fiscal Survey Committee and the Town Report Form Committee.

The Water and Sewer Board is seeking authorization to contract for additional water supply under Article 28. Article 29 would authorize improvements in the Town's water facilities.

BOSTON FLOWER SHOW TO OPEN MARCH 11

This year, spring gets off to an earlier start than usual with the opening of Boston's famed Flower Show on March 11, at the Mechanics Building. For an entire week, thousands of visitors from every New England village and town will get a foretaste of spring as they view Gardens on Parade. Seven acres of flowers and gardens brim full of fragrance and color will transform Boston's venerable old landmark into a floral paradise.

An elaborate Southern garden, filled with azaleas, camellias, magnolias, boxwood and other favorite spring flowers, will dominate the stage in Grand Hall. The lavish gold accents and additional color will be the unfolding panorama of spring. An entire garden devoted to lilies, a naturalistic planting featuring a waterfall and rare garden plants, as well as a garden for outdoor living and a gay garden of June flowers will complete the picture.

Eleven garden clubs, working under the direction of the Women's Exhibitors' Association, are exhibiting. C. Wright, Chairman, have as their theme, "Ideas for Small Gardens." Special attention to entrance plantings and patterns for small gardens will be combined in a picturesque setting with all the skill and imagination for which these amateur gardeners are widely known.

The flower arrangement section of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts, under the direction of Mrs. William C. Breed, will have as its theme, "Suburban Living." Intimate home settings for flowers, and distinctive arrangements emphasizing effective ways to use cut flowers, will highlight this section of the Show. One class, calling for flowers on a budget, promises to be particularly exciting.

More attention than ever before is being focused on the needs of the home garden. The University of Massachusetts will stress the value of shade trees around present-day homes, with emphasis on the ways in which they can be used most effectively. Other features will include a large display of cactus, a seaside garden setting, an outdoor living room and a unique display of tropical plants.

WINCHESTER LIONS GET HINT OF TOWN'S FUTURE FROM LYMAN

A hint of what Winchester may look like ten or twenty years from now was given members of the Winchester Lions Club by Harrison F. Lyman, Jr., secretary of the Town Planning Board.

Speaking on planning in Winchester before 30 Lions at their Monday evening meeting at Randall's, Mr. Lyman talked about developments in land use which will affect the face of the Town's future.

He said that a developer has won tentative approval of a large subdivision to be located in the West Hill District. This project would contain more than 150 houses when completed.

Mr. Lyman also said that the Planning Board has under study the best use of the Skillings Estate across from the Town Hall. Although the Selectmen feel that $25,000 should be appropriated by Town Meeting to make this area into a parking lot, Mr. Lyman said that perhaps the land could best be used for commercial, tax paying purposes.

He said that three commercial firms approached the Planning Board during the past year, seeking the Skillings property for commercial development.

An elementary school may be needed in the West Hill District, Mr. Lyman said, and the Planning Board favors acquisition of land for such a school. With development of residential sites in the town, it is expected that there will be need for a school in a few years.

Mr. Lyman also said that his Board is considering the problem of providing more office space for Town departments and offices. One alternative being considered would make the present Town Hall into an office area and use the High School Auditorium as a Town Meeting hall.

982 WINCHESTER RESIDENTS RECEIVING SOCIAL SECURITY

Mr. Gerald J. Murphy, district manager of the Cambridge Social Security Administration office, has released the most recent figures on the number of beneficiaries and amounts of monthly payments distributed to Winchester residents under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance program.

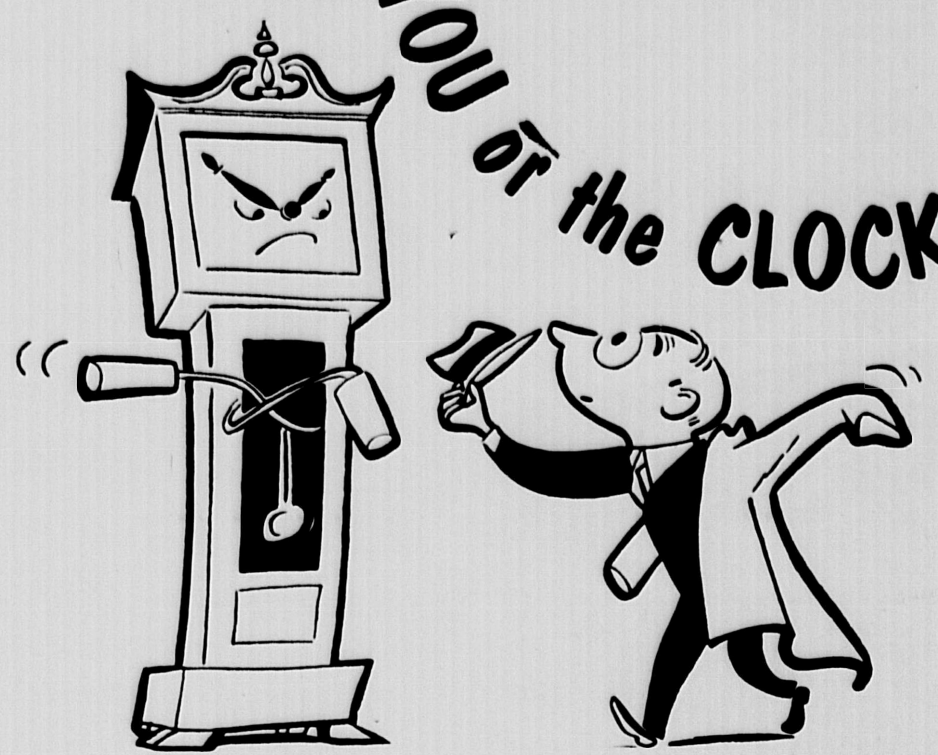

These figures reveal that 982 Winchester residents receive $577,900 in monthly benefits resulting in an annual payment of $6,934,800. A breakdown of the categories receiving the above amount monthly is as follows:

Old-Age	762	$36,455
Wife's or Husband's	179	5,240
Children	115	4,606
Widow's or Widower's	117	5,616
Parents	35	1,726
Parent's	3	134

Mr. Murphy pointed out that there are more than 8 million beneficiaries throughout the country in receipt of monthly payments. Individuals desiring any information relative to the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance provisions of the Social Security law should not hesitate to contact the district office located at 2 Trowbridge street, in Cambridge, which services the Winchester area. For those desiring to telephone, call UNiversity 4-3900.

FLOWERS IN THE HOME GROUNDS PLAN

by Max G. Fultz
(Middlesex County Agricultural Agent)

As we consider seriously the problem of ordering our seeds for the home garden for the coming year, flowers should be given consideration. Flowers make possible a show of color throughout the growing season that cannot be attained by use of flowering shrubs alone. Also, use of annuals and perennials enables the gardener to have a more continuous supply of color. Basically, in our home grounds planning we have white and green as the colors most commonly found, evergreens are an integral part of most plantings. Working out neat effects and for easy maintenance there is nothing better. Also, they round out green color for the year around. Green and white, however, are a bit plain and even drab without the livening effect of other colors. Real splashes of color are best produced by annuals and perennials.

Flowers may be placed best formally in the home grounds planting picture. They may be placed formally in beds for more or less private show and for cutting. As a rule, these formal beds are placed in the back or side yard wherein there is ample space and accessibility.

As a part of border and foundation plantings flowers may well be placed in clump formations, just as are deciduous shrubs; a compact group of each kind of flower would correspond to the individual shrub. They are excellent for working out the foreground of background effects. They may be planted using shrubs for a background, or a border may consist of flowers in themselves with larger perennials forming the background for annuals and low-growing perennials, bulbs, etc. The clumps of flowers are not placed geometrically but in wavy-outlined, irregular effects.

These informal flower beds may be placed in between groups of other plants along the borders that frame the picture. Also, they may be placed in between corner plantings of the foundation arrangement. They are excellent to use in front of windows, since they are not high enough to interfere with the view.

It will soon be time to start seed in flats of such annuals as ageratum, aster, dianthus, petunia, marigold and scabiosa. This is usually done in March, or in some cases in late February.

County Commissioners Uphold Selectmen On Road Acceptance

The Middlesex County Commissioners have upheld the Winchester Board of Selectmen in refusing to accept certain streets in the Churchill road area.

Action of the Commissioners came on Tuesday, February 14, following a petition of Eugene B. Rotondi which asked that the action of the Winchester Selectmen be declared "unreasonable."

Under law, if the Commissioners find that the Board has been unreasonable, it can compel acceptance of the layout.

EPILOGUE

Many perplexing problems face a woman who has suddenly become a widow, but life insurance is not one of them. Instead, it is a SOLUTION to problems. Probably she will need money at once, and if the settlement is in order, her Life Insurance checks will be in the mail within a few hours.

Some friends will send sympathy; some will send flowers. If her husband had foresight, his Life Insurance will send her an income for life. She can't outlive it. She can't lose it in a spending spree. This reservoir of income can't be burned, stolen, or loaned to relatives.

And best of all, she won't have to look in the afternoon papers to find out how much her next check is going to be. Life Insurance is always good property for a man to own, and it is the best property a widow can receive. The greatest "problem solver" the world has known.

BURMA IN A REVOLUTIONARY WORLD AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Mrs. E. Carroll Condit of Newton Centre will substitute for her husband, Dr. Condit, on the program of the Thursday, March first, luncheon meeting of the Women's League of the First Baptist Church, speaking on the subject previously assigned to him: "Burma in a Revolutionary World."

Burma's story is unique in the progress of the work of the Baptist denomination and in her political history as effected by a revolutionary world. Also it has been said that "Burma's women are the freest under the sun."

Appointed by the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society the Condit's sailed from Boston to Burma in November 1911. E. Carroll Condit of New Jersey had met the former Isabel Adams of Vermont while a student at Newton Theological School, and she a teacher in Framingham. Their assignment in Burma was to Thanyetmy, two hundred miles north of the port city of Rangoon to work with the Southern, or Asho, Chins. From this station Dr. and Mrs. Condit retired in 1954 after over 42 years service. Their three sons were born in Burma, Edward Carroll III, a Mechanical Engineer and active Church layman in his father's home city, Trenton, N.J., Rev. Clinton A. of Lakewood, Ohio, and T. Chubb Condit of Ocean Park, Maine, Executive Secretary of the New England Baptist Conference.

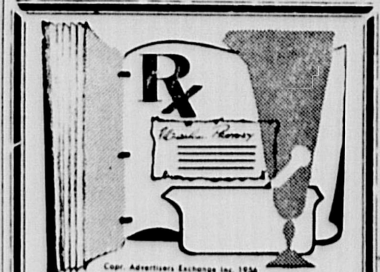

Mrs. Condit's talk will be an interesting and informative highlight in the League's current program on "The Christian Mission in a Revolutionary World."

STUDIO GUILD

TO BE GUESTS OF THE FORTNIGHTLY

At the regular meeting of the Fortnightly, on Monday, February 27th at 2:00 o'clock in the social hall of the First Baptist Church, the program will be under the direction of the Fortnightly Art Committee. Special guests of the club will be the members of the Studio Guild of Winchester. Since that time, the Studio Guild has become an independent club, with a busy schedule of classes, exhibitions, etc., of its own.

At Monday's meeting, the program is to be a demonstration of portraiture by Gladys Maynard, well known Boston artist. There will also be an exhibition of paintings by Winchester High School Juniors and Seniors under the direction of Miss Pauline Goodrich, head of the High School Art Department. FOR RADCLIFFE

WINCHESTER HOUSEWIFE BUSY FOR ALMA MATER

Fully one quarter of her waking hours, Loretta Clarke Redding of 10 Cranston road, telephones, meets or thinks Radcliffe, as every alumnae president must.

She's at every Alumnae Committee meeting, except the Nominating, trimly tailored of appearance, direct of speech, cheerful and very firm. By virtue of her office, she sits with the Trustees of the College, regarding this a high honor indeed.

Her friends know her as a neighborly woman; at her Winchester home on the crest of a windy hill she makes her own soap, grows strawberries, sews gift aprons, contrives scrumptious cookies for convalescent friends, interests herself in youngsters and their schooling. For holidays, she and her lawyer husband (who is president of the Dartmouth Alumnae Association in Boston) climb mountains. And, "for sheer pleasure, not a good cause," this expert in good causing has until this year been talking French every Monday morning. In a few years, she says, she'll rejoin the other Winchester College Club women who've lived abroad, in their weekly French-speaking group.

Mrs. Redding prepared for Radcliffe, class of 1929, at Medford High, was the first girl in her family to go to Radcliffe. She concentrated in Romance Languages, then took herself to Toulouse for a year of study of history and literature among the French. She thinks her French is better now than it was. She taught Latin and French until she married. The Reddings had a year in Washington, while "Squeek" worked for a Senator and "Ret" explored; then returned to their present Winchester home.

For eight years, until 1945, Mrs. Redding was field representative for the Metropolitan Boston Chapter of the American Red Cross, organizing its fund raising and other programs in 18 cities and towns. Currently, she is secretary for the Winchester District Nursing Society and a member of the standing committee of the Winchester Unitarian Church.

She was chairman of the Radcliffe Alumnae Fund for two years, directing the drives which helped build Holmes Hall and boosted the college's unrestricted endowment. As Alumnae president, she hopes to hasten the progressive recognition of distant alumnae on our committees and in our activities that must come with Radcliffe's achieved status as a national college.

"It is important," she says, "to make alumnae away from Cambridge feel that they are an integral part of the Association." (Radcliffe "Re-News"—January, 1956)

DR. SHEEHY ADDRESSES KNIGHTS

Following the regular meeting of Winchester Council 210, K. of C., Tuesday evening, February 14, Brother Knight and Honorary Member, Doctor Richard W. Sheehy, popular local physician and chief of Staff at Winchester Hospital, addressed the Council.

Dr. Sheehy's talk was enthusiastically received. His remarks took the listeners back to the early days of medicine and medical school, and to Doctor Sheehy's early practice in Winchester when science had not reached the heights it enjoys today.

The problems of diagnosis of those early days without the fine X-Ray technical "knowhow" we have today were pointed out with the terrible toll which disease took on the people. The early days of few drugs were also compared with the plenitude and effective use of whom today, resulting in so little whooping cough and diphtheria and pneumonia being controlled almost over night by penicillin and sulphur drugs.

Tribute was paid to the early doctors of Winchester, notably a Doctor Allen who successfully championed despite opposition, various important health measures, including the delivery of milk into Winchester. Doctor Sheehy also mentioned the free tonsil clinic established in town to ward off the high rate of this disease in children of those early days.

Doctor Sheehy dwelt next on the improved surgery we have today and much better anesthesia aids, as well as specialization in various diseases, pointing out that we have in Winchester 20 specialists to five general practitioners. There is a great field today for the latter, the speaker said.

Concerning Hospitals, Doctor Sheehy spoke proudly of the Winchester Hospital, tracing its early growth from a small wooden structure on Washington street to the fine impressive building it now occupies.

An interesting question and answer period followed with much reminiscing among Dr. Sheehy and the Knights, many of whom have always had the Doctor for their family physician and so could attest to his kindness, and to the warm regard everyone holds for him.

K. of C. Jottings
Grand Knight Vin Erhard and Deputy Grand Knight Tom Gramzow attended the recent hearing at the Gardiner Auditorium at the State House which concerned the K. of C. movement to keep Columbus Day on October 12th. Practically all of the Legislators seemed to agree with the K. of C.

Sick members of the Council are Leo Garvey who is at the Mass. General undergoing surgery; Jack McHugh, Aiden Underwood, appendectomy at the Symmes; and Anthony Carroll at Winchester Hospital. The Council wishes these Brothers a speedy recovery. Brother Garvey is undergoing a most serious operation and the Council offered their prayers for him at the recent meeting.

LOST LIFE IN TRAIN WRECK
ERNEST A. TOURTELLOTTE

The wreck, characterized as one of the worst in New England in 44 years, came during Tuesday's

Boston from New Hampshire. Thirteen persons lost their lives in the wreck with more than one hundred

ROTARY CLUB TO PRESENT
COMBINED CONCERT

One of the most outstanding musical events of the season in the greater Boston area will be in Winchester on March 18, when the town's Mystic Glee Club unites with the Lexington Choral Society and a chamber orchestra to present
"Cantata No. 4 (Christ Lag in Todesanden)" by Johann Sebastian
Bach, and the Requiem Mass in D
Minor by Wolfgang Adameus Mozart. This concert, to be held in the new high school auditorium, will feature the singing of two musical organizations which have earned enviable reputations in New England. The Lexington Choral Society, in its sixteenth musical season of presenting choral masterworks, numbers more than 100 singers and presents three major concerts each season. The Mystic Glee Club has been in existence for more than fifteen years in Winchester, presenting regular programs for the community. It has also been honored by many awards in competitive singing against other New England glee clubs. The unification of these two groups should result in one of the finest singing organizations in the entire country.

Both of these musical groups are under the direction of Allen C.
Lannom, who is well known across the nation for his dynamic musical leadership. He has been guest conductor of musical festivals in Maine, Connecticut, Minnesota,
California, and has received high local recognition for his choral groups at Boston University as well as for the two organizations uniting for this program.

Accompaniment for these two musical works will be provided by a professional chamber orchestra of twenty-two musicians. A solo quartet has also been selected to assist.

This event is under the sponsorship of the Winchester Rotary Club.
Tickets are available from all Rotary Members or at Mouradian's, 40
Church street, McCormack's Drug Store, Rutherford's 2A Mount Vernon street.

LT. CMDR. CONRAD S. LARSON
IN RESCUE

Word has been received in Winchester of the participation of a local boy in the rescue of eight men, lost in the Antarctic, when their plane, a DeHavilland Otter crashed.
Two New England men were aboard, Chief Surveyor George Moss of No. Providence, R. I., and Construction Driver Roland Lesve-que of Beverly.

The downed plane, was flying from Marie Byrd Land to Little America with some members of a trail blazing party whose tractors had broken down in the Rockefeller Plateau area. The rescued men included Lt. Cmdr. Glenn Lathrop, Jr., of Costa Mesa, Calif., a personal friend of Lt. Cmdr. Larson and Lt. Paul R. Streich of Arvado, Colo.

The plane crashed February 3rd, on Edward VII Peninsula, 125 miles northwest of Little America, and on February 9th, the wreckage was sighted, but planes were unable to land in that area. On the same day, a helicopter piloted by Lt. Cmdr.
Larson of Winchester, landed at the scene of the crash. The men were found some distance from the plane, trying to make their way to Little America. In a little over an hour all hands were back in Little America, and the Navy Task Force in Antarctica reported "All hands safe and well."

Lt. Cmdr. Larson left for the Antarctic, November 11th, on the icebreaker "East Wind" operation
"Deep Freeze" is now on its 12,000 mile track back to the United States.

Lt. Cmdr. Larson lives on Marshall road and is married to the former Jane Davis of Lakeview avenue. They have two children,
Peter and Kathi.

BARBARA P. CLARK CANDIDATE FOR SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Voters of Winchester:
Last week in this paper, I presented my qualifications and background as a candidate for the School Committee of Winchester. This week I should like to present to the voters a few of my thoughts and ideas.

The practice of electing women to two of the six places on the Winchester School Committee has worked well. Through daily observation of the child-school relationship and through frequent contacts with other mothers, a women learns a great deal about the functioning of our school system. Other women feel free to approach her for information or explanations. Also it is possible for the women members to attend daytime meetings or duties in which the School Committee has an interest.

Towns with a good school system maintain and even increase the value of all real property, make a town a desirable one in which to reside and do business, besides giving its young people a first rate education. In other words, good schools assure every citizen the best from every viewpoint.

If elected, I shall endeavor to justify your confidence in me by working for the best schools possible for Winchester.

SCOUTMASTERS TRAINING COURSE

The Scoutmasters' Training Course currently being given by the training committee of Fellsland
Council is proving a great success.
Eighteen men were in attendance the first evening, February 1st, at the Lincoln School in Winchester.
Mr. Seymour Bingham opened the meeting, and he was followed by a talk by Robert Bigelow. Also assisting was C. E. Pabst of Woburn.
Subsequent meetings have been held every Wednesday evening. The subjects covered so far have been Fundamentals, Organization and Leadership, Program Planning, and Helping the Boy Grow.

We have been fortunate in having had the services of such men as Charles Forbes of Medford, Warner Smith of Woburn, and Harry A.
Gardner of Stoneham. These men have proved that scouting can be both interesting and beneficial to the community when many hands make light work.

Two more meetings are to follow on February 29th and March 7th.
Discussions will be given on meetings, hiking and camping. Following the completion of the last meeting the men will have an overnight camping trip to be held at Camp Fellsland in Amesbury. This will wind up a well given and well attended Scoutmasters' Training Course.

S.O.I. BOWLING LEAGUE

On and on, and into the home stretch, with only four weeks to go and another memorial S.O.I. Bowling schedule will close its books to a successful season. The highlight of the last meeting was the battle between top-ranking California and Georgetown.

Team Standings:
California 30-10
Georgetown 28-12
Boston College 25-15
Notre Dame 19-21
Alabama 17-23
St. Mary's 16-24
Holy Cross 13-27
Bates 12-28
Hi Single:
Richard Bucci, California 150
Hi Triple:
Joe Berardi, Georgetown 384
Top Six Bowlers:

Tony Saraco 103.5
Richard Bucci 101.2
Choppers Gangi 99.4
Musky Tofuri 97.4
Jeff Gaudioso 96.9
John Buttafucio 96.5

We had an abundant group of 300 bowlers this evening. This group as in many times in the past was led by Tony Saraco, 348; Sam Bellino, 322; "Musky" Tofuri, 318; Max LaCrubba, 306; John Buttafucio, 305; John Dattilo, 303; "Choppers" Gangi, 302; Joe Ciarcia, 301; Johnny Mangano, 301.

The hi average department was pretty well nailed down tonight by that mighty little bowler Tony Saraco took a commanding lead and in my opinion it will be a trot to the finish for him the rest of the way. The feature of the night was between California and Georgetown as they locked horns in an unprecedented battle for top glory. "The outcome as you will note was California which ended on top 8-1. Georgetown's Captain and inspiration Jeff Gaudioso, did his utmost to sway the tide as he single-handedly won the second string with a spare in the last box to tie the score one all. California, however, was not to be denied as they ran rough shod and took the final string and total pinfalls.

Boston College and Notre Dame also locked horns for a drag-out fight as they also are battling to climb on top if either of the two top teams falter in these last few closing weeks.

Notre Dame bowled a spectacular 1475 and a 520 string, but Boston College bowled a 1492 with an average of 99.4 per man as they took three points to notify California and Georgetown that they are breathing down their necks on the home stretch.

Boston College is captained by one of the finest bowlers around, Musky Tofuri, whose gallant warriors are Corregidor Fiore, Andrew Diapella, Paul Lentine, Joe Ciarcia and Phil Adagno.

Word from the grape vine has it that the kangaroo kid, Jeff Gaudioso, was consuming milk all day long before the immortal battle with California. They say that after the battle he was drinking spirits to forget.

Corregidor Fiore was giving a demonstration of Army Training Manoeuvres to the younger set as he demonstrated a beautiful spread eagle dive for cover. They picked him up! He forgets he's not eighteen anymore.

Who is Goddess? We like to accommodate the wives of the bowlers and having received numerous requests to publish the low bowlers of the week, they are as follows.

Richie Riga, Dom Suppa, Peter Fiore, Joe Dilorio, Richard Penta, Dom Provinzano, (honest) Corregidor Fiore with 291 and the phillie kid, Dan Gattenieri, 284.

Will the bowler from Loring avenue grab the ticket now available to Havana or not? A new capitalist has been added to our roster, John Dattilo, who is now operating a laundrette. Sir Winston Frongillo is still absent. He was last seen being pushed around in a wheel chair and being administered Codeine tablets to ease his pain by Dr. "Curly Locks" Chic Vespucci the eminent osteologist and dermatologist.

The award this week went to the boy with the famous crew cut Dom Provinzano.

See you next week!

NOONAN SCHOOL PUPILS PRESENTED MEXICAN PROGRAM

Our great North American neighbor which lies south of the Rio Grande was the subject of a gay and colorful assembly presented by the fourth grade in Miss McGowan's class at the Noonan School recently. An outgrowth of the class' Social Studies work, the program consisted of a short play and several original compositions.

"Les Muchachos" was the title of the entertaining play, and the cast included the following: Brenda Porter—Mrs. Lopez Karl Wolsey—Mr. Lopez Diana Gale—Rostia, their daughter

Herman Nelson—Pedro, the son Sue La Rose, Robert Rae—American tourists

Of much interest to the audience of schoolmates and parents were the original reports on Mexico and Mexican life—location, climate, clothing, customs, food fiestas floating garden, to mention only a few.

Among the children who participated were: Carolyn Paine, Victor Lawson, Anne Donovan, Eric Schaefer, Joseph Rosillo, Robert Rae, Thomas Pearson Carol Lindmark, Ronald Scherban, Karl Wolsey, Mary Ann Caputo, Judy Larson, Herman Nelson, Christine Marvin, Michael Saraco, Ruth Ann Loftus, Claire Denton, Kathy Gaynor and Diane Gale.

The program was concluded with the dancing of the Mexican Waltz by the entire class. Mary Ann Caputo was the announcer throughout.

RUSSELL OSWALD

PUBLIC INVITED TO HEAR ADDRESS

Mr. Russell G. Oswald, recently appointed Commissioner of Correction of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, will be the speaker at the evening meeting of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester on Wednesday, March 7, at eight o'clock at the Junior High School Auditorium.

This meeting was originally scheduled to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Volpe, 10 Everett avenue, but because of the general interest accorded Mr. Oswald and his work it was thought advisable to hold it in the Junior High School Auditorium so that more people may be able to hear him.

As Commissioner of Correction, Mr. Oswald has jurisdiction over correctional institutions located at Bridgewater, Concord, Framingham, Norfolk, Charlestown and Walpole, as well as the prison camps at South Carver and Monroeville.

This meeting is not limited to members of the Women's Republican Club nor is it to be political in nature. It is open to the public and all are most cordially invited.

COACH MEURLING'S 1931 UNDEFEATED CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

PHYS ED SUPERVISOR SUCCESSFUL COACH

He was christened Alfred R. Meurling, but if you went looking for a person by that name at Junior High School, or asked any one around town where such a man could be found, you would get a blank stare and very probably this reply, "I dunno, I know a 'Mickey' Meurling", and who doesn't. "Mickey", in his 25 years in Winchester has become a town institution.

For the benefit of the "come latelies," "Mickey" Meurling is the School Department's supervisor of Physical Education for boys and girls of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the elementary schools, as well as for three divisions of seventh grade (junior high), and seven of nine divisions of eighth grade (junior high) boys.

In addition to this straight physical education work he runs all the intramural games for the seventh and eighth grade boys, including touch football, basketball and baseball. Over the past two years, of course, the intramural program has been in mothballs, due to the necessity for afternoon sessions for Junior High pupils because of the school building program; but with the return to morning sessions recently the program has again come to life, with 23 teams competing in basketball and a total of 80 percent of the eligible boys enrolled in that sport.

For the past eight years "Mickey" has coached the eighth grade varsity basketball team, which plays a schedule of games against junior high and high school freshmen teams, with a goodly number of the latter on the roster.

Despite the fact that freshmen teams are, generally speaking, a year or so older than the Winchester eighth graders, Coach Meurling's teams have done well against them and the other junior high teams, posting the almost unbelievable record of 86 games won and only 17 lost.

Teams at the eighth grade level are seldom consistent enough to make such a record, and that the Winchester youngsters have achieved such a feat is a great testimonial to the Meurling brand of coaching and handling. Perhaps the handling of boys that age in competitive sports is just as important as the actual teaching of the game they play. "Mickey" grades high in both departments.

"Mickey" started intramural sports for junior high pupils in Winchester in 1932 when the new junior high school building provided him with the luxury of a gym. He has been at it ever since except for the periods when he was in the Navy during World War II and during the recently ended building program.

"Mickey" was born in Brockton and graduated from Brockton High School where he participated in track. He continued his track work while at Springfield College as a pole vaulter on the varsity team and he also represented Springfield on the wrestling team in the 118 pound class.

The popular junior high mentor

ly salary of $1,800 per annum, and that stipend seemed doubly regal the next year when a school reorganization reduced the Physical Education budget so that both he and the girls Phys Ed supervisor had to get along together on $1,800. It was five years before the Meurling pay returned to his starting figure.

"Mickey" was pretty youthful appearing when he first arrived in Winchester and recalls with amusement the time the late Mrs. Annie O'Sullivan, beloved Wadleigh teacher, "jumped him" when she mistook him for one of the boys and caught him taking a drink at a bubbler when all pupils were supposed to be in class rooms. You "minded your mark" when Mrs. O'Sullivan was in charge, or else, and her intended discipline of "Mickey" was one of the few known times the veteran teacher exhibited any embarrassment. As "Mickey" put it, her face was really red!

His first year in town, "Mickey" coached both cross country and track at high school succeeding "Mel" Vanner, whom he followed to Winchester. It was "Mel's" departure for Belmont that made the opening for "Mickey" here.

Few coaches who have come to town had better luck than "Mickey" in his first year as a varsity coach. Not only did his 1931 cross country team go through its dual meet season undefeated, but the boys went over and won the Harvard Inter-scholastics at Cambridge, something the equivalent of the present State cross country meet.

During World War II "Mickey" served in the Navy, going around the world on a merchant ship as commander of a Navy gun crew, known as a suicide squad. He was discharged with the rank of Lt. Commander in 1943 and that year married a Winchester girl, "Kay" Weld. They make their home at 48 Winthrop street.

One of the extra-curricular activities for which "Mickey" is widely known in his direction of square dancing. It all started, he says, five years ago when he was called upon to take girls in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades for Phys. Ed. sessions. Wondering what in the world to do with the girls, he tried square dancing on them and they loved it! He then tried it on the boys and had some sales resistance.

When, however, he was able to show the boys instances where college football and basketball coaches were using ballet to help their athletes the boys agreed to try the "square dance racket," and were won over with the first session. Now they look forward to their "stompin'" all along the line, with the junior high pupils eagerly awaiting their square dance parties each year.

Besides running his school square dancing "Mickey" also runs square dances for junior high and high school church fellowships and PTA groups, all of whom describe his leadership as "wonderful."

But it was after all his basketball coaching that resulted in this story, for a short time ago a group of junior high boys visited the Star office and asked us to do a story about "Coach Meurling." "The high school coaches get all the credit," said the boys, "and it's really Coach Meurling who gets their players started for them!"

"Mickey" does have quite a record. His eighth grade team last year, the present undefeated high school freshmen, did not lose a game of the eleven they played, and the present undefeated high school jayvees, considered by many the equal of most Class B varsity teams, have not lost a game since they were undefeated Meurling eighth graders.

"Bob" Smith and Neil Muncey are the only boys "Mickey" could recall who have made the high school varsity and were not regulars on one of his eighth grade teams.

"Mickey" is responsible for the Winchester boys start in basketball. He, of course, works closely with the varsity coach and Athletic Director, teaching the same basic plays and patterns as those used by the high school varsity, and stressing fundamentals and all around play. Every boy on every Meurling-coached team knows how to play every position on that team as well as his own.

Naturally enough "Mickey" is very popular with his young charges, and he in turn thinks the Winchester kids with whom he works are tops. He can tell you many stories to prove their fundamental soundness.

Outside school "Mickey" loves to work with wood. Several years ago he helped "Don" Simonds build several of the boats that really started the snipe fleet at the Boat Club, but he confesses he has little time for saving and planning nowadays. What with his teaching, coaching, square dancing, and graduate work at B. U. his odd minutes as well as his even ones are pretty well filled up. Perhaps that is one of the reasons he seems to be having such a doggone good time. He has no opportunity at all for boredom.

RED CROSS 75 YEARS OLD GREATEST NEED EVER FOR FUNDS IN ANNIVERSARY YEAR

This year marks the 75th Anniversary of the American Red Cross. It also marks the greatest need in 10 years for an outstanding Red Cross Fund Campaign. The organization faces an acute financial crisis, and the 1956 bulletin of the national organization showing it to have been "the worst disaster year in American history" also shows that it has all but exhausted ARC emergency funds.

During and after the flood disasters in Massachusetts and Connecticut alone, last year, the Red Cross aided 8,354 families at a cost of over $11,000,000.00.

The executive committee of the Board of Governors, at an emergency New York meeting called by Chairman E. Roland Harriman recently, increased the national goal of 1956 Red Cross campaign for members and funds by $8 million to total $90 million, representing 15 percent more than last year's contributions. The American people are being asked to give more than in any year since 1946. This increase was made necessary by a series of tornadoes, hurricanes and floods, including the current Western States Flood Operation, costing the Red Cross an all-time record of $27 million for emergency relief and recovery.

When local canvassers ring your bell for the Fund Campaign to be carried out between March 4-11, please bear in mind that your help is needed on a broader plane than a purely local one. It is needed in California, southern Oregon, and western Nevada, where more than a million acres were under water and more than 20,000 people were fed and housed by Red Cross chapters in 83 mass shelters. It is needed wherever people are in trouble, and in this disaster-ridden year, many, many thousands of people are in serious trouble. This year be a neighbor to the nation.

WHAT IS COMMUNITY THEATRE?

WELL KNOWN WINCHESTER
WOMEN HAVE ANSWERS

Miss Corinne Mead whose Community interest, activities and vision as our librarian for many years has said of the Theatre Project: "The term 'Community Theatre' implies wide participation by people of the town. Drama, like Music, is a sort of Common Denominator and when applied to Community effort provides opportunities for the fulfillment of the deepest instinct of humanity—the Need for Happiness in Working and Playing together. I believe the organization of such a Community Theatre in Winchester has a distinct place and now seems a good time to start."

Miss Grace Wills, long-time director of Lincoln House and through their well known and excellent dramatic activity, is an able authority on what Community participation of all ages can do for people in terms of pleasure, relaxation from worry, and development of hobbies and talent. To quote her:

"In contrast to a theatre group which belongs to a special church, a private or public school, or a club, the Community Theatre is open to all who wish to fit into its aims and goals. Like any theatre or group of players, it offers opportunity to the town at large for creative participation in acting, scenic work, publicity work, etc. It must satisfy the average taste—the average pocket-book. It must however open doors to broader and finer adventure. It must bring work and fun to all who participate in worthwhile productions."

If possible it should give performances in a public auditorium if such has anywhere near adequate facilities."

TROOP 1 CHATTER

During the weekend of February 18th, Troop 1 and twenty-five guests spent a wonderful time skiing at Etna, New Hampshire. We stayed at The Keenes, a lodge at the foot of Mt. With perfect snow conditions, everyone, even those on skis for the first time, enjoyed the marvelous skiing. We also went to a dance in Hanover, had a sugaring off, and spent many hours of fun around the fireplace in the lodge.

EDITORIAL

Monday is voting day, and it is very much to be hoped that there will be a representative vote cast in the town election at the Town Hall. You get about what you demand at the polls in the way of government, and this year there can easily be some whacking big upsets if enough people decide to absent themselves from the polls.

Elsewhere in this issue is the attendance record of town meeting precinct members for the year, 1955. It will bear a bit of study. The League of Women Voters, who compiled the record for the Star, was surprised to find it rather better than some had believed that it would be.

On the whole, however, the record could be a lot better. Of the 195 members spread over the six precincts only 56 attended all 6 town meetings held last year, or a little better than 27 percent. Only fifty attended five meetings and only 30 went to four meetings. Five went to no meetings at all and seven, to but one meeting.

This isn't exactly an impressive record when you consider that these precinct members are really office holders, elected by their friends and neighbors to represent them in the transaction of town business and to vote for them on matters affecting their living conditions and pocketbooks.

Only 56 of 195 precinct members went to all six town meetings last year. Six does not seem like a great many meetings to attend. Six evenings devoted to a job the holders of which had signified their willingness to assume. And the attendance doesn't show the precinct members who seldom, if ever, stay until the end of a town meeting session. Even though sessions are dragged out away beyond what they should be, the precinct members have asked to be elected to attend them and should do so to the end!

Being a precinct member is not quite the same as voting at the polls. There one loses only his own vote if he does not cast his ballot. As a precinct member an absent voter deprives many others besides himself of representation in the conduct of important town business.

PRAISE FOR WELCOME WAGON

Editor of the Star:

I would like to tell you and the people of Winchester how delighted and surprised I was to have the charming Mrs. Fitts, hostess of the Welcome Wagon call on me, February 8th.

She was so pleasant and helpful in explaining various points of interest, and gave me among other items a map of Winchester donated by the Winchester National Bank, for which I was very grateful. She also gave me cards introducing me to the various merchants. Upon visiting their stores I was presented with a very useful gift.

I can only say it is one of the nicest ways of welcoming newcomers to your very pretty town and I am very grateful.

IN APPRECIATION

Editor of the Star:

May I through your columns express my sincere thanks to our Police Department, and my deep appreciation of the splendid service they rendered at the time of my husband's sudden illness and death Monday morning, February 27.

Unable to reach a physician immediately, I turned to the police for assistance. Their prompt response was very gratifying and I shall never forget their courtesy and kindness. It is very reassuring to know we have such men to aid us in our hour of need.

WINCHESTER IN PLAYOFF WIN

SALEM 71-63 VICTIM AS INDIANS MAKE TOURNAMENT HISTORY

Winchester High's 1955 State Class B Basketball champions made an auspicious start in their bid for a Class A title this year when they beat Salem, 71-63, in an opening round playoff of the Class A competition Tuesday evening at Brandeis gymnasium. For Winchester it was its 51st consecutive victory, longest string in Massachusetts schoolboy history, and the Indians also made tournament history by being the first school to play out of its class.

For the Indians the win was a big one, not only because it moved Winchester along in the scramble for Class A honors, but because of the way the victory was achieved. All year Winchester has been outclassing its opposition and there were many who frankly wondered how the Indians would react if they had to fight for their lives all the way.

They had to Tuesday evening! As a matter of fact they had to come from behind in the last five minutes of play to salvage the victory that kept their title aspirations alive.

The locals looked a bit shaky earlier in the game, when for all their heights they were not getting the rebounds and were waiting for the play to come to them rather than controlling the game as a champion should.

It was "Joe" Bellino, one of Winchester's great all time clutch performers, who kept Winchester in the game, and the sheer force of his will to win finally set his mark on fire in the final minutes of play, during which the Indians gave an electrifying exhibition, outscoring Salem, 15-5 when the chips were down and the issue hung in the balance.

Bellino's value to the team was clearly apparent when he left the game with less than two minutes to go in the first half. Winchester had a comfortable 10 point lead at the time, but without Bellino's drive, scoring ability and all around play, this advantage quickly melted away and Salem just missed knocking the count at the half when its tying basket started hopward after the buzzer sounded.

Bellino led both teams in scoring with 30 points, 18 in the first half and 12 in the second. Flynn of Salem missed Bellino's total by a single point, and showed Winchester the best assortment of scoring shots they had seen all winter.

Winchester and Salem were all tied up at 17 at the quarter with the Indians having a basket advantage at the half, 36-34. Salem was in front at the three-quarter mark, 48-46, and had a three point lead with five minutes left to play, 58-55.

Then with Bellino leading the way, and twice stealing the ball to keep Winchester in charge the Indians really poured it on, outscoring the Watchers, 15-5 to win by eight points. Apsey scoring the final basket just before the gun.

Winchester had 28 baskets in 60 shots to 20 for Salem in 64. Salem had the edge at the foul line, converting 23 out of 28 to 15 out of 30 for Winchester. DeMule of Salem had nine out of ten, Flynn seven out of eight and Courtney, six out of eight. Bellino made eight of his fifteen free throws good. The summary:

CHADWICK-BERGSTROM SUPPORT BOSTON AREA PLANNING LEGISLATION

Two Winchester men are among the group of Greater Boston civic leaders who are pledged to support the Boston area regional planning bill which will be discussed in legislative committee March 7, the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday.

Supporting the bill are: Representative Harrison Chadwick, who was one of the legislators who introduced the bill; and Oliver T. Bergstrom of Sheffield road, president of the Middlesex County National Bank in Everett.

The proposed legislation (H. 836) would create a regional planning council for the metropolitan Boston area. The council would draw representatives from each of the towns and cities now in MDC districts. Action of the planning council on local plans would be purely advisory, but the council would attempt to integrate the planning efforts of municipalities and agencies of state and county government in the area.

Mr. Bergstrom is chairman of the Metropolitan Affairs Council of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, which is supporting the legislation. He points out that Greater Boston is a regional planning council in order to compete successfully with the other great metropolitan areas of the nation.

The regional planning council, Mr. Bergstrom explains, would not restrict the autonomy of the cities and towns. Instead, it will provide the basic information and plans which the cities and towns can utilize to improve their local services.

"The regional plan will benefit every one—business and labor—central cities and suburban towns—industrial and residential areas," Mr. Bergstrom predicts.

The bill was drafted by Representative Chadwick after he declared in a Boston College Seminar that integrated planning is the only way metropolitan Boston can solve the problems which have been created by the growth of population in the area.

The public hearing will be on Wednesday, March 7, at 10:00 a. m. in Room 207 of the State House.

SECOND CHURCH

The 50th Anniversary night, March 16, will be a happy occasion for the members and friends of the Second Congregational Church. Though due recognition will be given to the past 50 years, the present and future will be the greater incentive for this evening's fellowship.

The past year has brought extensive progress in all the activities of the church.

The Church School, under the capable leadership of Mr. Richard Brownell, has become an effective institution for liberal Christian education. The influence and ability of the teachers have been well demonstrated through the loyal interest of the children. The attendance has been exceptionally good with an average of 95% of the total enrollment. Parents also have expressed their satisfaction in the church school program.

Active and growing also are the other organizations the Bethany Society, the Missionary Society, the Merry Martians, the Couples' Club and the Young School Young People.

Mr. Skeirik, pastor, has been satisfied not only by the progress mentioned but he also has been well pleased with the Sunday Morning Services. Members and friends have been responding most faithfully.

The Anniversary Program will begin at 6:30 p. m. with a Roast Beef Supper. This will be followed by an interesting program in the Sanctuary. The special entertainment for the evening will be a twenty minute varied program of music by Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Ellison, harpiste and concert.

Mrs. George Stone, chairman of the Anniversary Committee will be directing the evening program. Mrs. Arthur Belville will be in charge of decorations. Mrs. Laura Tolman is working with Mr. Skeirik on the historical presentation. Mr. Alexander Korvach is responsible for the distribution of the tickets.

Mrs. Roy R. Johnson is acting as the corresponding secretary.

BOARD OF APPEAL REVOKES BUILDING PERMIT HELD BY LAMBORGHINI

The Board of Appeal Monday night, revoked a building permit which was granted to William J. Lamborghini.

Mr. Lamborghini sought to build on land in the Churchhill road area which he had purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Rotondi of 224 Forest street.

The Board's revocation of the permit followed petition of Mr. and Mrs. Pabun Packard and Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Parks who asked that the permit be withdrawn. In their petition, they argued that Mr. Rotondi had sold the land to Mr. Lamborghini in violation of an agreement with the Planning Board. They further argued that no access road runs to the property following a court order barring use of Churchhill road for commercial purposes.

In its opinion, the Board found: "The Board finds that Eugene B. Rotondi and/or Mary G. Rotondi violated the terms and obligations entered into the name of Mary G. Rotondi with the Planning Board of the Town of Winchester in her application for approval and in her Conditional Approval Contract."

The Conditional Approval Contract between Mrs. Rotondi and the Planning Board stated that no land would be sold for house construction until certain utilities had been laid in the area. Those utilities have not yet been completed.

About the access problem, the Board said:

"As the grantor (Mrs. Rotondi) could give no greater rights than she had, the lot acquired by Lamborghini has no access to old Churchhill road and cannot be reached except by trespassing on the property of other owners. Old Churchhill road has not been accepted by the Town as a public way."

The Board concluded: "... it is the unanimous opinion of the members of the Board that the Respondent (Lamborghini) was not legally entitled to the permit which was issued to him and it is hereby ordered that said permit be revoked forthwith."

The opinion was signed by Gilman Wallace, chairman of the Board, Edward V. French, and Alfred F. Samuel.

SMITH COLLEGE CLUB

On Wednesday, February 29th, at 1:30 p. m. the Winchester Smith College Club met at the charming home of Miss Pauline Hayden at 58 Oxford street. Before the business meeting a delicious dessert and coffee was served at which Mrs. Morton E. Grush and Mrs. Harold Beebe poured.

During the business meeting, various reports were read and tentative plans were discussed for the club's very popular plant sale and luncheon which will be held this year on Saturday, May 19th.

The highlight of the afternoon was an extremely interesting report by Mrs. Geoffrey Neiley of her recent visit to Smith. Mrs. Neiley had been in Northampton attending the annual of the Smith College Alumnae Association. This council is attended by representatives of all Smith Alumnae Groups. The council members attend classes, visit the dormitories and are brought up to date on current activities and future plans for the college.

JUNIOR-SENIOR CLASS PLAY A GAY COMEDY

Two performances of the high school junior-senior class play, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," will be presented in the Winchester Junior High School auditorium this weekend. This afternoon at 3:30 p.m. there will be a special showing for elementary and junior high school pupils. The final performance will be given tomorrow night, beginning promptly at 8:15 p.m.

Despite the handicaps imposed by the lack of a full-sized stage during most of the rehearsals, the cast has worked faithfully to perfect its lines and action. The young actors are confident that the results will compare favorably with the many fine class plays which have preceded it. The warmth and humor of this dramatization of the popular novel by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough make "Our Hearts" an ideal vehicle for a high school cast.

AT THE LIBRARY

Music is on hi-fidelity Wednesday afternoons at 2:30 and Wednesday evenings at 7:30. Recorded concerts of fine classical music by outstanding performers are presented in the Downs Memorial Room where the listener may relax comfortably and enjoy the music.

Featured on the program for Wednesday, March 7th, will be the soprano Maggie Teyte who will sing a group of French art songs by Debussy, Faure, Paladilhe, Duparc and Hahn. The remainder of the concert will include Handel's "Concerto Grosso Op. 6, No. 5," Part I of Richard Strauss' "Also Sprach Zarathustra" and the first and second movements of the "Concerto for Orchestra," by Bela Bartok.

Each week, the Library presents two film programs: "Family Night" on Friday evenings at 7:30 and the "Children's Hour" on Saturday mornings at 10:15. The films shown are the same at each program. The Saturday morning show is so popular that it is necessary to have an admission ticket. These tickets are, of course, free of charge and should be obtained from the Children's Department.

The three films for the March 2d and 3d programs are "Alexander Bell," "Royal Scotland" and "Man of Gloucester."

Claron W. Swonger, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Swonger of 19 Perkins road, has been named to the Dean's List at Tufts University. He is a junior in the College of Engineering.

p. m. the Fortnightly met at the First Baptist Church. Mrs. Hiram Moody, president, conducted the short business meeting and presented as guest of honor, Mrs. George A. Race, State Chairman of Art. She spoke of the three objectives of the Penny Art Fund, — scholarships for High School Seniors, contests (including the present photography one), and of a students' exhibition on Joy street, Boston. $11 was collected for this fund. Two cash prizes are given Seniors in the high schools.

Announcement was made of the coming meeting of the Literature Committee next Monday, March fifth, at which Miss Mary Hodge and Miss Eva M. Sherman will be the speakers. In accordance with a letter from the state chairman of literature, a notice was read urging members and townspeople to leave unwanted books and current magazines at the receiving desk in the Public Library for delivery to men in the Merchant Marine.

It was "Art Day" in the Fortnightly and the program was in charge of Mrs. Paul H. Howard, Art chairman. Members of the Studio Guild were invited guests. Many water-color paintings done by High School Seniors and Juniors under the direction of Miss Pauline Goodrich decorated the walls. Among them was the Federation Contest winners.

Mrs. Howard read the names of the successful Seniors: first prize to Carol Ashenden for "Harbor Fog," second prize to Mary Lou Cox for "A Day in June," first Honorable Mention to Maura Donahue for "Winter Fun," and second Honorable Mention to Sally Snow for "Fall Scene." Miss Snow had two other creditable pictures in the exhibit.

The Junior Contest is sponsored by the Fortnightly; unlike the Seniors they are not eligible for the state competitions. First to win Honorable Mention was Annabelle Moss for "Trouw and Moo," second Michael Callahan for "Three and Two," and third Jane Bowman for "Snowbound Fleet." The work of these young artists was vigorous, free, original, and interesting.

Mrs. Gladys Maynard, art teacher of Boston, was introduced by Mrs. Howard and at an easel on the stage, gave a demonstration of portrait painting. It was creative, not from a model. With deft strokes, "laying in" various colors, she achieved an excellent portrait of a young girl.

COMMUNION SUPPER

The Second Annual Communion Supper of the St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club will be held on Wednesday, March 7, at 7:45 p. m. Members will receive Holy Communion in a body and then adjourn to St. Mary's Hall for the catered Roast Turkey Supper with all the trimmings.

Miss Jean Loudon, Assistant Supervisor of Music of the Winchester School Department, has graciously accepted the invitation to take charge of the Musical Interlude Phase of the Supper.

Director of the Club is Rev. John M. Manion, Pastor of St. Mary's Church, who successfully organized it three years ago. Honorary Chairmen of the Supper are Mr. and Mrs. Dana Kelly, Club Presidents with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gramzow as General Chairmen; assisted by the following on their committee:

Mr. and Mrs. William Lippman, Mr. and Mrs. William Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hennessy, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Erhard, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Keleher, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Stiles, Mr. and Mrs. James Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mulloy, Mr. and Mrs. John Dower, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Rooney, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Fortiere, Mr. and Mrs. John Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. Al LaPointe, Dr. and Mrs. James McDonough, Mr. and Mrs. James Marchant, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert McEwan, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McPartlin, Mr. and Mrs. James Hintlian, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moran, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Brennan, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pasquale, Mr. and Mrs. John Enright, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rooney.

WINCHESTER UNITARIAN PLAYERS

Of considerable interest in Winchester in the near future will be the presentation by the Unitarian Players on March 16th and 17th of "Family Portrait" by Lomare Coffee and William Joyce Cowen.

This play portrays the family of Jesus during the last three years of His life, and the effect of the course He elected to follow on the members of His immediate family. Jesus' mother, Mary, and His brothers, are shown in an interesting every-day fashion which is an unusual treatment of the most momentous period in Christian history.

An extremely large cast has been assembled for this production and it includes many names familiar to local theatricals. Among those participating are Paulette Taggart, Donald Gross, Muriel and Leo Danton, Thornton Stearns, Bettina Harrison, Bradford Darling, John Holdsworth, Betty Ann Pritchard, Richard Barnard, Martha and Edwin Hutchings, Frank Thayer, and Harry Wood.

Also Marion Black, Stanley Osgood, Steven Morang, Martha Cabot, Darwin Carroll, Dorothy Abbott, Lucille and Derry Townley-Tilson, Bonnie Low, William Mason, Charlotte Nutter, Marjorie Bradford, and Richard French.

The Rev. Robert Storer is directing the production, assisted by Jay Sibley.

Curtain time is 8:30 p. m. and reservations may be obtained by calling Mary and Catherine Spaulding, Winchester 6-0567-J. Be sure to note Family Portrait on your calendar of coming events, as it will provide an evening of unusual entertainment.

WAI! HOO! WAI!

Parking meters in Winchester, are a familiar shade of Green because Dartmouth had the votes. Three Dartmouth alumni members on the five-man Board of Selectmen — George A. Saltmarsh '18, William C. Cusack '27 and George B. Redding '29 — stood firm against the machinations of two Harvard colleagues who wanted — of course — crimson.

RED FEATHER CONTRIBUTIONS TO WINCHESTER EXCEED $16,000

Winchester Red Feather services will receive $16,517 toward operating expenses from funds raised by last fall's Metropolitan Boston Red Feather Campaign which made its goal for the first time since 1948.

Announcement of the local appropriations was made today by Austin Broadhurst, president of Winchester Community Chest which is affiliated with United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston.

Of the allotted funds, Winchester District Nursing Association will receive $5,717; the Girl Scout Council, $4,600; Winchester Hospital, $5,000; and St. Vincent de Paul Society, $1,200.

In addition, Winchester youngsters will share in the $15,820 appropriated by Red Feather to the Fellsland Council of Boy Scouts.

Not all Red Feather services from which Winchester citizens benefit are represented by the $16,517 allotted locally. Mr. Broadhurst emphasized. He pointed out that while 6,160 people in Winchester use these local agencies, an additional 2,165 make use of the 277 Red Feather agencies which serve the whole Metropolitan area.

Agencies frequently used by Winchester residents include Boston YMCA and YWCA, Boston Legal Aid Society, and Massachusetts General Hospital.

Funds raised during the annual Red Feather drive throughout the Greater Boston area are budgeted among the 277 agencies by volunteer committees of prominent citizens, led by Robert M. Prouty of Hingham.

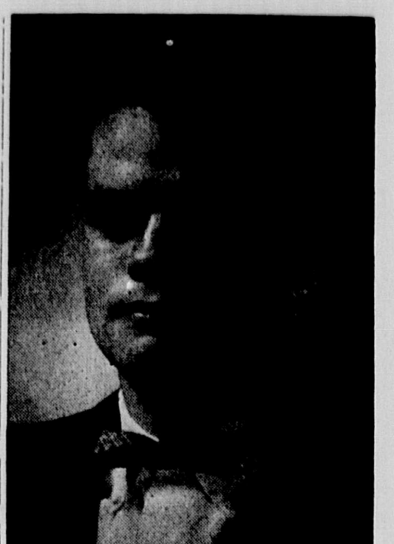

Individual agency allotments were worked out in more than 100 hearings after examination of budgets and conferences with agency representatives had taken place. Chairman of Winchester community budget committee is Clinton W. Bennet of 10 Everett road.

THE WINCHESTER STAR.

"THE SHEARS, MR. ATTORNEY GENERAL."

Koko Boodakian gives State Attorney General George Fingold the shears with which to cut the ribbons opening the enlarged quarters of Koko Boodakian & Sons, Oriental Rug Dealers at 14 Lochwan street.

BOODAKIAN OPEN HOUSE

More than 500 persons, including many widely known in the Oriental rug trade, attended the open house of Koko Boodakian & Sons, Oriental rug dealers, at their enlarged and completely remodeled plant at 14 Lochwan street, last Saturday afternoon, inspecting the fine new quarters, regaling themselves with a buffet lunch that included many Armenian dishes and finally enjoying an unusual entertainment, featuring Armenian dancers in native garb.

The new plant through which last Saturday's guests were conducted by Mr. Koko Boodakian, founder of the company that bears his name, and his sons, is the result of a five year expansion program that included construction of a new drying room for rugs, and a new storage room and a completely new show room, 26 x 80 feet.

On display in the show room was the famous "Rug of Civilization," the work of skilled Persian craftsmen, which includes woven likenesses of persons famous in history from early Bible times to the present. Acquired by Mr. Boodakian from the heirs of the late financier and art fancier, Arthur P. Burroughs, the rug is the only one of its kind in existence and has been exhibited at many art centers in this country and abroad.

Attorney General George Fingold of Concord cut the satin ribbons opening the new Boodakian showroom at 4:30, assisted by Mr. Boodakian.

At 6 o'clock a buffet supper was served, including such usual delicacies as lobster salad and featuring several Armenian dishes, such as dolma, Armenian version of pizza, made of ground spiced lamb served on dough; stuffed grape leaves and for dessert with coffee, "paklava," an Armenian pastry; "kaghika," a form of Armenian cookie, covered with sesame seeds; and Armenian "string" cheese, a sort of shredded cheese.

All the food was prepared by Mrs. Boodakian and her three daughters-in-law, Mrs. Harry, Mrs. Michael and Mrs. Leo Boodakian, assisted by friends. No one left the tables hungry. There was an abundance for every one.

Climaxing the open house was a fine entertainment program featuring the Armenian Folk Dance Group, professional entertainers from Boston. In the ensemble were seven girls in typical ancient Armenian costumes of long full skirts, embroidered jackets and head pieces; and five men, garbed in military uniform of white coats, dark blue trousers and black boots.

The dances, all of the folk variety, were something like our square dances and featured very intricate steps. The "dagger dance," done by the men was very spectacular and the "handkerchief dance" of the women, equally well done.

The big crowd at the open house created something of a traffic problem, requiring two officers on special traffic duty and a squad car. Automobiles were lined up on both sides of Loring avenue from Swanton to Cross street, as well as on both sides of Kirk, Hill and Arthur streets. Not another car could possibly have been wedged into the immediate neighborhood of the rug plant on Lochwan street.

CLASS PLAY PLEASED CAPACITY AUDIENCE

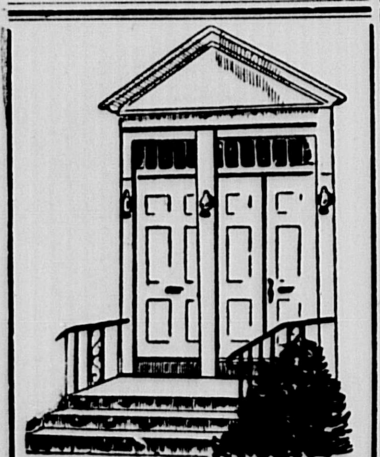

A capacity audience applauded the junior-senior class presentation of "Our Hearts were Young and Gay" at the Winchester Junior High School auditorium on Saturday night. Jean Kerr's three act comedy based on the best selling novel by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough proved to be an admirable vehicle for the high school cast. Evidence of careful direction by dramatic coach Constance Trickett was apparent throughout.

The time was 1923. The era of jazz and emancipation was just beginning as Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough set out for Paris and their great adventure—

BREAKS AMHERST SCORING RECORD

The basketball career of Big Doug Hawkins came to a happy ending last Saturday night at Amherst College when the Jeffs won the "Little Three" Championship by a clean sweep, winning from Williams that night 73-56. Captain Hawkins scored 18 points and played a fine defensive game.

During "Doug's" three years on the varsity Amherst won 49 games and lost 21. This year the Jeffs won 16 and lost 6. Doug scored 353 points this year for a 16 average.
School in one game—33 against Trinity. Last year his average was 18. In the three years he scored 1031 points to break the Amherst record.

Amherst score 1601 points this year against their opponents 1277, or 324 more than their opponents.
"Doug" was chosen on the All-Star team from Western Mass. Colleges that played the Greater Boston College All-Stars Wednesday night at Brandeis for the benefit of the Basketball Hall of Fame Fund.
He also received Honorable Mention in Collier's Magazine of March 16 in the N.C.A.A. District All-Star
Teams this year as well as last.
The All-America and District teams are picked by the votes of the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

At Amherst "Doug" has had a team-mate for three years his old high school team-mate, Stowell Symmes, who as an Amherst reserve has aided the "Lord Jeffs" a lot in the winning minutes of many

HINGHAM OUSTS WINCHESTER

Winchester High bowed out of the State Interscholastic Hockey Championship Tournament last Saturday afternoon at the Arena, losing, 4-2, to a Hingham High School sextet that proved just too good for the Indians.

Winchester's defending State Champions made a game of it and the going was rugged all the way.

Hingham jumped to a two-goal lead with Morse converting Olsen's pass at 8:53 of the first period, and Bennett scoring at the two minute mark of the second stanza after taking a pass from Cronin.
"Richie" Johnson got Winchester in the game at 2:22 of the second period on a solo effort, but Hingham was not to be denied, and after the teams had battled on even terms for the remainder of the second period and for more than five minutes of the final chapter, Bennett scored unassisted, to put the game beyond Winchester's grasp.

The Indians kept crying and Johnny Zirkel banged one home at 6:16 of the final period. Winchester, however, never could pull up on even terms and at 3:01 Olsen scored the winners final goal with Morse assisting.

The summary:
Hingham: g. Achille; rd. Platner; ld.
Cronin; c. Doyle; fw. Reed; lw. Worrick.
Spares: Olsen, Morse, Bennett.
Winchester: g. Boyle; rd. Kelleher; ld.

JUNIOR HIGH PUPILS ENJOY NEW SCHOOL

Junior High School pupils have been unanimous in expressing their delight with their new quarters.
One seventh grader, Donald Na-deau, burst forth into rhyme recently to show his feelings.

"Last year the school looked shabby and old,
But today, it looks as good as gold.
Before, the boys and girls used to say,
I'm glad we're out of here for the day."
But now it is a different story.
The boys and girls are full of glory.
And at the ending of the day,
In the new school rooms, they'd like to stay.

As into the brand new rooms we go,
Our ability to the teachers we will show.
When the teachers get ready to teach,
Under our chairs for our books we'll reach.
When at last we begin to work,
Our regular duties, we must not shirk.

JUNIOR HIGH CONCLAVE

As we go along in our usual way, We'll enjoy our new school, from day to day."

Saturday, March 17, will see much activity at St. Paul's Cathedral, Boston. This famous church will be the scene for an all-day Conclave beginning at 10:45 a. m. in charge of Mrs. Richard Frazier who will lead the discussion of Junior High activities, interesting meetings, and recreation for this group.
This gathering will be attended by young people from this entire dioccese, and promises to hold the interest of all who attend. It is requested that those attending meet at the church of the Epiphany at 10:00 a. m.

ANNUAL MEETING OF WINCHESTER WELLESLEY CLUB

Twenty-five members attended the Annual Meeting of the Winchester Wellesley Club held recently at the home of Mrs. Arthur Rogde. Highlight of the afternoon was a talk by Catherine LaGuardia, Wellesley '55, who taught this fall at our high school. Under the Teacher's Training Program sponsored by the Harvard Graduate School of Education and the Ford Foundation, graduate teachers like Miss LaGuardia are placed in selected schools for six months of teaching, studying the rest of the year toward a master's degree. This program works not only to the advantage of the teacher, but—as all would readily agree—to the benefit of the schools as well.

During the business meeting, committee chairmen presented reports of their work during the year. Mrs. Gardner Bradlee and Mrs. Ralph Jope, President of the Club, brought back news of the Alumnae Council at Wellesley. In addition to contributions to the College, a $100.00 Scholarship was again voted for a graduate of this year's High School Class.

With the popularity and success of the Winchester Mornings in mind, Mrs. Joseph Worthen was unanimously elected Chairman of the Winchester Mornings Series for the coming year.

Hostesses at the tea which brought the meeting to a close were Mrs. Lawrence Lunt and Mrs. Charles Sweetzer.

THE FORTNIGHTLY

LITERATURE COMMITTEE

On Monday, March fifth, the Literature Committee of the Fortnightly met in the Public Library at 2:30 p. m. An excellent paper on the Southern writer, Katherine Anne Porter, was given by Miss Mary Hodge. This attractive and gifted author's accomplishment falls into two categories, her uniformly good short stories and her teaching, lecture, and journalistic work, including ghost writing.

Moved by the world upheavals as well as the past of her native Southland and with an intense interest in people, she confesses she has felt under a compulsion to write,—"an absorbing vocation." Her work is of high quality, careful and skillful craftsmanship, clarity, and reveals much of herself.

"Flowering Judas" is a collection of short stories, "The Days Before," essays, and "No Safe Harbor," now appearing in The Atlantic Monthly, is based on a diary kept by her while on a sea voyage. She has received many awards and honors in recognition of her distinctive and distinguished literary work.

Miss Gertrude M. Hall read a moving passage from Shakespeare's "Henry IV" and expressed her enjoyment in escaping "from a complicated world" into the refreshment of Prof. Palmer's translation of "The Odyssey." Still in line with ocean travel, she gave a review of Samuel Eliot Morison's "Christopher Columbus, Mariner." This book tells of following the routes of exploration taken by Columbus on his four voyages. It throws new light on his personality and life and leaves no doubt in the reader's mind that he was a master-navigator.

SALVATION ARMY ON THE JOB

In the very shallow of the tragic wreck of two commuter trains at Swampscott, Mass., in which 13 persons were killed and more than 100 hurt, a trio of Salvation Army officers live up to the best traditions of service in time of need by serving hot coffee to tired firemen at the scene of the worst train accident in New England in 40 years.

More than 600 firemen, policemen, emergency crewmen, trainmen, Civil Defense workers and officials were served 20 gallons of soup, 30 gallons of coffee, 25 dozen doughnuts and 100 sandwiches, by The Salvation Army, which maintained around-the-clock service until 5:30 a. m. the following morning.

WINS ART PRIZE

Sally Snow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester R. Snow of 68 Fletcher street, is one of a group of talented high school students from all over New England who have been awarded prizes of free tuition in a survey course in art at the studios of the Boston Museum School.

For seven Saturday afternoons beginning March 3, and ending April 21, these young artists will be given introductory talks and demonstrations in each of the fields of commercial art and design, drawing and graphic arts, paintings, sculpture, ceramics, jewelry and silversmithing, and teacher training.

On the last day of the course a museum trip and convocation with presentation of certificates is scheduled at the Museum of Fine Arts. INCORPORATION OF WINCHESTER COMMUNITY THEATRE

A group of those vitally interested in the birth of the Winchester Community Theatre met on Sunday evening for the purpose of forming a Corporation and Board of Directors. Many enthusiastic supporters have enlisted their contributions as Founders and Sponsors, and many more are wanted. The help and participation of the Community as a whole is sought. Definite plans for production are shaping up and the need for a more formal organizational structure was desired. The members of the Association filling corporation papers are: Grace Wills, Roland Carter, Philip Wadsworth, Earl F. Littleton, Carlene Samoiloff, Mrs. O. Hooper, Mrs. Joseph Butler, and George Billman.

The Board Members are the same with the addition of Jack Woodruff and Dr. Lawrence Quigley.

A meeting of the Board of Directors will be held Sunday, March 18, to plan membership regulations and elect committees. The purpose stated briefly in the incorporation clause is: To develop the facilities of real Community Theatre for the participation and development of talent and skills in the theatre arts and to provide a happy cooperative outlet in the creative arts of acting, dance, design, music, singing and drama.

Three phases of the Community Theatre are planned.
1. A program of well produced plays to help enrich theatre enjoyment for the community.
2. A Children's Theatre and Theatre School with training in its related arts produced by—and for—children.

3. And last but not least—a Theatre Workshop for adults who wish to work and improve their skill in doing plays informally in an acting and Production Unit.

The Workshop Group will meet Thursday evening, March 15, at 8:30 p.m., to make plans and begin to work, in the Studio of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff, entrance on Mason street, opposite No. 24. Come and tell us of your interest and ideas.

UNITARIAN CHOIR

At 8:00 o'clock Wednesday evening, March 28th, the Winchester Unitarian Choir will be heard in a performance of Dubois' "Seven Last Words." The choir, under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham, will be augmented for this performance by additional voices. The soloists will be Dolores Baldy, soprano; John Morabito, tenor; and Sidney Blanchard, Jr., baritone. Weston L. Brannen will be at the organ.

Each Sunday, also, from now until Easter, the choir will present quarter-hour programs before the regular church services, singing selections from the great Lenten oratorios.

CONGREGATIONAL WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION MEETING

Mrs. Karl Taylor Compton will honor us by speaking at the luncheon meeting for the women of our church on Tuesday, March 13, at one o'clock. Mrs. Compton's subject will be "Our Foreign Students," a topic on which she has not only traveled widely but is Vice President of the Board of Directors of the International Student Association of Greater Boston. Technology patrons living in Winchester will be especially interested in an opportunity to listen to Mrs. Compton.

The Association extends a cordial invitation to every Winchester woman to come to the luncheon and to hear a most interesting speaker. Hostesses for our recent International Week-end particularly may wish to ask questions about the foreign students in this country.

Luncheon reservations may be made with Mrs. A. Pratt, Winchester 6-0479. A short business session will precede the luncheon.

Mrs. Charles E. Green, president, urges all members who can, to be present at 12 noon when the proposed changes in the by-laws will be presented. The meeting will be adjourned in time to call for guests for the luncheon at 1 p.m. in Childley Hall. Mrs. John B. Wills and Mrs. Halford H. Ambler with a committee from the Home Church Guild will prepare and serve the lunch. Mrs. James W. Robertson will conduct the dedication service of the "Second Mile Gift" for the Mission Union Guild. Baby sitting services will be provided from 12 noon in Nursery 2, this room is next to the church office. A fine attendance is to be hoped for at this last luncheon before the Annual Meeting.

DR. NILS WESSELL TO SPEAK AT LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Dr. Nils Y. Wessell, President of Tufts University, will speak on "Probation Service" in Massachusetts on Friday, March 16, at the annual Legislative Luncheon of the Winchester League of Women Voters.

Reservations must be made before Monday, March 12, to Mrs. George E. Connor, Legislative Chairman, Winchester 6-2094-M, or Mrs. Robert Mulford, Winchester 6-1287-R.

CAPTAIN KANGAROO TO GREET EASTER BUNNY

The Grover Cronin original Easter Bunny will return to Waltham via helicopter on Sunday, March 11, 1956. The bunny, a favorite harbinger of spring, will land at the Reece Plant on Prospect street at 2 p.m. and will be officially welcomed by Mayor Paul V. Shaughnessy and Senate President Richard I. Furbush. A huge parade will then escort the bunny over the parade route.

The parade will proceed up Prospect street, over Main street and down Moody street.

A thrilling added attraction this year will be "Captain Kangaroo" of TV fame who will also be on hand to welcome the Bunny. He is seen daily over WNAC-TV from 8 to 9 every morning.

There will be plenty of excitement with old fashioned autos, bicycles, clowns, and a 7-seater bike which was built in Waltham over 50 years ago by the Orient Company. Mickey Mouse and the Big Bad Wolf will be a new feature for the children, as well as a Chinese Dragon from Boston's Chinatown, the one used in the Chinese celebration of New Years.

Among the many units that in the parade will be the Championship Immaculate Conception Drum and Bugle Corps and Drill Team of Winchester.

WORST DISASTER YEAR FOR RED CROSS

Floods, tornadoes, hurricanes and more floods. That is the history of the worst disaster year the American Red Cross has known in its seventy-five years of service. A recent editorial in the "New York Times" points up this year's need as follows:

"There is, perhaps, no finer tribute to the Red Cross than the fact that we can take it so completely for granted. When disaster strikes or peril looms, we know that there is an instrument already fashioned to give aid and hope. No matter what the problem, we assume, almost automatically, that the Red Cross will have the materials and skills to bring to bear for its solution."

"This confidence arises, of course, out of past performance. The Red Cross has met its repeated challenges with a devotion that is beyond praise. The multiplicity of its services is not always understood by those who have not had the occasion to call for its help. But always it has stood there, a benign figure and symbol in the background. When the need arises the Red Cross is there."

"It should be remembered, however, that the Red Cross is in no sense an 'official' organization. It is what we make it by our own personal support. It has funds to use for its good purposes only as we supply them."

The need for additional help in this year of disaster is why Winchester, in conjunction with every other local chapter, has been asked to raise its fund goal by ten percent, bringing the local quota to $21,057.00.

Volunteer solicitors have been making a house-to-house drive all this week to collect the urgently needed financial help. Giving that littlebit extra this year is one way of showing gratitude that Winchester was spared any of the widespread flood devastation which has left its morass of dripping desolation from coast to coast.

This year the American Red Cross needs your help more than at any time since the war years. Not one of us lost our home, our every possession, our business, yes, even our families, to the raging flood waters. Not one of us can afford not to help our fellow men who did.

When the volunteers bring their collections this Sunday, March 11, to the Winchester Trust Company, they will find a score of other volunteer workers who, under the direction of Miss Helen M. Monroe tallying the returns, precinct by precinct. With your help they can hit the $21,057.00 target. Let's make the Winchester slogan for this drive "Mission Accomplished."

WINCHESTER CHAPTER, GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

Mrs. Hintlin and Mrs. Greenwood will be assisted by the following committee who are working hard to make this a very successful party: Mesdames: Charles Flynn, Katherine Doyle, Herbert Graves, Richard Hegarty, William Murray, Hugh McPartland, John Sullivan, Joseph McGaragle, John Kelecher, Edward McElhinney, Newell Purington, George Welsh, William Moore, John O'Leary, James Gaffney, Martin Higgins, Manlio Moffett, Arthur Center, Henry Center, Robert O'Hearn, Frank Flaherty, John Piccolo, John Donovan, John Lennon, William Maney, Garold Brown, Henry Garcia, Emilio D'Errico, John Madden, Peter Murphy, William Perkins, Carl Thomas, Albert McDougall, Percy Cliff, Daniel Doherty Robert Finn, John McDonald, Edward McPartlin, Benjamin Meeks, Joseph Donaghey, Robert Cavanagh, and James Chaffe.

EDITORIALS

And how did you like that early morning thunder-clap Wednesday. Didn't it make you wish you knew more about plans for mass evacuation and Civil Defense in general?

The Star has heard a number interested in preserving the town's beauty wherever possible express the hope that, in connection with the proposed large parking area on the old Skillings Estate, provision will be made for proper landscaping so that while providing much needed space for automobiles, the proposed lot will not prove too big an eyesore at what we used to think of as one of the approaches to our civic center. Of course that was B.T.O. (before the overhead), but even with the overhead there is no reason why we should forget attractiveness in the construction of even as prosaic a piece of ground as a parking lot. They should be made as attractive as possible, and we feel that our Board of Selectmen will not overlook the aesthetic in their enthusiasm for the utilitarian.

MRS. McDONALD'S ABSENCE EXPLAINED

Editor of the Star:

I was pleased to see the report of the attendance of the Town Meeting members in this week's Star; I have always felt that such a report should be submitted annually to the voters who elect these representatives. I approve, too, your fine paper's editorial comment on the interesting data thus exposed.

However, I am sorry that the report was released in one of the few years, probably the only years, when I had an absent mark in the 28 years during which I have served as a member of the meeting. I think that further research would disclose that many of those with a "C" attendance in 1955 were absent, as I was, at the September 15th Special Town Meeting; this meeting was called for the acceptance of the Bacon and Swanton street temporary ways which had already been laid out and were in use. Report of this meeting there were 109 members present and 116 absent. The report says further the meeting lasted just 4 minutes, called to order at 7:57 and adjourned at 8:01 p. m.

I know, for a fact, that several

According to the Town Clerk's others who got a "C" rating, especially members from Precinct 6, are consistent 100% attendants.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth C. McDonald

Ed Note: We believe all will agree that "Elizabeth" is generally amongst those present at town meeting. We can recall few, if any absences for her!

PRAISE FOR POLICE

Editor of the Star:

The Winchester Police Department is deserving of the highest praise for efficient, courteous services rendered our community. Too often we take our Public Servants' for granted with never a word of thanks.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the Police Department for the outstanding work they did for me in connection with the return of a lost pocketbook and the recovery of the stolen contents.

We are also grateful to the police who check on our house while we are away.

It is reassuring to know that we have such fine men that we can depend on for help when it is needed. A grateful citizen

MR. JOHNS REPORTS

Editor of the Star:

The recent March of Dimes drive raised eight thousand six hundred and one dollars and eighty-two cents. Through the medium of your newspaper I wish to thank every contributor and all who worked for the success of the drive.

The Mothers' March, led by Mrs. Lawrence Lunt, netted five thousand eight hundred forty-one dollars and forty-one cents. The Lions Club contributed five hundred forty-nine dollars and seventeen cents through various promotions.

The remainder came through Tag Day, which was handled by The American Legion and its Auxiliary, solicitation by letters, and coin collectors left in the various stores. My thanks again for the good showing made by Winchester in fighting Polio!

Sincerely,

Arthur L. Johns

DYKES BONSFIEL
HERE THIS WEEK-END

Winchester's host to the 16 rinks which will curl this week-end for the Dykes and Brookline Trophies, a grand national event. Some of the matches will have to be played at the Country Club, with semi-finals and finals here Sunday. Winchester will be represented by Ev. Stone, Roundy, Burke and Symmes, skip, and Crockett, W. Wilcox, Sherran and Siders, skip.

Last Thursday four rinks from the Country Club came here for the annual "Donald Angers" match. T.C.C. won by a total score of 33 to 31. Rinks and scores were T.C.C. Baker, McIntire, McNeil, Patterson skip-11, Win. Righter, Stirling, Wagborne, Neiley skip 5; T.C.C. Cushing, Kelsey, Barrett, Hallowell skip 6, Win. Scott, Bonnell, Burke, K. Fulton 7; T.C.C. Turner, Allen, Brown, Wiggins skip 5, Win. Eaton, Davis, Butters, Morse, skip 13; T.C.C. Emerson, Foss, Marshall, Pope, skip 17; W. Carr, Hunt, Symmes, King skip 6.

The mixed curlers also had a blow-out last week-end at St. Andrews, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. Winchester sent four rinks. The Neills and Hoods, the Sheans and Roundys, the Dolbens and Downes and the Fessendens and Ev. Stones. One of our rinks got to the semi-finals and the others got thoroughly tired and had a lot of fun.

At the Gordon International at Utica last week-end, two of our rinks O'Donoghue, Garrity, McMin and Wagborne skip and McDonald, Lewis, Sanders and Carr skip, helped win this International Curling Contest for the U. S.

Next week will see the start of the Coulson Bonspiel for the mixed curlers. Then is when the real fun and grand viewing of the season starts. It will continue over the following week-end, with finals and Buffet Supper on Saturday, March 31st. All the 23 rinks entered will get the schedule soon, if not already, and must get in the frame of mind to be on time for their match and finish before the time for the next match. Otherwise things will go haywire with so many matches to be played. There will be a "Consolation" as well as the "Championship" play-down, so everyone will have at least two matches. Please be helpful—be there as scheduled and on time.

The semi-finals and finals of the Chairman's Competition have yet to be played.

M. S. P. C. A.

Winchester Branch Auxiliary will hold a meeting Friday, March 10th, at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. George H. Reed, 8 Ridgely road. Mr. John C. MacFarlane will speak, and tell us the efforts being made in cooperation with policy members of the meat industry for a humane method of killing our nation's food animals.

We have recently received pictures of the new cages for cats, like their host had at this Auxiliary gave last fall to the Angell Memorial Hospital in memory of Mrs. M. K. Wiswall, being the money left us in a legacy by her.

All those who knew her, besides younger members will be interested in seeing the pictures at the meeting.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many neighbors and friends for the many expressions of sympathy extended to us in the passing of my wife, Harriet C. Cleary.

THE LIFE UNDERWRITER'S PLACE IN YOUR PICTURE

A majority of the men in our field today, and certainly the most effective, are those who have been attracted to the business by the opportunity for service. By their deep and sincere interest in people, they have earned the right to a confidential relationship with their clients like that of a doctor with his patients or a lawyer with his clients.

Through training and experience, the life insurance underwriter has equipped himself to offer competent advice not only in the field of personal insurance, but also in the highly specialized branches of business insurance.

Give him your confidence. He will not abuse it. In building your life insurance program, consult him as you would an architect. Tell him your needs and your limitations. If you like the plans and specifications which he presents, without obligation to you, retain him to supervise the structure as it is erected. You will have much more for your money when the job is finally completed.

BARBARA P. CLARK
Elected to School Committee With High Vote

You couldn't pull a car in anywhere around the town hall from 7 o'clock on as a big crowd tried to get inside to vote. Very probably few totals would have been sufficiently affected to have changed the election, but the final figures, had everyone who wanted to, voted, are something to wonder about.

Town Clerk Helen Stinson and her clerks worked late on the election as did the Registrars. The last Precinct to report its results came in at 11 o'clock and Miss Stinson announced the final results at 12:20 Tuesday morning.

Chief interest was centered in the contest for Selectmen, a seven-way fight in which Joseph W. Butler and John A. Dolan prevailed over Walter J. Appleton, Theodore Elliott, John P. Feeney, Eugene B. Rotondi and Andrew Titiliah, Jr.

The vote in this contest was so split that few cared to predict the outcome with any real assurance, though most close followers felt that Messrs. Dolan and Butler would win. Mr. Butler's 2131 total was high.

Running the Selectmen's contest a close second in general interest was the four-man fight for election to the Board of Park Commissioners. Here the veteran Mr. Ives was an easy winner with 2636 votes, followed by the former Park Commissioner, Mr. Coon, who defeated the newcomer, Mr. MacDonnell by 374 votes for the second vacancy on the Board. The MacDonnell 1770 total was quite flattering for a new candidate.

REP. HARRISON CHADWICK

New Moderator

Though there was no feverish excitement in connection with the three-candidate contest for School Committee, there still were many interested in the outcome. As was expected Mr. Hooper was re-elected to the Board, but his total was topped by that of a new candidate, Mrs. Barbara Clark, who led the field with 3001 votes. Here again the third candidate, Mr. DiLoro, made a good showing polling 1428 votes.

In another contest Mrs. Long and Mr. Wallis were easily re-elected to the Board of Library Trustees over challenger George L. Craft, who so far as any one heard conducted no particular campaign. Mr. Howe, candidate for re-election to the Board of Assessors, was successful over the challenge of Vincent G. Carroll, polling 2625 votes to Mr. Carroll's 1518.

The three candidates for re-election as Constables, Mr. Callahan, Mr. Horn and Mr. Ryerson, withstood the competition of Mr. Palladino, and Mr. Horn's 3379 was the high vote for all candidates where contests occurred. Dr. Harry Benson, running unopposed for Board of Health, polled the high vote of the election, 3703 with Nellie M. Sullivan, running unopposed for Board of Public Welfare, second with 3554.

Though there was no contest it is of interest that Rep. Harrison Chadwick was elected Moderator to succeed Philip P. Wadsworth who was not a candidate this year.

Edward G. Barker polled 517 to lead the successful candidates for Precinct Members in 1, with Vincent Carroll's 530 high for those in 2. Harrison P. Lyman, Jr., led the town meeting member parade in 3 with 757, and William J. Speers, Jr., polled 548 to top the members in 4. George Billman, running unopposed for an unexpired term in 4, polled 603 votes.

Hazen Ayer's 491 gave him vote-getting honors in Precinct 5 where the last candidate elected was the former Finance Committee member, Charles A. Murphy of Pond street, making his first try to be elected town meeting member. James H. Coon, running unopposed, for an unexpired term, polled 515 votes, highest for the precinct.

Samuel M. Kinton polled 389 votes to lead the successful precinct members in 6.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

This coming week is National Girl Scout Week. March 12th marks the 44th birthday of this organization.

Back in 1912, when sunshades and freckleless complexions were standard equipment for girls, the first Girl Scout troop met at Juliette Low's in Savannah, Georgia. Since then, almost 12 million American women and girls have braved freckles, scratches and many other hazards, as they learned through Girl Scouting, to hike and seek out of doors, as well as to be good neighbors and citizens.

Today, there are more than two and a half million Girl Scouts in the United States learning to enjoy their own skills and talents and to be ready to meet big and little problems ahead. By now, their trim uniforms are a familiar part of any American scene—in crowded city areas, and in small towns.

Girl Scouts are so familiar, in fact, that it is easy to overlook the tremendous job that 600,000 men and women do in Scouting. They, too, have problems at home or in business. But, somehow, they find time to teach young people that there's fun and adventure in living and that "duty to God and my country" has as much, if not more meaning today, than it did half a century ago.

Our Winchester Council of Girl Scouts has approximately 750 Girl Scouts in 45 troops of Brownies, Intermediate and Senior Scouts. In addition, 200 adults are constantly planning, studying and working to promote their activities.

Our heartfelt congratulations and best wishes for many more years of achievement and success.

A new troop is being formed for 8th grade girls who are interested in joining or resuming Girl Scout activities, with the desire of preparing for requirements of Senior Scout Membership. Please call the Girls Scout office, Winchester 6-2592.

Senior Troop 3, of the Hospital Aide program, will receive their caps at a ceremony on March 12, at the Cabin, at 8:00 p. m. Mrs. Samuel Griffin is the leader. Miss Laura Rogers, Supt. of nurses at the Winchester Hospital, will present the caps. Friends and parents are invited.

The Program Committee meets March 13 at the Cabin, at 10:00 a. m. Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Chairman; Mrs. James Stewart, Jr., Mrs. Harold Butters, Jr., Mrs. James Marchant and Mrs. W. B. Hersey.

Don't Forget! All Girl Scouts should attend their churches in uniform this Sunday, March 11.

HIGH SCHOOL ARTISTS IN WOMEN'S CLUBS CONTEST

The art department of Winchester High School, under the direction of Miss Pauline F. Goodrich, has received unusual commendation by Mrs. George A. Rice of Attleboro, art chairman of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs and former art professor of the Rhode Island School of Design. The high school submitted 25 paintings on the theme "The World We Live In" to the art contest of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The paintings were on exhibition February 27 at the art meeting of the Fortnightly and the jury awarded first prize to Chrol Ashenden's water color, "Harbor Fog," second prize to Mary Lou Cox for her "June Afternoon," honorable mention to Maura Donahue and Sally Snow.

Three honorable mentions to art students in the junior class (not eligible for the state and national contest) were awarded to Annabella Morse, Michael Callahan, and Jane Bowman.

Mrs. Rice viewed all the paintings and stated that the usually high qualities of the entire exhibition made it impossible to take only the jury selections to the state contest, so she selected six more paintings in addition to the four. These included a second painting each by Mary Lou Cox and Sally Snow, two by Sheila Carleton, and one each by Judith Wadleigh and Ellen Glowacki.

PRECINCT 2-3 MEETING

The elected members of the limited Town Meeting and the residents of Precinct 2 and 3 will have the benefit of discussing the various articles in the Warrant for the forthcoming Town Meeting at a meeting to be held in the Mystic School Auditorium, Thursday evening, March 16th, at 7:45 p. m.

It is expected that representatives of the various Town Departments will be present to explain their sponsored articles and to answer questions in relation thereto.

All elected Town Meeting Members, and all residents who are interested in the Warrant outlining the business proposed to be conducted at the 1956 Town Meeting, are urged to be present.

FIRST BAPTIST PHILATHEA

Filene's present John Robert Powers models and Cosmetic Consultants to appear at the Philathea Society, First Baptist Church Social Hall, March 13th, at 7:45 p. m. Cosmetic demonstration with Spring fashion advice will be the attraction.

WINCHESTER LEGION AUXILIARY

Unit 97, of the Winchester Legion Auxiliary will hold a St. Patrick's Day Dance, Saturday, March 17, at the Legion Home on Vine street. Chairman Dot McCormack has added attractions for this dance, such as entertainment and a door prize.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE PROPOSES $450 INCREASE FOR TEACHERS

In a statement requested by the Central Mothers' Board, the Winchester School Committee has outlined the reasons for proposing in the 1956 School Budget an increase of $450 in the salary of each teacher or effective next September. This report reveals some interesting information on the demand for teaching personnel and trends in teachers' salaries.

A main cause of the current shortage of qualified teachers lies in the fact that birth rates have been increasing at a much faster rate than the supply of teachers. In Massachusetts, for example, the increase in birth from 1940 to 1950 was 62 per cent. Yet the number of college graduates completing requirements for teaching certificates in Massachusetts in 1954 was 6 per cent less than in 1953.

In accounting for the comparatively small number of college students preparing for a teaching career, one of the major factors is financial. During the period from 1940 to 1952, wages of factory workers in Massachusetts increased 162.7 per cent, teachers' salaries only 91.8 per cent. For the same period, teaching salaries throughout the United States showed an average increase of 138 per cent.

For several years Winchester officials have compared the salary schedule for local teaching personnel with those established in other Massachusetts towns. A comparison with other communities in eastern Massachusetts reveals that even with the $450 increase proposed by the School Committee, Winchester will slip from its traditional position among the top-salaried school systems in the area.

On the basis of salary schedules already adopted or proposed by the school authorities in 24 towns and cities in this section of the state for the next school year, Winchester will rank 12th in minimum and maximum salaries for women teachers.

As a result of the continuing teacher shortage, the Winchester School Committee has found, to an increasing degree, that it is in competition with communities in neighboring states. In 1955-56, Winchester salaries for teachers with a Bachelor's degree ranged from $2,864 to $4,216 for women and from $3,164 to $5,152 for men. Beginning teachers without experience receive $200 less than the scheduled minimum.

Meanwhile, in Connecticut, 85 per cent of the teachers are on salary schedules with maxima of at least $5,000; and 40 per cent of teachers in towns having maxima of at least $5,400. In Rhode Island, a state law, to become effective in 1957, sets a minimum beginning salary of $3,200. It further requires that the maximum shall be at least $5,200.

A number of Massachusetts teachers have taken positions in New York State where a sizable number of suburban communities are adopting schedules ranging from $4,000 to $9,100. A bill now before the New York legislature and endorsed by the governor provides that, beginning in 1956, the minimum teaching salary in all communities shall be $3,500.

Another area which has attracted Winchester teachers is Montgomery County, Maryland. As early as 1954, Montgomery County had adopted a salary schedule with a minimum of $3,400 and a maximum of $5,450. All salary figures shown above are for candidates possessing minimum certification requirements for Bachelor's degree. The minimum salaries quoted are for candidates without teaching experience.

PUPILS STUDY AT MUSEUM OF FINE ARTS

Six students from the art department of Winchester High School have been accepted by the School of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston to participate in a survey course in art. They are Carol Caputo, Nancy Joldan, Anne Joldan, Regina Mingolli, Susan Payne, and Sally Snow.

For seven consecutive Saturdays these students will be given experience in each of the fields of commercial art and design, drawing and graphic arts, painting, sculpture, ceramics, jewelry and silversmithing; and an introduction to teacher training will be presented through talks and demonstrations. In addition, a part of each afternoon will be devoted to the specific field to be covered as a broad introductory approach to the education of the artist.

This course is given free by the Museum School, and is an excellent opportunity for juniors and seniors who are considering art as a career to learn more about its various fields in time to make a more selective choice in their college work.

UNITARIAN YOUNG PEOPLE

Last Sunday, March 4, twelve members of Metcalf Union with the group advisor Mr. Bruno Visco, attended the March meeting of the South Middlesex Federation of Liberal Religious Youth, which was held at the Arlington Unitarian Church from 4:00 - 7:30 p. m. Rev. William J. Gold, Executive Director of Liberal Religious Youth, was the speaker.

This coming Sunday in our regular Metcalf Union meeting we hope to discuss and evaluate our local group, our federation, and our membership in Continental L.R.Y. In this way we can discover how these groups benefit us as individual teenagers and as members of a church family.

YOUNG VOTER'S WORK IS NEVER DONE

All good politicians use every aspect of "time" to positive ends. They affirm that "Yesterday was spent searching and learning;" "Today is being dissipated by the opposition;" and "Tomorrow can spell gloom and doom or pleasure and prosperity."

Most of even our very conscientious voters only use the first two aspects quoted above—namely Yesterday, which is all the time before an election day, and Today, which is the exact day he must go and cast his vote. Any time after those two periods is a new beginning of the first, namely Yesterday. To clarify: Last week at this time we were getting ready for our local election. In the definition above, this was "Yesterday." Last Monday was the exact balloting day. That was the one big "Today." And here we are a week later sitting back reading the paper and thinking about what our powerful vote has done yesterday.

The Young Republicans' Club of Winchester seems to be in a discord with the logic above. The Club is entirely made up of very conscientious voters, yet it has the politicians' third ingredient, Tomorrow. "On March 13th," they say, "there will be pleasure. At the Mystic School Auditorium an open meeting will be held." They are quick to add, "There will be prosperity. The newly elected town officers will be there. There will be discussion, how-it-all-works information, fellowship, and the wives are going to bake some knick-knacks and mix some Zarex." Any one between the ages of 21 years and 39 years needs only to see the crowd next Tuesday at 7:45 to understand and agree that a Young Voter's Work is Never Done.

LINCOLN SCHOOL PRESENTED FOREIGN VALENTINES BANQUET

Sixth graders at the Lincoln School enjoyed a Valentine's Day banquet during their lunch hour on February 14. It all happened as the result of the class' study of the foods and eating customs of foreign lands. Their teacher, Mr. Robert Nearene, suggested that the class put their knowledge of foods and cooking experience to work. It was decided to hold a banquet during the noon hour of Valentine's Day, instead of the usual party.

The class was divided into six committees, each responsible for a part of the meal. Soon an appetizing menu was selected by the youngsters; it included: Appetizer—Scotch omelette; Main dish—Spanish rice with Swedish meat balls; Salad—Hawaiian pineapple and cabbage; Dessert—English double swifter cookies; Beverage—Coca-Cola.

The committees were as follows: Appetizers—Gratia Lewis, chairman; Robert Carroll, Susan Williams, James Nolan; Main Dish—Mary Lou O'Donnell, chairman; Gayle Palace, Natalie Palmer, Jean Blinzing; Salad—Robert McIntire, chairman; Frank Curtis, David Mitchell, Richard Pendergast; Dessert—Edwin Chussek, chairman; Betty Rows, Sally Leighton, Ronald Lynch; Menus were prepared and printed by Robert McIntire, William Eddy, Charles Tofari, John Edmands, Natalie Palmer, Jean Blinzing, Gayle Palace, and Maida Uhlig. Arrangements were handled by the committee composed of: Rose Marchese, chairman; Richard Bond, Charles Tofari, Maida Uhlig, Lucy Ann Cushman, John Gourette, and three Misses. Invited guests included Principal Martha Cunningham and Lincoln School secretary, Mrs. Eleanor Davis.

WINCHESTER ADVANCES IN A 61-55 WIN OVER DORCHESTER BOOSTS INDIAN STOCK

Winchester's surprising Class B basketball team won its second Class A playoff last Thursday night at Brandeis Gym, beating a stubborn Dorchester team, 61-55, to enter the Class A quarter-finals at the Boston Garden.

This was another game the Indians won the hard way, and their followers in the jam-packed gym had many an anxious moment in the early stages.

The Indians looked listless and were ineffective, especially at the foul line, as the game got under way, though they did have a hair-line lead at the quarter, 14-13.

Superiority with free throws aided Dorchester and the in-townners led at the half, 28-21. Many in the Winchester delegation at the game were not too happy at about that time.

What happened between the halves in the Winchester dressing-room was not divulged, but the Indians did a complete about-face with the resumption of play and really made short work of that Dorchester lead.

Playing really inspired ball, the Indians scored 15 successive points and completely outclassed Dorchester over the third quarter, tallying 20 points to their opponents eight. "Long John" Lynch led the Winchester surge, scoring nine of the Indians first fifteen points in the third quarter while giving an impressive exhibition of controlling the ball off both backboards. His 22 points on 10 floor goals and two foul baskets led both teams in scoring.

Winchester had a 41-36 lead at the three-quarter mark and outscored Dorchester over the final quarter, 23-19 to finish in front by nine.

Lynch, Kneeland and Smith had been ill during the day, Lynch especially having been in bad shape during the morning; and their illness showed in their early play. Once they got going, however, nothing could stop them, and those who saw the game came away with the feeling that Winchester can play just as well as it has to, to win. The summary:

MOTHERING SUNDAY

For years the Parish of the Epiphany has had the tradition of remaining after the 11 o'clock service for a social hour on Mothering Sunday, March 11. Traditionally, scattered families were reunited; indented children were allowed to return home for the day; boarding schools sent their students home so that families could be together.

CUB SCOUTS

Cub Scouts of St. Mary's, Pack 12, Den 1, enjoyed a very interesting tour of the Museum of Science in Boston on Saturday, February 25th. They were accompanied by Mr. Raymond Rigney, Dad of one of the Scouts. Members of Den 1 include, Joseph Grant, Raymond Rigney, Robert Murray, Richard Murray, Joseph Mawn, Peter Mawn and Michael Penta.

NEWS OF PROF. SOROKIN

Prof. P. A. Sorokin's garden at 8 Cliff street, each season visited by thousands, has become nationally known. It is featured again by a full page color photo in March copy of the "House and Garden" and is going to be featured by a full page color picture in April copy of the "Horticulture." In the "Horticulture" the picture is accompanied by a short story of how this hobby of Sorokin has been grown.

Being freed from the routine duties of professor at Harvard, where he was the first professor of sociology and the founder of Department of Sociology, Prof. Sorokin remains Director of Harvard Research Center in Creative Altruism. By his initiative now is being organized and incorporated in the State of Massachusetts a new National Research Society in Creative Altruism with temporary headquarters at Winchester. Temporary Executive Board of this Society consists of: Igor Sikorsky, president; Prof. P. S. C. Northrop of Yale, vice-president; Dean F. Bowditch of M.I.T., treasurer; and Prof. Sorokin, executive director and secretary.

Among the members of the Society's Council are Chancellor D. March of Boston University, Prof. H. Margenau of Yale, Dorothy Thomson, Prof. R. Ulich of Harvard, Senator Flanders and other eminent leaders in various fields of cultural activity. More than one hundred notable American leaders are enrolled among the members of the Society. As soon as the incorporation of the Society is finished, its constitution and other informative material will be published and the Society will start its public activity. Meanwhile translation of Prof. Sorokin's volumes into foreign languages continues. During 1955 three new translations were published, a Japanese translation of "Crisis of Our Age," a Norwegian translation of "Reconstruction of Humanity," and a Spanish translation of "Social Philosophies of an Age of Crisis." These translations bring to thirty-six the total number of Prof. Sorokin's translated volumes.

Like-wise, literature about Prof. Sorokin's theories rapidly grows. Besides hundreds of scientific and popular articles in publications of all countries, in recent years a number of Ph.D. theses and books about Prof. Sorokin's books have been published. The latest of such books is W. Fan's Chinese volume, "Introduction to P. A. Sorokin's Theories." Just published in Hong Kong by the director of the Chinese Institute of Social Research.

In March, 1956, Henry Regnery Co., of Chicago, is publishing a new volume of Prof. Sorokin's "Fads and Fashions in Modern Society and Related Sciences" in May, 1956, the Extending Horizon Press of Boston is publishing another new volume of his "American Sex Revolution, Manifestations and Consequences."

Prof. and Mrs. Sorokin have just returned from the University of Florida where Prof. Sorokin lectured during the week of the inauguration of the new president of this University, W. Reitz. Last Summer Prof. and Mrs. Sorokin and son, Sergei Sorokin, spent in Oregon and the state of Washington where the Professor guided three post-graduate seminars at the University of Oregon. Having a standing invitation for course of lectures from the Sorbonne (Paris), Universities of Brazil, Mexico, and several other European and American Universities, Prof. Sorokin has been, so far, declining these invitations. He may, however, accept a few of these during the next two years.

For the first time this season, St. Mary's took 4 points, thanks to Ralph Tauro, as he bowled a powerful 285 behind his captain Tony Saraco who bowled 296.

Boston had its Mayor Curly and New York had its Jimmy Walker, but Winchester has Sir Carmen Frongillo known as "Winnie" to many, who made an appearance at our Club House after an absence of a month because of his injury in the line of duty.

Making one of his famous Bar-num and Bailey appearances, first we heard a knock at the door and a group of honor guards entered and stationed themselves on both sides.

Then appeared a miniature red lantern hanging from an extended right hand. Some thought the B. & M. had a new spur track through our side door. Others thought it was "Butsy" Mistretta on his pet bulldozer, but no, it was Sir Carmen Frongillo.

Immediately the guards guided his right arm to a formica top table and stood guard. He received one of the greatest ovations extended to a renowned celebrity. One must know him to know that he seeks no publicity but is a man of great humility.

The winner of this week was Le-Roy Penta.

See you next week.

Cusack Invents Device To Melt Snow, Ice From Railroad Signals

Selectman William C. Cusack has applied for a patent on a device which is designed to keep snow and ice from collecting on the lenses of railroad signals.

He sketched a diagram of his invention after visiting the tragic February 28 Swampscott train wreck which claimed 13 lives and injured more than 100 people.

"While in the area I noticed the signal lights completely covered with wet snow," Mr. Cusack said. "When I went home I sat down with a pencil and came up with this plan. I have seen two of three manufacturers, all of whom expressed interest in my plan. I intend to show it to the Department of Public Utilities and railroad officials."

Mr. Cusack's invention is simply a wire screen which is placed in front of a railroad signal lens. When temperatures fall and ice and snow begin to cover the lens, an electric current is automatically switched on and the lens is defrosted. One improvement on this device is a magnified glass which could be placed in front of the screen to make up for light lost by the screen. A second improvement would be a fan which would circulate heat from the electrified screen through the lamp head.

Mr. Cusack's device, which has been called the "Railroad Signal Light Defroster," could be produced for about $10 per unit, according to advanced estimates.

M.I.T. officials, with whom Mr. Cusack conferred last week, said his invention is "worthwhile." Upon their advice, he applied for a patent on February 29.

This is Mr. Cusack's first hand at inventing. He is an inventor by profession.

Mr. Cusack went to the Swampscott wreck after Winchester police officers and firefighters were placed on stand-by orders. Towns close to Swampscott sent men and ambulances when the wreck was reported.

AT THE LIBRARY

A very important volume has just been added to the Library's reference collection: "Who's Who in America, 1956-57." This is the twenty-ninth volume of this biographical compilation, the purpose of which is to give concise, personal sketches of individuals who because of their achievements or their positions are of current national interest. A practice of continuous listing of distinctive American biographies has gone on since the first volume 1899 - 1900 and covers the period from the post-Civil War down to date and draws no social, racial or financial lines.

Music of five composers will be featured at the recorded concerts Wednesday, March 14, at 2:30 and 7:30. Symphony No. 2 (1st and 2nd movements) of Brahms will open the program. The 3rd movement of Mozart's piano concerto No. 23 will follow, then "Village Festival" from MacDowell's Second Indian Suite. Heifetz will play the 1st movement of Beethoven's "Kreutzer" Sonata, and the concert will end with a performance of music from the ballet Sheherazade by Rimsky-Korsakov.

Movies for the Family Night and the Children's Hour showings on Friday evening at 7:30 and Saturday morning at 10:15, March 9 and 10, are as follows: "Ben Franklin," "Understanding the Swiss," "Meet the Sioux Indians," "New England Fishermen" and "A Monkey Tale."

HARVARD-NEWTON SUMMER SCHOOL OPEN TO WINCHESTER PUPILS

Six Greater Boston school systems this week begin signing up pupils for an unusual summer school—designed to help every kind of student learn that schoolwork can be exciting.
From the public schools of Belmont, Brookline, Concord, Newton, Weston and Winchester, a total of more than 500 pupils will be able to attend the six-week summer session in Newton.
Called the Harvard-Newton Summer Program, the school is planned cooperatively by the six towns and the Harvard Graduate School of Education.
The school will be operating for the second year. This summer it will be expanded to include all grades from the 3rd to the 10th, according to the program director, Associate Dean Judson T. Shaplin of the School of Education. Pupils will be selected to represent a normal cross-section of the total school populations as to ability and achievement.

Under the guidance of a faculty of 30 "master teachers," the pupils will study basic subjects like English, Social Studies, Mathematics and Science, and work in such fields as art, music, and folk dancing.
The "master teachers" are selected from schools and colleges throughout the East and Midwest. Assisting them—and helping them provide each pupil with concentrated individual attention—will be some 100 teacher trainees. They are graduates of liberal arts colleges all over the country, and some 60 of them will be teaching next year in the schools of the six communities, as well as in Lexington, Natick, and Weymouth, under a new Harvard "internship" program.

This allows the trainees to work under master teachers for a summer, spend a half-year teaching under guidance in a public school, and spend another half year filling out requirements for a Master's Degree at Harvard. Then they become full-time teachers.
The principal of the Weeks Junior High School, Raymond W. Blaisdell, will serve for the second year as principal of the summer school.

"First of all, we are trying to offer our pupils a challenge," he comments. "A master teacher can capitalize on the natural curiosity which every child has. He can help the pupil see that there is both sense and vitality in what he is studying. The pupil is strongly encouraged to use his creative abilities."

"Secondly, the school builds the skills every pupil needs—especially in mathematics and English. It is done by exploring new avenues, new approaches, to catch the pupil's interest and amplify his understanding." The emphasis of the program,

Mr. Blaisdell adds, can be summed up in the word "enrichment." He says: "The pupil gets the biggest benefit. But the teacher-teacher puts it across, and get the chance to try it themselves. Many more pupils will ultimately benefit from that."

Pupils are enrolled for the grades they will enter in the fall. There is as little duplication of regular-year programs as possible.
The participating school systems are Belmont, Brookline, Concord, Newton, Weston and Winchester. Pupils begin registering applicants for the summer school this week. Because the enrollment is limited, each town has been assigned a quota for each grade. Prospective students should apply to their superintendent who will also help parents arrange for bus transportation.

In the secondary-school program, the pupils of grades 7 through 10 will take basic courses in English, Social Studies and Sciences, and will elect such studies as French, Mathematics, Creative Dance, and Folk Dance, Music, Orchestra, Band, Art and Shop.

In an Art Workshop, they may learn everything from block printing and model-making to painting and wood carving. An Industrial Arts workshop will teach them to work with wood and plastic, and to use hand and power tools.
A Music Workshop, featuring small-group instrumental and vocal rehearsals will be led by John Corley, Director of Instrumental Music at Brookline High School, and Conductor of the M.I.T. Symphony Orchestra and Concert Band.

In the elementary school, pupils will be instructed in reading, oral and written language, spelling, handwriting, arithmetic, social studies, music, art and physical education.

To make possible the broad range of courses and instruction offered, the summer school, which is mainly supported by private grants, will charge a tuition fee of $20 for the six-week period. ($30 for the elective program).
Secondary students will go to class at the Weeks Junior High School in Newton Center, elementary students at the nearby Bowen School. There will be eight grades (3 through 10) instead of last year's six (4 through 9). Pupils will attend three hours of classes every weekday morning from July 2 to August 10.

KIDS AND CARS DON'T MIX AAA SAFETY POSTER SAYS

Kids and cars don't mix, according to Richard W. Hoover, Safety Director for American Automobile Association's Massachusetts Division, who announced today that the AAA School Traffic Safety Poster for March urges "Play Away From Traffic."

"With spring just around the corner, children will be spending more and more time playing outdoors," Hoover said, "so we are devoting this month's safety lesson to the dangers of playing in or near streets."

The very "professional" poster that carries this theme was drawn by Leonard Tarrantino, a high school student at Washington Irving School, New York City. Her poster was entered in the last AAA National Traffic Safety Poster Contest, where it won a first prize in the senior division and was then selected by a prominent board of judges for reproduction and national distribution.

In this area, the poster will be distributed by AAA's Massachusetts Division to hundreds of classrooms in schools throughout Eastern Massachusetts, said the motor club official.

"Now is a very appropriate time for parents and city officials to take inventory of available play areas to make them as attractive as possible so that children will never be tempted to play near vehicular traffic," Hoover emphasized.
In neighborhoods where there are insufficient or inadequate playground facilities, the AAA Safety Director urged that parents take steps themselves to find or build fenced-in areas for their youngsters' safety.

The largest apple orchard in Essex County, the 500 tree, 50,000 bushel Long Hill Orchard has been sold for Edward H. Kenerson, Helen Hoffman and Albert Baker to Major Howard Platts of Hyde Park, N. Y. The orchard had been in the Kenerson and Gilbert families for 35 years. Mr. Kenerson lives on Brooks street.

BADE RUTH LEAGUE INFORMATION

The first of the baseball tryouts are planned to start April 14th and to continue the following week, April 15th—21st, the school spring vacation period.

Application forms are ready and can be obtained at Winchester Sport Shop, Chittell's Men's Shop, Furtile's Pharmacy, Parker-Lane-Winn Co., also at office of Junior and Senior High Schools.

Return applications immediately to any of the first four mentioned direct to Winchester Babe Ruth League, P. O. No. 126 or Player's Agent, George A. Rowe, Jr., 91 Highland avenue. (Do Not Return Applications to School Office).

All players of last year teams, who are eligible must return their application by April 1st and will tryout or assist the managers and officials. These players will remain the property of their team, unless sold, traded or released before the selection of new players with a deadline set for June 15th for all changes, unless a player is needed to fill their roster.

The Babe Ruth baseball program is for our Winchester teen age boys in the 13, 14 and 15 year old class, any boy born AFTER September 1, 1941 or BEFORE September 1, 1943 is eligible to tryout—GET APPLICATION IN NOW.

Because of a rule change by the National Committee for Amateur Baseball with the Age Determination Date changed to September 1st and in order that no boy will lose a year of competition if he participated in this program in 1954-1955, a waiver will be authorized if registered player birth date falls between August 1st and 31st, 1940. All players on Winchester teams of last season are registered at headquarters.

WASHINGTON MOTHERS' ASSN.

The March meeting of the George Washington School Mothers' Association will be held on Tuesday, March 20, in the school auditorium. The ways and means committee will conduct a food sale beginning at 2:30 p. m., and the meeting will get underway at 3:00. The association is fortunate in having one of its members a well-qualified book reviewer, and we are looking forward to hearing Mrs. Arthur Cann's comments on some current books. Mrs. Cann will review "The Vanishing Irish" by John O'Hara and "The Last Hurrah" by Edwin O'Connor. She will also talk about "Andersonville" by MacKinlay Kantor. Tea will be served by the social committee.

Albert J. Simone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Simone of 38 Kenwin road, has been named to the Dean's List at Tufts University, in the College of Liberal Arts. A junior, this is his fifth time on the Dean's List. He is a graduate of Winchester High School.

THE SENIOR FORUM

Ndabaningi Sithole, from Southern Rhodesia, will speak at the Senior Forum Chapel Service Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Mr. Sithole, who is proud to describe himself as "the fruit of the missionary enterprise," has come to take three years of theological training at Andover-Newton Theological Seminary. He is a teacher from Mt. Silinda Institute, a school founded and conducted by the American Board, the overseas service arm of the Congregational Christian Churches.

Born of pagan parents in a mud-and-pole hut, Mr. Sithole was brought up under the rites of the witch doctor. He became a Christian while attending Dadaya Mission School. It was his wife, Canaan, who helped him decide to enter the ministry—a decision that has brought him across the seas to America for his theological training. Mrs. Sithole has recently joined her husband and will come to Winchester with him.

The Women's Council announces that the meeting on Public Adult Education has been postponed until the first week in April. The meeting scheduled for March 8 was cancelled because of bad weather. Please watch the Star for further announcement of this meeting open to all citizens interested in the possibilities of such an educational program in Winchester and in reports about other communities.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL FOURTH GRADE ASSEMBLY

"China Comes to You" was the title of an interesting assembly presented by the fourth graders in Mrs. Helen Thompson's class on March 7. A large audience of schoolmates and parents crowded the school auditorium to see the program which represented an outgrowth of the class' work in a social studies unit on China.

Major attractions of the program included of several projects created by individual students. These were a huge jirrikisha made by Stuart Bowers, a large sedan chair built by Richard McIntosh, a wooden model sedan chair and an abacus, the works of Leon Arbene and Linda Coss respectively.

The principal entertainment was a three act play depicting some aspects of Chinese life as it was in the days before the present Communist rule. Included in the cast were the following: Jane Abbott, Leon Arbene, Buzzy Varley, Charlene Bertolucci, Loren Foskitt, Susan Weeks, Albert LaTorella, Barbara LaTorella, Carol Preston, Janice Rae, Susan Keppler, Robert Branley, Jane Van Dyke, Linda Coss, Richard McIntosh, James Russo, Bergino Santo, Al Wile, John Marascia, Marcia Russell, Cathy Corkery, Janice Galiazzo, Jimmy Cruwys, Stuart Bowers, Dicky Errieo, and Douglas Dade. John Holland was master of ceremonies.

Between the acts, several children displayed large, colorful drawings of scenes important in the life of China. These included a pagoda, the Great Wall, a Chinese bath, a picture of Confucius, a houseboat, sampan, and Chinese junk, the celebration of New Year's Day and observance of Kite Day.

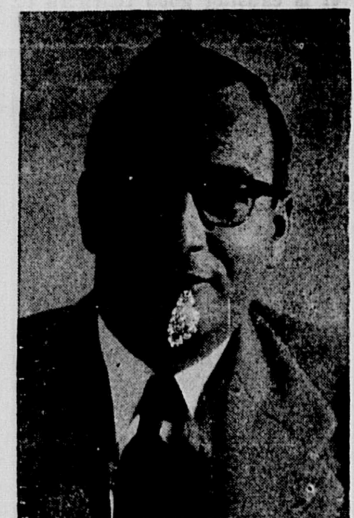

Janice Rae and Susan Keppler discussed Chinese food and demonstrated the proper use of chopsticks, while Jimmy Russo gave an explanation of Chinese picture-writing and showed several samples. Almost the entire cast of the assembly was clad in pajamas and slippers, many of the costumes being authentic and made of fine Chinese silk and brocade. Entrance and exit music was played by Jane Abbott and Jane Van Dyke.

BETA SIGMA PHI

Last week Beta Nu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its meeting at the home of Mrs. Cynthia Frink. The Winchester chapter recently sent a donation to the Beta Sigma Phi Endowment Fund. This fund, among other things, helps support Cancer Research, Girls Town and the Beta Sigma Phi Home for the Aged.

Two programs, both presented by Cynthia Frink, were given at this meeting. They were entitled "How is Your Conversation?" and "Let's Talk on the Radio and over Television."

The next meeting to be held on March 22, will be at the home of Mrs. Janice Proffitt. Mrs. Laura Cochran of Winchester will be the guest speaker for the evening. The members will invite their friends who are interested in Beta Sigma Phi to this meeting.

DATTILO AT STATE HOUSE

Frank Dattilo, senior class president at the high school, was in Boston last Friday attending the annual session of Student Government Day at the State House. As a result of the lottery by which the various officials were appointed for this day, Frank served as Governor's Councillor. Whitier, then a member of the state legislature.

EDITORIALS

All real sports lovers of Winchester join in a tribute to the high school basketball team, the members of which made such a gallant effort to win the State Class A Championship last Saturday night. The boys played like champions and lost like sportsmen. What more can anyone ask? The whole town is very proud of them!

Some little debate seems likely to occur at Monday's town meeting when the School and Finance Committees argue the proposed teachers' pay raise. The School authorities are asking a $150 raise for teachers; the Finance Committee feels $300 is nearer right.

The Finance Committee, of course, has the over-all picture to think about. After all there are other departments, and there is the tax rate to be concerned with. For many in Winchester, especially those of fixed income, the tax rate is particularly important. It is only natural that the Finance Committee should feel that perhaps a $450 salary boost for teachers is perhaps too high.

The contention of the School Committee that our teachers salary level is causing good teachers to leave town for communities paying more cannot be laughed off. The cases of Mr. Bartlett and Mr. Felmet are still too fresh in everyone's mind. Of even more importance is the School Committee's contention that it can no longer attract the better teachers to Winchester because of its salary schedule. A number of the town's top flight teachers, several at the high school level, are nearing retirement, and if their places have to be filled with second raters the school system is bound to suffer.

Winchester has spent a lot of money for schools, quite a lot of it in the past few years. Buildings, however, no matter how fine, are of little avail if there are in them no competent teachers. A good teacher can teach effectively without the latest in physical equipment. The best in buildings and appurtenances cannot make a poor teacher into a good one.

The town meeting members should, before town meeting, ponder this question of teachers' pay and try to determine whether the School Committee or the Finance Committee is the nearer right for the over-all good of the town. This is no matter to be decided by snap judgement, formed in response to town meeting oratory. Good schools are a real asset to the town, so too are good roads, an ample water supply, strong police and fire departments, a well equipped and staffed library, well kept parks and playgrounds, effective health and welfare departments.

All these assets are expensive, and somewhere a balance has to be struck. Those who must strike this balance owe it to the town to get the real facts on teachers' salaries.

LIBRARY FACILITIES OUTGROWN

Editor of the Star:

For several years it has become increasingly apparent to the Librarian and Trustees that the facilities of the present library building have been outgrown. Lack of physical space to render the quality of library service expected by the citizens of Winchester is now an acute problem. Our library is losing position as one of the best libraries in comparable communities.

To confirm our opinion of this deficiency and to obtain impartial, authoritative information on the library's future needs, the Trustees called in a team of highly qualified consultants. Mr. John A. Humphry is Director of the City Library, Springfield, Mass.; Mr. Philip J. McNiff is Librarian of the Lamont Library, Harvard College. They are recognized in library circles for their sound, practical views on library planning and operation. Among others, Messrs. Humphry and McNiff have recently completed surveys of the Milton, Quincy and Newton libraries with excellent results.

Referring to our Library in their reports, they state that, "The building has architectural beauty, but is not the most adaptable to the functions and purposes of a library. Vaulted ceilings, multiple rooms, various levels on the ground floor, lack of adequate workroom space for the staff and of open access bookcases make it difficult to carry on the operation of a modern library. The Children's Department is in desperate need of additional space for readers and for books, as well as book storage and workroom space, to make possible an increase in the library's cooperation with the school system."

Their survey further reveals beyond question that all departments, present facilities, and number of volumes are already substandard, especially in the Children's Department where 90% of Winchester's children five through fourteen years of age are regular users of the library. A copy of the Humphry-McNiff survey may be seen at the Library.

The Trustees have long sought to make the Library the cultural, civic, and educational center of the community. We believe in great measure this has been accomplished. It is our strong conviction that to delay further the construction of a building addition to the Library would seriously impair these important services to the Townspeople.

A BIT OF TOWN HISTORY

Editor of the Star:

This week the last building in connection with the new State Road is being demolished.

It was recently the property of Florence DeCelles on Main street. I have been asked so many questions regarding that large structure that I feel some information about it should be given, as it is connected with the early days of the Town.

At that time there were many industries in Winchester, due to good water power to run them. That drew many men here to work and it was difficult for them to find places to live.

There were no "eating places" as they were called. Consequently many families who had a spare room took in a boarder.

In the late 1840's one Hubert Brodeur and his wife, Caroline, came to town and settled in what was then called Cutter Village.

Hubert was a sawyer in Cutter's Mill and his wife, being a good cook, took boarders. After a few years, Caroline, who was very ambitious, thought of a way to make money, that was to build a boarding house on a large scale. This they finally did.

The house, numbered 723 Main street in recent years, was the latest in building construction, having eighteen rooms, a slate roof, lightening rods, and what few houses had them, piping for gas light. There was also a fine stable to match the house and what was considered at the time a mark of prosperity, a large Summer House on the grounds.

Caroline's venture was a big success and a benefit to the Town as well.

I am happy to have lived long enough to see the finish of the old place and hope the new improvements (?) will be a credit to Old Cutter Village.

CORRECTION

Editor of the Star:

Through a misunderstanding, it was indicated in a recent issue of the Star that the Winchester Wellesley Club had voted a $100.00 scholarship for a graduate of this year's High School class.

In reality, the Winchester Wellesley Club's members voted (in addition to contributions to the Wellesley College Development Fund, and the Wellesley College Student Aid) a $100.00 gift to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

A contribution to the Foundation has been given annually for several years with a two-fold purpose:— 1. To show the Club's appreciation for the support given by the townspeople to its fall benefit series of "Winchester Mornings." 2. To help provide further educational opportunities for Winchester High School graduates through the administration of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

We appreciate this opportunity to correct a misunderstanding. Sincerely yours, Florence C. Jope, Mrs. Ralph T. Jope, President Winchester Wellesley Club

AT THE WINCHESTER STAR

LETTER NO. 2

Ionian Sea
1730 East 37.50 North
(Note: I had to look on map also to see where the above sea is.)

This letter should have been written and mailed at Naples, but our schedule has been sent away for fair as I will explain.

We have always jokingly referred to our travels as Vagabond Trips and this one is making a dandy start on the real Vagabond side. We were to go via various Mediterranean ports to Istanbul and then return to Genoa where we planned to take to the land.

But before reaching Genoa the Captain told me he had word from the owners that after Istanbul (the ship would call at Izmir for 1,000 tons of tobacco and licorice and sail directly to New York. So we would have to part at Istanbul and do the best we could from there. Actually I don't think that will cause too much anxiety.

But they are hurrying the loading and unloading so that instead of 36 hours in Naples we only had about 8 hours. This letter was to have been written the night we were to have been in Naples.

I told you how we stayed three days at Casablanca and of our colorful day at Rabat. Before sundown on Sunday, we sailed out of the port headed for Gibraltar. We were due there about 4:30 a. m. which of course was an hour of darkness, but we all made a request to be called and we dressed and went on the bridge. The moon was almost full, well up and the sky was clear. We have now passed Gibraltar six times, four in day light but I think it was more impressive this time than ever before. The weather was mild.

When daylight came we were skirting the Spanish coast and as we proceeded northward and easterly we could clearly pick out many of the towns which we had visited by auto three years ago. Most of the higher mountains along the coast were snow capped. The whole coast lines is mountainous and in most cases they run right into the sea. There is little coastal plain here (Spain claims to be the second most mountainous country in Europe).

When we got as far North as Malaga we could see further inland the Sierra Nevada range which rises upward of 10,000 feet and with the sun at our back this made a magnificent sight for the range is long and it took many hours for us to pass. At nightfall we were still passing mountains but we headed more through the open sea on a bed line to Genoa. Early next morning we were passing Mallorca (Majorca) of which we have happy memories.

The sky was overcast and it was grey and the wind was blowing coldly from the North east across the Gulf of Lyons and kicking up a nasty cross sea that made us roll mightily. It wasn't until 2:00 a. m. that we got into the lee of some land and calmer sailing.

At daylight we were off Monaco. We passed on past St. Remo where the Italian Riviera begins. From here on we could make out most of the towns and often individual buildings for we were often close inshore. In the distant rear were the Maritime Alps until we came to Genoa where the Apennines begin.

We docked a little after noon. We saw the damage done to the sea wall a year or two ago when they had the worst storm in history. Several sections were completely demolished, on stretch being over 1,500 feet long. The word "in history" goes back quite a way for the lighthouse in Genoa harbor which stands high on a prominent outcropping of rock goes back to the 12 Century!

We expected cold weather on this trip but we found it to be just the opposite. It seems the whole of Europe is having record cold weather out of Siberia, and it didn't miss us. It was a mean, penetrating cold, and a wide, white, miles did not lessen the discomfort.

We went ashore anyway. Much of Genoa we had seen on previous visits so we felt pretty much at home but we went again to the home of Columbus to the Via Garibaldi and other streets.

The Via Garibaldi is an unusual street. It's not very wide, auto are permitted to use it one way and it has no sidewalks. Pedestrians must keep to their left hand side of the street and usually there are plenty of police to see that you do so. Shops line one side but nearly the whole length of the other side is lined with palaces. One is now a museum. One is the City Hall. Many seem to be made over into business blocks with inner courts and courtyards. One can wander into these courts and it is easy to imagine the splendor in which the former nobility lived. And the wind kept reminding us how damned cold they must have been when the wind came from Siberia. Few of the older buildings have adequate heating and the big bulk of the population just dresses as warmly as possible and has to bear with it.

We thought of staying in town for dinner but decided against it and were glad to get back on ship.

board for dinner. It was warm here.

At midnight I got up to see if the sky was clear and it was snowing in a blizzard but by morning it had lessened. The ground was white—the streets were glassy.

We had made a deal with a taxi driver we had hired. (He had a new car and spoke French well) to be at the ship at 8:30 "if the weather was clear." He didn't turn up and at 9:30 I tried to get a line on him by ship's telephone. Fifteen minutes he phoned to say his auto would not start promptly because of cold but he was all right now and would be down in 10 minutes. Ten minutes, twenty minutes—no taxi. So we decided to make a fresh start. (His offering price for the trip we planned was 7,000 lire).

A much larger car came down the quay and we hailed it. By going to the driver's office we were told that what we wanted would cost us 12,000! We finally compromised for 10,000 lire for the day (640 lire to the dollar). You've just got to know your way around in this country or they will take advantage of you, and I think most times they come ahead anyway, only not so far ahead.

Well we wanted to see the famous cemetery started about 1840 which is such a gallery of statues that it has won world-wide fame.

In the first place I told the driver we wanted a guide and for him to speak to one. These Italians all seem to be in this come-on game together. He wants a 1,000 lire! "No that's too much." Then the guide said "How many, three of you—300 lire each—total 900 lire." I said "What difference does the number make. You have to speak as much for one as for three?" "All right, 700 lire." Then my wife spoke up and said "It's too old let's not go." Quick as a flash the guide spoke up and said "All right, 3 for a dollar and I agreed too quickly, because a dollar was 640 lire, but we went in anyway.

Cold. We were colder than the people buried there. But the statues and sculptures numbering thousands were really works of art. All in Carrara marble and some so delicately done that the garments seemed like spun fabric. There are four long corridors at least in the quadrangle. (We did not go up on the hill to see the other tombs and monuments) and there must be many hundreds of statues there. I can't describe it well. One must see it to appreciate it and anyone who loves fine carving will appreciate it.

The corridors are open on one side by means of arches, and to say it was cold with the wind whipping through those wide tunnels is putting it mildly. We were glad to get back in the car, and under a robe.

Then we set off for lovely Portofino. It was not a good day but going down the coast we passed through Nervi, Camogli, Santa Margherita and other towns on the Peninsula.

We finally reached Portofino of which we had only the fondest memories. You can't drive to the waterfront here but must walk about 2 blocks. This we did in an Arctic wind that was howling so much that the surf was breaking over the sidewalks along the waterfront.

We went into the restaurant where we had gone before to lunch on the piazza. But this time we had only cold drinks and we were glad to go inside where they built an open fire for us to get warm. We had a typical Italian lunch, Cannelloni and Spaghetti and Friccetti.

It was so cozy there that we were loath to leave but finally we did. The wind was at our backs so it was not so bad. We returned by way of Rapallo. (Here Orlando, Clemenceau, Lloyd George, held conferences during and after the first World War and were finally glad to get back to a warm ship.)

Early we set sail for Naples. We saw much of the coast line from Genoa south to Spezia (get your maps out). Behind Spezia was a long range of the Apennines completely covered with snow and they looked like the Swiss Alps. We were not more than 5-8 miles from shore, so we could see them well.

We passed between Elba and the mainland. It isn't much wonder that Napoleon escaped from Elba. One could do it in a row boat without too much risk. The next morning we reached Naples.

I had a schoolmate 50 years ago in Switzerland whom I had found two years ago in Naples. To him I had written and wirelessly and at 9:30 he was on hand to greet us. He returned in one hour with his wife and a car. We were glad to see them again and later his daughter joined us.

We thought on our last trip we had not seen all there was of Pompeii and they arranged to take us there and to a restaurant we had previously visited where we had the most wonderful Pizze.

Well we got to Pompeii, told the guide what we had seen and asked him to show us the rest. There was not much we had not seen when we had no guide, but we saw again the Forum and surrounding buildings.

This city was destroyed in A.D. 79 yet it had been a pretty well planned city because around the Central Square or Forum, were the City Hall, the Law Courts, the Exchange and all the other public buildings. Only the theatres and the Coliseum were at a distance.

But the ruins today are just that. You can go down miles of streets and find only parts of the walls standing. And the reason is that for years after the disaster neighboring peoples knew that the easiest places to get stones and columns, etc., for building was where Pompeii had been.

About four in the afternoon after a meal on top of about the highest part of Naples overlooking the Bay we returned to the ship.

We had expected to have two days here and our friends, knowing this, had planned to have us at their apartment for a real Italian meal. They pointed out the apartment to us. It is very high above the harbor. To get to it you use two elevators. One takes you from the entering street into a tunnel. There you board the first lift. When you get to the top you enter another lift for 9 more flights. Naples is a hilly city.

We left the harbor just before dusk. Capri was a black silhouette as we passed it.

At 4:00 a. m. today, Sunday, the officer on watch came down to call us. We got up to see the active volcano called Stromboli. I had seen Paracutin in Mexico with its thunder and bursts of lava but this was different. This just seemed to be overflowing with red hot lava which flowed down the mountainside. In the black darkness it was especially spectacular. We were within 2 miles of it.

Two hours later we were summoned to the bridge again to see the passage through the Straits of Messina. This is the site of the old mythological tale of Scylla and Charybdis. But I don't think it was all mythology. With sailing vessels I can understand how it could be real for here the distance between Sicily and Calabria (the mainland) is less than 2 miles and the current runs at about 6 knots per hour.

We zigged and zagged but the weather was clear. The radar helped a lot and we got through without mishap. After passing the toe of the Italian boot we headed mostly east for Alexandria which is our next scheduled stop.

We don't know how long we will have there. We fear it will not be long enough but we shall see.

NEW PRISON WARDEN SPEAKS IN WINCHESTER

Those who braved the storm on Wednesday evening, March 7, heard a very heart warming message from Mr. Russell Oswald at a meeting sponsored by the Women's Republican Club of Winchester. Mr. Oswald is the Commissioner of the Massachusetts Department of Correction and is known familiarly as the new warden of the State Prison coming from a very successful term in the Wisconsin penal system. Mr. Oswald found that in Massachusetts, although we have a higher caliber in law enforcement, outstanding judiciary and personnel in State agencies, nevertheless it was unbelievable that we had such an ancient, outmoded bastille as Charlestown Jail.

He made it very clear to his audience that although many feel that we can put a criminal in cold storage for a number of years and then expect some miracle to happen at the end of those years, actually, he will return to the community, no better, and often times worse, if nothing constructive is done in the meantime.

This brought Mr. Oswald to the real subject of his talk: the rehabilitation of Criminals and the program for achieving this Mr. Oswald stated that no program is any better than the philosophy of the personnel which guides it and that their philosophy should be that there are no hopeless criminals. He stressed two things of utmost importance in their rehabilitation. First, there is a great need for a good vocational guidance program. It is our responsibility to get every criminal out of an institution after individualized treatment so that he can return to community life. Second, the need for chaplaincy service has been greatly increased. There has been a word in the life of most of these criminals and religion is the missing ingredient needed to transform them from the type of living they have been used to, to the type of living which will return them to the community.

LENTEN TEA AT EPIPHANY SUNDAY SCHOOL

The children of the Epiphany Sunday School will present their annual Lenten Tea on Friday afternoon, March 23rd, from 3-5 at the Parish Hall of the Church of the Epiphany.

The theme of the tea this year being Liberia, the delicious tea refreshments will be served midst an imaginative play scene. The Tea committee, headed by Mrs. Richard Fraser consists of Mrs. Malcolm Bennett, Mrs. Josephine Kimball, Mrs. Robert Lewis, Mrs. Edwin Marshall, Mrs. Maxwell McCree, Mrs. Walter Perkins, and Mrs. Steven Root. These ladies who will be pouring tea throughout the afternoon will be Mrs. Charles Batten, Mrs. Dwight Hadley, Mrs. Leonard Pringle and Mrs. Henry Thorpe.

Delectable home cooked food and candy as well as plants will be offered for sale. Movies will be shown for the children from 3-5.

Delightful Easter baskets will be available for purchase as per order. They may also be ordered in advance of the tea by calling Mrs. Donald Brosius at Winchester 6-4218 or Mrs. Frank Johnson at Winchester 6-2291.

The proceeds of the Lenten Tea will go to help support missions in Liberia, along the Columbia River, and among the American Indians in Coming.

At the tea and spend a very pleasant afternoon, while aiding a very worthy cause.

TO ATTEND PHYSICAL EDUCATION CONFERENCE

The Massachusetts Department of Education will conduct its Annual Physical Education, Recreation, Health and Safety Conference at the New Natick High School this Friday, March 16th, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. Outstanding coaches and physical education of Massachusetts will conduct various classes and panels.

Henry Knowlton, Football coach and Director of Physical Education for the Winchester Schools will demonstrate the basketball proficiency test, and Winchester's Mildred Barnes, girls Physical Education instructor and coach will demonstrate basketball skill tests.

Harry Arlanson of Winchester, former Coach at Weymouth High and now Director of Physical Education and Athletics at Tufts College will speak on "Administration and Problems in High School Athletics."

JUNIOR HIGH FELLOWSHIP

The Junior High Fellowship of the First Congregational Church will meet Sunday afternoon from 4:30 to 6:00. "Thinking of Others" is the general theme and a skit will be presented to conclude this series of discussions. Worship will be led by Nancy Stone and Susan Stockwell. Recreation is in charge of Ralph Thompson and Brian Walsh; and refreshments are being planned by Fred Ashenden and Joe Emerson.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The year 1955-56 will long be remembered in American Baptist Churches as the "Year of Baptist Achievement." A program by this name, but which has come to be popularly called "YBA," was launched last September in some 4000 Churches across the American Baptist Convention.

This program, which has twelve monthly emphasis, has proven to be highly successful as can be verified by the First Baptist Church of Winchester. Mr. Arthur C. Barker is the general chairman for the Church, of which Rev. Walter L. Bailey is the Pastor.

Rev. Sargis Matson, Director of the Department of Christian Education of the Massachusetts Baptist Convention, reports that during the period from October 1st to January 31st, over 4500 new pupils were added to the Sunday Church School rolls of Baptist Churches in Massachusetts.

Increased attendance at Sunday Church School is not the only area where success has resulted from the YBA program. Attendance at Sunday worship services has been greatly increased, a World Fellowship Offering for the support of Baptist missions abroad was increased 60% beyond that of a year ago, interest in better Church School teaching is evidenced by the number of Churches carrying on classes in Leadership Training. The spiritual life of the Church is being deepened and enriched through a "Program of Spiritual Growth" and greater interest and concern developed in the outreach of the Christian Church as Schools of Missions are being held in local Churches.

These are but a few of the things that are happening in American Baptist churches as the result of this well-planned program which officially concludes August 31st. However, the set-up of this program has proven so workable and provides such an excellent basis for the program of Christian education, that American Baptist Churches will use it for a long time to come.

UNITARIAN CHOR

Mary Jane Anderson, harpist, and Ralph Stevens, tympanist, will join Weston L. Brannen at the organ in providing instrumental background for the forthcoming performance of Dubois' "Seven Last Words" by the Winchester Unitarian Choir. Mr. Stevens is the regular tympanist with the Reading Symphony Orchestra, and Mr. Brannen is its director. They have assisted the Winchester Unitarian Choir very ably on various occasions. Mary Jane Anderson is making her first appearance with the choir.

The "Seven Last Words," a familiar and well-loved piece of Lenten music, will be presented on Wednesday, March 22, at the Winchester Unitarian Church at 8 p.m. The choir will be augmented by additional voices for this performance, which is being directed by Mary Ranton Witham.

Soloists will be Dolores Baldyga, soprano; John Morrillo, tenor; and Sidney Blanchard, Jr., baritone.

UNITARIAN YOUNG PEOPLE

At our last weeks meeting of Metcalf Union, our speaker was Mr. Patton, minister in the Universalist Meeting House on Charles st. in Boston. Mr. Patton conducts a Humanist (sometimes called Naturalist) church, and was very pleased to tell us the beliefs of his faith. A stimulating discussion followed his speech. Guests of the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Gross and Mr. Herbert Black.

Next week we plan to have an adult panel to discuss college. They will try to tell the group what they wanted and expected when they entered college, what benefits they received from attending college, and what they would look for in a college if they were to go again today. Members of the panel will be Mr. Bradford Darling, Mr. Sherman Russell and Dr. John Wallace.

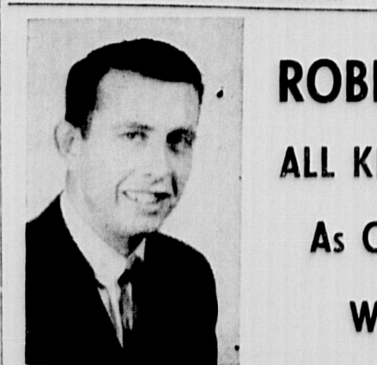

ST. MARY'S MOTHER'S CLUB MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of St. Mary's Mothers Club will be held in St. Mary's Hall on Wednesday, March 21, at 8:30 p.m. All members are urged to attend and hear Mrs. Rose Murray of Melrose speak on the different steps in making Ceramics.

Coffee will be served by the Fifth Grade Mothers under the Co-Chairmanship of Mrs. Mary Henry and Mrs. Josephine DeTeso.

ALL WINCHESTER FASHION SHOW

Despite the inclement weather, Chidley Hall at the First Congregational Church unmistakably had an atmosphere of Spring on Friday afternoon, March 2nd, for the All Winchester Fashion Show. Forsythia and quantities of beautiful artificial geraniums by Constance Spry decorated the hall. The late Mrs. John B. Peck, of the Antiques Shop where they were on sale, Rogers models and four High School and Junior High School girls modelled the beautiful clothes of the Schrafft's Chocolates and Mrs. Elliott Blaisdell furnished music. During intermission door prizes donated by Forester's Flower Shop, Filene's, Trudy's Antique Shop, Colonial Perfumers and Terrace House of Gifts were drawn.

WHAT CAN BE DONE ABOUT OUR ELMS

by Max G. Fultz
(Middlesex County Agricultural Agent)

For a long time emphasis has been placed on Dutch Elm Disease control measures in order to try to save our elms. In spite of this, it must be acknowledged that the disease has increased. More communities have reported the disease and more trees have been reported each year since the disease was first found in Massachusetts in 1941. In view of this, it is often asked if it is possible to save the elms. They are traditionally one of our most valued shade trees. Particularly are they typical of New England and few wish to think of New England without elms.

The wide distribution of elms over the countryside makes it difficult, if not impossible, to stop spread of the disease. It should be recognized, however, that communities and towns, if they set their minds to doing a complete job, can do much towards preserving their street-side elms and specimen elms. Sanitation is most important in preventing the spread of the disease by the carrier, the elm bark beetle. Before April 1, all elm trees killed by the disease in the proximity of healthy trees should be cut and burned. All dead material should be pruned from the live elms and burned before April 1st. Elm wood with bark attached should not be transported or piled in the open. It should never be taken to city dumps unless burned there promptly. All elm wood removed in road construction, building of utility lines, etc., should be burned.

Special spray programs for control of elm bark beetle are feasible on valuable elms. Such programs must be approached on a community basis. Special formulations and equipment are needed. The tops must be sprayed thoroughly if any success is to be attained. This spraying should be done in early spring, before the beetles begin to fly in large numbers, and in late summer, after the beetles have begun to lay eggs.

Keeping the trees healthy by controlling leaf-chewing insects such as elm leaf beetle is important and fairly easy if done right. All owners of elms should be on the alert for damaged or dying branches during the growing season. Weak growth and leaves with typical mottling are signs of terminal symptoms. Samples are sent to the Shade Tree Laboratories, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. Cut wood from the ends of the branches about 6 inches long and 1/2 inch in diameter. Do not send crumbly bark, dead twigs or leaves without twigs.

Of the methods described here the one most practical are sanitation, as discussed, and keeping the trees healthy by controlling leaf-eating insects, and proper feeding of the tree. Spraying for the elm bark beetles has been done with varying success and with definite limitations. We stress at this time of year disposal of dead and diseased wood by burning before April 1.

LETTER NO. 1

Casablanca, Morocco
Greetings to you all!

Well, we were scheduled to sail on this trip from New York on Friday the thirteenth! But fate and the winds decreed otherwise. Our ship (and this is her first trip in service) was held up on arrival because she spent almost two whole days in the Atlantic without making any headway. But we left on the 17th.

Friends had sent us numerous packages and one was a large, very large bouquet of flowers. These we had in our cabin and, unbraced, they went the second day out. After that, however, the crossing was so smooth that the jar remained upright without support all the way to Casablanca. So you can see that except for the first two days, we've had a very smooth crossing, making Casablanca in 9 days which is exceptionally good for a freighter for the distance is over 3,100 miles.

Now about our ship and our cabin. The cabin is about 10 x 15 feet with a very large alcove about 8 x 10 feet in which are placed the two beds and dressing table. The cabin itself has a table, two arm chairs and a large settee and desk and closets and there is still plenty of room to move about. We have our own heating units in both bath and cabin and an individual air-conditioning unit. There are lights at the head of each bed, over the mirror of the dressing table and two ceiling lights. In fact, I've never seen any ship as well lighted as this one. It is in every respect a very comfortable and pleasant place to live. Oh yes, there is a big water color on the wall and many more in the common rooms of the ship. We have three large windows (not the kind you see in the pictures) so we can see what is going on outside at all times.

The rest of the ship is in keeping with the cabins. She is named "The Motor Ship Corneville". She's about 400 feet long and 5,000 dead weight tons registered in Oslo, Norway. The crew is all Norwegian and I'll tell you something about that too. About three days out the Chief Engineer asked if we'd like to see about the ship and below and, of course, we accepted.

First down 60 feet they said to the bottom of the engine room. I've never seen a cleaner place with machines in it than the engine room. Everything is in its place. All spare parts and tools had a place and a method of fastening them there so that the heaviest weather would not dislodge them.

Upstairs is a six-cylinder Diesel of the latest type, developing upward of 5,000 horsepower. Its exhaust gases are captured and fed into a turbine where the expansion generates enough power to lift the ship's laundry. This is something very new. Without seeing it, one can hardly visualize the compactness and completeness of a power plant such as this ship has.

There are spare parts aplenty. Six spare cylinders and pistons. Spare generators and compressors because you need a high power of compressed air to turn over the motor in starting. A machine shop fully equipped to make almost any part needed.

I would like some of my friends who run paper mills to see this because I think it would be a revelation to them in many ways.

We went along the tunnel (through which the shaft runs) virtually to the propeller and there was practically no vibration and at that depth there was neither pitch or roll.

Above decks again, we went aft to see the crew's quarters. Each seaman had his own cabin and they were better than first class aboard regular ships. The Monarch of Bermuda when I last saw it. They have a lounge of their own, the biggest on the ship. Two sets of showers and space apart to hang their working clothes.

The ship's laundry is here also, ably manipulated by a lady with a very English accent. I had a chance to ask her if she was English and she said "Oh no, I'm from Oswestry, Shropshire, married to the Second Engineer."

That brings us to the Personnel. I guess. We've two stewardesses. One is middle-aged, speaks little English but she is learning. She's the wife of the Chief Engineer. The other is a bright, laughing, dandelion about 30. She speaks English well with a very fetching accent. She's married to the Second Mate.

The Dining Saloon is a good sized room, with on the wall down the middle. The Captain sits at the head at all meals. A company man, who is a very interesting talker, and a representative of the Danish shipping line, sit at the table with us and the Chief Engineer, and the other two passengers. Fortunately, all of us seem to be getting along well with each other.

I could go on about the meals but I'd need a page. The food is simply splendid. We haven't had the same thing twice since we left, and it has run all the way from roast beef to roast duck and goose.

There is a large lounge and the passageways are large and ample. We have the run of the ship. That means we go anywhere we want at any time. The bridge is, of course, the most interesting spot for here is every instrument to aid navigation that a mariner could ask for. Automatic steering if wanted, ship to shore telephone, radio, radar, depth recorder and much more. Freighters today leave little to be desired.

A word about Captain Halse. He's Norwegian, of course, has sailed all over the world. He was 16 years old, latterly much in the Far East. He's unusually comfortable man to get along with. Always smiling, with an excellent command of English, he is an ideal host. We could ask for none better.

That perhaps will be as much or more than you will want to hear of the ship.

We reached here Thursday. It is now Sunday and we will probably leave late this afternoon.

Casablanca is a modern city. 7,000 population in 1906, it now has over 700,000. It hasn't changed much since we were here a couple of years ago. There's no sign of disorder of any kind due to the feeling against France, for this city is 2/3 French and when you see the size of the commerce of the port and city, you can see that France about the Sultan. It was taken up by other groups that were taken up it became almost a roar.

Finally there were signs of action at the Mosque near which we were staying. A white charge was led in to a sort of porte cochere on the side. Then it was brought out again. The Sultan had refused to ride it. A palomino was brought in and in a few moments the Sultan appeared on its back.

BASKETBALL AND HOCKEY TEAMS ROTARY GUESTS

Winchester High School's basketball and hockey teams, with their coaches, respectively Jim Phillips and Frank Finigan, and Athletic Director Henry Knowlton were luncheon guests of the Rotary Club yesterday noon at the regular meeting of the Club in Masonic Apartments.

So far as could be discerned the recent heart-breaking loss of the A Championship by the basketball team had not affected the appetites of the team members and the hockey players showed no lack of gastronomic capacity because they had won no titles this year.

President John Rutherford presided and reminded the members of the musical Great the Rotary is providing Sunday evening at the high school auditorium when the combined Lexington Choral Society and Mystic Glee Club will present the Bach Cantata 4 and the Mozart Requiem, works of great musical worth and especially apropos of the Lenten Season.

President Rutherford also reminded the members that there is still room in "Al" Elliott's Barn, and there shouldn't be with that big Rotary Auction just around the corner.

AUTO NEEDS DRIVER MORE WAYS THAN ONE

Want your car to last longer and give you less trouble?

"Then drive it," says the American Automobile Association. Just as a certain amount of exercise is good for a person, a car should be exercised beyond the day-to-day slow driving to and from work or shopping.

Stanley Gubala, Road Service Manager for AAA's Massachusetts Division, advises city car owners to head for the open road now and then to give your car a good workout.

"You don't have to speed, but you should 'gun it' enough to make your car work hard," Gubala says. A good run of a few miles will free sticky valves in the engine, remove soot from spark plugs, free brakes which have been grabbing, and charge up the battery—all at the same time.

"Trouble is," the AAA service experts points out, "too many automobiles are never really warmed up during a brief trip to the store or place of business and back to the family garage. A car was designed to be driven—drive yours now and then, and it will run better."

ENTERTAINING FOREIGN SCHOLARS

It is to be the privilege of many families in the Unitarian Church within the next several weeks to entertain in their homes scholars from many foreign countries who are studying this year at Tufts University. Having this opportunity to become acquainted with representatives from other parts of the world, hearing about their experiences and exchanging ideas, may well strengthen in some small way the friendship of nations and establish a new bond of brotherhood between ourselves and the world around us.

The Robert Williams, have had as their guest Mr. Arai Toshitshugu of Japan, who is studying advanced theology.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Root have entertained Mr. Elforda Robels, a native of the Philippines. Mr. Robels fought in the under-ground during World War II. He is related to Carlos Romulo, the former President of the United Nations General Assembly. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Symmes had Mr. Peter Petraccopoulou of Greece who is studying at the Dental School.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Zimmer entertained Miss Sook Myung Kim of Korea, a student at the Eliot-Pearson Nursery School.

Miss Dorothy Willis had Mr. Sharal Tendul La from Darjeeling, India, who is studying at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy.

The Theodore Brownes had as their guest Dr. Adriana Guerra of Ecuador, a dental student, and the Lewis Wadsworth had Miss Irene Motmiller of Latvia, a dental student at their home. They also entertained Dr. Syed M. H. Azidi of Pakistan. Mr. Zaidi already holds a law degree and has hopes of working for the United Nations after getting his degree from the Fletcher School.

SIMMONS CLUB MEETING

A meeting of the Arlington-Winchester Simmons Club was held in the Robbins Library, Arlington, Mass., on Tuesday evening February 28th. In spite of the bad weather, about forty members were present. Following a social hour arranged by Mrs. William Glover of Winchester and Miss Eleanor Quinn of Arlington, a business meeting was held with discussions of the proposed by-laws and future activities of the club.

The speakers of the evening were Mr. Leonard Field and Mr. William Mason from the MACEFIELD art shop on Winchester place. Mr. Field gave a most interesting talk tracing the history of jewelry and its functions through the ages. He discussed the various types of gems and showed examples from a large display which they had brought with them from the shop. Mr. Mason then explained the tools used in their trade and gave a practical demonstration by transferring an actual design created for a special piece of the metal, sawing it out, and showing the steps to its final completion.

Among those present at the meeting from Winchester were the following: Mrs. W. Glover, Mrs. G. H. Gowdy, Mrs. W. B. Skerry, Mrs. H. K. Archibald, Mrs. Eugene Winter, Mrs. Chester Ladd, Connie Procopio, Ellen Wood, Elizabeth Russell, Leslie Wetters, Martha Loftus, Mrs. James Drummy, Mr. Donald Fritch, and Mrs. K. F. Cleaves.

Members from Winchester who are on the committee are: Mrs. Daniel Fortiere of 113 Mt. Vernon street, Mrs. Henry Valour of 55 Yale street, and Mrs. George Kean of 6 Glen road.

Mrs. Thomas H. Dolan of Woburn, president of the guild, invites everyone to attend.

ELLISON DUO

SECOND CHURCH GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ellison, "vocalists of distinction," will be the special guests at the Anniversary Program of the Second Church Congregational Church, Friday, March 16, 7:45 p. m.

Henry and Ruth Ellison met and married in Atlanta, Georgia. After singing together for a time, they became popular as a duo. Both received their educational background in Atlanta, plus coaching by Professor J. D. Killingsworth, Dean of Music, Clark University. Later, they moved to Boston, Mass., to cultivate their already outstanding voices and are at present studying with Evelyn M. Duncanson, one of Boston's greatest voice teachers affiliated with the Music Department at Boston University.

Both shared top honors in the Chicago and Music Festival in 1949. The opportunity to enter this festival was given the Ellisons by the Lynn Daily Item, after they won first prizes at the Second North Shore Annual Music Festival, Lynn, Mass. They were highly praised by the Metropolitan Opera Star, Lauritz Melchior, one of the judges at the Chicago and Music Festival.

God has richly endowed them with magnificent voices which their audience everywhere appreciate and therefore receive the Ellisons with great enthusiasm.

Their repertoire for this Anniversary program will be varied. They will present both solo and duet selections.

ST. MARY'S HOLY NAME

The monthly meeting of St. Mary's Holy Name Society was held Sunday, March 11. The Society received Holy Communion in a body at the 7:45 Mass, celebrated by Reverend Martin J. Dolphin.

Breakfast prepared by Bob Schell and his committee was served in St. Mary's Hall and the meeting was presided over by President Joseph H. Foley. The Holy Name pledge was led by Father Dolphin, the Society's Spiritual Director. Secretary Albert Thorne, Jr., read the minutes of the last regular meeting and Treasurer John Fitzgerald gave his report.

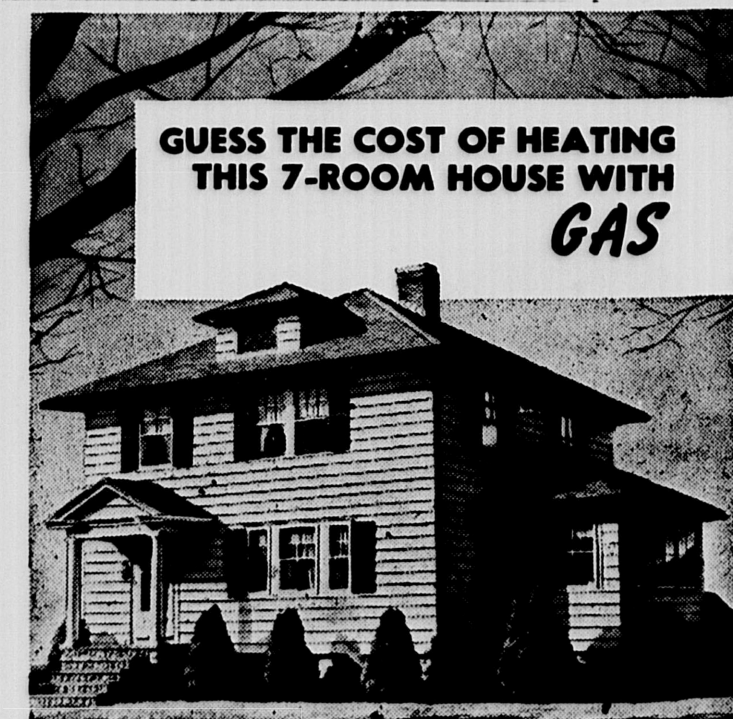

President Foley spoke on plans for the Nocturnal Adoration on Holy Thursday. The hours are from 9:00 p. m. until 7:00 a. m. and all members of the Society as well as parishioners of St. Mary's are urged to watch one hour. Contact Mr. Foley at Winchester 6-0129 or the Rectory and give the hour that you wish to serve or wish to be assigned to.

Father Dolphin presented last year's President, Herb Cleary, with the Past President's Pin. Herb has a son preparing for the priesthood at the Jesuit Novitiate at Shadowbrook which was recently destroyed by fire and we all are thankful that he escaped without harm.

Program Chairman Bill Burns introduced the guest speaker, Gerald P. Doherty of Charlestown whose subject was "Our enemy, the Soviet Union." Mr. Doherty, a Harvard graduate and C.Y.O. youth leader, traced the history of Russia and the rise of Communism in that vast country. An able and informed speaker, Mr. Doherty gave a most impressive address.

Father Dolphin closed the meeting with a prayer.

The State Department of Education announces that University Extension classes in preparation for the State-Wide-Civil Service Police Entrance Examination will be given in 16 centers throughout the Commonwealth. Candidates in this program take the course scheduled at Cambridge. Hearings will be held on Monday and Wednesday nights beginning March 19.

TELEPHONE COMPANY REPORTS VOLUME INCREASE

The New England Telephone & Telegraph Company's increased volume of business in 1955 reflected the year's high level of business generally, aggressive selling and merchandising, and the availability of more services for customers' special requirements. President J. E. Harrell points out in his annual report to stockholders.

Over 115,000 new telephones were added during the year. This was 36 per cent more than the gain in 1954 and the most in any years since 1947. The year-end total of telephones in service in five states — Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont — was nearly 2,680,000. Eighty per cent of the families in these states now have telephone service.

Originating calls exceeded 12 million each business day, indicating, Harrell noted, "the extent to which the business and social life of New England is dependent on present-day telephone communications." Long distance calling increased proportionally more than local calling.

The company's 1955 construction work totaled $99 million—the largest annual amount ever, and $15 million more than in 1954. Total plant investment, standing at $810 million at year-end, has more than doubled since 1945 as the result of stepped-up construction work.

Construction in 1955 built new buildings and building additions in 95 locations and added largely to inside and outside plant to improve and expand both local and long distance service. It carried dial conversions to completion in 85 communities and further extended Direct Distance Dialing by telephone users as well as by operators. By year-end, 76 per cent of the Company's telephones were dial and 59 per cent of long distance calls were dial-handled. Military and civil defense communications needs had high priority in the year's construction and included some 14,000 miles of network circuits in the air defense system under project SAGE.

Harrell reported earnings to 6.32 per cent on total invested capital as against 5.63 in 1954, and net income of $8.95 per share as against $7.84.

"With the dividend payment of $8," he said, "there was a modest increase in retained earnings for the first time in five years. This increase gives additional and much needed protection to the stockholders, whose dividends for the three preceding years were not fully earned."

CAN CHOOSE ARMY CAREER

According to Sergeant First Class Bonnell of the United States Army Recruiting Service, 49 High Street, Medford square, the U. S. Army is placing emphasis on its unique technical program for high school graduates. Completely realistic and up-to-date, it gives a high school graduate an opportunity to choose one of the career courses offered before he enlists.

For example, if the applicant is qualified for enrollment in one of the courses, he will receive a letter indicating the course for which he has been selected and the starting date of the course. This is a written guarantee that he will attend the school of his choice after basic training.

If the applicant is not qualified, the decision is up to the individual. Also, there is this to consider: the soldier learns, gets on-the-job experience, and is serving his country at the same time. The Army needs skilled specialists. The army is willing to train the right person; the best qualified young men and women of America.

High school graduates are urged to drop in to the U. S. Army Recruiting Station and see the Recruiting Sergeant; who will give interested young men and women the prerequisites and specific qualifications for the courses they choose. He will act as a guidance counselor. He's there to see that applicants get the best possible opportunity and that the Army gets the best qualified applicants. Do not hesitate to talk over your situation and interests with him.

HARVARD CLUB TO HEAR HARTZ

THE HOME VEGETABLE GARDEN

by Max G. Fultz
(Middlesex County Agricultural Agent)

The home vegetable garden plays an important part for those home owners who have the necessary space, time and inclination to grow vegetables. The big advantage is not necessarily in the saving of money in itself, but in the availability of fresh vegetables at any time for the table. Most vegetables are at their best for palatability and food value when they are harvested and prepared directly for the table.

Paul Dempsey, formerly at the Waltham Field Station, stressed the so-called "Big Six" as being basically the most practical vegetables for the home garden. They are the most adaptable to limited space and at the time are very productive. These are tomatoes, root crops, lettuce, cabbage, snap beans and greens.

Of all these, the tomato is perhaps the most versatile and the most valuable. Even a plant or so may be staked in a favorable place and the production will be significant. As a food they lead in value, being one of the vegetables most enriched with Vitamin C.

Snap beans are very popular and not too difficult to grow and are a close second to tomatoes in value. They should not be planted until the ground warms up well and then they can be planted each month until August 1.

Cabbage are the principle root crop grown in the garden. They are planted as soon as the ground may be worked. Three plantings about May 1, June 1 and July 1, will give a consistent supply.

Cabbage planting can start about April 15 and last until August 15. Golden Acre is the variety most generally used for early cabbage, and ball-head types are the best for late storage.

Lettuce is a cool season crop and should be grown during the early part of the year. A good plan is to sow two or three varieties at two-week intervals; then if a spell of unfavorable hot weather occurs, at least one of the varieties will be palatable and good.

Swiss chard, beet greens and spinach are the main crops for greens.

Good, mellow soil high in organic matter and with a pH of 6.0 to 6.5 is required for vegetables. Liberal use of such fertilizers as 5-10-5, 5-8-7, or 7-7-7 pays off in yield and quality. It is essential to control diseases and insects. They can cause damage or total loss if allowed to get started. Preventive sprays and dusts are the best insurance.

DARTMOUTH WOMEN'S CLUB

The March meeting of the Dartmouth Women's Club, will be held Wednesday, the 21st, at the Women's City Club, 40 Beacon street, Boston.

Dessert and coffee will be served at 1:15 o'clock, with Mrs. Charles N. Kane as hostess for the social hour, assisted by Mrs. Seymour C. Carpenter and Mrs. John F. Knight, pourers.

Mrs. Hildreth Auer, President, will conduct the business meeting at 2 o'clock. The program will be a "Mr. and Mrs." presentation of "Quadrille."

It is estimated that there are 150,000 unknown cases of tuberculosis in the United States.

UNITARIAN PLAYERS

PRESENT FAMILY PORTRAIT

To-night and Saturday evening, March 16th and 17th, the Winchester Unitarian Players will present Family Portrait, an unusual treatment of the family background of Jesus of Nazareth. Differing considerably from the usual concept one has of the life from which Jesus came, this play will prove interesting and thought provoking to those who view it.

Rather than the eye-catching and detailed setting which patrons have come to expect with productions of the Unitarian Players, the staging of Family Portrait has been executed to provide only a background for the actors. The effects of canvas and paint are intended to highlight the players, with no attempt being made to present a stylized setting. Something new and different will be the use of a unit set, with only slight alterations being made in it to convey the impression of a complete change of set.

Those contributing to the production of Family Portrait include Phoebe and Bob Low, Stanley Osgood, Marion Black, Charlotte LeClaire, Gladys West, Ann Darling, Jay and Bob Shibley, Mary and Katharine Spaulding, Ginny and Steve Morang, Martha Cabot, Suzanne Reid, Marjorie and George Hayden, Mary Glasshoff, Nancy Fritch, Jane Zimmer, Ernestine Sands, William Spaulding, Bunny Blair, Joy Woolley, Percy Hill, Fe Wundt, Ted Read, Phyllis Stearns, Barbara Chapin, Elizabeth Churchill, Eleanor Hooper, Jean Renz, Kay Davies.

An added feature this season will be a third presentation of Family Portrait on Sunday evening March 25th. While this performance is primarily for interested groups beyond the immediate vicinity of Winchester, anyone who is unable to attend the performances on March 16th and 17th is invited to see the play at this time.

Reservations may be obtained by calling Winchester 6-6667-J, or at the door on the evening of the performances. Be sure and add Family Portrait to your list of events to be attended.

ANNUAL LENTEN TEA

On Friday, March 23, the Annual Lenten Tea will be held from 3 to 5 o'clock in the Parish Hall. The Tea is given by all the Sunday School children. Proceeds will be added to the children's Mite Box offerings to aid the church's missions in Liberia, those on the Columbia River, and those among the American Indians in Wyoming.

The theme of the Tea is "Liberia," and the delicious tea refreshments will be served midst an imaginative jungle scene. Lovely plants and all sorts of home-cooked food and candy will be offered for sale. There will be an opportunity to order the Easter baskets which have proven so popular in past years. These baskets may also be ordered in advance of the Tea by calling Mrs. Frank Johnson at Winchester 6-2291 or Mrs. Donald Brosius at Winchester 6-4218. Waitresses for the affair will be girls of the Sunday School. Movies for children will also be shown at this time. Come and bring the youngsters for a delightful afternoon.

Town Report Exhibit At Library Extends Hint To Winchesterites

An idea of what the Winchester Annual Town Report could look like if its format were revised can be had by looking over 20 reports from other towns now on exhibit at the Winchester Public Library.

The exhibit placed there contains books which are articles of civic pride in their home communities. They tell the story of community life, of municipal administration, of accomplishment by town employees.

Also included in the exhibit is a typed copy of Winchester's Town Report. Format Committee report to the upcoming Town Meeting. Recommendations contained in the committee's report are constructive suggestions for life into Winchester's Annual Report.

The committee says that the Winchester Report should have the following objectives:

1. "Provide an accurate historical record."
2. "Be of maximum usefulness and service to the people of Winchester and to its officers, boards, and committees."
3. "Develop a sense of continuity and depth by use of comparative figures, showing growth trends, and stress the 'going concern' value."
4. "Afford an exposition of the procedures and services of town government, especially as related to the solution of current problems and the administration of important projects."
5. "Convey a sense of the value and significance of town government and afford recognition of faithful service and accomplishment."
6. "Feature highlights and headlines; give an 'overall picture' by means of art and ingenuity."

The Needham Town Report for 1955 contained the following summary of the objective of a good town report:

"A town report should furnish the reader with the answers to all of the questions he may ask regarding his town government. What services are rendered by the various town departments? Who are the town officials? What is the financial condition of the town? What has been accomplished during the past year and what are the recommendations for next year?"

"Answers to these questions must not only be accurate, but must be intelligible. The town report must provide the average reader with an effective basis for appraising the value of the services rendered by the local officials. Public opinion cannot rest on a mere basis of fact, unless the public is informed clearly, concisely and vividly."

To accomplish these objectives, the Winchester Committee has recommended that: graphs, charts, photographs, maps, and drawings be introduced; that the content of the book be reorganized to afford the reader a more coherent picture of the town's activities; and that the present report be boiled down to workable size through elimination of "superfluous, repetitious or overly refined" material through proper consolidation and editing.

The committee also recommends that the Board of Selectmen appoint a special committee to aid in planning and preparing the town report.

Meeting members at the March 19 Town Meeting will have an opportunity to act on the committee's report under Article 37 of the Warrant.

AT THE LIBRARY

On Thursday, March 22nd, the Public Library will play host to the Charles River Library Club. Membership in this group includes librarians from Cambridge, Watertown, Newton, Wellesley, Lexington, Concord, Framingham, Weston, Medford and many other neighboring towns. The meeting which begins at 10:15 will be welcomed to the town by Mrs. Mabelle M. Long, a Library Trustee. After the business meeting, the Club will hear Mr. Douglas W. Bryant, Administrative Assistant Librarian at the Harvard College Library, speak on "International Aspects of Librarianship." The second guest will be Miss Pauline Winnick, Readers' Adviser for Young Adults at the Boston Public Library, whose subject is "Which Books Are Good Books For Young Adults?" Following the speakers, Club members will be served luncheon at 12:30 at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

Music by Bizet, Haydn, Bruch, and Mahler will be featured at the regular hi-fidelity recorded concert on Wednesday, March 21st, at 2:30 and again at 7:30, in the Downs Memorial Room of the Public Library.

The full-length film "Adventures of Chico" will be presented at Family Night and Children's Hour programs Friday evening, March 23, at 7:30, and Saturday morning at 10:15, respectively, in the Library's Art Gallery.

SOCIAL SECURITY NOTES

If you are getting social security benefits, and are under the age of 72, it is important that you know whether you earned more than $1,200 for the year 1955. If you did, you are required to make an annual report to the Social Security Administration by March 15, 1956, and you were probably invited to do so for some or all of your 1955 benefit checks. All earnings restrictions are removed when you reach age 72. But you must make the annual report for the year in which you become 72, unless your birthday is in January.

You have probably already received your annual report forms by mail if you advised the Social Security Administration at some time during 1955 that you were employed or self-employed. If not, the district office of the Social Security Administration, 2 Trowbridge street, Cambridge, will be glad to furnish the forms upon request, and will give you any information or assistance that may be needed in connection with filing your report.

The Jr. Mrs. Guild of the First Congregational Church will meet Tuesday, March 20th, at 7:45 p. m. in the Ladies' Parlor. Mr. Leslie Browning, Food Consultant for S. S. Pierce, Co., will be the speaker; his topic: "Adventures with Food."

W. D. N. A.

The Board of Directors of the Winchester District Nursing Association held its regular monthly meeting last Friday, March 9th, at the Town Hall. Mrs. Clarence S. Luitwiler, Jr., President, presided. The meeting was carried on with its usual order of business followed by a surprise analysis of the morning's proceedings by Miss Birdie M. McKee, R.N., Public Health Nursing Consultant of the National League for Nursing, who was guest speaker. Also, guests of this meeting were Mrs. Robert Bayless and Mrs. Robert Richardson, Board Members of the Woburn District Nursing.

The Secretary's report was read by Mrs. George B. Redding in the absence of Mrs. Donald Wright, followed by the Treasurer's report by Mrs. Austin Broadhurst.

Mrs. Walfred Wiklund, Executive Director, reported on the activities of the nurses for the past month which covered the usual home care as well as the school nursing program introduced this year in the Winchester Public Schools. Mrs. Wiklund announced that she is now serving on the Budget Committee of the Winchester Tuberculosis Committee. The first session of the In-Service Training Program sponsored by the Public Health Nursing Section of the Massachusetts Department of Health for all Public Health nurses in the Northeastern district was successfully held on March 7, at the Library covering the Medical Aspects of Diabetes, Palsy, discussed by Dr. Richmond S. Paine of the Children's Medical Center, and Community Resources for Cerebral Palsy by Mrs. Edith P. Schneider, Director, Cerebral Palsy Council of Boston. The Salk Vaccine program to date, as announced by the Board of Health, was outlined.

Mrs. Keyes, Chairman of the Education Committee, gave a lengthy and most stimulating report of the Board Members Institute at Boston University which she and Mrs. Wright attended last week. Mrs. Keyes summarized the following important points for consideration by any board member in the community: Know—your community—national groups, newcomers, age composition, economic status, standard of living, family life, social and service needs, town government, civil defense, agencies and resources for rehabilitation of the handicapped. With accurate knowledge of any properly qualified board member can better interpret his agency to his community and his community to his agency, the basic function of a board member.

In June 1941, he was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army (Signal Corps). During World War II he served in the European Theater with the Air Staff of Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Forces. Subsequent to World War II, he spent six years at Wright-Patterson AF Base, his significant assignment being that of Chief of the Radio Laboratory.

He also served as Director of Electronics at Hq Air Research and Development Command, and as Chief, Electronics Defense Systems Division, Directorate of Procurement and Production, Hq Air Material Command, with duty station in New York City.

His previous awards include the Bronze Star and the Belgium Croix de Guerre avec Palm, World War II.

Colonel Osgood resides with his wife, Mary, and their three children, Richard, Jr., Russell and Rebecca Ann at 12 Lockland road, Winchester. He is presently employed as Manager of the Avionics Laboratory at Sylvania's new Waltham Laboratories on Route 128.

YOUNG PEOPLE TO HEAR BISHOP STOKES

The Right Reverend Anson Phelps Stokes, Bishop co-adjutor of the diocese of Massachusetts, will speak at the Parish of the Epiphany on Sunday, March 18, at 7:00 p. m. on "The Episcopal Church. AT THE WINCHESTER STAR

S.O.I. BOWLING LEAGUE

We are fast closing on another wonderful bowling season with the end in sight. The battle for top honors is definitely between Georgetown and California, as Boston College slipped badly and put itself practically out of any chance of winning top honors this half.

Team Standings:
California 35-13
Georgetown 35-13
Boston College 29-19
Notre Dame 23-25
St. Mary's 23-25
Holy Cross 18-30
Alabama 17-31
Bates 12-36

Hi Single:
Richard Bucci, California 150

Hi Triple:
Joe Berardi, Georgetown 384

Top Six Bowlers:
Tony Sacco 103.
Richard Bucci 100.7
Frank Gangi 99.9
A. P. Tufuri 98.6
Jeff Gaudioso 96.8
John Buttaceo 96.2

Once again there appeared on the score cards numerous bowlers who bowled over 300. This group was led by one of the most consistent and improved bowlers of the entire year.

Getting off to a slow start he has in this half of the bowling season made great strides and it would not be surprising if he ended up in second place in the average column.

This person is Frank "Choppers" Gangi, 343; A. P. Tufuri, 337; Jake Jacobellis, 333; Johnny Mangano, 331; Joe Berardi, 319; Joe Berardi, 303 and Pete Fiore, 301, this being the only time this year that Peter had the privilege and honor to bowl over 300. It has been rumored that he took the score sheet home and is having it framed.

Captain Frank Gangi led his team to top the high pinfall for the evening with 1433. His team consists of Bill Glott, William Fiore, Max LaCruha, Dan Gatteneri and Arca Amico.

There was more talk about baseball than bowling this evening as most everyone was rushing to finish up and get to the Boston Garden.

The say that a well known B.C. man was drinking milk consistently all week at work. We don't like to probe or get personal so it has been requested to keep him incognito. It may be said that he was a professional man who was treating "Winnie" Frongillo who is fast recovering.

There was an unusual noise of a steam engine at the alleys which was quickly cleared up as Hokie Procopio turned into the alleys to hand and bowled a mighty 229, and "Rocky" DiTesso, taking a deep breath bowled a superb 233, enough said.

Being an athletic minded club and greatly interested in all sports in this town we wish to extend our sincere gratitude to the Winchester High Basketball Team and their coaches and their capable assistants for the grand effort they made in the Tech Tournament. Although defeated in their final game for state champs with Duxbury High, we are very proud of them.

The winner of this weeks award was Peter Fiore.

See you next week.

K. OF C. ST. PATRICK'S DANCE

THE CONVERSE STORY

Over a decade ago, Converse Fruit was established in Winchester on Main St., at Converse Place, where the Telephone Co. is now located.

As our fine merchant-customer relationship developed, we took over Richardson's Market at 10 Mt. Vernon St. Our predecessors at this address likewise enjoyed a reputation as being a place where discriminating food buyers congregated.

Even back in the Horse and Buggy Days, a half-century ago, Mrs. Housewife knew she would be sure to find here the very best of everything for her table.

To further enhance this reputation, we at Converse felt that we should go a step further and not only provide the very best foods obtainable, but to do so at prices that would enable Mrs. Housewife to serve the best with utmost economy.

To this end, we overhauled our entire price structure and instituted one of the first two-level grocery stores in the nation.

Owing to this downward revision of prices and at the same time retaining our legendary quality, our customer list commenced to grow and grow and has continued to grow.

Recently when a large super market left town, Converse again pondered the problem of further expansion to meet the needs of the food-consuming public.

Customer confidence, as clearly evidenced by continued and growing patronage, gave Converse the confidence needed to revise again its long range plans.

At the suggestion of, and with the assistance of, the R. M. Bradley Co., well known managing agents, Converse once again boldly set about the task of further enlarging all facilities.

We now operate one of the finest and most modern supermarkets, carrying the largest assortment of self-service foods in New England.

Our policy of offering low, low prices on every item, together with a list of super specials, actually results in the LOWEST week-in and week-out food expenditure possible.

We cordially invite you to visit Converse Market, that now proudly services Winchester and all surrounding communities. You'll be delighted with the friendly atmosphere and special little services that prompt housewives for miles around to consider Converse their "Food Wonderland."

CHADWICK AND HAWLEY SPEAK TO YOUNG REPUBLICANS

Last Tuesday evening the Young Republican Club of Winchester held an open meeting in the Mystic School Auditorium. After a welcome message by the President, Wesley Swanson, the audience heard two very enlightening speeches given by Town-Moderator Harrison Chadwick and the Club's Political Action Chairman, Blair Hawley.

Rep. Chadwick spoke of his new duty as town-moderator. He outlined the current Warrent which local town-meetings are legislating. Specific problem areas were pointed out to the members, and a comparison with other towns and their current town government was given.

Mr. Hawley outlined the present work of the State Republican Committee. As the new Vice Chairman, he is actively organizing precinct representation throughout the state. Many of the Winchester Precinct Chairmen attended and were recognized by Mr. Hawley. In his discussion he sighted the purpose of town precinct representation, the need for workers on all levels, and the importance of our Middlesex County.

Mrs. Muriel Barnes, who is the Winchester Vice Chairman of the Republican Party as well as being in this state's political organization, attended this meeting and offered her suggestions to help this young and enthusiastic Club.

The entertainment and Refreshment Chairman, Mrs. Nancy Wilde, helped to make the very worthwhile evening complete by supplying home-cooked pastries and punch during the informal social hour which followed the meeting.

It was announced by the Club's Chairman of Programs and Speakers, Donald Van Roosen, that the next meeting would be announced at the Club's Open House Social Party which will be held at the Winchester Country Club on Sunday, April 8th, at 4:00.

Mrs. George A. Marks and Miss Pauline F. Goodrich are Co-Chairmen; Mrs. Richard D. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Dudley H. Bradley, II, tickets; Mrs. George L. Connor, publicity and the following general committee members, Mrs. James H. Coon, Mr. John I. Donovan and Mr. John Ottiano.

THE FORTNIGHTLY

A regular meeting of the Fortnightly was held Monday, March 12, at 2 p. m., in the First Baptist Church, Mrs. Hiram Moody, president, presiding. She announced that tickets are now available for the Annual Meeting Luncheon, April 9, and may be obtained from Mrs. Kingman Cass. Also, that reports of all committee chairmen should be in the hands of the recording secretary by April 1.

"Making the Most of You" was the title of the informative talk given by Miss Maryann Jenkins of Arlington, formerly a Conover model and a graduate of the Powers School in New York. To create an allusion of beauty is a woman's prerogative. To do this our lecturer gave many practical suggestions and individual ideas. Style trends and whether we should follow them, a policy of fewer and better clothes and the use of a basic dress changed for varying occasions by adding capelets, stoles and accessories were discussed. Also ways of carrying handbags, correct posture, proper (and graceful) walking, etc. Finally, colors for various types were considered.

As an admirable illustration of her own theories, Miss Jenkins, a tall brunette of charm and beauty, certainly gave much pleasure as well as helpful hints for self-improvement to an attentive audience. Tea and delicious cake was then enjoyed, with Miss Mary L. Hedge and Mrs. Harris S. Richardson as pourers.

SOCIAL SECURITY NOTES

You can earn as much as $1,200 in a year and still receive social security benefit checks for each month of the year. This applies to years beginning with 1955. If you earn more than $1,200 a year from any type of work whether or not covered by social security, some of the checks for that year may not be payable. A wage earner had a deduction of one month's benefit for each $80 he earns over the $1,200 during the year. However, he does not lose a benefit for any month in which he does not earn more than $80 in employment or does not render substantial services in self employment in January 1955. His annual report of earnings show that he earned $2,700 during 1955. The report also indicates that he earned less than $80 per month during January, February, March, November, and December. He is entitled to receive benefits for the five months his earnings were less than $80 per month.

"ON THE HOUSE!"

Among the outstanding attractions of the Flower Show, currently at Mechanics Hall in Boston, is the TORO display of lawn mowers and the new concept in garden power equipment, the TORO Power Handle.

Residents of Winchester, however, need not travel into town to see these fine pieces of equipment, since they are on display at Middlesex Rental located on Route 3A in Burlington just six miles from Winchester center.

Rentool, owned by "Bill" Rozett of 29 Wildwood street, is an authorized service station for TORO and other mower manufacturers and maintains supplies of parts. A "Special Event" for this Saturday, St. Patrick's Day, features a bonus trade-in on your old mower, whether it be hand or powered.

MR. AND MRS. CLUB

Wednesday evening, March 7, St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club held its annual Communion Supper with St. Mary's Hall taxed to near capacity.

Members attended mass and received Holy Communion at 7:45 p. m. in St. Mary's Church with Rev. Edmund Parker, recently ordained, as celebrant.

Rev. John M. Manion, club director, assisted and Mrs. John Ryan was organist. Soloist was Mrs. Gordon Brennan who rendered, "Mother At Thy Feet is Kneeling."

In his sermon Father Parker dwelt on the necessity of frequent reception of Holy Communion.

A catered supper was served, and the hall was attractively arranged with individual round table seating.

At the Head Table were Rev. John M. Manion, Rev. It was also announced that a purse from the Club was given to Rev. Joseph McCall, formerly of St. Mary's and recently transferred to a parish in Lowell.

TEACHING IN BARRE

There is Winchester interest in the February 16 article of the feature series, "Meet The Teachers," running in the Barre Gazette, because its subject, Suzanne Gleason, is a Winchester girl and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loring P. Gleason of Worthen road. The article follows in part:

"Miss Suzanne Gleason, who teaches art in all the Barre schools, is a young woman of enthusiasm as well as artistic bent. She comes from out of town, Winchester, Mass., but if the truth were told, she has more boost Barre spirit than many natives."

"Suzanne Gleason tried her versatile and artistic hand in other ventures before she settled on teaching art as a career. She attended Kendall Hall School in Peterboro, Mass., for a year after her graduation from Winchester High School. Then she switched to art and attended the Cambridge School of Art in Cambridge, Mass."

"In the early part of the war business attracted and she took jobs mainly for experience with Stearns, Slaters, Spaulding and Filene's in Boston, but when the WAVES were organized she was quick to enlist. She joined the WAVES in March, 1943, and was stationed in Oklahoma for six months training at the Naval Air Station there. She became an aviation machinist's mate and was transferred to Miami, Fla., for two years.

"Honorable discharged from the Navy in November, 1954, she decided to go in for art in an earnest way and enrolled under the G.I. Bill of Rights in the Rhode Island School of Design. She was graduated in 1949 with a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree."

"While at art school she taught arts and crafts at Teale-Woakes Camps at Roxbury, Vt., . . . In the summer of 1954 she headed the arts and crafts shop at Camp Winemont, West Ossipee, N. H."

"After she left art school . . . from 1949 to 1955, she was commissioned to paint 40 portraits in pastel, oils, watercolors and pencil. Her first teaching job was in the public schools in 1952 and she was substitute art teacher at St. Margaret's School in Waterbury, Conn."

Cadillac

At Home...Among Strangers!

You're going to get a wonderful thrill when you take the wheel of your first Cadillac and head out into the country—a long, long way from home.

We're not just talking about the car's wonderful performance and its extraordinary riding and handling ease—satisfying and inspiring though these are bound to be.

No, we're talking about something more.

We're talking about the friendliness you're going to encounter—how you'll be driving among people who seem to know something about you, and who are ready to trust and respect you as if they had known you for a long, long time.

This is true, of course, because Cadillac quality and goodness have made it the overwhelming preference of people of judgment and discrimination—and the whole world has come to know and understand this and to appreciate what it means.

Yes, your best foot is forward when it rests on the throttle of a 1956 Cadillac.

This great personal benefit is strictly a plus value when you take the title of the "car of cars." It comes in addition to the long-known Cadillac virtues: matchless beauty and luxury and comfort, and safety and long life.

Why not consider a Cadillac for your next car?

It is a logical choice—not only for quality and goodness and prestige—but for economy of ownership and operation as well.

We suggest that you come in soon and see for yourself. We'll be happy to give you a personal demonstration at the wheel . . . and to explain why this is such a wonderful time to make the move from every standpoint.

WINCHESTER KEEPS ALIVE

INDIANS IMPRESSIVE IN TOURNEY WIN OVER LYNN

Winchester kept its hopes for an A Championship alive and kicking last Thursday night at the Boston Garden by beating Lynn, English, 79-58, in an impressive exhibition of all around class. No one in the Garden could doubt the Indians ability to cope with the best in the A ranks after seeing them polish off the shoe city quintet.

Playing in the featured finale of the quarter finals, Winchester was never in any trouble, and its big crowd of loyal rooters in the stands could really enjoy this one. A yelling crowd of 10,340 fans, an amazing turnout in view of the deplorable weather conditions, saw the Indians lead all the way, jumping to a 24-14 lead at the quarter and a 43-28 advantage at the half.

Paced by six-foot-five-inch Ronnie Bennett and Paul Gallagher, the Lynn boys outscored Winchester over the third period, 21-17, getting the teams away for the final stanza with the Indians in the van, 60-49. Any hopes Lynn had went glimmering in the final period when the local boys outscored their city rival, 19-9.

For Winchester the win was its 53rd straight and in achieving this great record the Indians played their best ball in several weeks, if not of the season.

Lynn threw the zone at the local boys, but with Bellino and Aspey finding the range from outside the city operatives changed their defense and were never serious threats thereafter. "Bobby" Smith played a whale of a game for Winchester, all around, being generally in the right place to grab off the all important rebounds.

The Indians were hurrying the Lynn shooters and the latter were missing a lot of baskets by a whisker that could have made a world of difference had they been squared. It was just one of those nights for English when you lose the close ones, though in fairness to Winchester it should be said its victory was richly deserved.

Coch Phillips used every one against the city boys, which in itself is an indication of the way things were going. The Indians had 29 baskets in 84 shots for a shooting percentage of 35, which is low for them. Lynn sank 21 of 78 for 27 percent. Lynn made 16 of 23 free throws good while Winchester converted 21 of 30. The Indians percentage was an even 70, Lynn's 69 13/25.

Bennett of Lynn led both teams in scoring with 27 points. Aspey had 19 to lead Winchester, but the Indians had four boys, Smith, Aspey, Lynch and Bellino, adding double figures, while Gallagher's 17 was the only two-digit score for Lynn with the exception of Bennett's high total. The summary:

WINCHESTER WINS SEMI-FINAL

SECOND HALF SURGE SINKS
BROCKTON, 55-42

In a convincing display of all around class and looking like the best team in the State Interscholastic Tourney, Class A, or any class, Winchester High's rampaging Class B Indians, first B team to play in a Class A Tournament, beat Brockton High in the semi-finals of the A division at the Boston Garden last Friday night, 55-42.

Winchester's win was every bit as convincing as the score would indicate, despite the fact most experts felt Brockton was the team to beat for Class A honors.

The Indians jumped to an early 10-1 lead before Brockton could get going, but once the Shoe City boys started they erased the Winchester lead and led at the quarter by three points, 13-10.

Both teams swapped baskets pretty much throughout the second period, but Winchester had a five point bulge in the scoring, and led at the half by a basket, 23-21. The fine shooting of Mark Aspey and the board-clearing of Long John Lynch were the deciding factors in keeping Winchester in the fight while the going was tough. As the game wore on Brockton faded badly, while Winchester was playing its best basketball of the year. Most who watched the conquests of the big city high school by the small town Class B pretenders were reasonably sure they were watching in Winchester the ultimate A champion in action.

Winchester was controlling both boards, despite the vaunted Brockton height, and the Indians were getting the tap-offs consistently. When Brockton did manage to get a jump ball it was going off the Brockton boys' fingers outside to go ultimately to Winchester.

Brockton did make a gallant effort to catch Winchester in the final period, but just as its offensive drive was bothering the Winchester fans, Bellino stole the ball and drove all the way for a layup, which, with a beautiful hook-shot by Chapin, who was spelling Lynch, really broke Brockton's heart.

Winchester made 19 baskets in 60 shots, Brockton, 15 in 57. At the foul line Winchester made 17 of 28 free throws, while Brockton hit seven of 12 the free throws Winchester game them. The summary:

A CROWN ELUDES WINCHESTER

DURFEE BASKET IN FINAL SECONDS DASHED INDIANS
HOPES, 62-60

Winchester High School's intrepid basketball team, Class B Champions for the past two seasons and winners of the B Crown three out of the past four years, had their hopes of a Class A Crown dashed at the Boston Garden last Saturday night in the last ten seconds of play when a never-say-die Durfee High quintet snatched victory from what a few minutes earlier had seemed almost certain defeat, finally beating the surprising Indians by a single basket, 62-60, to take the title back with them and their hysterical rooters to Fall River.

For Durfee, behind nearly all the way, after the early minutes, the game was a great one to win; for Winchester, with victory practically in its grasp in the final stages, it was a real heart-breaker to lose.

One thing is for sure, no one who lived through the final eight minutes of the nip-and-tuck ballgame will soon forget it, especially that winning basket by Martin Dwyer, captain of Durfee, and Joe Bellino's desperate drive into the Durfee rosters as he tried to get in the equalizer.

Whether there actually was time left to play when the uproarious Durfee crowd surged on the floor is a very moot question. Many Winchester fans and other admirers of the Indians' game try for the A Diadem thought that there was. There was no protest and nothing short of one of the biggest Army tanks could have gotten the Durfee celebrators back in their seats.

An indication of what the game was going to be came in the opening minute or so when Winchester and Durfee battled back and forth between the baskets without a tally. Winchester finally broke the ice with a foul basket, but Durfee came right back with two straight floor goals and soon afterward had a 6-2 advantage. Winchester wiped this lead out, but Durfee continued to have what edge there was the first quarter and at the buzzer had a hair-line 17-16 edge.

The Indians quickly overcame this and built up a small lead of their own, which Durfee in turn whittled away. Early Mark Aspey and Captain Al Attar of Durfee, whom many thought the best player in the tournament, were duelling fiercely, virtually matching basket with basket, and had either been out of there, it is doubtful if his team could have stayed even close at the half.

As it was, the advantage was a single basket, with Winchester in front, 25-23. Winchester rosters, braced by the thought that its darlings had been a second-half club all season, faced the remainder of the game with hope and not a little confidence.

The Indians kept their rosters hope alive through the third quarter, for although they outscored the tenacious Durfee boys only three points, 14-11, they seemed to have an edge and to be getting stronger as the game progressed.

The final stanza opened with Winchester leading by five, 39-34, and the Redskins continued to match the Durfee offense, and occasionally add to their lead, until with six minutes remaining Winchester had an eight point 58-50 lead and really looked good to win.

The way the teams had been going neither seemed likely to overcome an eight-point advantage if the holder chose to protect its lead rather than try to pour it on. Winchester hasn't been a cautious basketball team and its game over the closing minutes, while admirable from the standpoint of trying for everything, was not perhaps as strategically sound as it might have been.

During two times out Coach Phillips talked to his boys, and if as is most likely he cautioned them to play possession ball and wait for the sure one, his charges, once on their own, on the floor, seemed to be for the big score, attempting jump shots and shots from outside instead of waiting for the opportunity of a drive-in layup. Because of their big height advantage Winchester could have controlled the ball on such plays, as they had during most of the game.

With Winchester enjoying the game's biggest lead, eight points, with six minutes left, it would not have surprised Durfee to lead down slightly. There was however no let down in that bunch.

Ardua led to close the gap to six points and with three minutes and fifteen seconds remaining Winchester was still in front 58-52.

At this point John Lynch, with four fouls on his head, went out temporarily in an effort to stiffen the defense, but Durfee seemed to take fresh heart with the departure of the big tow head. Two conversions by Jim Caldera closed the gap to four, but Bobby Smith sent Winchester into a transport of delight when he dropped in one of his patented soft ones to make it 60 to 54.

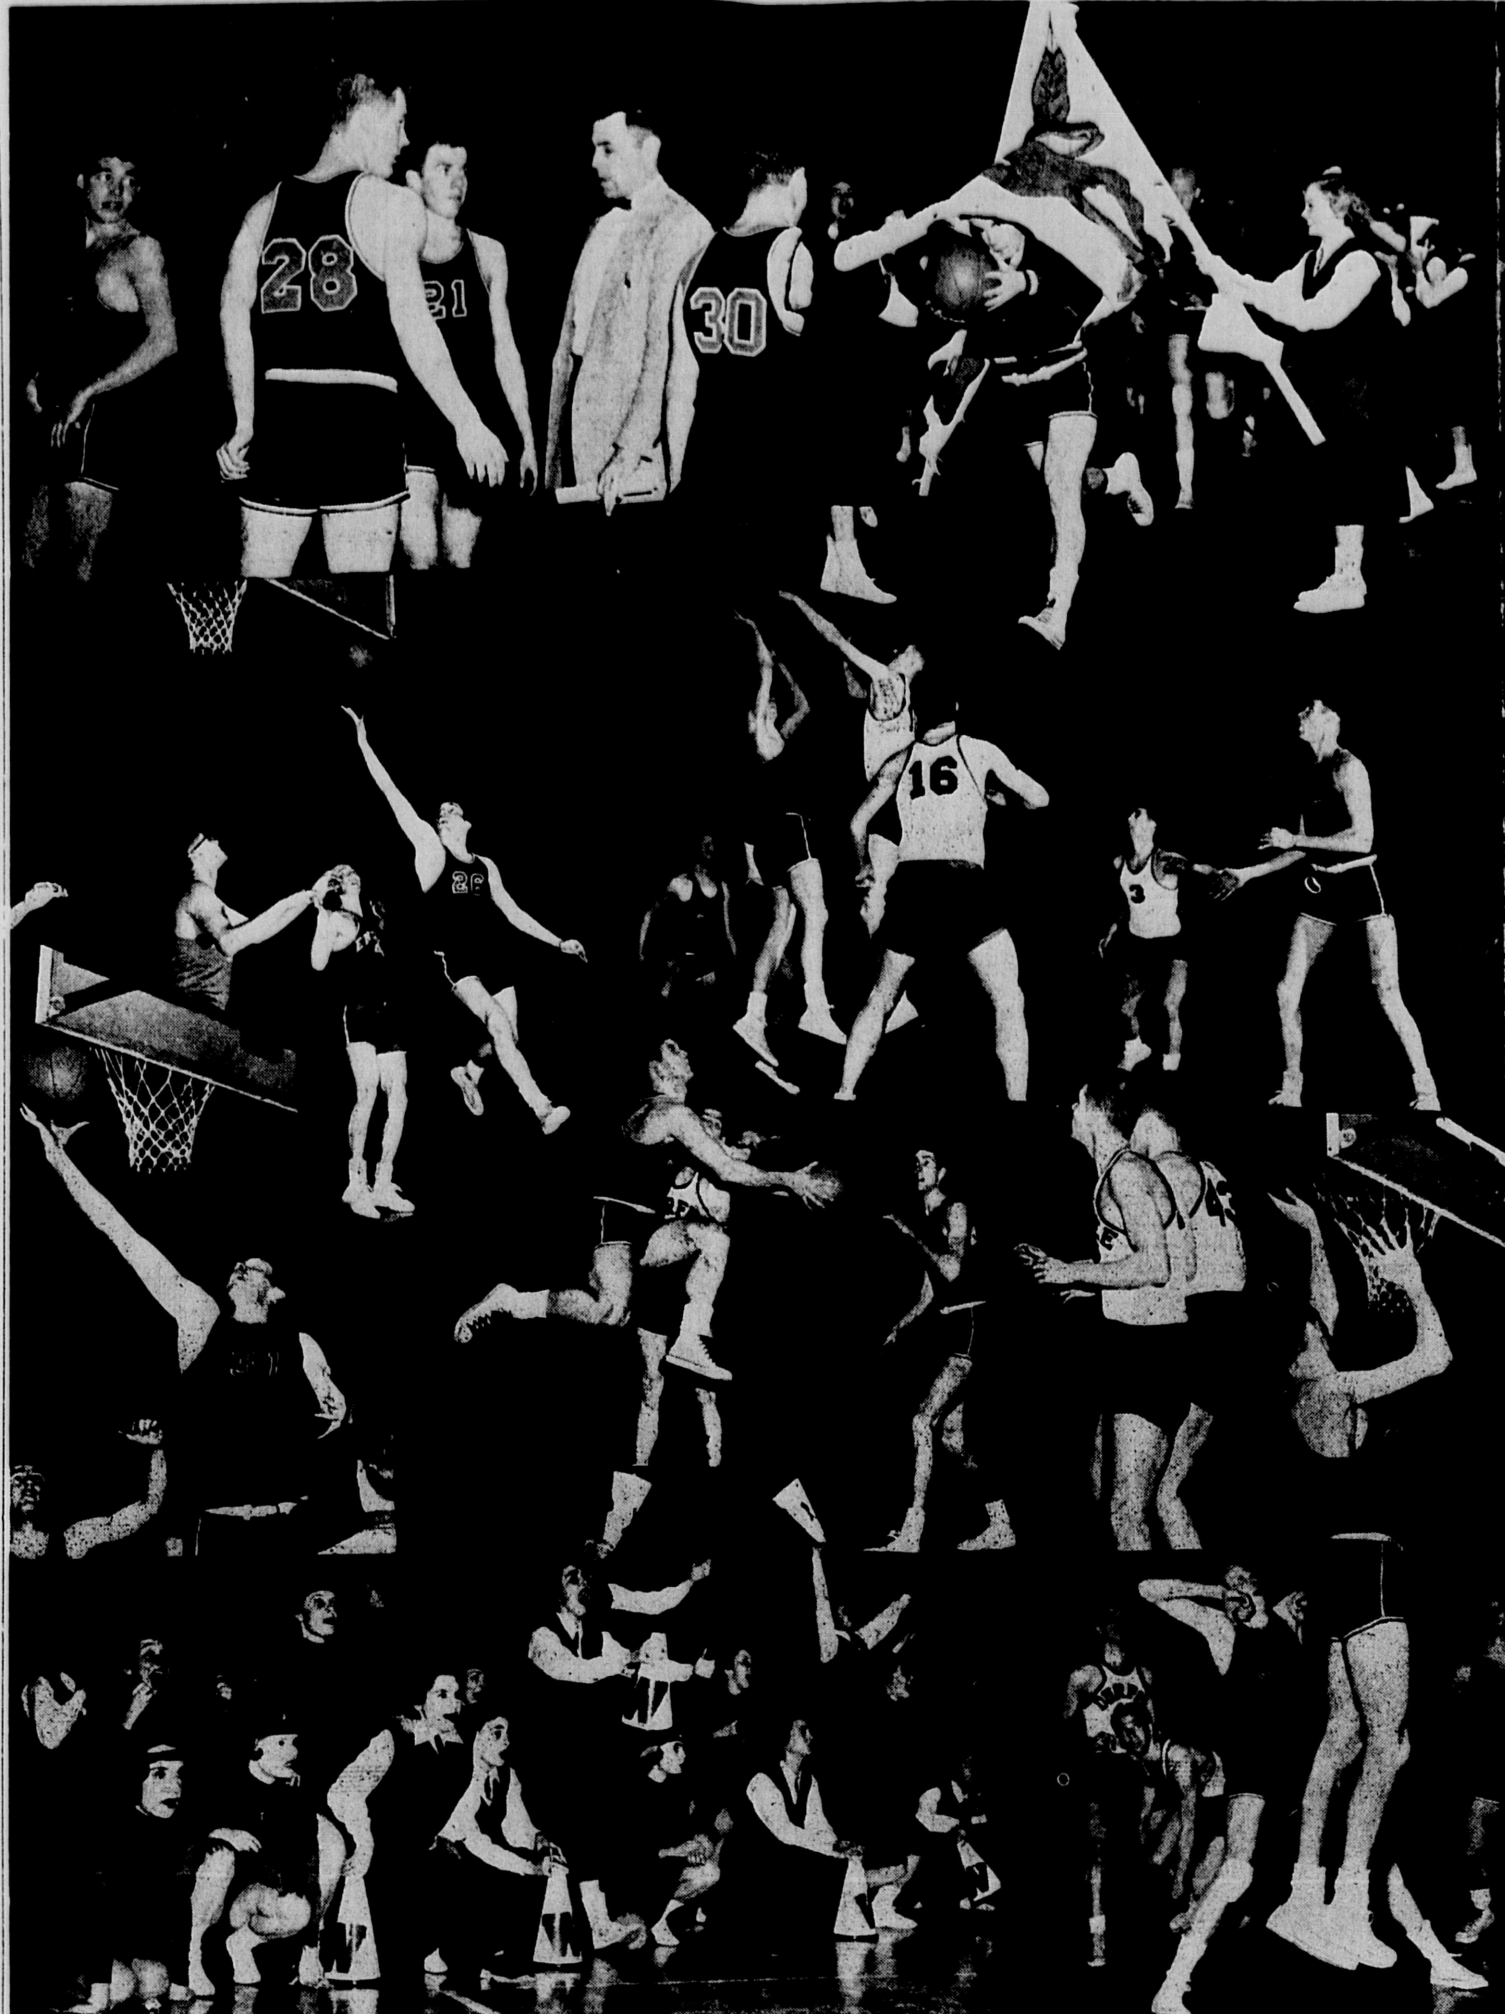

Winchester's passing at this point was leaving something to be desired, and Durfee seemed to have possession much of the time. A shot from outside made it 60 to 56, and seconds later Capt. Attar took a pass to drive in for a layup that narrowed the count to a single basket, 60-58.

Winchester couldn't find the hoop and Durfee emerged from a couple of sprawling scrammages under its basket with the ball. With two minutes and 16 seconds remaining Arruda drove in for a layup that tied the score, 60-60.

The Indians still could win, indeed many of their followers believed they would pull out the game. They couldn't, however, hit on jumpers and outside sets, and they weren't able to control the ball.

Durfee took over soon after its equalizer and with a minute and 45 seconds remaining, its coach, the veteran Luke Urban of early B.C. football fame, called a time out. From then it was strictly a "freeze" for Durfee, and its boys showed real ability in working the ball around and just the always-trying Winchester players.

True, there was once when Bellino, in an attempt to steal the ball, was knocked down after the Durfee boys got a lot of the leather, for he looked like a fool to the Winchester rosters, who vociferously protested the official's failure to call it.

A GREAT TRY, MATES!

Close-ups of tense moments in Winchester's games with Lynn, Brockton and Durfee in the State Tournament held at the Boston Garden.

OUTSTANDING SPORTS ACHIEVEMENT

Editor of the Star:

A pall of gloom hovered over Winchester early in the week as a result of the prize catch which somehow wriggled off the hook in the last instant at Boston Garden.

As an incurable optimist, however, I found nothing in Winchester's efforts to justify the boys feeling other than a great disappointment in having come so close, only to miss.

Thousands of fans in Greater Boston will remember this Winchester team long after they've forgotten who won the 1956 tournament for the following reasons:

1. Winchester was the first team with courage enough to take advantage of the rule which permits an outstanding Class B team to bid for the Class A tournament on any given year.

2. In their 26th game of the season the boys remained undefeated down to the last four seconds of a tournament final between 2 teams representing the best among 16 high schools playing basketball.

3. The only team ever called upon to play five tournament games, Winchester outscored its Class A opponent by a total of 49 points.

4. A brilliant demonstration of its ability as a team;

5. Winchester's 13-point semi-final victory over Brockton, the pre-tournament favorite, was one of the outstanding team efforts in 30 years of tournament play in the opinion of committee members;

6. The exemplary conduct of the Winchester team and its coach throughout the tournament and the bitterly disappointing final contest made a legion of new friends for Winchester High. One opposing coach remarked, "Winchester even loses like a champion."

All in all, it is my conviction, that Winchester team contributed the outstanding sports achievement in the town's history.

As a neighbor, I would like the boys to know that in 20 years as a sports editor and writer Olympic Games, World Series, football Bowl games, world championship boxing bouts, nobody ever gave me the thrills they did this year.

You'll pardon me, Mr. Editor, if I consider them champions even when Durfee wears the crown.

BUSINESS MEN BACK SCHOLARSHIP DRIVE

Editor of the Star:

The business men of Winchester are not only interested in the town's athletics and show a great pride in their sportsmanship—these busy men also are getting behind their high school youngsters in another way right now, working for the Winchester Scholarship Foundation Drive on Sunday, April 8.

The business men have organized themselves for this Fund drive under the enthusiastic chairmanship of Mr. George L. Connor of Prospect street.

Mr. Connor discovered that there were about two hundred firms, wholesale businesses, retail businesses, in Winchester, and with his committee, will contact these civic-minded firms (and small business owners) for the Scholarship Foundation. This year—the tenth anniversary of the Scholarship Foundation—the men and women behind the Foundation hope to continue to send to college those boys and girls in the Senior class who seek their assistance, and deserve to be given it. It is a unique and worthwhile task that is made possible entirely by contributions from households in every part of Winchester.

"There is a great satisfaction in working for the young people of our fine town," Mr. Connor stated. "In helping these youngsters our townpeople are making a practical investment in youth." Mr. Connor is ably assisted in his Business Committee by Messrs. Robert Shohet, Clay Spector, Roy Horne, Charles Koch, Harry E. Chafalo, Ralph H. Bonnell, Jr., Charles A. Murphy, John H. Van Dyke, George L. O'Brien, Jr., John Kinton, George Billman, Hugh J. Erskine, Jack Chitel, Edward F. O'Rourke, Arthur L. Johns, and Paul W. O'Neill.

That open house at the high school after the game was a nice gesture and did a lot to ease the tension after losing. The basketball players were a little on the distraught side and not too interested in the Coke, tonic and cookies, but the get-together with their every one was with them in defeat was mighty good for them. The High School Parent-Teacher Group sponsored the event which was held on by a group of interested mothers.

"Butch" Gardner's swing band furnished music.

Maybelle Long, who has sacrificed a lot of fingernails to basketball since son, "Reddie" was on that championship team of '52, wasn't sure fouling wasn't the thing to do in those last hectic minutes. Many agreed, but you have to remember that a foul shot made now gives the maker another try, and with the score tied Winchester, had it fouled, would have had to get a basket even to tie again; that is, if Durfee made both its shots good. And, my friends, Durfee was making them good about that time!

And whatever you do, don't try to second guess Jim Phillips! He has done an outstanding job with the team, which has made Winchester and Massachusetts schoolboy history. Two years of undefeated play isn't achieved by one who doesn't know his basketball.

GARDEN GLIMMERS

Betty Rowingson and basketball star Joe Bellino inspect a New England Dairy Council poster in the Foods Room at Winchester High School.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS
STUDY NUTRITION

The nation-wide concern about teen-age nutrition, featured in the pages of Readers' Digest, Life, and other recent publications, is not overlooked in the Nutrition classes at Winchester High School. Thanks to the many fine posters and publications which the New England Dairy Council supplies, the Home Economics Department, students are becoming aware of the vital importance of the proper foods in their daily diet.

The facts of good nutrition are important for every teen-ager. Girls, who are anxious to keep their figures trim, are learning how to plan meals low in calories but high in food value. Boys are considering the whys of the training diets which college athletic coaches insist must be followed.

The Nutrition Foundation has stated that young people from families in the higher income groups, whose children usually have pocket money to spend as they wish, are often the worst offenders. The soft drinks, candy bars, and other empty calorie and cheat foods which these young people consume after school usually spoil their appetites for the nutritious meals which are served to them at home.

A recent casual observer in the Foods Room at the high school noted the following quiz on the blackboard:

Define the following words—Calorie, Metabolism, Allergy, Scruvy, Vitamins, Pellagra.

2. What are the "Seven Basic Food?"

3. What are the functions of vitamins A, B1, C and D? List two food sources of each.

Could you answer these questions?

GARDEN GLIMMERS

"Raymie" Hayward summed it all up very nicely as, with bowed head and hand in hand, he plied Dorothy and daughter, Janet (the rabbit), out of the sorrowing Winchester stands. "Don't Cheer, men," said the Winchester Faculty Manager, "There are folks dying aboard this craft!"

The tough part of it all was losing after victory had been virtually achieved, but let no one say the victorious Indians did not make a game of it! That single-basket loss to Durfee in the championship final will long live in the minds of all who saw it; a great win for a courageous and poised team, a tough loss for a gallant club that gave its all and failed, like a champion.

The Winchester boys lost like real champions. Badly disappointed, of course, after their first disconsolate moments as they were surrounded by weeping cheerleaders and tumbler, the Indians rallied quickly and left the garden with their heads high. Many commented on their fine deportment and that of their woe-begone followers.

Winchester got a handsome plaque as runner-up. A and the boys got individual identification bracelets. All agreed they would rather have these "A" mementoes than the Class B Championship.

"I can't take any more of this!" said Henry McCarthy, veteran tournament director, as Winchester and Durfee battled through those final minutes with the score tied. Henry actually did go out until the issue was settled, but it would have been hard to pry any rooter of either team from his seat in the jam-packed stands. Even the card-carrying were staying for the end of that one.

The Winchester High Band was accorded the honor of playing the Star Spangled Banner before the feature game. The local musicians have established quite a reputation for their performance of Our National Anthem.

And who was that well known Winchester professional man who was safely ensconced at the Durfee game in a seat behind the boxes on the Winchester side and discovered "Reddie" McCormack had sold him a seat for the Brockton game the night previous. Things were adjusted satisfactorily, after a conference with "Pollock," and he and the ticket holder were looking closely at Ray Hayward after the game. One thing is for sure, it would have taken a good man to get the upset ticket holder out of the Garden before the finish of the game!

Johnny Farrell, great little floor man on "Doug" Hawkins championship team of 1952, was in the stands and especially upset at the call of lack of call, when Bellino was flattened by a Durfee boy late in the game. Margaret Hawkins was also on her feet addressing the chair of that one. Winchester didn't like overlooking that infra-mill and with the score tied at 60 all, had a foul been called, it might have been Durfee's turn to get that ball out of the deep freeze.

Whether or not there was time for Bellino to complete his dash to the Durfee hoop in those last two seconds after the winning basket, there isn't much doubt about the Durfee rosters being on the floor before the final buzzer. We have always supposed that would be a technical foul against the team the trespasser represented. We will say it would have taken a good man to call it!

In the last analysis the Durfee game was a repetition of that Woburn football game of 1954. If you can't get the ball, you can't score! Durfee took blamed good care not to let the pressing Indians get hold of that precious leather.

Just in case you are interested, the chappie who went onto the floor between the halves to lead a cheer for Winchester was Harry Wing. He did it at the Brockton game, too.

All that talk of excessive damage on the Winchester special Friday night was greatly exaggerated, on the report of the B. & M. authorities themselves. There was some damage done, but kids aren't going to sit idly by in a dark train with no authority in sight. Suggestions by Principal Stevens to the railroad and "Steve's" presence on the Saturday after-game special, kept everything very quiet.

It is said more than 1,300 bought train tickets on the Thursday inbound train, and there surely were more than that on the Friday and Saturday trains. The town was a deserted village on both those nights.

Faculty Manager Ray Hayward delivered McCormack's quota of tickets about 8 o'clock Saturday morning and before 9 o'clock there were none left. Everybody wanted to see that Class A finale.

Coach Jim Phillips' father and sister, sat near yet reporter in the stands, with his wife, "Ginny" further down the line. You just couldn't get blocks of seats for the Saturday game. Ella Knowlton, wife of Winchester's second team coach and A. D., sat with Betty Battino, wife of the Phys. Ed. instructor, and all around her envied her sang froid. Ella is a real veteran, but she really sweat that one out!

The three musketeers, Charlie Koch, Fred McCormack and Dick Hakanson were amongst those present but were not available for comment after the game. Big Jim Fitzgerald and his Mrs., sat in one of the boxes, and "Harpy" wasn't too pleased with some of those late game calls.

Herbert "Garrulous" Gardner, the Dix street Magnate, and his wife, Sophie, were prominently placed in the row directly behind the officials' bench. We saw them asking how the game came out as they left the Garden.

Those Winchester tumbler always make a big hit and last Saturday was no exception. The snickers that generally accompany their opening Indian dance quickly change to cheers when the girls really swing into their act, and those comers of Marguerite Johnson last Saturday really "sent them!"

George Field, the old Yale oarsman, analyzed the strategy a bit and felt that Durfee benefited immeasurably by taking most of their shots from right under the hoop. Few would care to dispute the effectiveness of this plan as Durfee worked it, but sometimes you just can't get that ball in there.

Winchester made only 14 errors against Durfee which is very high class going. Unfortunately several of these errors came in those last ten minutes when perfect play was so necessary.

A year ago Winchester won the B Crown and the hockey team, the State Championship on the same night. This year neither team came through, the hockey team also losing in a sort of consolation North Shore trophy tourney at Lynn.

The hearts of the hockey team were hardly in their inconsequential game, for the boys naturally wanted to see the basketball team in its final effort for the Class A crown.

"THANK YOU!"

To all the Parents and Friends who contributed to the Open House held at the High School gym on Saturday evening after the Tech Tournament, the Open House Committee wish to say, "thank you."

Through the splendid cooperation of Mr. John Stevens, acting Principal of the High School; Mr. Otto Schaefer, President of the Parent-Faculty Association; the Town Officials; the Custodians, the Police and Fireman who were standing by and the Coke-room "assembly-line workers" this party, despite the heavy "rain clouds" that hung overhead, was a great success.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS
STUDY NUTRITION

The nation-wide concern about teen-age nutrition, featured in the pages of Readers' Digest, Life, and other recent publications, is not overlooked in the Nutrition classes at Winchester High School. Thanks to the many fine posters and publications which the New England Dairy Council supplies, the Home Economics Department, students are becoming aware of the vital importance of the proper foods in their daily diet.

The facts of good nutrition are important for every teen-ager. Girls, who are anxious to keep their figures trim, are learning how to plan meals low in calories but high in food value. Boys are considering the whys of the training diets which college athletic coaches insist must be followed.

The Nutrition Foundation has stated that young people from families in the higher income groups, whose children usually have pocket money to spend as they wish, are often the worst offenders. The soft drinks, candy bars, and other empty calorie and cheat foods which these young people consume after school usually spoil their appetites for the nutritious meals which are served to them at home.

A recent casual observer in the Foods Room at the high school noted the following quiz on the blackboard:

Define the following words—Calorie, Metabolism, Allergy, Scruvy, Vitamins, Pellagra.

2. What are the "Seven Basic Food?"

3. What are the functions of vitamins A, B1, C and D? List two food sources of each.

Could you answer these questions?

The splendid facilities which the town has provided in these buildings should be of great interest to every Winchester resident, and it is the hope of the town committees that the open houses will have a large attendance. Open house at the Junior High School will be from 2:30 to 5:00 p.m. while that at the High School will be from 2:30 to 4:00 p.m. following which the high school faculty will meet with the newly-appointed principal, W. Howard Niblock.

NEW PRINCIPAL TO ATTEND HIGH SCHOOL DEDICATION

Winchester citizens will be interested to know that Mr. and Mrs. W. Howard Niblock will be guests at the dedication exercises for the new high school on Sunday afternoon. Former principal Wade L. Grindle will introduce the newly-appointed principal and his wife to their first Winchester audience.

PETER P. McHUGH

Peter P. McHugh, formerly of 10 Canal street, and a well known resident of Winchester for more than 60 years, died Saturday afternoon, March 22, after a short illness at the age of 85.

A native of Ireland, Mr. McHugh came to Winchester as a young man, and until his retirement 20 years ago was employed as a gardener. He was one of the older members of St. Mary's Holy Name Society.

Mr. McHugh's wife, the former Delia Toland, died 17 years ago. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Walter Murphy and Mrs. Gertrude Murray both of Winchester; two sons, Frank P. of Winchester, and Joseph H. McHugh of Woburn; 19 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the Lane Funeral Home with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church. The pastor, Rev. Fr. Herbert K. A. Driscoll, was celebrant, Rev. Fr. Joseph McNelis was deacon and Rev. Fr. Stephen Burke, subdeacon.

Burial-bearers were six grandsons of the deceased, John, Robert, and Joseph McHugh and Paul, Francis and Walter Murphy. Burial was in the family lot in Calvary cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Father Driscoll.

VACCINE ARRIVAL POSTPONED

A spokesman at the State Department of Communicable Diseases informed the Winchester Board of Health this week that due to the slowness of arrival of the polio vaccine from the drug houses, Winchester would not receive its portion of the vaccine until some time in April.

This would still give ample time for two inoculations to be given to children under 15 years of age before the end of the school year.

HOLY WEEK AND EASTER AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

TWO SERVICES EASTER DAY

In America we will greet Easter in an atmosphere of joy and thanksgiving. We will express that joy in manifold ways, in keeping with the customs of the various Churches to which we belong. There will be no Government interference or restriction to mar this celebration. There will be no persecution on trumped up charges after that Holy Season is passed. Why?

Because America is a free nation. Our fathers came to these shores seeking freedom to worship God. Their Churches came first in their thoughts and in their loyalty, because they placed spirituality first.

We cannot forever continue free and strong on the strength of what our forefathers did and were. Reverence for ancestry is not enough. The guarantee of the continuing of these blessings depends upon what we are and what we do. Throughout this Easter Season we will think of those things which are dear to the friendships we have enjoyed—the experiences of truth and beauty which have enriched our lives—our faith in God and immortality, and how that faith has sustained us in hours of great crises and sorrow. These are the things by which we live. Your Church is the custodian of these. Far more than you realize, your Church has been a blessing to you and your home.

First Baptist Church offers its members, friends and the community the following Holy Week and Easter Services:

PALESTINE SUNDAY, MARCH 25
9:45 a. m. Church at Study. All Church School Classes.
11:00 a. m. The Church at Worship. Service of Music, including Junior and Senior Chorus and two Trunkets. Message by Rev. W. L. Bailey. "What Think Ye of Christ?"

Monday, Thursday, March 29
7:45 p. m. Ordinance of Baptism: Recognition of New Members; Recognition of Members Baptized a Year Ago; Memorial Service for our departed members. Observance of the Lord's Supper.

Good Friday, March 30
10:00 a. m. Service for the entire Church School. Music by the Junior Choir. Film: "The Last Supper" in the Social Hall.

Easter Sunday, April 1
Two Sanctuary Services.
6:00 a. m. Sunrise Service at Winchester Country Club. In event of bad weather will be held at First Congregational Church.
7:00 a. m. Breakfast in the Social Hall for the young people.

10:45 a. m. Family Easter Service. Special Music by Junior and Senior Chorus. Sermon: "Life's Easter Morning" by Rev. W. L. Bailey. New Year's resolutions accepted to lead the interest of children and young people, as well as adults.
11:30 a. m. Sanctuary Service. Special Music by Junior and Senior Chorus. Sermon: "The Mandates of Easter" by Rev. W. L. Bailey.

HEAVY SNOW HITS WINCHESTER

SECOND STORM ON HEELS OF FIRST POSED PROBLEMS FOR HIGHWAY CREWS

Winchester had its two heaviest snowstorms of the winter, and of any winter for quite a time, last week. Friday and Monday of this week, the total precipitation being estimated at about 21 inches, though the high winds during both storms caused drifts much higher than that level.

About 10 inches fell last Friday and 11.2 inches, by Water Department estimates, on Monday, but the Highway crews were working in the blinding blizzards about 17 to 18 inches on a level was nearer right. On both Friday and Monday high biting winds whirled the light snow madly about, making visibility very poor and at times blinding the workers trying to keep the roads open for travel. Many automobiles were stalled in both storms and the stranded cars made the work of the crews attempting to clear the streets doubly difficult.

FIRST DAY OF SPRING, 1956

Cars buried in snow along Parkway near Waterfield road, Tuesday, March 20.

During the storm last Friday night the Fire Department was called to Woburn while the Department there battled a fire in a greenhouse on Lexington street. There was also an alarm from Box 411, which turned out to be a needless run, the box being pulled when someone became alarmed by the reflection from the lighted switch-boxes near Winchester Station.

Friday's storm did not start until mid-morning, and it was noon time before it commenced to pour. It was something out of the ordinary.

By early afternoon, however, the steadily falling snow and the terrific winds commenced to stall traffic and by early evening conditions were bad, with most persons glad to be under cover and the basketball teams especially happy to have the Tech turnout at the Garden behind them rather than in progress.

MRS. MARY JONES HANNON

Mrs. Mary Jones Hannon, widow of John J. Hannon, died Friday morning, March 16th, at her home, 17 Westley street, after a short illness. She had not been in good health for some time, but had courageously kept up and about until a little more than two weeks ago.

Mrs. Hannon was the daughter of Thomas and Margaret (Coleman) Hennessey. She was born March 25, 1886, in County Meath, Ireland, and spent her early life in Ireland, coming to this country and settling in Winchester as a girl in her late teens.

On November 19, 1913, she married Mr. Hannon, who was for many years a blacksmith at the Town Yard. He died August 25, 1932.

Mrs. Hannon was a member of St. Mary's Sodality, of Qualey Court, Dublin, Ireland, and of the Medical Missionaries of Mary. Her long residence and pleasing personality made her many friends to whom the news of her passing brought genuine regret.

She leaves four daughters, Sister John Mark, S.S.J., of Eureka, California; Mrs. Catherine Morris, Miss Helen G. Hannon and Mrs. Margaret O'Donnell, all of Winchester; three sons, Police Officer Thomas F. Hannon, James V., both of Winchester; and John J. Hannon of Danvers; also 13 grandchildren.

The funeral was held from the M. G. Moffett Funeral Home Monday morning with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church. Rev. Fr. Charles E. Anadore was celebrant, Rev. Fr. Martin J. Dolphin was deacon and Rev. Fr. Edmund Parker, subdeacon.

Burial was in the family lot in Calvary cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. Cornelius Hogan of St. Bridget's Church, Lexington, formerly curate at St. Mary's, Winchester.

Miss Padelford was born in New York City and her family moved to Winchester early in her life and she is a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1952. She spent one semester at Fisk University, Nashville, Tennessee, in an exchange program.

Last summer Miss Padelford was a cabin counselor at Camp Andover in New Hampshire and during her Oberlin years helped lead recreation for a children's home in Oberlin. While at Fisk she did work in a girls' vocational school and detention home in Nashville, Tennessee.

Miss Padelford has been active in music and athletics as well as religious work and is a member of the First Congregational Church of Winchester.

Just where she will teach in Turkey has not yet been decided. She will sail for her new work this August.

WINCHESTER MAN MAKES IRAQ STUDIES

Scientific studies of fluids, essential to river and oil development in Iraq, have been made possible by Dr. Kenneth C. Reynolds, head of the general engineering department at the University of Southern California. He was sent to Baghdad as a Fulbright professor for a period of nine months. Dr. and Mrs. Reynolds were former residents of Winchester for some years, living at 9 Seneca road.

As the first of its kind in the country, a fluid mechanics laboratory was set up and put into operation at the Baghdad Engineering College. Students assisted Dr. Reynolds in constructing the project from equipment on hand.

Importance of the study of fluids in motion and at rest is stressed in connection with problems of water supply for agricultural purposes. Dr. Reynolds explained. The country's climate is similar to Southern California with Baghdad recording only six inches for the average annual rainfall. More dams are needed and rivers have to be directed to increase the production of dates, grains and cotton, the SC professor said.

Prior to Dr. Reynolds' visit a survey had been made of the nation's ground water level, rainfall and river flow by Prof. Stanley S. Butler, also a faculty member of the SC School of Engineering. He spent sixteen months on his study of Public Relations in 1946. He is Vice President, Director and member of the executive committee of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce; Director and Massachusetts Vice Chairman of the New England Council. He is a Director of the Greater Boston YMCA and here in Winchester is currently serving as Vice President and Director of the Winchester Hospital. He has served as a member of the Winchester Finance Committee and was the Chairman for one year. He has also served for three years as a Director of the Winchester Country Club.

THOMAS M. HENNESSEY

Mr. Hennessey has been a Vice President of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company since 1946. He started his career with the Company in 1923 and during his thirty-three years of service has held various administrative assignments in the Traffic and Executive Departments. He was named Assistant Vice President in the Personnel Department in 1944, Director of Public Relations in 1945 and Vice President in charge of Public Relations in 1946. He is Vice President, Director and member of the executive committee of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce; Director and Massachusetts Vice Chairman of the New England Council. He is a Director of the Greater Boston YMCA and here in Winchester is currently serving as Vice President and Director of the Winchester Hospital. He has served as a member of the Winchester Finance Committee and was the Chairman for one year. He has also served for three years as a Director of the Winchester Country Club.

On his return recently to the SC campus Professor and Mrs. Reynolds completed a world tour by way of the Orient.

K. OF C. NEWS

ST. PAT'S NIGHT DANCE

Shamrocks and snow! "Erin Go Bragh!" It was a great day for the Irish in Winchester as on and on they came, sons and daughters of Erin, some by adoption, to the annual K. of C. St. Patrick's Day Dance Social at Masonic Hall last Saturday evening. A capacity gathering of gay dancers swirled to the merry Irish music, with P.G.K. Luke Glendon, expert on all things gaelic, nodding approval. "Wonderful," exclaimed genial Bill Dailey, Dance Chairman, suitably attired in green top and tie, who stoutly maintained that even an old New England blizzard could not halt the affair, a K. of C. St. Patrick's Dance!

A high point of the evening was the announcement by Eric Johnson,

Chairman of the Council Fund Raising Program, that the drive had gone far over the top. Much credit is due Eric for his untiring efforts and dogged determination to conduct the drive to a successful conclusion. Assisting Chairman Bill Dailey on the Dance Social were Vin Erhard, G.K., as honorary chairman; Mary Dailey and Nancy Lane, decorations; and Bert Stevens, P.G.K. Henry Murray, John Lane, Joe Haggerty, Dick Fiore, George Foley, P.G.K. Chet Thibault, Dan O'Donnell, Tom Drapeau, Mae and "Jocko" Serika, Eric Johnson, Tom Gramzow, D.G. K.; Sam Vangel, P.G.K. Charles Haggerty and John Mulrennan.

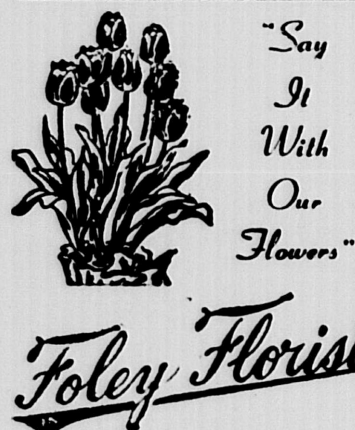

Fund Raising Drive Chairman Eric Johnson was assisted with the fund raising by Hon. Chairman Vin Erhard, G.K. Tom Gramzow, D.G.K.; Sam Vangel, Charles T. Doucette, Jr., Charles Craven, Bill Sullivan, Bill Dailey, John Mulrennan, Bert Stevens, Bill Lippman, Arthur Hall, Justin Horie, Al Bernard, Ed Quill, Henry Murphy, Bart Conlon, Tony Keaney, Chet Thibault, John Nowell, Neil Kerrigan, Jim Mawn, Jim Wharf, Al DePietro, Bill McGaragle, Dick Fiore, Lou Castriotta, Charles Doherty, Ed Dalton, E. DiLoretto, Tony Tedesco, Charles Haggerty, John Lane, Ted O'Rourke, Harry Smith, Bill O'Leary, Joe Cullen, Ed Sonato, Joe Haggerty and Dan O'Donnell.

In Memoriam A contingent of the Knights attended the Meresch Funeral Home in Woburn recently to pay final respects to the mother of Harry Ferullo and on Sunday, March 18th, visited Moffett's Funeral Home in Winchester to pay final respects to the mother of James V. Hannon. The Council extends its sympathy to these Brother Knights.

Sick Brothers Leo Garvey, Jack McHugh, Aiden Underwood and George Young are on the mend now, but Anthony Carroll is still hospitalized and Fin. Sec. Charlie Craven, P.G.K., is ill at home with a severe cold. The Council wishes them all good health from now on. Brother Knight Ken Donohue is hospitalized as the result of an accident recently and the Council wishes him a speedy and complete recovery.

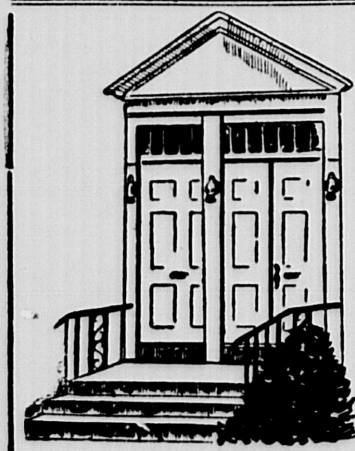

Shadowbrook Fire Winchester Council has sent to the Jesuits a sizable check to assist in rebuilding the new Jesuit Novitiate to replace the one destroyed by fire last week. A fellow townsman Richard Cleary of Washington street escaped unscathed with his fellow seminarians. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Cleary.

K. of C. Jottings Any Knights wishing to avail themselves of Voting information especially those recently moved to town who might have questions on registering to vote should contact P.G.K. Henry Murray who is Registrar of Voters in Winchester and is doing a fine job. He resides on Water street.

SWAMI AKHILANANDA
"SWAMI SPEAKS MARCH 27"

On Tuesday, March 27th, at 8 p.m., the Winchester Interdenominational Young Adult Group is fortunate in having as its speaker, The Reverend Swami Akhilananda. "Swami" (as he is generally called) will help us to better understand ourselves through his discussion of "Hinduism and Its Contribution to the West."

Swami Akhilananda grew up under the influences and thoughts of Sri Ramakrishna, a 'prophet of the new India,' and joined the Ramakrishna Order after completing his university career at the University of Calcutta in 1919. He then taught philosophy, psychology, and religion at the Annamalai University in India as well as devoted much of his time to the work of the Ramakrishna Mission before coming to this country in 1926.

"Swami" is the founder of the Ramakrishna Vedanta Society of Boston and of the Vedanta Society of Providence. Since his arrival in the United States, "Swami" has done extensive lecturing in American universities and various cultural organizations. He has had much experience in pastoral counseling, particularly at M.I.T. where he is an active and inspirational member of the religious staff. Although probably his best known book is "Hindu Psychology," published in 1946, he has made many worthwhile contributions in the field of literature through his books and articles.

An evening with Swami Akhilananda will most assuredly be a very rewarding one. Adults, as well as young adults, are cordially welcome to join us on the evening of March 27th at 8 p.m. in Little Child Hall of the First Congregational Church. Coffee will be served after the lecture, giving you an excellent opportunity to personally meet "Swami." Do give us your support by coming.

WHAT THE DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION DO

The three major objectives of D.A.R. are patriotic endeavor, emphasizing better citizenship, educational training, and historical appreciation. The D.A.R. Manual for Citizenship contains the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, brief histories of the United States, Government of the United States and State Governments, rules governing the correct use of the Flag, the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, the American Creed, instructions in marking a ballot and requirements for naturalization.

Great interest is shown in the American Indian and scholarships are given to Bacone College in Muskogee, Oklahoma, and St. Mary's High School in Springfield, South Dakota, where Indian students are taught.

Kate Duncan Smith in Alabama and Tennessee in South Carolina are two schools founded by and dependent upon D.A.R. for support.

On the long list of approved schools is Hillside School in Marlborough, Massachusetts. To qualify for this list a school must be definitely for underprivileged boys and girls.

Each D.A.R. chapter sponsors one or more Good Citizenship girls from its local High School. Requirements for this award are dependability, leadership, service, patriotism and truthfulness.

D.A.R. is interested in the protection of historical spots and conservation.

REHABILITATION

Rehabilitation is a big word for such a little girl as Gail Ann, 3, but the Massachusetts Easter Seal rehabilitation center where she has spent almost half of her life learning to live like other children is a happy place where toys like this great big doll are often used in the crippled children's treatment and training. The $280,000 state-wide Easter Seal campaign of the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped continues through Easter Sunday.

D.A.R. SPRING FORMAL

On Saturday night, April 14th, the Daughters of the American Revolution will sponsor a Spring Formal Dance at the Town Hall at 8:30. Music by Marshard with Tommy Girard leading the orchestra. Tickets, which are limited, will be $5.00 per couple. For reservations call Mrs. Kingman Cass, Winchester 6-0228 or Mrs. Robert MacArthur, Winchester 6-2641. Proceeds will benefit schools supported by D.A.R. and other D.A.R. projects. The Winchester Country Club will serve a buffet supper preceding the dance.

V.F.W. LADIES AUXILIARY NO. 3719

The postponed meeting and penny sale of the Aberjona Post No. 3719 Ladies Auxiliary V.F.W. will be held on next Monday evening, March 26th, at 8:00 p. m. at the post home on White street. All members are urged to attend and bring a prize.

PUPILS TOUR

Parents have an opportunity during the next school vacation to send their boy or girl on a tour of the United States Capitol and its immediate vicinity. A group of travellers between the ages of 12 and 16 is being formed this year. The only requisite is that the pupils be well mannered and reliable.

This year's tour will leave Monday, April 16 at eight o'clock. Miss Marilyn Thomas, a teacher in the Reading Junior High School, will chaperon the girls on this year's trip. The group will again be transported by Greyhound bus and Greyline Tours will have charge of sight-seeing trips while in Washington. The bus used on our sight-seeing trips is also for the exclusive use of our group.

The director of this tour is Walter E. Hawkes, who teaches physical education in the Reading Junior High School and has taught there for the past 22 years. For additional information see advertisement in this issue.

Miss Mary T. Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hayes of 12 Grove street, Winchester, is sent Emmanuel College in the 1955-56 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

Basis for the selection is scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities, citizenship and service to the school, and promise of future usefulness.

Miss Hayes is a member of the musical and historical societies and the social service club. She was elected class treasurer during her sophomore year and a member of the junior week committee. Executive offices she has held in the musical society include secretary during sophomore year, treasurer as a junior, and senior president.

The final night of bowling will have been played as this column is read. March 29, wraps up another wonderful season of bowling. Roll offs will follow the succeeding two weeks.

The close contest between California and Georgetown for top honors will not be decided until the curtain has been rung down.

Team Standings:

St. Mary's 25-27

Hi Triple: Joe Berardi, Georgetown 384

Top Six Bowlers:
Tony Saraco 103.3
Richard Bucci 100.4

"Choppers" Gangi 99.6
A. P. Tofuri 98.6
Jeff Gaudioso 96.6
John Buttafucio 95.9

Not many 300 bowlers this week but of those that did the leader was the boy who throws them out of the clouds whose arms almost reach the pins. Johnny Mangano with 336; Tony Saraco, 334; "Crewcut" Dom Provinzano, 314 and bringing up the rear M. J. Saraco, 308.

Holy Cross led the pack with high pinfalls this week with 1438. This well balanced team who will definitely be in the playoffs is captained by Jake Jacobellis and supporting bowlers are M. J. Saraco, "County Commissioner" M. D. Saraco, Dom Provinzano, "Printers Ink" Larry Penta and Eddie Forgiome.

The high average department will definitely not change as Tony Saraco bowling his best year and setting a new average record goes ahead to cop this title.

It also looks as if Joe Berardi will take the hi triple with his masterful bowling of 384 on the night of February 2.

UNITARIAN PLAYERS PRESENT FAMILY PORTRAIT

"A prophet is not without honor, but in his own country, and among his own kin, and in his own house."

Certainly nothing could have been illustrated more impressively than Family Portrait by the Winchester Unitarian Players. This characterization of the family of Jesus of Nazareth, which was presented in such a manner that it could have been any family in any time or place, brought home with force the idea Jesus was not appreciated in his own time by those closest to him. The brothers who reviled him for leaving them and hurting their carpentry business. The neighbors who thought him a magician and a charlatan. The local Rabbi, who believed him an impostor but considered him a reformer or too radical for the times. All were leery of him and suspected his motives.

Only one person really retained her faith in him, and believed in him through all the fair weather and foul of his too short interlude. This was Mary, his mother. Here was a role difficult for any actress, amateur or professional, and this was a role worthy of the talents of Pauline Taylor, who portrayed Mary. This was not only a large role, with many speeches, but it required a wide range of expression and behavior. Suffice it to say, Mrs. Taggart was superb and deserves the highest praise for her performance.

The scene which stands out in this whole enlightened presentation was that which took place after the last supper of Jesus and his disciples in the room in which the supper was held. Here Mary and her sister Mary Cleophas, played by Bettina Harrison, meet Mary Magdalen and hear her wonderful story. Lucille Townley-Tillett portrayed Mary Magdalen, and scored heavily with her warm and moving characterization as the woman who sinned but was redeemed through her association with Jesus Christ. The three ladies taking part made this scene memorable in discussing the teachings of Jesus and the beliefs he held. Somehow when the curtain closed on them, one had the feeling that applause would be out of place.

An extremely large cast, working well together, carried the play at a fast moving pace, and the bright costuming was set off very effectively by the soft, one color set.

It would be difficult to single out any one actor or actress from among the many supporting players for mention, as all did a fine job.

Family Portrait purely and simply, is true theatre. Considerable ambition is required to even attempt it. The Unitarian Players and the director, Rev. Robert Storor, are to be commended for not only attempting the presentation but succeeding with it for better than could normally be expected for an amateur group. This play is of powerful fare, and this presentation was of such thought-provoking force as to leave those who saw it with a concept of this chapter holy in Christian history.

An additional performance is scheduled for Sunday evening, March 25th at 8:30 p. m. intended for members of churches outside of Winchester and throughout Greater Boston. However, anyone in or near Winchester who missed the previous performance should plan to attend next Sunday's showing. Reservations may be obtained by calling Winchester 6-567-J.

WINCHESTER STUDENT WINNER AT SCIENCE FAIR

The first prize winners at the 9th annual Science Fair, held at Marycliff Academy on March 18, included Sandra Delany of 20 Vine street. Sandra displayed a project which illustrated the effect of ascorbic acid on guinea pigs deficient in vitamin C.

The other winners were Marilyn Clifford of North Andover and Carolyn Crooker of Somerville. Marilyn Clifford tested soaps, detergents and anti-biotics to discover their microbial content. Carolyn Crooker made a study of the effects of choline on cirrhosis of the liver. There were 23 exhibits, featuring studies in chemistry, bio-chemistry, biology and — themes —.

The judges for the fair at Marycliff were Sister Mary Eagon, C.S.J., of St. Clement High School, Somerville, Mother Dorothy McGuire, R.C.E., of Jeanne d'Arc Academy, Milton and Mr. Raymond Scott, Rindge Technical High School, Cambridge.

TO OBSERVE AVIATION IN MONTREAL

Robert Zarse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Zarse of Felsdale Close, is one of a group of Norwich University students who have gone to Montreal, Canada, to study the operation of the International Civil Aviation Organization that meets in that city. The trip was made at the invitation of Carl Ahlberg, Secretary General of the ICAO, and Dr. Edward Warner, President of the ISAO Council. The program was made possible through the Dr. Godfrey L. Cabot Fund at Norwich, which created and supports the University's Department of Aviation Administration, the only one of its kind in the country.

RED CROSS FUND CAMPAIGN LAGGING

For the first time in many years, Winchester is slowing down in its Red Cross Fund Campaign. In this year of many disasters when money is urgently needed, contributions are far behind the same date of one year ago. Of the $21,057 quota set for Winchester, $14,732.00 had been received on March 20th, or approximately 67% of the requested goal. Adverse weather conditions have made it difficult for the solicitors to complete all their calls, and the local office suggests that if you have not yet been visited you might mail your contribution to the Red Cross office at the Town Hall. The Fund Campaign extends all through the month of March, and many kits still unreturned will aid greatly making up the fund deficit, but an all out effort by both contributors and solicitors for the next week is essential to the success of the campaign. Volunteer workers on Bank Sunday, March 11, included the following:

HOME FROM ANNAPOLIS

Midshipman Henry A. Morgan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Morgan of 184 Cross street, was home from Annapolis Academy for last week end, bringing with him as house guests Midshipman Robert Allen of Nashville, Tenn., and Midshipman John Lacey of Utica, N. Y.

Henry is manager of the Annapolis Swimming Team which recently took all honors away from West Point, and Jack and Bob are helping make football history at the Academy.

The boys made the trip by automobile and needless to say spent a lot of time "digging out." As Bob Allen expressed it, "Why Man this is a great experience, I never saw a storm like this before. Down where I come from we would be mowing the lawn!"

As the heater in the boys automobile refused to operate after leaving Baltimore, they arrived cold but light hearted as three attractive girls, having the discomforts of traveling, arrived in Winchester from Wheaton College to make their stay a happy one.

Henry's father is recuperating at home from an operation and is himself a Navy man, with several years service in the South Pacific during World War II as a Chief Warrant Officer in the 122nd Naval Seabee Battalion. After listening to the Midshipmen's conversation he said he felt confident that Uncle Sam's Navy is in good hands and will give a fine account of itself whenever called upon.

Although Henry spent one year at Massachusetts Institute of Technology he feels the training he received at the Winchester High School has helped him to place eighth in Mathematics, among more than one thousand Middies, in a recent exam.

The Annapolis Midshipmen's vacation will come in June, at which time they will be taken on a cruise to England, France, Germany, Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

The boys promised cards from all Ports of Call which led Peter, Henry's younger brother who is a freshman at Winchester High, to resolve to study his Geography faithfully so he can follow the Cruise.

Walter H. T. Seager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cedric H. Seager of 6314 23rd street, N. W. Washington, D. C., formerly of Winchester, returned home on March 17, for a two-week vacation from Hoosac School, Hoosick, N. Y. Walter's activities consist of Acting, Debating and Public Speaking.

DRAMA FESTIVAL THIS WEEK-END

For the first time in its history, Winchester High will be host to the Massachusetts Drama Festival to be held in the new high school auditorium tonight and all day tomorrow. Ten Greater Boston schools will participate in the Festival, each presenting a one-act play or a cutting or adaptation from a longer production.

The Festival will get underway at 7:30 tonight with the presentation of three productions, including that of Winchester High, which is Act IV of "Caesar and Cleopatra," by Shaw.

Activity will start again at ten o'clock tomorrow morning with productions being presented from two more of the competing schools. At noon lunch may be procured in the high school cafeteria after which the Saturday afternoon session will begin (2:00-4:30 p.m.), consisting of selections from three of the remaining schools. Supper will be served in the cafeteria under the direction of Mrs. Laura Winn and the cafeteria staff, after which there will be dancing to the music of Herb Gardner's dance band. At 7:30 the final session will begin, consisting of the selections of the three remaining schools. After the last production, while the three judges are deliberating on the choice of an all-star cast of ten best actors and actresses and also of the four best plays to go on to further competition in the New England Drama Festival, Winchester High will present a variety show under the direction of Ozzie Osborne.

Paul Donlon, president of Cur-tain and Cue, is the general chairman of the whole festival, under the over-all supervision of Mr. Thomas A. Morse.

This Festival will be the first high school event in its new and long-awaited auditorium and should prove to be an interesting opportunity to observe the quality of dramatics presented by different Greater Boston Schools. Tickets may be purchased in advance at the high school office or at the box office at the door.

Friday, March 23—Greetings Mr. Stevens and Miss Trickett, "Henry IV—Part I," Browne and Nichols, "Solemn Pride," Arlington, "Caesar and Cleopatra—Act IV," Winchester.

GRADUATED FROM PRE-FLIGHT SCHOOL

Cadet Peter L. Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Fisher, 6 Bacon street, Winchester, was graduated last week from the Pre-Flight course at the U. S. Naval School, Pre-Flight, Pensacola, Florida.

His commanding officer wrote, "he has demonstrated by his attitude and diligence that he possesses the high qualifications necessary to become a Naval Officer and pilot. His successful completion of the courses, which are on the college level, represents no little accomplishment and you may well feel justly proud of him."

Peter was graduated from Winchester High School, class of 1953, and Graceland Junior College, Iowa, class of 1955.

JUNIOR FLORENCE CRITTENTON SPRING MEETING

The Spring meeting of the Winchester Junior Florence Crittenton was held on Tuesday evening, March 13th, at the home of Mrs. Lee Foster, Lakeview road.

Reports were made by all the officers and committee chairmen. Mrs. Malcolm Burr, Jr., announced that the annual Spring dance will be held on Friday, May 4th, at the Town Hall. Frank Vigneau and his orchestra will supply the music.

After the business meeting a most interesting talk was given by Mr. Richard Alt describing a trip he had to Egypt. Mr. Alt showed many beautiful slides and really gave a most complete picture of present day Egypt.

Delicious refreshments were then served by Mrs. John Lyman and her committee.

Reports that the singing of the Mystic Glee Club and Lexington Choral Society in their joint concert last Sunday at the new high school auditorium did not come through especially well to a number of qualified listeners in the audience, need not prove that the hall is acoustically faulty. In fact the experience of the school Speech Department has shown that just the opposite is true.

That was a very severe initial test last Sunday and it could well be that the arrangement of the huge chorus, numbering more than 150 voices, was not the best that can be devised, or that present stage appointments can be altered when the platform is to be used by such large ensembles.

It is much too soon to brand the new auditorium as acoustically faulty. It will have another excellent test in the Massachusetts Drama Festival today and tomorrow. In designing the hall the architect had the consulting assistance of an acoustical engineer and everything possible was done to assure sound reproduction that would be sharp and easily audible. The ceiling of the entire auditorium is of an acoustical plaster and the whole back wall is of acoustical tile. It may be that the hall is better designed for speech than singing, and it may be the drapes interfered with the sound reception last Sunday. Let us all wait and see if further testing will not show that our fine new auditorium is satisfactory in every sense.

It was nice to hear Basketball Coach Jim Phillips pay that well deserved tribute to High School Trainer Lou Goddu at the luncheon given the school basketball and hockey teams by the Rotary Club last Thursday. Coach Phillips' opinion that Mr. Goddu's expert handling of the basketball players contributed in large measure to the great success of the team is one we are sure all our high school coaches share. No one can estimate the value of their trainer to our high school teams, but often his immediate and expert treatment of minor athletic injuries prevents the routine bumps, scratches and twists from assuming proportions that would keep a key player out of the lineup for a crucial game. Certainly his service to, and interest in our schoolboy athletes are the selfless sort money can not buy, but surely they should command much more than the meager stipend they receive. Winchester is fortunate that a man like Lou Goddu will take the time and expend the effort he does to help our young people. Truly, his is a labor of love!

We think most people will agree that the Town crews under Superintendent of Streets Jim Wakefield and his assistant, Mike Grant, did a great job of snow removal during the two recent heavy storms. Many motorists who had occasion to drive through other communities were loud in their praise of conditions as they found them in Winchester and generally speaking, in spite of the difficulties encountered in the way of parked or stalled cars, the men deserve the highest commendation for their work, made doubly unpleasant by two of the worst storms we have had in years.

Highway workers characterized the second storm as much worse than the first. Eighteen plows, manned by the regular snow-removal crews from the Highway Department, Water and Sewer Departments and Park Department, battled the mounting snow through the night, reinforced by extra men to bring the total snow-fighting force to 70.

The men found the going toughest on the west side hills and in the Highlands district. There seemed to be more trouble with parked and disabled cars in the second storm than in the first, the plows being unable to get into Town Way, Charlestown road, South Gateway, High street extension and Cox road, to name a few. Some of the drifts along Ridge street reached heights of four and five feet or more, and in many places the plows alone could not fight their way through.

Generally speaking the men kept the main roads open all the time, being especially careful to keep Highland avenue in good shape for emergency trips to the hospital. Eastern Massachusetts buses kept going until about 9 o'clock Monday evening and resumed operations at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning. Trains ran through the storm, some times pretty late, but on the whole doing well in view of conditions. Tuesday morning the trains were about 30 to 35 minutes behind schedule, but by early afternoon they were reported to be functioning nearly, or quite on time.

Police Headquarters reported no special emergency during either storm. One man was arrested for absorbing too much liquid heat and another unable to get out of town because of the storm, was given shelter at the Station.

The Church of the Epiphany was open all night for shelter, the sexton, Axel Sorenson, remaining on duty all night. Winchester Motors also kept their garage and showrooms open in the North End of the town for emergency use. Randall's delivered five gallons of coffee to the Central Fire Station for the highway crew.

Six members of the regular Fire Department, days and night, called back to duty Monday night, and remained on the job all night, headed by Chief Callahan, himself. Red Cross and Civil Defense authorities reported to the Police and Fire Department that their personnel was available in any emergency that might arise. The Red Cross did make several cots available for stranded workers at the local Telephone Exchange, who were unable to get home when their shifts were over. Many stores closed Monday at noon, and by late afternoon Winchester square was all but deserted.

There was no school either Monday or Tuesday, and there was no town meeting Monday evening. The first session of the annual representative town meeting had been scheduled for that night, and because Winchester has no escape clause in its town meeting act, it was necessary to hold the meeting as scheduled.

Nineteen persons, including six town meeting members and the remaining town officials, including the Town Clerk, and several Finance Committee members actually gathered at the town hall, where the new Moderator, Rep. Harrison Chadwick, entertained a motion to adjourn immediately. The motion was put by the Chairman of Selectmen, George Redding, and the intrepid gathering dispersed for home at once.

Despite the poor visibility due to high winds and driving swirling snow, only a single accident was reported to the Police, that being a collision involving one of the town trucks and a private car on Everett avenue. The car was quite badly damaged but no injuries were reported.

ORCHIDS TO OPERATORS

Not the least among the beyond the call of duty rendered during the recent terrific snowstorms was that the local telephone operators, who handled 55,000 calls during the storm Monday and only about a thousand less the next two days.

A full staff manned the switchboards during the storm and Chief Operator Mary Vaughn and twelve operators worked around the clock, arriving at work at 7 o'clock Monday morning and working through until 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. Operators who were able to get home Monday night arrived back at work at 5:30 Tuesday morning, some walking from Woburn and Medford to reach the Exchange.

None of the operators had more than half an hour for lunch and supper and there were no relief periods.

The Red Cross provided cots for the operators who remained on duty all night, with the cooperation of the Disaster Committee of the Civil Defense.

You can count on the Telephone people when disaster strikes and this latest example of employee devotion to duty was no exception.

THANKS FROM SCHOLARSHIP FOUNDATION

Editor of the Star:

May we take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks to those whose generous contributions made the 1955 drive for Special Gifts a most gratifying success.

As the result of our first town-wide appeal for the Foundation last year, seventeen scholarships were awarded to worthy applicants. Each year requests for scholarships become greater with the ever increasing number in the High School enrollment. This, together with Winchester's unique record that over seventy-five per cent (75%) of our seniors today are being prepared for further education, makes it necessary for all of us to double our efforts in the 1956 drive which culminates on Saturday, April 7. Winchester may well be proud of the achievements by the recipients of the Scholarship Foundation awards and our thanks go to You the contributor, who has made this possible. May we count on your support this year and make this 10th Anniversary drive an expression of confidence in the young people in our community?

Checks may be made payable to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

Very truly yours,
George L. Connor

MUSICAL EXPERIENCE

On Sunday evening, Winchester's New High School Auditorium was the locale of a rewarding musical experience — a performance of Bach's Cantata "Christ lay by death enshrouded," and Mozart's Requiem, by the Lexington Choral Society and the Mystic Glee Club. The Winchester Rotary Club deserves much credit for sponsoring the event.

As one has come to expect from Allen C. Lannom, who conducted, the choral singing was throughout of a high order not only in the musical matters of tonal balance and variety, intonation and rhythm, but in the spiritual dedication to the task and privilege of performing this great music. And not often does this reviewer hear a concert where tempo and interpretation seemed so fitting at every point.

Mr. Lannom was aided by a well-balanced quartet of soloists: Ellington Dimmock and Margaret Dunford were the soprano and alto, and Karl-Dan Sorensen and Stephen Dimmock, tenor and bass. All of them share honors for an impressive rendition of the "Requiem" in the Mozart Requiem. We would particularly like to commend Miss Danford, whose type of youthful contralto voice is strangely rare nowadays.

The whole ensemble was accompanied by a student-ish orchestra some what unsteady and prone to minor accidents. But all in all, the musical effort of the evening was more than commendable and at best attaining a high order of artistry.

What dulled the full enjoyment of the evening for this listener, and believe for the singers as well, was the very unsatisfactory sound of the chorus when placed on the stage of this auditorium.

Remote, and padded by heavy curtains, the tone emerged either confused, or hard and metallic in timbre. Things improved somewhat as the chorus over-exerted itself to get across to an audience which was massed perhaps too far back in the hall, thereby adding to the lack of intimacy and communication between singers and hearers.

Perhaps in future an arrangement will have to be made here similar to that which has been necessary in the Cary Hall, Lexington, where this program was sung a week earlier. Here the chorus sits on a bleacher-structure in the area before the stage. The sound is immediate, intimate, and superb. There is still room for an orchestra as well, and perhaps there would be likewise in the Winchester Auditorium, without removing seats.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

The following marriage intentions were filed this past week with the Town Clerk's Office:

George Wesley Chase of 948E River road, New Milford, N. J., and Lynne Stevens of 22 Stowell road, William Jarvie von Rosenberg of 111 Church street and Barbara Louise Burbank of 12 Wolcott road, Robert James Walsh of 67 Nelson street and Rita Francesa Ale of 102 Loring avenue.

HE'D FIGHT TO KEEP HIS PHONE—or his checking account

Most of us couldn't do without a telephone: we needn't go to see people... we can even shop by telephone... and in emergencies, it's priceless.

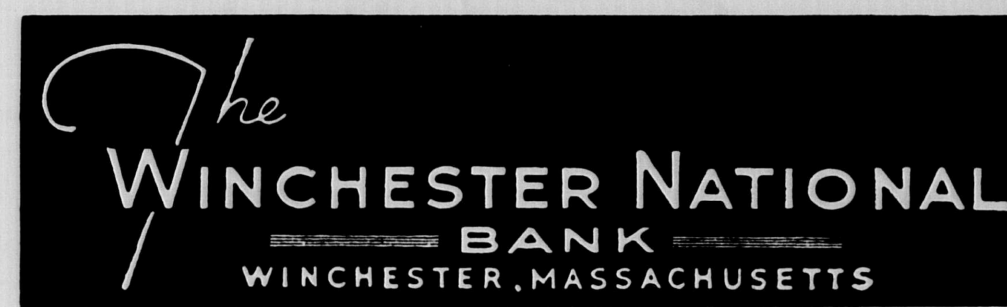

To most people a checking account is necessary, too:

You can mail a number of checks at one time—no traveling required.

Your checkbook "stays open" evenings and weekends—fine for emergencies.

Cancelled checks are automatic receipts.

You can have "the necessary" easily by opening your checking account here and soon.

THE TREE PROBLEM

IN THE HOME GROUNDS
Those desiring suitable shade and specimen trees are often tempted to plant apples or to try to go along with aged, dilapidated apple trees. This is logical procedure until we analyze the involvements. From a planting standpoint, the apple tree takes a long time to grow just as do other shade trees. The care of the apple tree is very complicated and it must be stressed that the green of healthy foliage is just as important as the short-lived blossom period in the home grounds effect.

There is a good selection of dwarf specimen trees that are relatively easy to care for. They have blossoms that are beautiful and distinctive, and the foliage is much easier to keep healthy than is that of the apple. The flowering crabs are hardy, easily pruned and not too susceptible to disease. They have beautiful blossoms and attractive decorative fruit. Malus floribunda is one of the most widely used.

Flowering dogwood are of two types, those with white and those with pink blossoms. The bright red clusters of berries are showy in the fall.

The Hawthorns, Paul's Scarlet and Washington, are recommended for Massachusetts. The former is the most common and has double, bright scarlet blossoms in late May. The Washington Hawthorn has white flowers in many flowered clusters. The well-known American Red Bud with its pink flowers in early May is a desirable specimen tree. The Cornelian cherry is of the same genus as flowering dogwood. It is one of the early bloomers and has small, yellow flowers. The cherry-like fruits add to the attractiveness.

For regular shade trees, some folks who wish quick results use such quick-growing species as Catalpa, Chinese elm, willow, poplar or silver maple. It must be kept in mind that these break easily with snow and ice loads in the winter time. Also, they are easily damaged by wind. Probably the best practice is to consider these as temporary trees to fill the need until the more sturdy trees can be brought to sufficient size.

Pink oak is one of the most popular sturdy trees. It grows with fair rapidity and is not so large or upright as red oak. The growth is actually drooping or pendulous. Red oak is a popular upright tree. The various maples; Sugar, Red and Norway, are desirable large shade trees. Sour gum, or tupelo; Linden, and Ginkgo, or maidenhair, are others. These are only some of the more important species of shade trees.

SOCIAL SECURITY MANAGER EXPLAINS "DISABILITY FREEZE"

Mr. Gerald J. Murphy, district manager of the Cambridge social security office which also services the Winchester area has some news of importance for people who have worked at least five years under social security and who, because of a disability, have not been able to work for six months or more, according to an announcement he made today.

"The Social Security Act now permits us to keep the benefit rights intact of a person who is disabled before age 65 and who is unable to work because of his disability," Mr. Murphy explained. "To qualify for this so-called 'disability freeze,' a person must have worked under social security for at least five years out of the ten years before he became disabled and one and a half years out of the three years before he became disabled. The disability must have existed for more than six months and a person must be disabled at the time he files his application for the 'disability freeze'."

"Anyone now receiving a social security payment on his own earnings record may have his benefit figured to exclude a period of disability, if he is now disabled and the disability was in existence for more than six months before he reached age 65," Mr. Murphy continued. "Of course, he must meet the work requirement of five years out of ten years and one and a half years out of three years as set out above."

"People who are now disabled and unable to work or anyone who becomes disabled in the future should contact his nearest social security office in order to learn how the 'disability freeze' may protect him," Mr. Murphy said. "If you are unable to contact us yourself, a friend or relative may do it for you. A period of disability cannot be established unless an application is filed with the social security office."

BASIC COLORS IN THE HOME GROUNDS

By Max G. Fultz
(Middlesex County Agricultural Agent)

In achieving satisfactory color arrangements in the home grounds the gardener should think in terms of the basic colors that simplify the problem greatly. Too often the simple whites and greens are overlooked. Some may have wondered the so many of our common shrubs and trees used in the home grounds have white blossoms. White goes well with both the subdued or the pastel colors and with the more brilliant, flashy ones too. Accordingly, the home grounds show a flash of white at almost anytime during the growing season the other colors can naturally fall into place.

Of all the flowering shrubs, the ones that have been used the most generally in the past are still preferred the most desirable. The Spirea, Van Houttei, Prunifolia, Graciosa, Mock orange, Hills of Snow hydrangea, white species of buddleia, white varieties of hybrid rhododendrons and white French hybrid lilacs are all common in home grounds planting.

Of the specimen trees, white flowering dogwood, Sargent's flowering crab and Cornelian cherry are commonly used.

Green, the most common color in the home grounds, is also very important. There are a number of ways to attain satisfactory green coloring in the planting. First of all, this is one of the basic reasons for using needle-bearing evergreens. In the winter, they produce a beautiful color effect in contrast with the white of snow. Without the snow they still contribute green to the drab winter landscape.

In the summer the same plants properly placed fit in well with their contribution of green to the picture. The lawn furnishes a green canvas for the home grounds setting. It is obvious that it is best achieved by a green, healthy vigorous lawn, and proper care is fundamental. Particular emphasis must be placed on healthy green foliage of all plants. The blossoming period of a shrub is very short compared to the length of the growing season. Each shrub is a source of green coloring as well as of color of bloom. Only vigorous healthy plants, free of insect and disease damage can produce it.

"S. F. DAY" APRIL 8

With all eyes centered on "S. F. Day," Sunday, April 8, volunteers in all of the six school districts are organizing their captains and soliders in an all-out, all Winchester drive for the Scholarship Foundation. On that Sunday neighbors will call on other neighbors for donations—and any sum is most welcome—which will be used right here in Winchester, to send Winchester High School youngsters to college this fall.

In the Washington School district, Mrs. Herbert Thompson is chairman, with the following captains: Mesdames Corey Wynn, David Choate, Jr., George Rowe, Raymond Carter, William Urson, Lloyd McIntosh, Thomas Preston, Francis Parsons, Philip Watson, Frank Johnson, Herbert Bailey. The captains have secured a large corps of volunteers who will make calls for the Foundation's work.

In the Parkhurst School area, Mrs. John McLean and Mrs. Clinton Roberts are chairmen, assisted by the following Captains: Mesdames Franklin Simpson, Thornton Stearns, Scott Parrott, Malcolm Dodge, Arthur Schmidt, Benjamin Wild, Louise Ruma, Frank J. Claire, Warren J. Taylor, Roslyn Wells.

Mrs. Clinton Kean heads the Mystic School section, with these Captains: Mesdames Harry Emmons, Edgar Sewell, Aldrich Forward, James Baker, Lionel Pollachi, Benton Stewart, Alton Fowler, John Hogan, Harry Arlanson, Wayne Davis, Robert Smith, Donald Wardwell, Guy Livingston, Henry Kiley, William Hopkins, Linwood Bryant, Ralph Pingree. Next week, the chairmen and captains in the other three school districts will be listed.

RED CROSS AIDED

During the severe snowstorm on Monday, Mrs. G. Thayer Richards, Executive Secretary of the local Red Cross office, working with the local Civil Defense office, made available the use of three beds for the stormbound operators of the Winchester Telephone Exchange.

Arrangements were also made for William A. Wide, Jr., local Red Cross Disaster Chairman, working with Chief of Police Harrold, to be of any possible assistance to stranded motorists.

HEADS ARTILLERY EXERCISE

Lt. Colonel James R. Stewart of 7 Winslow road has been named commanding general of the 23rd Armored Division Artillery for Raindrop III, First Army's tactical command-post exercise.

Exercise Raindrop III is one of the most important training activities by the reserve components, to be held this year. More than 4,700 Reservists and National Guardsmen from the First Army Area are expected to assemble at Camp Kilmer, New Jersey, for the week-end exercise, April 21-22.

Currently in preparation, the maneuver involves the theoretical employment of a United States field army under NATO command in Western Europe. During the course of the map exercise a mythical aggressor invading from the east will be repelled from the Rhine River. While all orders and operations are to be original, the maneuver having no connection with actual U.S. Army war plans, stress will be laid upon the possible use of atomic, chemical and biological weapons.

In addition to his participation in Exercise Raindrop III Lt. Colonel Stewart regularly attends the weekly reserve meetings of the 1030th U. S. Army Reserve School.

LEAGUE HEARD DR. WESSELL

"Massachusetts has the most competent system of case records in existence—but it lacks the staff to take care of these valuable findings," Dr. Nils Y. Wessell, President of Tufts University and Chairman of the Special Committee appointed by Governor Herter to investigate the Penal System of his State, stated last Friday, March 16, at the Annual Legislative Luncheon of the League of Women Voters. The meeting was held at the Methodist Church Hall, with Mrs. Howard Aiken presiding, Mrs. George E. Connor, chairman of the Legislative Luncheon, Mrs. Robert Mulford in charge of the speaker's program.

Dr. Wessell's committee is to meet with Governor Herter on its findings after a "second appraisal," so many of his comments could not be made public. He did point out, however, that of the serious crimes committed annually, 80 to 82% were by individuals in the "middle ground"—not the hardened criminals or derelicts, but one-third young people, one-third parents. The cost of probation to this state per case per year is $100 to $150; the cost of a person in an institution would be $1,000 to $2,500 per individual, per year. "Public interest is vital if probation reforms are to be effected in this state, for the good of the state," Dr. Wessell added. "Most important is public action, if we are to secure these reforms."

In spite of a heavy storm which started at the beginning of the Legislative meeting, a large crowd gathered to meet Dr. Wessell and hear his direct, informative talk. The gathering was equally enthusiastic in welcoming at this meeting the new booklet "Inside Winchester, U.S.A." which the League of Women Voters of this town has just compiled and printed for the public.

CHADWICK TO DISCUSS PLANNING BILL ON TV

Representative Harrison Chadwick of Winchester will discuss a proposed regional planning agency for the metropolitan Boston area on WGBH-TV, Channel 2, at 9 p.m. Wednesday evening, March 28.

Appearing with Representative Chadwick will be Daniel Ahern of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, and Don White, dean of the School of Business Administration, Boston College. Mr. White will act as moderator.

The exact title of the program is "The Missing Link: A Regional Planning Agency." This title is taken from a speech given by Representative Chadwick at a Boston College citizens seminar held last October.

In that address, Rep. Chadwick pointed out that there are nearly one hundred units of government in the metropolitan Boston area which have no agency to integrate their planning. The absence of a regional planning agency has resulted in duplications, unnecessary expense, poor use of land, and administrative confusions according to Representative Chadwick.

After the October address, Representative Chadwick studied regional planning in the Detroit Metropolitan area and came up with a scheme for the Boston area. Under the bill which he introduced, a regional planning agency for the Boston area would review all capital expansion plans of communities in metropolitan Boston. Recommendations of the planning agency would not have the force of law, but they would be made from technical data and would serve a needed research function.

Controlling the Boston area planning agency would be a representative council, drawing its members from throughout the area.

The series in which Representative Chadwick and Mr. Ahern will appear is called "A Challenge to Greater Boston."

WINCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL'S HISTORY MAKING BASKETBALL TEAM

GREAT BASKETBALL YEAR FOR INDIANS

With that Duffee heart-breaker that decided the State Class A Championship at the Boston Garden a week ago last Saturday Winchester drew the curtain on what many believe was the greatest basketball season in the history of the school.
It is true the Indians won no major championship, having only the Middlesex League title to show for their consistently fine play. They did, however, do what no other school in the history of Massachusetts State Championship competition had ever done, play out of their regular B class in the high bracket of the interscholastic-elect, the starry Class A Division, meeting such big schools as Salem, Dorchester, Lynn English, Brockton and Duffee, and losing the A crown by a single basket after as gallant a fight as regular Garden fans have witnessed since the inception of the Tech Tournament years ago.

Duffee beat Winchester 54-40 in the A Championship, 62-60, after being behind eight points with only six minutes remaining to play. The Indians heart-breaking loss was due to over-anxiety and their failure to play the conservative possessive wait-for-a-sure-one-type of game so successful exemplified by Duffee after the score had been tied.
Duffee made Winchester look doubly good by going on and winning the New England schoolboy title, and it is a cinch that Winchester, had it turned back the Fall River school, could have done the same. Duffee will tell you none of the teams it defeated on its way to the New England title gave it the battle Winchester did, and of course the figures bear out this claim. Duffee won its N. E. games by from 10 to 18 points. It was blamed lucky to win from Winchester by a single basket.

The Duffee loss ended a winning streak of 54 games and a season's record of 25 straight victories. Only Joe Bellino participated in all 55 games.
Perhaps after all it was the law of averages that as much as anything tumbled the Indians from the peak.
Captained jointly by "Long Jaw" Lynch, center and forward, and Bert Kneeland, guard, the '55-

Every member of this year's club could shoot and shoot well. Opponents couldn't afford to hold any one of the Indians lightly. If one fell off in his sharpshooting slightly, some one else would quickly take up the slack, and when it was necessary to take the first team out for a breather or a discussion of strategy, the reserves were able to take over with not too much let-down in all around class.

In fact, the strength of the Indians' bench was a by-word this year and the reserves, led by Capt-elect Mike Callahan and John Chapin, and including Ren Johnson, the Roberts, Quentin and Ronnie, Joe Rotondi, Dave Bergquist and Roger Symmes, made a very real contribution to the fine season enjoyed by the team.
Many will tell you, including those closely identified with Winchester basketball through the years, that this was Winchester's best all-time team. Whether it was in fact better than that great '52 team of John Dilorio is something to argue. That team, too, won all its games, beat South Boston for the "B" crown and won the so-called New England "B" championship from Milo, Me. It had a lot more obstacles to overcome than this

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

One of the most unusual and delightful Fashion Shows of the Spring season was presented by the members of Brownie Troop 20, at the Parkhurst School on the afternoon of March 13th, under the leadership of Mrs. Howard Leary and Mrs. Fred Quinlan.

Each Brownie Model was shown representing a particular month, and was introduced by a clever poem describing the outfit and occasion appropriate to that month. Next to the complete surprise of each Mother present, she saw her own clothing being modeled by her daughter in extremely hilarious take-offs on "Mother getting ready for an evening."

Following this most successful show, which represented a great deal of thought, talent and preparation, a delicious tea was served in honor of their special guests, the Ladies from The Home at 110 Mt. Vernon street. The table was decorated to a Queen's taste with St. Patrick Day decorations, flowers, refreshments and favors made by the Brownies.

Among those present were Mrs. Elizabeth McWhay and Miss Edna Johnson of the staff, and Mrs. Susie Mudge, Mrs. Edith Sache, Mrs. Leonard Polte, Mrs. Mabel Grey, Miss Fannie Young, Mrs. Effie Farnham, Mrs. Harriet Stratton, Mrs. Alice Higgins, Mrs. Lottie Webber, Mrs. Anna Lochman, Mrs. Martha Delaney, Miss Myrtle Smith, Miss Nellie Cunningham, and Mrs. Annie Foster. It was deeply regretted that Mrs. Isobel Tufts, who will be 100 years in May, was unable to attend, but she wrote a very nice note to the Brownies and sent her a basket of goodies, and favors.

As this distinguished group of Ladies took their leave, with cordials and good wishes, they truly looked "Queens for the Day" as these Brownies have made them for three successive years, and were most profusely grateful to their gracious hostesses.

Mary Louise, Alice, and Mary, the daughters of Mrs. Robert H. Smith of 45 Wildwood street, Miss Smith was a member of the scenery committee for a play, "Dear Ruth," which was presented recently at House in the Pines by members of the dramatic club.

The Winchester Branch Auxiliary held its meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. H. Reed, 8 Ridgely road. In spite of the storm a good number were present. Mrs. Howland Noyes, was in the chair, after a short business meeting we listened with great interest to a talk by Mr. John C. Macfarlane, the Director, of Livestock Conservation Department, of Mass. S.P.C.A.

He told us a great deal of what has been done in finding a way and developing a method to render live stock, all our food animals, unconscious before the act that takes their lives.

A new stunning weapon has been developed by Remington Arms Co., in cooperation with Mr. Macfarlane of the M.S.P.C.A., and the American Humane Association, also the American Medical Association. It is expected that the new instrument will be made in sufficient quantity to be in use this year. The impending bill No. 1036 before Congress is of very great importance.

Mrs. Reed served a most delicious tea to her appreciative guests.

EDISON REVENUES UP

President Thomas G. Dignan told stockholders of Boston Edison Company at the annual meeting Tuesday, March 20, that operating figures for the first two months of 1956 indicate that the high level of business activity in the Boston area in 1955 is continuing.

Boston Edison's operating revenues are 10.8 per cent greater than in the first two months of 1955, he said, and the gains are distributed evenly over the several classes of customers, with residential revenues up 7.5 per cent, small commercial up 7.5 per cent, and large commercial and industrial up 12.6 per cent. There were comparable increases in expenses in the two-month period, particularly in fuel costs, payrolls and provisions for taxes, but net income for the two months was slightly better than in 1955.

Mr. Dignan stated that the Company's program to meet growing demands is proceeding at an accelerated pace. Capital expenditures in 1956 for new production, transmission, distribution and service facilities are now estimated at $28,000,000, as compared with $21,625,011 in 1955. The largest project in progress is at Mystic Station in Everett, where a new generating unit with a capability of 140,000 kilowatts, largest in New England, is scheduled for installation in 1957.

The stockholders re-elected the following directors:

John S. Ames, O. Kelley Anderson, S. Brouce Black, T. Jefferson Coolidge, Thomas G. Dignan, Fred C. Dumaine, Jr., Henry R. Guild, Edward B. Haniff, Frederick Manley Ives, Ralph Lowell, Albert C. McMenimen, Joseph E. O'Connell, Glenwood J. Sherrard, Charles H. Stockton.

The directors declared a dividend of 70 cents a share on Boston Edison stock payable May 1, 1956 to stockholders of record at the close of business on April 10, 1956.

Principal officers and operating executives of the Company are:

President and General Manager, Thomas G. Dignan Chairman of the Board and Vice President, F. M. Ives; Financial Vice President and Treasurer, Albert C. McMenimen; Vice Presidents, Thomas H. Carens, Chester A. Corney, T. Joseph Reagan, Jr., Dale E. Washburn, Hugo W. Wellington; Assistant to the President, Charles F. Avila; Clerk, Edwin J. Lee; Assistant Treasurer, Arthur C. Havin; Assistant Clerk, Joseph R. Nolan.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

The Police had many experiences, good, bad and amusing, while trying to assist the public during the recent heavy snow-storms. One officer, after driving a stranded resident home, and getting stuck in the snow, wasn't too happy to have the man remain in his warm home after agreeing to lend a hand with a shovel. Still another officer, on duty at Police Headquarters, was left to face a wrathful cab driver, finally secured after quite a struggle, who arrived to find his prospective fare had left for home with a friend. Human nature is a complex and often incomprehensible thing.

EN KA MEETING

The regular spring meeting of the En Ka Society was held on Tuesday, March 27, at the home of Mrs. Frank d'Elseux on Sheffield road. Mrs. Paul White and her committee served a delicious luncheon to 82 members.

Mrs. Donald Connors, president, opened the business meeting by calling upon the secretary, Mrs. Dunbar L. Shanklin and the treasurer, Mrs. James M. Beale who gave their reports. The Finance Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. George L. Connor reported the following expenditures:

$8.00 Lollipops for children who receive Salk vaccine shots
308.40 Winchester Hospital
200.00 Winchester Girl Scouts
250.00 Winchester Scholarship Foundation
1,000.00 Winchester Home Frontiers
250.00 Babe Ruth League
250.00 Police Athletic League
Mrs. Maxwell McCreey co-chairman of ways and means asked each of the Street Fair directors and managers for their report. From all accounts this year's "Out-of-this-world's Fair is going to be full of excitement and surprises.

En Ka members were given four important events to remember. On Friday, April 6th, the Winchester Art Association will sponsor their "Artists and draftsmen at work" evening at the High School gymnasium. On April 16th, the next workshop meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward T. Pebody on Emerson road. The tea for provisional members will take place on April 6th, at the home of Mrs. Paul Dunn. Finally, members will again meet on Tuesday, June 5th, at the Girl Scout Cabin for their luncheon and annual meeting.

SIMMONS CLUB MEETING

The spring meeting of the Arlington-Winchester Simmons Club will be held on Thursday evening, April 5th at 7:15 in the Wyman School, Winchester.

Mrs. Edith Skerry of 63 Woodside road, Winchester, and Mrs. Lucille Corcoran of 146 George street, Arlington, are the co-chairmen in charge of arrangements for the evening.

An interesting program has been planned with Mr. Donald Beckley of the Prince School of Retailing as the speaker. His topic will be "Retailing—for a career and as a consumer." This will be followed by a very important business meeting concerning the club's by-laws which must be passed prior to becoming a chartered club. It is hoped that a large number of members will be present.

SOCIAL SERVICE LUNCH

The annual meeting of the Social Service Guild, First Congregational Church, will take place Tuesday, April 3 after the luncheon in Childley Hall at one o'clock. Guests of Guild that day will be the women who had vacationed at Meadowcrest last summer, with Miss Lillian Mosher and workers at the City Missionary Society.

Miss Corinne Nordquist of the American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions will speak very briefly of her work in the camp at South Africa, and there will be a general worship service. Mrs. Louis K. Snyder will preside. Mrs. Thomas Corkery and Mrs. Wendell Harvey are in charge of the luncheon.

MOTHERS WORK FOR SCHOLARSHIP FOUNDATION

In all sections of the community, April 8, "S.F. Day" has become a date well marked on household calendars as "the Sunday I must be home for the Scholarship Foundation." Towards that end, Foundation workers in all sections are preparing to call on all homes to ask help for the Foundation, while in the business areas of the town, some 200 business houses have been contacted by Mr. George L. Connor and his Business Men's Committee. In the professional field, Dr. Eugene M. Pollard and Dr. Warren Haley are reporting equal enthusiasm among the people they have asked to back the Foundation's fine work.

In addition to the school districts listed last week in the Star, Washington, Mrs. Herbert Thompson; Mystic, Mrs. Clinton Keane; Parkhurst, Mrs. Quentin Roberts and Mrs. John McLean, there is the active Norman School with Mrs. John Guiliani and Mrs. R. Connor, co-chairmen, assisted by these captains: Mesdames Paul Brown, John Cotrone, Jean E. Brown, William Elliott, Louis Bongiorno, George Luongo, Prave Olivadotti, John Kenton, James Flaherty, Otto Schaefer, Edgar Hinton, Edward Rendall, J. T. Williams.

The Lincoln School area, under Mrs. Hiram Smith, has Mesdames Paul O'Neil, Robert Williams, Harry Wood, A. Amico, Frederick Hill, Leonard Meade, Richard Carr, Mrs. Claude Callahan head of the Wyman School district as chairman, with these captains: Mesdames John Harrison, Richard Kirkpatrick, Allan Burr, Roland Boutwell, Robert Gregory, Edward Little, Arthur Rodde, Lyle Longworth, Nelson Fontneau, John Maynard, Sears Walker, J. Manimon, James Berton, Leslie Scott, Henry Wood, Harry Taylor, Fred Cardin, James Gustin, Richard Davenport, and Winthrop Knox.

Under the captains, there are between thirty and one hundred volunteers who are willing to make house calls on April 8, for the Scholarship Foundation of Winchester. Mr. J. Leslie Scott of the Winchester National Bank is serving as treasurer, and any checks may be sent to him if a resident so wishes.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The Women's League of the First Baptist Church will hold their regular meeting in the Social Hall, Thursday, April 5.

Miss Helen L. Cunliffe, of the American Leprosy Mission will be the guest speaker. She will speak on the subject, "A New Day in Leprosy Work." Miss Cunliffe received her A.B. degree from Bucknell University in 1939 and her M. A. degree in Christian Ethics from Oberlin Graduate School of Theology, Oberlin, Ohio, in 1941. She has served as Dean of Women in several church-related colleges, and as a staff member in the Department of State in Washington, D.C. In February 1955, she completed work as the Fund Raising and Public Relations staff member of the Federation of Churches in Washington, D.C., and accepted the position as Southwest area Secretary for American Leprosy Missions. In February 1956, Miss Cunliffe was transferred to the North-east area.

Mrs. Richard B. Palmer will lead the devotional service. Mrs. Gunnar Abrahamson is in charge of the luncheon at 4 p.m.

The White Cross sewing group will meet at ten o'clock.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The George Washington School Mothers' Association held its postponed meeting on Tuesday, March 27, in the school auditorium. The ways and means committee conducted a very successful food sale before the meeting, and the social committee served tea, sandwiches, and cakes at 3 p.m. After the tea, a short business meeting was conducted by the association president, Mrs. Crede, who then introduced Mrs. Arthur Cann, one of our own members to review some current books. Mrs. Cann quoted poetry from "Green Fingers" and gave brief reports of "Blizzard" by Phil Stong, of "The Vanishing Irish," a symposium by John O'Hara, and of "Andersonville" by MacKinlay Kantor. She devoted most of her delightful and informative talk, however, to presenting "The Last Harvest" by Edwin O'Connor.

The next association meeting will be held on April 12, in the early evening when the pupils of the 4th, 5th and 6th grades will present a program under the supervision of school principal, Miss Rich, and their teachers.

INTERESTED IN MICHIGAN CONCERT

Mr. John Billings of 52 Westland avenue is a member of the University of Michigan Club of Boston sponsoring the first appearance of the Michigan Glee Club in the Boston area on Friday evening, April 6, when the 45 voice ensemble will sing at Sanders Theatre in Memorial Hall, Harvard University.

The concert is being given in aid of the Michigan Club's scholarship fund for local University of Michigan students and Mr. Billings tells the Star, Winchester students who can qualify, are eligible for this scholarship aid.

LEAVING EPIPHANY

Rev. Charles E. Batten will terminate his duties with the Church of the Epiphany in June to take up the responsibilities of his new position as Professor of Christian Education at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Mass. Although Rev. Batten and his fine family will not be many miles away, the church family will certainly miss the rare touch and influence which each member of his family has had upon the many activities of the church and its members. Sincerest good wishes go with Rev. Batten, his wife, and their two young sons.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The March meeting of the Winchester Garden Club was held on Thursday, the 22nd, at the home of Miss Mary Alice Fitch. After the serving of a delicious dessert and coffee, Mrs. Angelo Ghirardini, president of the Club, called the meeting to order. At the conclusion of a short business meeting, Mrs. Herbert T. West, Program Chairman, introduced the speakers of the afternoon.

Mrs. Waldo Lyon spoke to the group on Spring Bulbs. She described many of the unusual and beautiful varieties available and the proper way to plant them. Mrs. Paul Goddu, a specialist on African Violets, gave a most interesting talk on the care and successful cultivation of these beautiful house plants. She impressed on the group that this handsome species is very hardy and easy to grow and needs only the proper exposure and reasonable care to produce the magnificent foliage and blooms of plants she brought with her to illustrate her lecture.

Mrs. George Connor was the third speaker of the afternoon, and told how to make the beautiful figurines, for which she is so well known, from start to finish. These lovely dolls have a candle base, dressed in plain muslin, then varnished and painted into the loveliest little figurines to be used so effectively in any holiday decoration or as an accessory for flower arrangements. It was a very entertaining and enjoyable afternoon with many members and their guests present.

BETHANY NOTES

The Bethany Society of the Second Congregational Church will meet in the church social room on Tuesday, April 3rd at 1:00 p.m. Mrs. Anna Lochman, Mrs. Alice Higgins, and Mrs. Thomas Comeau will serve the luncheon dessert.

WINCHESTER PLAY TO COMPETE IN STATE FINALS

Winchester's excellent presentation of "Caesar and Cleopatra" on Friday night, March 23, at the Eastern Massachusetts Drama Festival, captured a spot in the state finals to be held at John Hancock Hall, April 5, 6 and 7. Other plays selected from the Festival were: "The Trojan Women," Malden High School; "The Idols," St. Anne's; "The Last War," Cambridge High and Latin. More honors to come to Winchester were the selection of Barbara Eaton and Renny Johnston, who played Charmian and Rucio respectively in "Caesar and Cleopatra," for the All-Star Cast.

The Festival was a great success in spite of the snow, with only two plays unable to attend because of the weather and poor driving conditions.

On Friday night, Brown and Nichols presented a very good interpretation of Shakespeare's "Henry IV, Part 1" under the direction of Mr. Thomas Phillips. Donald Mordecai did a particularly fine job in playing the round and crafty Falstaff.

Following this production Arlington High School's "Solemn Pride" a saga of the Civil War, showed the audience that good plays with all female casts can be produced.

To top off an evening of excellent performances Act IV of "Caesar and Cleopatra," by Shaw, was staged by the Winchester cast and crew. Under the superior direction of Mr. Thomas A. Morse, the entire cast did a superb job.

Despite the storm on Saturday morning, St. Anne's arrived to present their play, "The Idols." Shirley Faulkner did an especially good job in the role of Sophie as is shown by her selection for the All-Star Cast. This was an excellent presentation and well deserved the place it won in the State Finals.

Woburn presented "The Seeds of Suspicion," their first entry in a Massachusetts Drama Festival to date.

Reading High, producing the only comedy of the entire festival, did a beautiful job of giving the entire audience a change from the heavier drama of the rest of the festival. Richard Curtis did an extra fine job portraying the clownish Teddy Harding, probably the lightest part in the festival.

Malden High opened the evening session with an extremely effective and probably the best production of the festival, "The Trojan Women." Judith Borne, did a very mature interpretation of the First Woman and richly deserved her place in the All-Star Cast of 13. Not only did this play gain a spot in the State Finals, but also five of its cast of ten made the All-Star Cast. A great deal of credit should go to their very able director, Dr. Otto Ashermann for his splendid direction.

Closing the festival was "The Last War," presented by Cambridge High and Latin School. The cast did a tremendous job portraying the different animals, especially Lucille Magliozzi, who took the part of the monkey.

Festival Notes:

Dancing was provided to the music of Herb Gardner's band just before the evening session. Herb's Dixieland band also provided enjoyable entertainment during the variety show.

Special thanks to Mrs. Winn and Mrs. O'Brien for the delicious supper they prepared on Saturday night.

The stage crew should be congratulated for the splendid lighting effects they did for Malden's play, "The Trojan Women."

"Oz" Osborne made his debut as an MC at the variety show on Saturday night while the judges deliberated. Many thanks to all the participating acts for an enjoyable hour of entertainment.

One of the most gratifying features of the entire festival was the remarks made about the excellent acoustics of the new auditorium. The entire program was comfortably heard by all and as one director put it, "If only all theatre areas were designed with such excellent acoustics how much easier the director's job would be."

The staging and lighting effects were handled remarkably well and the work of the stage crew under the capable direction of student stage managers Bob Page and John Trump was superior. Their success with several difficult shows was particularly noteworthy when it is realized that the crew had only one week to learn their new stage and lighting equipment.

The judges were: Mrs. George Connor, Tufts Community Theatre; Mrs. Robert Blake, Western Playhouse and Parish Players; Mr. Charles Kakatsakis, Boston Conservatory of Music, Drama Department.

EDITORIALS

It was nice to see Acting High School Principal John Stevens on the stage with the other dignitaries at the dedication of the New High School building and auditorium last Sunday afternoon even though he took no part in the exercises. Mr. Stevens' handling of a particularly difficult assignment has increased his stature with the entire town and has been a great satisfaction to his friends.

While very conscious of a mounting tax rate, and what this tax rate means to many old line residents who are anxiously wondering how much longer they can remain in Winchester, the Star believes that most of us are glad to see the teachers receive the pay raise voted them at Monday's town meeting. Good teachers are necessary to ensure the education so vital to a continuance of our way of life, and we have to accept the fact that to get good teachers we will have to offer the profession more financially, than we have in the past.

There will, it is true, always be men and women dedicated to teaching, to whom monetary return will always be secondary to the reward that is inherent in the service they render the nation through its youth. We may all give thanks that there are as many of these born teachers as there are, and that in the past Winchester has had so many of these outstanding men and women whose influence upon our youth has been wonderful.

It is equally true that there are in our colleges and universities many young men and women with the capacity and education to become good teachers who are choosing industry instead of teaching because of the much higher pay offered by business. Until we are willing to bring teachers' pay closer to that received by those of equal training and capacity in other jobs we must expect that many a potentially good teacher will be lost to a profession that desperately needs the best.

Winchester made a start, at least, on Monday, and it was interesting to hear during the discussion which preceded the vote, the praise for the old time teachers, who taught primarily for the love of the job and who were so successful in their instruction that many of their pupils have remembered the lessons they learned from them throughout their life time.

Did these old time teachers have anything modern teachers do not have? Not education surely. Most modern teachers' scholastic backgrounds far transcend those of the old timers. And not better teaching conditions. Most modern instructors would rebel at the load the teachers of olden times assumed as a matter of course. Small classes, educational adjuncts like audio and visual aids, and luxurious, functionally superior buildings were unknown to the old time teachers. How then did they get the results they did?

First of all they did not have to compete for their pupils time with so many distractions and extra-curricular activities as their modern prototype. The youthful mind and youthful energy did not have to encompass the diversity of pursuits outside the classroom that are placed in the way of modern youth. The teachers, themselves, had no such demands put on their time and strength as are encountered by those who teach today. Teaching is a full time job. When it has to be shared with activities primarily civic or social and more or less obligatory, something has to be scamped.

Then too the teachers of bygone days had authority that has been shorn from those who teach today. The old time teacher and principal were supreme in their schoolroom and building, with the necessary authority to enforce their requests, even to the extent of inflicting corporal punishment. And parental backing in those days was definitely on the side of the school. A "licking" in school meant another at home!

"Barbarous," shriek the modernists, and yet, the old time discipline did on the whole create a respect for authority that many believe has been wiped out by the modern approach. Without a respect for, and obedience to, constituted authority, where do we go? And how much respect for, let alone obedience to, constituted authority do we find today, at any level, juvenile or adult?

Years ago school teachers and parents cooperated to teach the youth of the land there were certain things they could not do with impunity. How much of that teaching do we find working today, and how can we expect to find it when parents can't be bothered and teachers are not allowed to assert the necessary authority to compel obedience.

Only slight increases in population can be expected in precincts 1, 3, 5 and 6 during the next few years. Precinct 2 has probably reached its limit. The largest increase can be expected in Precinct 4 where there is considerable undeveloped property. AN OPEN LETTER TO TOWN MEETING MEMBERS

Editor of the Star:
May I ask space in your paper to publish the following letter sent me by one of the residents of Precinct 1, whom I as a Town Meeting Member from that precinct represent at Town Meeting. The letter is self-explanatory.

Arthur J. Hewis, Jr.
91 Everett street

As one of your constituents I ask you to reconsider the tax burden you are placing on me as well as yourself by your present attitude at the recent town meetings.

If the warrant is voted affirmatively, our tax rate will increase $5, and probably $8. If you are a mortgaged home owner like myself, it amounts to increasing your rent that much every month. That is too drastic a jump for most of us.

The solution lies, not in selling out and moving elsewhere, but rather in prudent spending so that Winchester will continue to be a good town to live in.

I therefore exhort you again to reconsider what you have already spent and think over carefully the remaining articles in the warrant.

Be like the kid at the candy counter—count the money in your pocket before you decide what to buy.

Credit is nice to have, but should be handled with care.

ARMY RECRUITING INSTITUTES 'BUDDY ASSIGNMENT' PROGRAM

It is now possible for groups of young men to enlist in the U. S. Army and remain together at least through the first 8 weeks of training, according to a directive just received by Sergeant First Class William E. Bonnell, local Army Recruiter.

The new directive states that up to five men may be enlisted under a new "Buddy Assignment" program which will keep the men together at least through basic training.

If more than five men are involved, the larger group may be broken down into two or more groups of not more than five men. Members of each small group will be kept together, but no assurance can be given that the large group can remain intact even for basic training.

Full information on the "Buddy Assignment" system may be obtained by contacting the local Army Recruiting Station at 49 High St., Bedford Square, or by calling MY-5-5777.

WINCHESTER MAN IN WHITE EXPEDITION SEEKING WHALE'S HEARTBEAT

One of the key figures assisting Dr. Paul Dudley White on the Pacific expedition to study the heartbeat of the gray whale is a Winchester resident, James L. Jenks, Jr., of 10 Niles Lane.

Mr. Jenks, who is president of the Sanborn Company of Cambridge, is the electrocardiograph expert in the company which sailed from Wilmington, Calif., for the whale nursery waters off Mexico's Baja California.

Goal of the White expedition is to make an electrocardiogram of the gray whale's heartbeat. The project climaxes years of studying animal heartbeats for clues to the mysteries of the human heart.

LETTER NO. 3

We are off the port of Alexandria, Egypt, and here we will probably be for another day or so because of gales.

We left Naples as I told you Saturday evening. We might better have stayed there a couple of days more but we didn't know that then. Crossing the Ionian Sea, east of Malta, we began to get a following gale and it was rough enough for anyone. But the ship is a sturdy, well designed craft and it took the seas well.

Yesterday noon we came in sight of Alexandria but the sea was so rough that great waves were breaking over the sea wall and word came by wireless that no pilot would come out to take us in and it was up to the Captain to chance it on his own if he so wished. He would not take the risk.

Alexandria is a made harbor. As one of our fellow travelers said, he still has to be shown why Alexandria chose it for the site of a city. The land about is low and the shore runs approximately south west to north east.

A fairly long breakwater parallels the shore. It is open at the westerly end and there a short breakwater running at right angles to the shore, partly shields the inner harbor. But here's the joker. To get into position to go between these two breakwaters you have to come in at right angles to the shore for a distance of about 2 miles through a channel only 200 yards wide! Then a 90° turn to the left!

For the last 40 hours the wind has been blowing from the west right across the channel and directly into the harbor at about 40 and 50 miles an hour! So you can see why we can't enter.

Instead we have been cruising outside some five to thirty miles with just enough headway to keep bow into the gale.

Yesterday there were five other ships outside also. Today we have only seen two of them in the hazy distance.

This must be the place where the Mediterranean got its reputation for being blue. For several miles from shore the depth is little more than 8 fathoms (48) feet. The result is that the bottom being so near the surface of the sea the water is a really light blue. Lighter than any I have ever seen anywhere.

That depth is not too deep to drop an anchor, but the bottom is rocky and coral, so that no anchor would hold a ship this size in this gale. So we just keep nosed into the wind. It's not too bad, as we are not fighting the sea—it seems fairly smooth. The ship isn't rolling much because we are getting just a little protection (as far as waves go) because we are within 5 miles of shore and if you look at a map you'll see that Matruh which is a good many miles west, just out a bit to protect us. But at night when prudence dictates that we stay farther out the wind and waves get a clean sweep all the way from Malta. Then we get it.

We've been up on the bridge often and long. The officers are a fine bunch of men and they are interested in having us see all we can. They explain the charts used, they tell us when they are getting a radar signal to plot our position.

And all the time in every direction one sees the beauty and majesty of the sea. Light blue as far as the eye can see, with thousands of combers breaking, the spray whipping from the tops and scudding along like a sand storm.

Then there are the gulls, black winged, that just seem to delight in bucking the wind alongside the ship to rest a while on the water and then take off again so as to catch up.

We had thought yesterday that by today there might be another half dozen ships here this morning but reports indicate that Port Said and other places are storm bound also, so that ships cannot even leave the harbors.

One went out of here as we approached early yesterday. Undoubtedly a pilot brought her out but he didn't attempt to leave. The pilot boats here are none too good. A tug brings the pilot out normally to the entrance of the channel. Then he must transfer to a row boat to get to the steamer. No small row boat could survive the waves. And the captain says all the tugs here are too small to get out in this weather.

But about the pilot that went to sea yesterday by staying on the

He "spoke up"—

For years he had been walking past our bank without becoming a customer.

Then one day recently, when his wife had a hospital bill to meet, he came in to ask doubtfully if we would lend him the money.

We "put up"

His job and his bill-paying record were both good and we were glad to make the loan at once. But if he hadn't come in and told us, we wouldn't have known that he wanted money.

It's a point to remember: Stop in here when you need a loan for any constructive purpose and tell us. We'll be listening!

ship. He will go to one of the ports the ship will make. He will be paid for his time aboard ship. If he is a Mohammedan they will have to be careful to give him no pork. (In connection with pork let me describe an incident at table yesterday. I've told you one of the stewardesses spoke good English. She was passing around the platter with the meat course yesterday. My wife was being served. It looked like sliced turkey. But I asked "What is that?" The stewardess said "Pork." I said "I am a Mohammedan—I don't eat pork." Whereupon she promptly said "In that case it's veal.")

I don't know if you could fool a Mohammedan pilot or not, but he gets his meal, then before he lands they usually tell the Captain that they can't travel in their working clothes so they get a new outfit complete from hat to shoes!

We are several days behind schedule now as you may have gathered. We may be out here until day after tomorrow. It looks as if that might curtail our time ashore. We hope not but we are fearful.

2-9-56 10:20 P. M.
Late today the weather moderated and we turned about and headed inland for Alexandria about sunset. There was still some question as to whether the pilot would come out, for a fair sea was running, but the captain decided he would try for the port on his own as long as the wind had died down. So in we came part way, but we missed the actual entrance and I told you it was only 200 yards wide. It's not like passing between two points of land. The passage is in the middle of open sea with only two beacons on shore, one behind the other as a guide.

But as we came about the second time a sturdy pilot boat came out and we got in after dark. For about 2½ days we had been riding outside at 5 knots per hour just weathering the gale and it was good to get in. Now we are at anchor in the harbor for the night.

To give you an idea of the gales we encountered, it is interesting to note that this morning the ship was dusty with desert sand although we were many miles off shore.

We don't know what we will see tomorrow but we'll tell it in our next.

ADJOURNED TOWN MEETING

TEACHERS WIN LARGER PAY RAISE

Monday night's adjourned session of the Limited Town Meeting supported the School Committee's recommendation of a $450 pay raise for all of the town's public school teachers. The Finance Committee had recommended a raise of $300.

An excellent turnout of 197 of the 225 precinct members attended the session, held for the first time in the new high school auditorium. The hall was well filled with many non-town meeting members in the rear of the space reserved for delegates and a scattering occupying seats in the balcony.

Apparently many of the non-town meeting members were teachers or their sympathizers for with the completion of the School Department budget there was a general exodus from the balcony and the rear of the hall.

Rev. John M. Manion, pastor of St. Mary's Church made the invocation after the meeting had been called to order by the new moderator, Rep. Harrison Chadwick.

The meeting was given over to the consideration of Article 9, the long article covering the various departmental budgets. The meeting followed the custom in recent years of going through the entire article and passing together all appropriations acceptable to the delegates, deferring any articles about which there was question.

Two of the articles were deferred and those which were, occasioned little debate. Generally they had been deferred because of some technicality in the wording of the motion, or to give department heads a chance to explain certain items that made up their budget.

There was much more confusion in connection with the consideration of the various motions than is usual, and the meeting was not on hour old before it was necessary for the Moderator, the Town Counsel, Chairman of Selectmen and Chairman of the Finance Committee to go into conference to straighten out the phrasing of motions, especially with regards to granting permission to department heads to turn in old equipment on the cost of new.

The first brush of the evening occurred under the appropriation for the Fire Department as the Finance Committee sought vainly to reduce the total of the budget by $240 for a floor polishing machine, the exclusive use of the Fire Department which has been sharing a polisher with the custodians of the Town Hall.

The Finance Committee was successful in reducing the Civil Defense budget by $250.00, questioning the value of the items for which this money was to be spent.

Mr. Redding of the Selectmen and Mr. Boeckler, director of Civil Defense championed the original budget, but the meeting supported the Finance Committee, first accepting its amendment by a voice vote and then by a standing vote, 106 to 36.

Generally speaking all the budgets including personal service items were larger than printed in the warrant due to the nine percent pay raise for town employees voted at the previous meeting.

The School Committee asked $1,094,018.95 to run its department in the coming year.

Mr. Hooper pointed out that school populations are increasing, necessitating more teachers, maintenance, space and supplies. He said his committee and the Finance Committee were in complete accord on the School Department's budget, except for one item, teachers' salaries. Here there was a difference of $150 per teacher, the School Committee recommending a $450 raise for teachers across the board while the Finance Committee felt that a $300 general raise should be granted.

Mr. Hooper said that Massachusetts, once in an enviable position with regard to its teacher supply, is now in precarious position, especially in the matter of teachers of mathematics, science and English. This is due he said to the fact that the better equipped mentally young people are seeking the greater financial rewards of industry instead of choosing teaching as a life work.

Between the years, 1940 and 1952 there was a great increase in the cost of living, he said, and to meet this increase, industrial salaries rose 160 percent while teachers' salaries in Massachusetts went up only 92 percent. Winchester teachers' salaries between 1940 and 1948 did not even cover the cost of living increases let alone parallel the salaries paid in industry.

Mr. Hooper said his committee had considered merit salary raises often, but each time had been unable to put such a schedule into effect. Everywhere School Committees, school administrators and teachers are afraid of the merit raises, primarily because it would be very difficult to fix such increases.

Mr. Hooper said that his committee had given serious thought to the teacher salary question, is frankly concerned with the future of the town's schools if competent teachers can no longer be obtained for the money we are willing to pay and strongly felt that the $450 increase the Committee is asking is necessary, not only to bring the teachers pay level more nearly to the increased cost of living, but to attract to our schools the sort of instructors the town has always demanded and still wants.

In conclusion Mr. Hooper stated that the $450 pay raise advocated by the School Committee would cost $73,758.00 next year, while the $300 raise asked by the Finance Committee would reduce that figure by $24,450.

The applause at the conclusion of Mr. Hooper's remarks indicated not a little sympathy with the School Committee's position, but the delegates listened closely as Mr. Dolan presented the Finance Committee's amendment to the originally sought appropriation, reducing the amount by the difference in the $450 raise asked by the School Committee and the Finance Committee's $300 increase.

He argued that the $450 increase is not going to help in the field of mathematics, science and English, and stated flatly that the School Committee had been unable to name a single teacher who had left Winchester because of what he termed "the dollar."

He told the meeting the School Committee had been able to fill 14 vacancies this year and to get a new high school principal. Most teachers who have left Winchester have left for a different type position, not for more pay, he said, and the average increase being given teachers in Massachusetts according to the Massachusetts Teachers' Association is $300, with the medium compensation in Massachusetts after the increase, $3100.

Mr. Dolan criticized the listing of teachers pay by communities circulated in Winchester last week, stating it was unfair to compare Winchester's salary scale with five Cape towns, all ranked ahead of Winchester, in which the number of teachers ranged from nine to 78.

He also said we could not compete financially with communities like Newton, Brookline, or even Wellesley, which has more wealth than Winchester. He felt that Winchester cannot be ranked 12th in any group comparable to it.

He said that teachers getting the maximum salary here got nearly $450 increase this year and last, and if a $450 raise is granted them this year they will be getting $808 raise in three years, and almost $750 if we add the $300 the Finance Committee favored.

The average pay for teachers in Winchester he said was, primary, $4540, junior high, $4950, and high school, $5170.

Mr. Elliott opposed the lesser figure of the Finance Committee, saying $4800 is not a "million bucks" and that he pays carpenters more than that. He felt that we can not raise more kids than the communists, but we can raise them smarter if we have good teachers.

Mrs. Woodward also opposed the Finance Committee, stating that the fine new buildings and town has no good without competent teachers, that in six years there had been no across the board raise for Winchester teachers except for the cost of living increase, and that at least two popular teachers had left town because the School Committee could not meet the salaries offered them elsewhere.

Mr. Speers favored the $450, stating that the $35,000 spent by the town on school buildings will be of little avail without competent teachers. He felt that Mr. Dolan had admitted supply and demand are still going to operate and we will have to pay good money for good teachers, increasingly so until teachers come to get the financial reward the importance of their services warrants. If we are to err in the matter of our teachers' pay, he felt it better to err on the high, rather than the low side.

Mrs. McDonald favored the higher increase, stating that times have changed since she taught in Winchester for $400 a year, and that more money is necessary to meet the higher cost of living. She also felt it would be better to economize in other places than continually to cut pay to aid the tax rate.

Mr. Bonnell spoke of the pride all had in the appearance and behavior of our high school youngsters in the recent Tech Tournament and felt that this exemplary conduct was the result of good teaching and teachers. He favored the higher increase, stating we can not afford not to be competitive.

Mr. Tansey favored the higher raise. Mrs. Woodside warned that Massachusetts is getting in bad shape financially and that it is becoming increasingly necessary for us all to ask ourselves where we go from here. She felt that good teachers are born, not made by high pay, and that masters' and doctors' degrees do not necessarily make better teachers.

In response to a question Mr. Dolan said the last snow storm had cost $38,500 and had added 80 cents to the tax rate. The cost of the teachers pay raise this year will add 20 cents to the tax rate. Next year's addition will be 54 cents.

The meeting was becoming restive and the question of the Finance Committee's amendment was put, and lost on a voice vote, there being no doubt in any one's mind. The original motion of the School Committee containing the $450 raise was then put and carried unanimously.

There was some attempt to adjourn at this point, but it was quickly vetoed and the final budgets were dispensed with before the weary delegates adjourned at 11:15 p. m.

TRUST COMPANY LOW BIDDER

The Winchester Trust Company, with a 1.088 percent discount, was the low bidder for the town's $300,000 worth of Anticipation of Revenue Notes, authorized at the opening session of the current town meeting. The notes are dated April 10 and will mature October 30.

Town Treasurer E. Abbot Bradley was happy to have the notes taken by a Winchester Bank and especially pleased with the low bid.

Mr. Bradley said the town has received by any city or town thus far this year for the type of note involved.

Next in line behind the Trust Company was the First National Bank of Boston and the State Street Trust Company, both bidding 1.75.

The National Shawmut Bank bid 1.77.

Claron Swonger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair W. Swonger of Perkins road, was awarded his varsity track letter at the recent winter sports awards at Tufts College. Claron, a former Winchester High cross country and track star, has been a consistent point winner for Tufts during the indoor season in the mile and 1,000 yard events.

LETTER NO. 6

Iskenderun, Turkey
This is the story of yesterday with more of the unexpected. We reached this port the early part of yesterday and again we were enchanted with the sun rising over the hills behind the town. This town was once one of the principal seaports for imports for Persia and India, but the Suez Canal kind of took its importance away. If you will look at a map, you will see that it is at the extreme eastern end of the Mediterranean and much freight still comes here for Turkey which forms part of the hinterland. This is an open harbor. It's fairly well protected from all but southerly westerly winds and from storms out of the mountains. These here by the way, like most of the higher ones we have seen, are snow-covered although the weather at sea level just now is pleasantly warm. There is no breakwater and only one dock so that practically all ships anchor in the open roadstead and freight is put aboard and taken off by lighters and barges which come alongside when weather permits.

Yesterday seemed good so we went ashore with other passengers and a Norwegian couple, the Neilsens, teamed up with us. This is Bible country. To the northeast is Turkey, near Ismir (which we used to call Smyrna) is Ephesus. This we do not expect to see but Antioch is only 40 miles away. We decided to go for this town of Iskenderun is small and has little of interest.

We made arrangements (at a price without bargaining) through the company agent for a car to take us. We could not get a guide nor a driver who spoke a word other than Turkish. The first 20 miles are up and up and then down and down on the damdest winding roads. We had no idea of the steepness of the roads nearly all of the 40 miles. And in almost a continuous hedge were planted Oleander bushes. This is what we usually think is a back-country road. After 20 miles we had passed but one village and descended to a great flat valley in which was a very large lake which seemed well over its banks. A level road led to Antioch. It was 12:30 when we arrived because we got a late start from Iskenderun.

Our driver had been instructed where to take us for lunch and we entered a typical small Turkish restaurant. It was on a second floor and a busy place with probably 200 customers in the various rooms. We couldn't read the menu but we could go to the kitchen and see the various dishes they had. Chicken and rice is usually safe anywhere, but they served it with other vegetables and cheese and ripe olives and bread and it tasted pretty good and we seem to have survived without any ill effects.

Next we went to the Museum which has the finest collection of ancient mosaics to be found anywhere in the world. As we were as far as we could find spoke anything but Turkish so it made it a bit hard. Our French (such as it is), our Italian (also such as it is), our English (also such as it is), our German (also such as it is), our Swedish (also such as it is), our Norwegian (also such as it is), our Danish (also such as it is), our Dutch (also such as it is), our Flemish (also such as it is), our Belgian (also such as it is), our Swiss (also such as it is), our Austrian (also such as it is), our Hungarian (also such as it is), our Czech (also such as it is), our Slovak (also such as it is), our Polish (also such as it is), our Czechoslovak (also such as it is), our Yugoslav (also such as it is), our Rumanian (also such as it is), our Bulgarian (also such as it is), our Greek (also such as it is), our Turkish (also such as it is), our Persian (also such as it is), our Indian (also such as it is), our Chinese (also such as it is), our Japanese (also such as it is), our Korean (also such as it is), our Mongolian (also such as it is), our Manchurian (also such as it is), our Siam (also such as it is), our Annam (also such as it is), our Indo-China (also such as it is), our Formosa (also such as it is), our Philippines (also such as it is), our Java (also such as it is), our Sumatra (also such as it is), our Celebes (also such as it is), our Moluccas (also such as it is), our East Indies (also such as it is), our West Indies (also such as it is), our Caribbean (also such as it is), our Central America (also such as it is), our South America (also such as it is), our North America (also such as it is), our Canada (also such as it is), our United States (also such as it is), our Mexico (also such as it is), our Central America (also such as it is), our South America (also such as it is), our North America (also such as it is), our Canada (also such as it is), our United States (also such as it is), our Mexico (also such as it is).

On the way back at the top of the pass we felt a pretty strong wind, but the real surprise awaited us when we were to embark. There was a howling gale which grew to 90 miles an hour. We sought the top of the mountain and he told us we couldn't possibly get aboard because of the gales and sea, so we would have to seek a way to it. He recommended one and we went to it. Perhaps for the benefit of others who may travel with a passport, I might say this. If we had not had our passports with us, we could not have been taken into the hotel. In many places where you land, they ask you to deposit your passport with the Security Police at the landing stage or dock. I have refused to do this. And this was true at this port of Iskenderun.

Well, the hotel was fairly good and spotlessly clean. We got a double room and bath with a kind of primitive shower in one end. The beds were good, the linen was clean and free from dust. But in the bathroom I had seen some of the things which I paid no particular attention at the time. One was a hole in one corner of the bathroom floor which was of cement composition. Another was what looked like a water grate and there was a pair of what looked like high Japanese wooden sandals.

Came the following morning. I awakened early and thought to take a shower anyway. We had, of course, no hot water, so no shower was possible. Well, there was nothing to prevent the shower from being turned on the floor unless one let down the tub. This I did. The tub was big so I just let it run until the tub was half full. Then I turned it off and pulled the plug.

I heard a gurgle under the tub and then the floor became flooded! I had had connection with any outlet. So it ran onto the floor and eventually down the hole I had seen. And the grating and sandals I had seen were to use when the floor was flooded! They don't bother here with pipes and traps and fancy nickel fittings when a simple hole in the floor works as well.

We paid our bill (about $4.00 at the rate of exchange, $1.35 at the black market rate) and went out for breakfast at what I think was a night club (Turkish style). We ordered 4 omelettes, we thought, and that was all. What we got was 2 omelettes, 4 raw eggs, bread and butter, 2 kinds of cheese, ripe olives and finally 2 hard boiled eggs cold, and tea.

The morning was lovely, warm enough and sunny and we had to wait for the launch back to the ship which was almost 2 miles off shore, much further away than it had been.

So I went for a haircut and a shave. The shop was little with only two rather crude barber chairs. Between me and the mirror after I was seated was a porcelain bowl. There was a noticeable lack of hair tonic, face lotions, etc. I got a pretty good haircut by a boy of about 18. They use fresh linen for each customer. There was a very little boy there who made himself busy helping the two operators by handing them things they needed.

When he saw I was being prepared for a shave, he took a little copper cup from the porcelain bowl and filled it with water which he had been heating over a little charcoal stove. The razor was sharp (and I know because I always use an old-fashioned straight razor) and I got a good shave.

Then the barber pushed my head over the back of the chair and he cupped his hand of the barber and he in turn laved my face. That done, the towel was used and the job was done. And it was a good job. We got back to the ship and our friends seemed glad to see us and we learned what they had been through the night before. The storm struck suddenly about 5:30 when the wind came over the mountains and reached hurricane force. There was no time to tow away the cargo barges alongside and one of them seriously dented the ship. Then another ship nearly dented its anchor and almost collided when the Captain ordered the barges cut adrift and backed away and out to sea. They went out 20 miles to ride the gale. One of the barges was found 10 miles down the coast.

Today (2:17) we went ashore to get a good look at Iskenderun. It's not much of a place. Not very big, no passenger ships stop here but it's the shipping place for licorice. We are taking hundreds of bales aboard. We wandered up one old street and down another, past little shops and smaller ones. If we had not seen the ship, this would have seemed very new to us. Again we found everyone friendly.

Butcher shops you know because the meat hangs out from where you can see it. We took one glance at such a shop and the boss and his helper came out and made us know they wanted to be photographed. At another corner there were 3 boot blacks (and incidentally this town is full of them). They carry a shine box about 3 feet long because they have at each end at least six bottles covered with round brass tops the size of a good big egg. We didn't quite like to boldly walk up and take photos, so I motioned. They smiled and nodded o.k. A customer moved out of the way. I passed out cigarettes as usual. When we came by that way an hour later, they all waved.

The next picture was of a curbside show maker. Having his permission, my wife wanted to take a movie but he struck a steady pose. So she finally said "Sinema" (they use the same word as we) and we motioned him to be working. He obliged. But lookers-on had heard the word "Sinema" and evidently the news spread for wherever we stopped after that someone would call out "Sinema" to those around and crowds would gather in a moment.

These people strike me as being friendly and tolerant. They are mostly Moslems but you see churches with crosses on them. No women are veiled here any more and they seem to have a reasonable amount of freedom to come and go as they wish.

We like them.

LOUNGE AT JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

DOMESTIC SCIENCE ROOM AT JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Beauty and efficiency of function are again combined in the school office, with its stunning, semi-circular desk and its magnificent window overlooking the mill pond.In each of the classrooms, more spacious than those provided in modern schools, an outstanding feature is the luminous ceilings which are designed to give an even distribution of light without glare.
The flooring includes the original wood flooring, covered with a layer of mastic cement, and topped with durable vinyl tiling. The cabinet and display space will make Winchester's junior high teachers the envy of their colleagues in any school anywhere. The desk-chairs used throughout the classrooms were redesigned by Principal Raymond Dickman for more strength and bookroom and better posture.On the second floor, a special teachers' workroom has been set aside. Incidentally, this is a feature found in but a few of the newer school buildings. It has been suggested that the former library may some day be equipped as a television room; certainly, as educational TV programs are developed, there will be a place for such a room.To some observers, one of the most successful changes that has been made in the creation of a splendid economics suite, with rooms for sewing and cooking replacing the old study halls. The two science rooms, also on the third floor, will delight those who remember the old chemistry and physics laboratories.Elsewhere in the building, the school auditorium has been hand-somerly redecorated and lighted. A small part of the upper balcony has been combined with the second-floor cloakroom and foyer to make an excellent music room.The gymnasium gains an appearance of greater length from the new acoustical ceiling that covers the metal beams. In the locker rooms, the basket system for storing pupils' clothes has been adopt-ed. A new shower system has been installed.In talking with the architect, Mr.
Foster, it was apparent that the renovation of the old building has been both a job and a labor of love.
He had warm praise for the members of the building committee, the school administrators, and for such men as Mel Sarno, construction superintendent for Conti and Donahue and, also, like Mr. Foster, a Winchester resident. Their combined efforts have given Winchester a junior high school building of which to be proud.HARVARD DEAN TO ADDRESS PARENT-FACULTY ASSOCIATIONDean Francis Keppel, of the Harvard Graduate School of Education, will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting of the High School Parent-Faculty Association on the evening of April 10. Dean Keppel, who appeared on the recent Omnibus television program presenting Harvard University, will discuss some of the problems in present-day education.Prior to Dean Keppel's address, there will be a short business meeting conducted by Association President Otto Schaefer. There will also be a program of music presented by Winchester High School students under the direction of Mr.
Wendell Withington, director of music. In announcing the details of this final meeting of the Association, the Program Co-Chairmen,
Mrs. John I. Lynch and Mr. Will B.
Skerry, expressed the hope that there will be an unusually large attendance.

HOOD AND SAUNDERS RINKS IN COULSON FINAL

Five exciting curling matches marked the quarter-finals and semi-finals of the Coulson Bouspiel last week-end. A last shot, six-end pulled Craig Greiner's rink for a win over Bob Guild on Saturday, but then Craig lost to Bob Hood in eleven ends on Sunday. Dr. Saunders took a 7-end from Joe Dolben, which Joe could not overcome.

Saturday's scores were: Fisher, Fisher, I. Reeves, Greiner, skip 14; M. Reeves, C. Reeves, Ingersoll, Guild, skip 13; Ev. Stone, Stone, Hood, Hood, skip 10; Jones, Jones, Gamage, Butters, skip 7; Doherty, Downs, Saunders, skip 8; Blaisdell, Blaisdell, Belcher, Carr 5; Hall, Hall, Dolben, skip 14; O'Donoghue, O'Donoghue, Lenth, Abely, skip 11; Gendron, Gendron, D. Fulton, King, skip 9; Barnard, Barnard, Coulson, Morse, skip 7; Dellicker, Dellicker, Neill, Neill, skip 9; Cahalin, French, Clark, Adams, skip 5; McDonald, McDonald, Dyer, Hills, skip 13; Farnsworth, V. Farnsworth, Farnsworth, H. Farnsworth, skip 10.

Sunday's scores, with rinks as above were: Hood 11, Greiner 10; Saunders 14, Dolben 9; Neill 11, King 7; Speers, Speers, Wolant, Eteson, skip 12; Hills 4; Colony Colony, Holdsworth, Holdsworth, skip 10; Foster, Foster, Fessenden, Fessenden, skip 4; Watson, Watson, Sheeran, Sheeran, skip 10; Logan, Logan, Lane, Lane, skip 9.

The semi-finals of the Consolation will be played Saturday morning at 10:00 a. m. It will be Sheeran vs. Neill and Eteson vs. Holdsworth.

The finals of the top flight will be between the Hood and the Saunders rink at 3:00 p. m. and the consolation finals at the same hour between the winners of the morning matches.

The "Weeping" finals for the grand championship of the Bouspiel were held Sunday morning. The story goes that the Farnsworth and Morse rinks had made all their plans to compete in the finals of the Consolation, but some Wardwell-ridden curlers tripped them both on the way up. That left a serious question to be decided to end the feud and further bickerings. The Barnards and Peggy Coulson supported Dan Morse so beautifully that the Farnsworth clan finally had to admit defeat. Every end was tight and hotly contested, aided by the alibis of the skips echoing to an otherwise deserted hall. There was a capacity audience, incidentally, on Sunday afternoon for the regular matches.

The third men's Round Robin will be played between Neill vs. Guild, Bonnell vs. Wagborne, Siders vs. K. Fulton and Sheeran vs. Neill. These matches will be played on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, and the results will be reported next week, along with the Coulson Bouspiel results.

The Curling Buffet Supper will be held at the Winchester Country Club immediately following the finals Saturday afternoon, preceded by a cocktail hour. Last year well over 100 attended the Buffet. This year, with more curling members and even greater enthusiasm, it should be even better attended. So please tell the club steward how many will be in your party. He must know how many to prepare for. We all want to be properly fed at this gala occasion.

WINS AMHERST LETTER

Stowell Symmes, a senior at Amherst College, has been awarded a varsity letter in basketball for his play for this season. Stowell has played varsity basketball for three years. The team had a 16-6 record and was the winner of the Little Three Championship.

For Symmes, this is his third varsity letter in basketball. He also won his numerals as a freshman in basketball and baseball. This year he played in 19 games scoring 38 points.

On the Dean's List, Symmes is also serving as Vice President of Chi Psi fraternity. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Symmes of 233 Main street, Winchester, and graduated from Winchester High School before coming to Amherst.

ARTISTS AND CRAFTSMEN AT WORK

SPRING and the WINCHESTER ART CIRCUS are just around the corner—and up Main street one block. There, in the High School Gymnasium, on Friday evening, APRIL 6th from 7 to 10 p. m. you will find the doors bursting with skilled and talented artists, never before gathered together—all under ONE BIG TOP. The Winchester Art Association has prescribed this wonderful evening as "Spring tonic"—a sure cure for snow-fever and urges everyone to see New England's finest "ARTISTS AND CRAFTSMEN AT WORK."

Heading the list of artists and a teacher in the Department of Education of the Museum School of Fine Arts is ELIZABETH MILLER LOBINGER. An instructor in the Wednesday morning art classes here in Winchester, Mrs. Lobinger's accomplishments have been noted since 1938 in "Who's Who in American Art" and outside the field of Art, she is also well known as an Author, having just had published her book called, "Activities in Child Education." She has received many awards and art prizes, having exhibited in the Boston Art Festival, the Jordan Marsh exhibitions, the deCordova Museum and all over the New England circuit as a member of the Society of Independent Artists.

Mention the name of EILENE DUDLEY CHASE in Winchester and his lovely pencil sketches, so well remembered in the National Bank calendars, come to mind. This will be a very special treat to meet him in person.

FORREST ORR needs no introduction, for he kept the WIN in Winchester on two occasions when he was awarded the Jordan Marsh medals. His water colors are known and admired for miles around.

Boxing gloves and paint brushes are a rare combination—but in JOSEPH SANTORO, Assistant Supervisor of Art in the Cambridge Public Schools, we find a talent for both. He was a former boxer and is now one of the State boxing officials which may account for his forceful style in painting.

The "Talent Scouts" were most fortunate when they chose April 6th for it happened to be an open date for both MR. WILLIAM MAYNARD and his wife CLAUDIA MAYNARD who could stump any group of experts. They both studied at the Museum School, Gladys with a five year full scholarship and another for study abroad and now a teacher in basic drawing at the Cambridge Adult Centre. Mr. Maynard is a member of the Boston Water Color Society and an instructor at the Studio Guild in Winchester. The Museum of Fine Arts owns one of his easel paintings and he has exhibited at the Childs, Shore and Ross Galleries all in Boston and at the Cambridge Art Association. Mrs. Maynard's portraits have wandered as far as the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C., and have been exhibited at the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris. From the Museum School of Art we are most fortunate to present to the head of the Sculpture Department, PETER PAUL ABATI, who will bring his own model, a pupil and two students of TURE BENGTZ, JOSEPH CAPA, and TIT AND ELIZABETH CAREY, who will be doing wood-block printing. Mr. Bengtz plans to give them both moral support by attending the Art Circus himself, some part of the evening.

A graduate of Winchester High School and a veteran of the Navy before graduating from the Massachusetts school of Art is JOHN OTTIANO who is at present teaching in the Art Department at Boston University. John will demonstrate silk screen painting.

Anyone who proudly owns a Macefield made-to-order piece of jewelry knows the success of LEONARD FIELD'S ability in designing and BILL MASON'S skill in workmanship. These two talented young men, both Boston Art students, will show work in process in silver.

MARK ALLEN and his wife, PHYLLIS who met at the Museum School, organized Macefield 2 gift-room, just a year ago. Mark's originality and skill are readily apparent when you see his enameling at the "art in the round." Phyllis, a major in jewelry making also excels in leather tooling, her choice for April 6th.

With so many Winchester people—craftsmen in their own right—surely they will welcome this opportunity to see MASTER CRAFTSMEN at work, including ESTHER BORDEN, who has been weaving, ever since she and Mr. Borden moved into an apartment as newlyweds, over 30 years ago—and found left behind a loom. MRS. LESTER LEATHERS has set many enthusiastic rug hookers straight as a teacher in and around Winchester and will be working on one of her own lovely rugs and will have others on exhibition. The children's classes of the Winchester Art Association are taught by AGATHA TULLY, who has been studying tray painting, for seven years, with Mrs. Robert Estabrook in Boston. Mrs. Tully will also exhibit a few of her beautiful trays and will show the technique of tray painting. The pottery wheel will be in constant motion when CAROL NICKERSON demonstrates her skill in ceramics and we sincerely hope every wheel in Winchester and for miles around will be turning in the direction of the WINCHESTER ART CIRCUS—for Families of ALL ages—so much for so little. Tickets 50 cents—call: Mrs. Richard D. Kirkpatrick, Winchester 6-2339 or Mrs. Dudley H. Bradley II, Winchester 6-2050. Don't Miss It.

Metcalfe Union was very fortunate last Sunday to have as guest speaker Professor Nichols, a professor of geology at Tufts University.

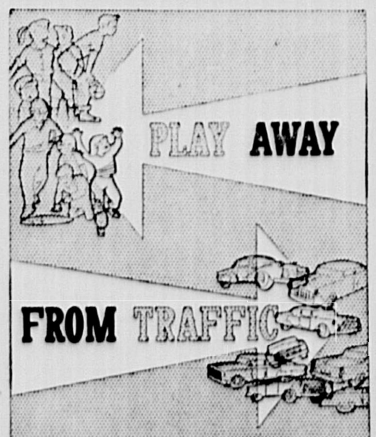

Professor Nichols showed many slides of his year's trip to the Antarctic with the Ronne Antarctic Expedition in 1948, for which he was chief geologist. He has explored many regions never before mapped by man in the frozen wastes of the Antarctic Continent. He also showed slides of a summer's trip to the Arctic with the United States Army Task Force. This talk was enjoyed by members of Metcalfe Union and their guests, the members of the Junior-High Fellowship.

Remember, next Sunday the Easter Sunrise Service conducted by the Interfaith Youth Council will be held at 6:00 a. m. at the Winchester Country Club. Due to the holiday there will be no regular Metcalfe Union meeting that evening.

PAY RAISE VOTED

OPENING SESSION OF TOWN MEETING LAST THURSDAY

Town meeting members disregarded the recommendation of the Finance Committee and voted a blanket nine percent pay raise to town employees, exclusive of School Department teaching and administrative personnel and employees of the Department of Public Welfare, at the opening session of the Limited Town Meeting last Thursday evening in the town hall.

The meeting was really an adjourned session, having been postponed from its original date of Monday, March 19, because of the heavy snowstorm. Nineteen were present when the March 19th session was adjourned. Thursday evening 197 or 225 town meeting members were present.

The newly elected Moderator, Rep. Harrison Chadwick, presided and for the first time in many years, had the meeting opened with prayer, the invocation being made by the Rev. John Snook, Jr., pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

Mr. Chadwick stated that a letter in the Star following last year's town meeting, advocating a return to the old custom of opening the meeting with prayer, had appealed to him and to many with whom he had talked.

Mr. Dolan, newly elected Selectman, but continuing as chairman of the Finance Committee through the current meetings, told the delegates that an estimated expenditure of some $32,000 for snow and ice removal made necessary by the recent storms had raised the Finance Committee's estimate of what will be necessary for a tax rate to $48.80.

He hastened to add that only by following the recommendations of the Finance Committee (town expenditures could this figure be maintained, and that if the meeting chose to go beyond Committee recommendations in its appropriations, the tax rate would probably be $50.60.

Mr. Dolan warned about reducing the town's available funds to less than $209,000 or $210,000 by transfers and listed among items to be considered in the next year or two an overhaul of the water system at a cost of $700,000 to $800,000, a solution of the town dump problem, perhaps by the installation of an incinerator, an addition to the library, adequate space for the school administrative offices and other town departments, additional school facilities and a west side fire station.

These and the constantly increasing costs of personal services and equipment necessitated by the always growing demand for municipal services, has caused the Finance Committee to believe that the town will have a tax rate in the vicinity of $60.

The sum of $167,000 was appropriated to meet the payment on town bonds or notes coming due in the fiscal year, and the Town Treasurer was empowered to borrow money in anticipation of revenue.

Mr. Crockett, reporting for the Personnel Board, told at some length of the Board's continued effort to evaluate town jobs in the light of what the same jobs command in comparable communities, and to work toward placing Winchester salaries and wages mid-way between the high and low payments made by other cities and towns.

To reach this midway position Mr. Crockett asked a blanket nine percent increase in the pay of all town employees, excepting School Department teaching and administrative personnel and employees of the Welfare Department, who are covered by State provisions.

Mr. Dolan precipitated a parliamentary hassle when he moved to amend Mr. Crockett's recommenation for a nine percent increase by substituting seven for nine, with Mr. Hewis immediately rising to a point of order.

After a series of conferences involving the Moderator, Chairman of the Finance Committee, Selectmen and Town Counsel, Mr. Dolan re-phrased his proposal to reduce the blanket raise to seven percent got underway.

Mr. Dolan stated the Finance Committee's position, saying that when the Finance Committee and Personnel Board first discussed salary raises the Personnel Board had felt a six percent raise would be about right.

The Finance Committee felt that between four and five percent was what should be granted and was unwilling the Board's recommendation of seven percent at this time, their studies showing that while the town laborers were below the middle position mentioned by the Personnel Board, the majority of town employees, including police and firemen, were above the middle ground.

This brought emphatic protests from Police Chief Harold, who gave take-home pay and family allowances to support his contention that his men need more money. He concluded by telling the meeting that the current rate of pay for police officers is well below what they laborers are getting and insufficient to attract the type of men Winchester wants in its Police Department.

Chief Harold was supported by Mrs. McDonald, who felt that Winchester is fortunate to have Mr. Crockett and his Personnel Board to guide them in arriving at a really equitable wage for employees. In Brookline, she said, they have just appointed a similar board to do what Mr. Crockett and his group have been doing for several years.

The Selectmen favored the nine percent increase, Mr. Redding stating their position and Mr. Dwinell reported that the Public Works Council also favored the higher rate.

The Finance Committee's amendment was put and lost, the Personnel Board's recommendation being subsequently put and carried easily on a voice vote.

In accordance with the Personnel Board's Recommendation the sum of $800 was appropriated for the use of the Board in continuing its studies. Mr. Crockett also felt that the town should seriously consider the establishments of a permanent Personnel Board and decide upon the scope of its powers.

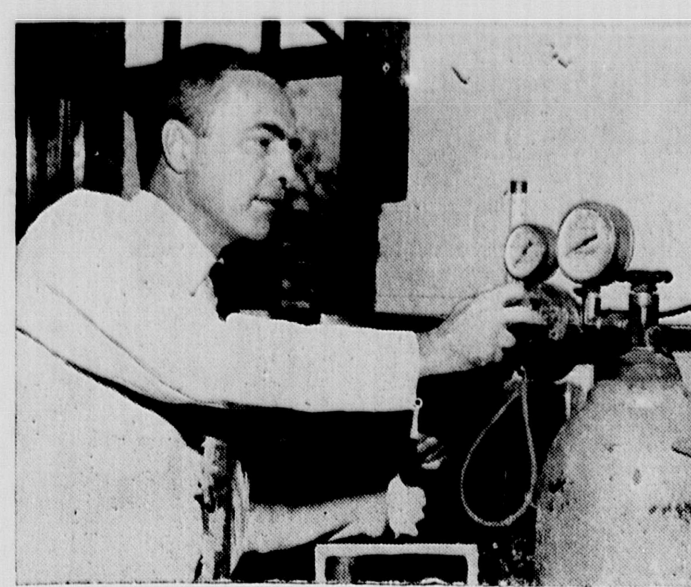

After the vote establishing the nine percent wage increase effective April 1, 1956, two subsequent articles seeking flat 10 percent raises for Police and Firemen and for "all town employees" were indefinitely postponed. Upon the motion of Town Counsel Clarke, representing the Board of Retirement, the meeting voted to accept Chapter 670 of the Acts of 1955 increasing the amounts of pensions, retirement allowances and annuities payable to former town employees who retired before April 1, 1951.

The amount to be expended in the coming year is $2,290, which sum will grow smaller through the years.

At this point, over the objection of Mr. Hewis, the meeting acceded to the request of the Finance Committee and Water and Sewer Board to take up next Articles 28-31, dealing with Water Department projects, and Article 25, under which the School Committee asked the transfer of the care and responsibility for maintenance of all school yards and Manchester Field to the Park Department.

Mr. Dolan explained that the articles in question needed to be considered in advance of the long budgetary article because the action of the meeting upon them would seriously affect the action necessary under the Water Department and school budgets when they were considered.

Mr. Dwinell explained for the EYE RESEARCH IN ACTION

Dr. Theodore Ingalls, Associate Professor, Harvard School of Public Health, who has received an Eye Research grant from the Lions Clubs of Massachusetts, works at his laboratory to discover the causes of baby blindness. The Winchester Lions Club will sponsor a door to door sale of Tea during the month of April for eye research.

Water and Sewer Board that from 1945 to 1955 the consumption of water per capita in Winchester has jumped 45 per cent and that a new source of water must be secured in the near future. He said that the Water Commissioners have been negotiating with the Metropolitan District Commission relative to join the Metropolitan Water System, it being the Commissioners' belief that Metropolitan Water is the solution of Winchester's problem.

Mr. Dwinell stated that the cost of joining the MDW, with the entrance fee might reach $250,000, and that another $270,000 is going to be necessary to clean the town's water mains, some of which are only 50 percent effective at present.

The Water Board had retained engineering experts for advice and in accordance with their recommendations asked a bond issue of $125,000, to replace with 10 inch pipes the 6 inch line running along Highland avenue to Forest street and along that street toward Stoneham, and the 6 inch line in Church street, Oxford street, Woodside road, Brantwood road, Ardley road, and Pond street, to complete the water supply and sewage system in Johnson road. The Water Board also asked the town to sanction the transfer of $12,581.46 from the undepended balance of the Johnson road water account to the Johnson road sewer account.

Only Mr. Hewis opposed the Water Commissioners' plans and the issue and transfer were voted with but a single dissenting voice, that by the way being other than Mr. Hewis.

Under the consideration of Article 25 it was quickly voted to transfer the care and responsibility of the school grounds and Manchester Field from the School Department to the Park Department. Mr. Hooper explaining that the janitors are not gardeners and that his department has neither the men nor equipment properly to care for Manchester Field.

Mr. Hooper cleared up what seemed to be a misunderstanding by stating that the control of the property in question will remain with the School Committee.

Mr. Hewis opposed the change in care, and Mrs. Woodside felt the shifting of responsibility by town departments should not be condoned.

On the motion of Mr. Lane the meeting adjourned at 10:59.

GOING SOUTH WITH HARVARD NINE

"Pete" Provinzano, former Winchester High School three sport athletic star, now a member of the Athletic Department at Harvard University, leaves April 1, with the Crimson baseball team for a southern trip, visiting Washington, D.C., Annapolis, Md., Quantico, Richmond and Charlottesville, Va.

"Pete" acts as head-trainer of the Harvard baseball team, just as he was head-trainer of the basketball team last winter. He was assistant to Head-Trainer Jack Fadden of the football team last fall.

While on his trips with the Crimson hoop team, "Pete" ran into several Winchester boys, meeting "Doug" Hawkins and Stowell Symmes at the intercollegiate tournament at Colby College in Maine during the Christmas vacation, and Max McGreevy when Harvard met Brown at Providence. He also bumped into Winchester's former demon manager, Ted "Muscles" Covert while on a trip to Cornell where Covert is a teaching fellow.

"Pete's" meeting with Hawkins and Symmes was a real reunion since these Amherst stars had been coached by Provinzano while playing for the freshman team at Winchester High School.

THE WINCHESTER HOME AND GARDEN CLUB

The March meeting of the Winchester Home and Garden Club was held Wednesday, the 21st, in the Art Room of the Library.

Mrs. John Chipman, the president, opened the meeting by reading from "The Rose Garden," a delightful description of another First Day of Spring—1858.

A Garden problem facing many communities in this part of the country is the damage done by the Japanese beetle. This was discussed and Mrs. Chipman announced that members can buy the spore dust for eliminating the grub, through the Club. It is hoped that several seasons of application of the spore dust to the lawn and the continued use of DDT will finally end this problem.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Edward McDevitt introduced the speaker, Dr. Donald Wyman, well known for his outstanding work of the Arnold Arboretum and for his books and articles on Horticulture.

His lecture, "Trees and Shrubs" for the Small Home Garden and Their Care" was of great interest and beautifully illustrated with colored slides.

In planning a small garden, Dr. Wyman said that it is well to plant trees and shrubs that can be grown with little care and that will provide a variety of interest through the different seasons. The Oriental Quince and Canadian Cherry are good examples of this—also the Japanese Barberry, which will grow in poor soil and in shaded areas.

To the gardeners interested in growing roses, he suggested trying a few of the many varieties of wild or native rose that require little or no spraying or pruning, and whose lovely flowers are followed by bright colorful fruit in the Fall.

Dr. Wyman spoke of the great amount of care that must go into growing good lilacs but conceded that women love them and will grow anyway. He continued his lecture with a description of the ground covers, foundation plantings, and ornamental trees that are most successful in the small home garden.

The surprisingly large number of members who were able to get through the snow-drifts to attend the meeting were amply rewarded and left with many new ideas for improving their own gardens this Spring.

nearing Beirut Lebanon. This has been the best day we have had on any sea so far on this voyage. We left Alexandria about 10 last night. In about 3 hours at 8-9 p. m. we should make the harbor.

We had not expected such luck for only yesterday we read that several ships were plying up and down outside Beirut because the weather prevented entrance. And they've had a blizzard here for three days blocking all the roads in Syria, where lies Damascus. This we can believe for we've just come down at sunset and far to the east of us at some 60 miles we saw a very high snow covered range running for miles. Pink colored snow fields reminded us of an expression the Swiss use. They call the color the "Alpen Glow."

But for us the day was comfortably warm. The sun high above was obscured only once in a while with a fleecy cloud that only added to the beauty, and the sea was as placid as some small inland lake.

And now to tell what we think of Alexandria. We only had the day there because the stevedores really worked, so we had not time to get over to Cairo yesterday, it being 125 miles or more away.

A friend of mine had written me that Alexandria was a cross road of trades full of oil drums, smells and nothing good and said if I couldn't get to Cairo and had to stay in Alexandria to go down to the engine room and play Pinocchio all day.

Well we didn't do that, but instead we made a deal with a bearded wall-eyed Egyptian who said to call him "Mohammed from Missouri" because he "knew his onions." He got us a car and a guide or dragoman and we started out.

As we were pulling into the dock for our mooring early in the morning we had seen one of the royal palaces across the harbor. Alexandria is not to be compared as a port with Casablanca or Oran or Genoa. It's primitive by comparison, although there were many foreign ships at docks.

Our first objective there was the Royal Palace. We passed the fine barracks of the former Palace Guard which has now been made into the Naval Academy.

The palace was built by one of the earlier rulers some 150 years ago. Farouk had put in some improvements in the way of modern bathrooms about as big as a small assembly hall with a sunken tub in the middle.

But the whole place was a thing of beauty. The floors were all of inlaid wood, some with mother of pearl inlay. All were intricately designed and executed. Huge chandeliers graced all the rooms and one in one of the main reception rooms, were told weighed 3 tons. The public rooms where formal dinners took place were magnificent and furnished as one might expect for a king. But I wouldn't want to be a king nor have to live there.

Farouk's Mediterranean yacht (he had one for the Nile also) and his houseboat were moored nearby. The Egyptian government has declined an offer of 3 million for the former. It's the one that carried Farouk from this palace when he abdicated. The houseboat is enormous and about the size of a fairly large summer hotel.

Something that I think is not generally known is that our U. S. Ambassador Caffery had a hand in the abdication. Farouk feared for his life and would only sign his abdication in agreement with Mr. Caffery who guaranteed his safe exit from the country.

In spite of the fact that he left in a hurry he has (according to local reports or rumors) several nest eggs abroad which the government cannot reach. And they are said to total over 100 million dollars. Not such hard going for a play boy. But he was warned as far back as 1941 that the end was in sight, it seems. Still he seems to have made fairly good use of his time meanwhile.

Right along side the palace is a mosque built by Farouk only a few years ago in honor of his son. It's a gem. We wanted to go inside but this was permitted to do after removing our shoes. There were a couple of old Moslems at the entrance and they seemed friendly and after taking our shoes they went along with us. They raised no objection when I set a tripod for a time exposure and were most anxious to have us miss no part of it. So we went up the stairs to the chamber overlooking the main hall of the church where the queen and her ladies-in-waiting could observe the services below through a screen.

We then drove about the city a bit. Passing the mosque of Abdul Ahsa we were struck with its beauty. A full service was going on and as it was likely to be full of people, we came back in the afternoon.

Many of the streets in the old quarter were simply ghastly in what looked like the dirtiest poverty. Our guide and our driver would not let us get out to make photos for fear we would be stoned. Personally I think nothing of the sort would have happened.

We lunched at the Hotel Cecil. Alexandria's best and not too bad. Lunch for 4 with wine came to about $7.50 American. But we had some difficulty in getting the cashier to take American money and give us the same in return change. He didn't.

After lunch we went along the Corniche. You've heard of the Malecon at Havana. This is similar to that. It's a road along the shore for 10 miles and if anything, I think, better than Havana because for much of the way there is a breaking surf some distance out on the rock ledges that parallel the shore.

The city has a wonderful botanical garden through which we rode. To get there we went a long distance along the banks of one of the canals that comes in from the Nile Delta. Here we saw countless Feluccas. These are the cargo boats that ply the Nile. With masts incredibly high they sailed or were towed by manpower through this canal. Some were propelled by men on their decks who used long poles to push them along. But all moved incredibly fast. Those being pulled had ropes fastened high up on the masts some 30-35 feet above the deck. The other end was pulled by men on shore. Evidently the height of the tow rope was a great deal of the canal bank.

Along the banks we saw also the feluccas. You can't imagine anything more primitive. In all our travels we've never seen anything that looked quite as poor. Back again in the city we drove to the center. There are some five plazas in the city and one fine new wide plaza is being opened from the dock area to the center of the city so that tourists coming in can easily find their way on foot.

We went into Abul Abbas Mosque. Here again the attendants were courteous. I could photo but not use a tripod, so I took a time exposure from the tomb of the man in whose memory the mosque was built. A service was going on. There is nothing ancient about the way these Moslems do things. They also had a microphone in front of the Reader or Holy Man and this was connected with a loud speaker so that all who knelt might hear. The interior of the Mosque itself was very beautiful but not as fine as the one built by the Moors about 800 A.D. in Grenada.

Well, there you have it. My impressions of Alexandria. A town of oil cans and smells and squalor. No! A city (this will surprise you I am sure) of one and a half million souls. Much of it is new and as modern as anything in America. Squalor, yes. But alongside beautiful hospitals, wonderful legation. A United Nations Building and alongside these the chaste and lovely Abraham Bashir Mosque. That's Alexandria as we saw it. I am glad I didn't play pinocle.

Correspondent

LETTER NO. 5

Beirut and Iskenderun, Turkey

Well, we've had more experiences. We got to Beirut after sundown Saturday night and consequently had to anchor for the night outside the breakwater. But the weather was warm, the sea smooth and we spent a good night. The sunrise was very beautiful coming up over the mountains behind the town.

One thing that never fails to surprise me is the size of these cities that I never thought of as large. Beirut has a population of over 600,000! And it's a very modern looking city, built on endless hills rising ever higher as you go inland until far in the rear, visible from outside the breakwater but not from the city, rises Mt. Jabal Sanin, 8,422 feet high.

The whole coast line is rocky and mountainous and we were glad that we had to stay outside until daylight came because we wanted to see the city from the sea. It was a worthwhile sight.

The harbor here is not very large. The docks are narrow slits of stone work against which the ship is tied. But all cargo has to be unloaded into lighters which are placed along the other side of the ship.

A lighterman's strike had been in progress for 4 days so it was a certainty that we would not be leaving that night. That meant we had time to go into the Bekaa Valley and to Damascus in Syria. This is all Biblical country and the valley is what the Bible calls "The land of milk and honey."

You never have to look far for someone who wants to sell you something. First of all as I went to the gangplank where a guy who insisted he could cut my hair for a very cheap price in 10 minutes. Then came a woman who would do our laundry for a rich price. Next came a Black Market money changer who would sell us any kind of currency we wanted. I hope it wasn't counterfeit because I bought what the Bible calls "The land of milk and honey."

Finally, the chap I was looking for came along. He had a Plymouth car, could take us to both places, spoke perfect English and looked OK. His price was plenty but I thought it better judgment not to beat him down but to tell him what we wanted for our money.

We left in a landing car, and were assured by the Immigration Officers that we had all that was necessary (with our Syrian visa which we had procured in New York) to get us across the border.

Well, we got to Baalbek in the valley. Remember it was Sunday. Every Lebanese car must have been on the road that day and all the trucks from Syria and Transjordan also. We climbed and climbed until we were at the top of the pass at 5,000 feet. South of us was Mt. Hermon, 9,332 feet high. About everywhere we saw much snow and people were up here by the thousands to use their skis.

At one stage on the downward trip to the valley we passed a line of cars and trucks moving slowly almost bumper to bumper and the line was at least 4 miles long. Most of the pleasure cars are of American make.

Well, we got into the valley. Here there was no snow on the ground but the snow-covered range of the Lebanon Mts. and on the other side of 4 miles distant was the Anti-Lebanese range which separates Lebanon and Syria. We left the main Damascus road and turned north to Baalbek.

I can't tell you about much of the town itself except that it looked picturesque. But at the edge of the town, about 3 Roman Temples. Long before the time of Christ, the Phoenicians had erected a temple here to their god, Baal; hence the name Baalbek. Then came the Romans who destroyed all and began anew.

They erected here three temples, a small one to Venus of which not much is left; a much larger one to Bacchus, the god of wine. Here were carried on revels with the vestal virgins who would beat anything we've heard about. Sultans and other Oriental Potentates. This temple is very beautiful and quite large. Most of it is standing erect having withstood earthquake and earthquake. The roof was of stone. Part of it is still there, beautifully carved out of large blocks of sandstone about 6x10x3 feet thick.

It was the Phoenicians who first chose this site for a city and it is thought that at one time the population numbered as much as 250,000. Certainly no smaller city would call for such temples.

But it was the Roman emperor Nero in 57 A.D. who began the gigantic task of building the three temples. Two hundred thousand Roman slaves at a time labored for over 150 years on this task as emperor after emperor carried it forward.

I haven't told you about the third temple, the Temple of Jupiter, the largest temple the Romans ever built anywhere. It is stupendous and awe-inspiring. Six columns still stand where the Romans placed them. On the other, some lie about on their sides, many were removed to Constantinople by Emperor Jus-tinian to build which is now the mosque of St. Sophia.

This temple is simply astounding and stupendous. First of all, it was composed of 84 rose-colored pillars on the four sides. I don't know how high they stand but probably 60-70 feet. I am sure they are 8 feet in diameter because I stood alongside one of them.

And here is the most surprising part of the story. These columns were cut from quarries in Egypt at Assuan away up on the Nile. As far as I know, the Romans thought BIG and no task seemed too great for them to undertake with their many slaves. (Total distance over 1,200 miles).

From a quarry just outside the town came the sandstone that was needed for other parts of the temple. A few pieces measure 65x14x12 feet and weigh 800 tons. A few measure 70 feet long and weigh 1,200 tons, and many weigh 400 tons. We saw steps carved from single monoliths 35-40 feet long and big enough to carve 12 steps on each.

I repeat those figures — 1,200 tons, 800 tons, 400 tons. These you can see and walk upon. Let me see if I can describe the temple to you. First of all, you tread over a bridge over a moat. Here was a large court, and there was a large court with the sacrificial altar with the two pools on each side and beyond was the temple itself with its 84 columns and statues. All of it must have covered an area of about 10 acres (I am guessing at this) but certainly it was impressive.

I said 6 of the columns were still standing. That is correct and the coping is still at the top. But a bit away we saw a part of the coping, now on the ground, beautifully carved. I got (I hope) a photo of 12' long by 8' deep.

How such prodigious stones could be handled and so put into place that without mortar they would stand in some cases 1,900 years, amazes me. Of course this temple has been pillaged and ravished and vandalized from time to time but much still remains and my abiding thought is "These Romans sure had something. They knew how to build beautiful and strong."

We left Baalbek then for Damascus. After an hour or so, we got to the Lebanese-Syrian border. Our driver took our passport into the Security Control office. Others went in and came out, but not our driver. Finally I went in. There was trouble aplenty. Some necessary passes were missing even though we had obtained a Syrian visa in New York. Pleading and arguing, telling them we had been told all was in order was to no avail. Our guide offered to put up a bond in the form of cash. The official telephoned to his superior in Beirut. The driver finally offered a bribe (I was not there then). No soap! We could not get out of Lebanon.

So we turned around and came back to Beirut. Beirut is really a lovely city. It's very modern looking in many ways. Its buildings are good. Apartments all have outside balconies. The section really lives up to its name, with splendid homes in walled gardens. Lebanon is a prosperous country and about a third of its population is in Beirut. Before the Jews made trouble in Palestine, Haifa and Jaffa were the natural ports of entry for all Middle Asia which lies East of the Mediterranean. But when Israel got unfriendly with its neighbors, all that hinterland trade was transferred to Beirut. Syria, Jordan and Transjordan now have all incoming shipments by way of Beirut and the volume is great. Some of it moves via Damascus by rail (11 hours) and much of it by truck.

There is a beautiful museum in the city with many treasures dug from old sites and ruins. Jewelry dating from 1700 B.C. Axes and daggers as old and pottery all done as beautifully as could be done by our best artisans today. Providence jeweled and did not believe this they see it themselves. Then they would be convinced.

There are old burial baskets of Romans made of sheet lead. There are several old Sarcophagi carved of huge blocks of stone. And on one of these is the first version of a modern alphabet. Prior to this time, pictures were used to tell a story but as men wanted to express ideas, the old system was not adequate. Ideas could not be told in pictures or hieroglyphics.

So the Phoenicians invented the alphabet of 22 characters which is the grandfather of all alphabets. It was and remains perfect and no real improvements have ever been made. This alphabet is forever in this museum by being inscribed on the tomb of King Ahiaram which we saw. This was almost 1000 B.C. After driving back to the dock, we boarded the ship again, planning to go to Damascus on the morrow.

Concerts are presented twice on Wednesday: at 2:30 and at 7:30. The public is most cordially invited to attend.

At the Family Night, Friday evening, March 30, at 7:30, and again at the Children's Hour, Saturday morning, March 31, at 10:15, the following four films will be shown: "Monarch Butterfly," "Astronomy and Space Rockets," "Road to Gaspe" and "Wonder of Fish." Both programs will be held in the Art Gallery.

SOUTH OF THE BORDER

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo D. Nicholas have recently returned from a six-weeks' tour "South of the Border." With Mexico City as headquarters they visited many of the places of interest in that vicinity, including the spas of San Jose Purua and Penafiel, the seaside resort of Acapulco and the quaint town of Texco.

A week spent on the Yucatan Peninsula studying the ruins at Chichen Itza and Uxmal of the pyramids and temples of the ancient Mayas, an Indian tribe which centuries ago was farther advanced in the sciences than the nations of Europe; then an additional week in Guatemala visiting the Indian villages of Chichicastenango and Santiago Atitlan, deep in the mountains, with their interesting and colorful open markets and religious ceremonies.

The travel was by air, the return flight from Mexico City to New York City being made in the remarkable time of six and one-half hours.

Mrs. Jones then introduced Mrs. Lillian Ambler, who gave a delightful demonstration of how to become a well groomed woman.

The next meeting will be held at 2:30 p. m. May the 17th, at the home of Mrs. Richard J. Clark of Winchester.

JOHN MURPHY

Winchester man assigned position of Airport Ticket Agent for American Airlines, Inc., at the Airport at Chicago. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Murphy of Clark street.

BATES APPOINTED CHAIRMAN

Appointment of Howard W. Bates, 5 Winthrop street, as chairman of the American Cancer Society's 1956 educational and fund-raising crusade in Winchester, was announced here today. The campaign will begin Monday, April 2.

"This year," Mr. Bates said, "our Society will seek a total of $26,000,000 nationally, money which will be used to carry on the fight to control cancer on three fronts—public and professional education, service to patients, and research designed to find new cures for cancer and eventually to conquer it completely."

The following committee has been named to assist Mr. Bates. House to House Chairman, Gordon Tobey.

Special Gifts Chairman, Mrs. James F. Dwinell, Jr. Treasurer, Charles Butler. Publicity Chairman, George E. Sjolund.

Stores, Paul Marcons, Paul Donahue. Precinct Chairmen:

Precinct 1 Seth Shorey
Precinct 2 Mrs. Fred Ives
Precinct 3 Aldo Minotti
Precinct 4 Dennis L. Heindel
Precinct 5 Mrs. Everett Stone
Precinct 6 Mrs. Ronald Chisholm

Detailed plans are being discussed for the campaign, which will continue throughout April, designated by Congress as Cancer Control Month. Many volunteers, both women and men, are to take part in that drive, which will have a double purpose—carrying the facts about cancer to the people of Winchester and in turn asking them to contribute to the unceasing battle against it.

"Last year statisticians estimate, about 245,000 died of cancer," Mr. Bates pointed out, "and some 80,000 of the deaths were needless, occurring because the presence of cancer was not detected early enough, so that treatment was begun too late."

"The public education program of the American Cancer Society aims to bring home to all the people of the United States the necessity of periodic physical examinations to avoid such tragedy. Such checkups, on a nation-wide basis, many doctors believe, could enable the saving of twice as many patients as are now cured."

LETTER NO. 4

nearing Beirut Lebanon. This has been the best day we have had on any sea so far on this voyage. We left Alexandria about 10 last night. In about 3 hours at 8-9 p. m. we should make the harbor.

We had not expected such luck for only yesterday we read that several ships were plying up and down outside Beirut because the weather prevented entrance. And they've had a blizzard here for three days blocking all the roads in Syria, where lies Damascus. This we can believe for we've just come down at sunset and far to the east of us at some 60 miles we saw a very high snow covered range running for miles. Pink colored snow fields reminded us of an expression the Swiss use. They call the color the "Alpen Glow."

But for us the day was comfortably warm. The sun high above was obscured only once in a while with a fleecy cloud that only added to the beauty, and the sea was as placid as some small inland lake.

And now to tell what we think of Alexandria. We only had the day there because the stevedores really worked, so we had not time to get over to Cairo yesterday, it being 125 miles or more away.

A friend of mine had written me that Alexandria was a cross road of trades full of oil drums, smells and nothing good and said if I couldn't get to Cairo and had to stay in Alexandria to go down to the engine room and play Pinocchio all day.

Well we didn't do that, but instead we made a deal with a bearded wall-eyed Egyptian who said to call him "Mohammed from Missouri" because he "knew his onions." He got us a car and a guide or dragoman and we started out.

As we were pulling into the dock for our mooring early in the morning we had seen one of the royal palaces across the harbor. Alexandria is not to be compared as a port with Casablanca or Oran or Genoa. It's primitive by comparison, although there were many foreign ships at docks.

Our first objective there was the Royal Palace. We passed the fine

COMMUNION BREAKFAST

K. OF C. 59TH

Winchester Council Knights of Columbus, refused to permit last Saturday's blizzard to interfere with the annual Communion Breakfast next day, and according to schedule members gathered at the United Motors area on Cross street and marched in a body to the Immaculate Conception Church.

Members of the Police and Fire Departments were in line, also the 4th Degree Assembly and the guest speaker, Hon. Francis X. Morrissey, Parade Marshal was William Lippman with P.G.K. Harry Boyle and John DelGrosso were color bearers and Richard Fiori, the drummer. Ushers at the Church were 4th Degree members, Sam Vangel, L. C. Thibault, Charles Haggerty, Frank Dineen, Thomas Drapeau and Philip Gange.

Celebrant of the Mass was Rev. Stephen E. Burke, pastor of the Church, who extended the welcome of the Pastor, Rev. Herbert K. A. Driscoll, and of the parish to the knights, while commending them for their fine example in reaching to the Church and receiving Holy Communion in a body. Soloist was Brother Knight Edmund Boucher.

Following mass all adjourned to the new Hall for a catered breakfast. Seated at the Head Table with the Chaplain, Father Burke were: District Deputy Alden Keating, Francis X. Morrissey, guest speaker; members of the Board of Selectmen, George B. Redding, Chairman; George A. Saltmarsh and John A. Dolan; Grand Knight Vincent Erhard, Deputy Grand Knight and Communion-Breakfast Chairman Thomas Gramzow, Postmaster Thomas Gilgan and Doctor Richard W. Sheehy, P.G.K. Frank Rogers and William H. Murray honorary members of the Council.

Other honorary members who sat with friends in the hall were P.G.K. John S. O'Leary, P.G.K. Arthur E. King, P.G.K. Luke P. Glendon, P.G.K. Frank Dineen, Charles H. Gallagher, Edmund L. Dunn, William A. McLaughlin, Frank Davis, Thomas Fahy and Harry Ferullo. M. G. Moffet was unable to be present, being in Florida.

D.G.K. Thomas Gramzow acted as toastmaster and commended the assemblage of over 200 for braving the snowbound conditions to attend. He praised the committee, particularly singling out William O'Leary, ticket chairman, and called on all past grand knights to take a bow.

District Deputy Keating brought the greetings of the State Council and asked for the continued support of the K. of C. sponsored Kennedy Memorial Hospital. He also announced the State Council Patriot's Day Dinner for April 19 at the Statler Hotel with ladies invited. George B. Redding, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, extended the congratulations and best wishes of the town praising the Council's influence on everyone through the good works of the member knights. Acknowledging the valued services of members of the Council, who have served, or are presently serving the town in various capacities, he praised the Council for its good will and common understanding.

Grand Knight Vincent Erhard expressed his pleasure at the fine representative group of Council members present, and called upon those heading the various activities of the Council this season to take bows. He also read a letter, recently received from the Jesuits, thanking the Council for their prompt sizable gift to help replace the Novitiate, "Shadow-Brook," destroyed by fire.

Father Burke, Council Chaplain, enumerated many of the fine works accomplished nationally by the Knights of Columbus, pointing to their Catholic Conversion program as advertised in many national publications. He also announced that the 4th Degree will serve as Honor Guard at the Immaculate Conception Church on Holy Thursday and concluded by characterizing the Knights as most active in Unity, Charity and Fraternity and a great help to the Church.

Hon. Francis X. Morrissey, noted attorney and Administrative Assistant to U. S. Senator John F. Kennedy proved a masterful and eloquent speaker. Taking as his subject "The Crisis of the Church Faces," he dwelt on Segregation, the abuse of the 5th Amendment, discrimination against parochial and private schools, and the terrible calamity in the Holy City of Jerusalem, sacred to all Christians its need for being declared an International City, due to the dissension between the Arabs and Israel.

Mr. Morrissey deplored the falling back on the 5th amendment by educators and men in government to save their skins, and touching on segregation he pointed out that Christ died on the Cross for all peoples. With parochial and private schools in operation, Mr. Morrissey cited the vast savings to communities and interpreted the Bill of Rights to his listeners as applying to all. Speaking of the persecutions behind the "Iron and Bamboo Curtains," in Albania, China, Rumania, Hungary, Poland and other countries, Mr. Morrissey declared that the Church is now facing one of the most critical situations of all time. "She will survive," he said, "If we, all of us, in our daily walk of life, live and act as true Catholics, turning from embalmed body of Lenin to choose the resurrected Body of Christ."

Serving on the general banquet committee were Father Burke, Chaplain; Vincent Erhard, G.K.;

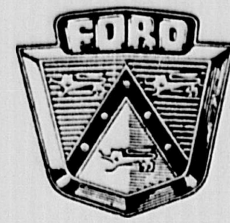

Thomas Gramzow, D.G.K.; William O'Leary, L. C. Thibault, Charles Craven, Henry Murphy, Arthur Hall, Alfred Barnard, William Lippman, Richard Fiori, Harry Boyle, John Lane, John DelGrosso, Edmund Boucher, Charles Doucette, Jr., William McGaragle, Joseph Cerri, Fred McCormack, Sherman Saltmarsh, Jr., Anthony Keane, James Wharf, Bert Stevens, Thomas Underwood, Paul Whitney, Mario Buzzotta, Henry Hertz, Sam Vangel, Charles Haggerty, Philip Gange, Frank Dineen, Thomas Drapeau and Edmund Boucher.

PAPER WILL BUY COFFEE

Did you know that 10 pounds of newspaper will buy a cup of coffee, and given to a discouraged man at the right time, can mean the beginning of a completely new life for him. This astonishing fact was announced today by Brigadier R. E. Bagges, commanding officer for the Salvation Army Men's Rehabilitation Center.

Brigadier Bagges continued, "The newspapers accumulated in a week in the average home generally amount to about 10 pounds, and the proceeds from the sale of this material will purchase a cup of coffee for a man at the Center. The papers received in a home over a period of a month can sometimes weigh as much as 100 pounds which will take care of a night's lodging and three hot meals. The Salvation Army truck with the Red Shield will call at homes in response to a telephone request for a pick-up of newspapers, magazines and other articles. However, the 100 pounds of newspapers will help defray the expenses for a man at the Center for a reasonable time."

VISIT FROM FORMER RESIDENTS

Col. Paul W. Dillingham, USA, and Mrs. Dillingham, former residents of Winchester now living at Fort Hamilton, N. Y., were in town the first of the week visiting friends.

The Dillinghams came to Boston to show Radcliffe College to their younger daughter, "Debbie," now a junior at the Fontbonne School in Brooklyn, N. Y. Their older daughter, Ann, now Mrs. John H. Ingraham, lives in Newport, R. I., where her husband, a Navy man, is attached to the destroyer, Dickson. The Dillinghams' son, Paul W. Jr., familiarly known as "Pete," is now a lieutenant in the Navy, stationed at the Advanced Naval Base at Bremmerhaven, Germany. "Pete," a former track and football star at Winchester High, is a graduate of Harvard where he starred as diver on the Crimson varsity swimming team for three years.

PAST NOBLE GRANDS SERVICE CLUB

The Past Noble Grands Service Club met on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Clarence Donaghey, Glenwood avenue, Winchester. The meeting was presided over by the President, Mrs. Windover Robinson. Plans for Easter remembrances for shut-ins were made. Mrs. Henry Roberts won the Mystery. Following the meeting the hostess served delicious refreshments. A Swap Party was held. The next meeting will be April 9th, at the home of Mrs. Elmer Ripley, Wedge Pond road. Thanks Lillian for a lovely evening.

TO VACATION IN BERMUDA

Susan Dodge, a senior at Centenary Junior College, Hackettstown, New Jersey, will join fifty members of the student-body Friday, March 30, when they enplane at Idlewild Airport for a ten day vacation in Bermuda. This will be the ninth annual spring trip to Bermuda sanctioned by the college.

While there the girls will attend rugby matches, cruise on the excursion boat Chauncey DePugh to the Island of St. George, where they will join with members of other colleges in a grand picnic, participate in the all college day at Elbow Beach and enjoy swimming, cycling, golfing, and sailing. They will be accompanied by Miss Bette M. Rhoads, head of the Physical Education department of the college and a former New Jersey State tennis champion, who will engage in several exhibition matches at the Coral Beach Tennis Club and the Princess Hotel.

Miss Dodge is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Holbrook Dodge, who reside at 17 Lakeview road.

CORRECTION

The announcement in last week's Star of the appointment of Donald C. Van Roosen of 49 Allen road to the position of special assistant to the chairman of the Massachusetts Republican State Committee contained an unfortunate error, due to a misunderstanding in receiving the information by phone.

Mr. Van Roosen has not left John Hancock as indicated in last week's Star. He is still very much associated with this old line mutual life insurance company of Boston.
